GRAND FLEET DID DUTY DURING WAR

When Admiral Sir David Beatty hauled down his flag as commander-in-chief of the British Grand Fleet, on the dispersal of that great fighting force, he signalized the bringing to an end of one of the most remarkable incidents in the world's history. Those who understand best what the struggle just ended meant and means, realize most clearly how entirely futile is any attempt to estimate the share of any of the Allied nations in the war, any attempt to apportion praise and honor. There is one point, however, upon which all are agreed, namely, that if it had not been for the remorseless, dogged stand of the British Grand Fleet, from that August morning, nearly five years ago, when it suddenly "disappeared into the unknown," until the day that it lined up outside Scapa Flow to see the German fleet come in, humanly speaking the winning of the war by the Allies would have been impossible. And it was done in silence. Save for a sudden hurricane of sound off Heligoland, off Jutland, off Zeebrugge, which, for a moment, compelled the world's attention, the work of the Grand Fleet was, for the most part, a silent work, and, as Mr. Lloyd George put it on a famous occasion "taken for granted." Day by day, all through the great struggle, came the despatches and bulletins from the theatres of war in France, in Italy, in Mesopotamia, in Palestine, and elsewhere. But the story of the doings of the Grand Fleet as it doubled, trebled, quadrupled itself in strength; as it silently drew the cordon over against Germany closer is only now beginning to be told. Night and day, unremittingly, in all weathers, through neuve to the West Indies and back again, there was many a chance for even the youngest midshipman to "distinguish himself." But in the great silent work of the Grand Fleet during the years of the Great War, only very few officers and very few men were even heard of by the world outside. "Hero" is a word that is lightly used to-day, so lightly as to be almost meaningless, but if "a very gallant gentleman" be a sound definition of the word, and it seems to be the soundest that can be offered then there were many such in the British Grand Fleet.

It is, perhaps, because all this is so surely recognized that the British press, in commenting on the dispersal of the Grand Fleet, singles out two men for special tribute as typifying all the others. Admiral Viscount Jellicoe as the organizer and leader, four and a half years, the ships of the Grand Fleet patrolled the gray waters of the North Sea, always on the alert, always with decks cleared for action, and always, and as a matter of course, running the risk of being sent to the bottom by a chance torpedo. For, to quote Mr. Lloyd George again, "there has been no break in the navy's work. No darkness has rested it, no weather and no winter has stopped it. Never had the navy come into winter quarters. The fight has gone on without ceasing."

And it was a strangely impersonal fight. In the old days of naval warfare, when one Richard Grenville cheerfully tackled a whole Spanish Armada off Flores, in the Azores, when the Roundhead Blake convinced the Dey of Tunis of the error of his ways, or Nelson chased Villethe man, who, in those terrible first struggling against fearful odds, stood in the breach, and held it, and Admiral Sir David Beatty the courageous leader and the "great fighter" who finished the work that Lord Jellicoe began. Behind these two men stand 430,000 others whose aim and achievement was a simple faithfulness to that great tradition of the British Navy that every man should "do his duty."

WARNING!

Buy Your Clothes Before It Is Too Late! Prices Are Sure to Advance Shortly, Owing to Cloth Scarcity and High Wages

It looks almost impossible to keep the price of clothes down much longer, so we want to give our numerous customers fair warning to buy their fall and winter Suits and Overcoats at once, as we cannot guarantee the price for any definite length of time.

Our aim all the time, but especially since enlarging our tailoring plant, which is now located at 86-88 Richmond St. West, Toronto, is to keep down the cost of clothes as long as we possibly can. At present we certainly have a wonderful range of materials which we still sell at the old price, $21.00, but they are going fast, and unless you hurry you will have to pay the advance, whatever it may be.

Remember that by giving us your order you are dealing direct with the makers—no middlemen's profit to pay and every garment guaranteed to be perfectly satisfactory or you do not have to take it.

Our New Tailoring Shops

We at last have managed to get hold of the entire building at 86-88 Richmond Street West, where all Regent Tailors' Clothes are going to be made right on the premises; no more sub-contractors. Every garment will be made and delivered on the date promised. We have also arranged a special showroom in our new home where orders can be left, and where customers can deal direct with the head office if they so desire. We cordially invite the public, and especially our out-of-town customers, to inspect our new shops, without feeling any obligation to leave an order.

If you cannot wait for suit or overcoat to be made, don't forget that the models in our windows and stores are for sale. We always have a full range of sizes and styles at the same price.

Cannot Discipline Players By Taking Their Money

MUTINY IN RANKS OF PHILLIES SHOWS WHAT HAPPENS WHEN MAGNATES ATTEMPT THIS.

It is little wonder that mutiny broke out in the ranks of the Phillies. The action of William F. Baker, the owner, in slapping bulky fines upon his athletes is the surest method in the world to bring about revolt.

From time to time through all the years that the game has endured certain niggerdly magnates—or perhaps they may be called merely misguided ones—attempts to discipline with fines, has had a boomerang effect, and it always will have.

The fellow who coined the expression about "you can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink" should have uttered a companion piece along these lines:

"You can pan a ballplayer ad infinitum and still get good work, but he'll become quite Bolshevik if you try to take away his money."

McGraw Puts Across One More of His Joke Trades

John J. McGraw is a smart manager. He is considerably smarter than various gentlemen that hold high-sounding titles in the National League. He proves this every little while by putting something over on them.

The Giants' leader has just engineered another of those clever little deals that have done so much to bring him pennants, getting Frank Snyder, a star catcher, from the wallowing Cardinals in exchange for Ferdy Schupp, a left-hand pitcher, whose arm is now in such bad shape that he is totally useless, and probably some cash or promises of future favours.

He has inflicted another blow on a second division club that can ill afford to stand it, and has strengthened one that thought at the beginning of the season it had a "setup," but now fears that there may be a little competition for the pennant after all. Great headwork, John, if you can get away with it and think only of the New York club.

Wouldn't Stand For It.

Of course in the American League, something pointed would be said about a deal of this sort. Ban Johnson, whatever his faults, never has stood for anyone trying to buy a pennant in quite so flagrant a manner. Ban has an idea that the interests of baseball are best served by fighting it out on the field instead of over the roll-top desk with a checkbook and fountain pen for weapons.

It was to be expected, of course, that McGraw would find a way to strengthen the Giants. The only wonder is that, with the Cincinnati Reds going so well, he has been so long about it. Further deals of this sort may be looked for, and, of course, the National League will stand for them. The short-sighted policy in that circuit is that with a winning club in New York, the rest of the league can look out for itself. Nobody stops to figure that the other seven clubs play only ten of their games in the metropolis, and, with a one-sided race, must find only lean pickings elsewhere.

Encourages the Reds.

It must be encouraging to the fans in Cincinnati and the other cities that think they have a chance for the flag to have McGraw step out and buy a star or acquire one by trading at this time. Cynical [illegible]ons always have asserted that [illegible]tional League is strictly a m[illegible]king proposition without any [illegible] sporting blood. They will find a lot of converts after a deal of this kind. The big cities with the big parks seem to be destined to win all the flags in that league, for they can afford to meet the high price of talent.

KINGSLEY LOVED THE MANLY ART

HATED THE BRUTALITY BUT APPRECIATED THE PLUCK.

A good story of Charles Kingsley reaches me from a correspondent who was an undergraduate at Trinity College, Cambridge, with Kingsley's son Maurice, says the Westminster Gazette. When Maurice was a boy of twelve, living at the Eversley Rectory, it was his duty to ride down to the post office on his pony each morning before breakfast and fetch the letters.

Eversley is quite near Farnborough, where the famous prize fight between Sayers and Heenan was fought, and one morning, as he rode down early to the post office, looking over the hedge into a field, he saw a great crowd of people, and in the middle two men stripped and fighting desperately.

"What," my correspondent, to whom Maurice Kingsley told the story, writes, "could a boy who inherited his father's sporting instincts do but put his pony at the hedge, jump into the field, gallop up to the ring, and, from the vantage seat of the pony's back, look over the heads of the crowd and see the whole thing? At last, however, the ring was broken and the fight stopped, and the boy, forgetting all about the letters, galloped home as fast as he could, rushed into his father's study, and burst out, 'Oh, father, I've seen such a sight. A great big crowd of people in a field down there by the railway, and a desperate fight between two men.'"

"The boy, I suppose," my correspondent goes on, "didn't read the papers and didn't know this was the great international mill. But Charles Kingsley did read the papers, and guessed what it meant at once. He sprang from his chair and walked up and down the room, showing vividly how keenly interested he was, and also how much he was shocked.

"'Oh, it's a wicked thing,' he burst out, 'and a shameful thing that in a Christian country, in this boasted nineteenth century, two men should be encouraged, yea, urged on, and even paid to fight like wild beasts, and half kill each other. It's shocking.'

"Up and down he walked, in genuine outspoken condemnation of the sin of it. But presently the old Adam was too much for him; suddenly he sat down again in his chair and turned to his son. 'Now, Maurice,' he said, 'tell me all about it.' His horror of the brutality and his admiration of the sporting pluck shown were equally characteristic of Charles Kingsley."

HOW DOES HE GET THIS WAY?

Nothing is more absurd than Frank Moran's insistence that he wants a fight with Jack Dempsey and—

"I'm sure I could give him a good argument."

If Moran waited half a round it would be a prize-ring miracle.

Moran, never a real fighter was at his best five years ago. Since then he has skidded precipitately from ring greatness. He is years beyond a battler's prime Diminutive Jack Dillon gave him an awful lacing in 1916. A short while afterward Moran decided to quit the ring. But later he hazarded a comeback and chose to battle Fred Fulton—the very same plasterer who had been knocked out about six months earlier by Jack Dempsey in about 14 seconds. Fulton took on Moran and hammered him into dreamland in a few rounds.

Here we have a man—Moran—who was knocked out by Fulton, who had been knocked out in 14 seconds by Dempsey, assuming that he could whip a man who has improved 100 per cent. since he beat Fulton, while Moran has receded almost that far since he was put to sleep by Fulton.

It is to laugh.

RUSSIA PLANING GREAT MILITARY "POLICE FORCE"

COBLENZ, Aug. 6.—The Prussian Government, according to American reports, is planning the organisation of a new and separate "police force," to consist of from 100,000 to 300,000 trained soldiers, solely as a force to suppress disorder.

It is planned to arm this force with the latest type of military weapon and to put the men in garrisons throughout Germany.

The promoters of this plan, it is said, have expressed the hope that the Allies will not object. This "military police force" is proposed as an organisation distinct from the army of 200,000 men authorised by the Peace Treaty, the existing civil police and the great force of home guards planned by Gustav Noske, the Minister of Defence.

Carpentier Dodges Bout With English Champion

FRENCHMAN IS NOT IN CONDITION TO MEET JOE BECKETT, AND EDDIE M'GOORTY MAY BE SUBSTITUTED FOR SEPTEMBER 2 IN LONDON.

Comes word from the other side that Joe Becket, the new heavyweight champion of England and Georges Carpentier, the European title holder, will not, as scheduled fight in London on September 2, says the New York Sun. Having learned in his fight with Dick Smith that he is not as formidable as he had thought himself to be, Carpentier has sent word to Charles Cochrane, the promoter, that he cannot get ready by September 2.

Possibly Carpentier was influenced in that decision by Deschamps, his manager, who saw Beckett knock out Frank Goddard. Deschamps declares that Carpentier will not be able to go to London on September 2, for two reasons. First, because the French military authorities would not permit him to leave France, second, because certain Socialist deputies have prevailed on Clemenceau to interfere.

Just why the military authorities should step Carpentier or the Socialists should concern themselves suddenly with Carpentier's ring activities are matters which are not plain. Of course, there may be certain considerations in France which may make these excuses valid, or at least, plausable. But over here it looks like what is commonly referred to as "the old bunk."

Carpentier cannot be blamed for postponing a meeting with Becket as long as possible. But there should be no subterfuge. Carpentier had been out of real activity for five years before he took on Smith, and he is entitled to a few fights with soft marks before he puts his title in jeopardy. But the military authorities and the Socialists ought not to be dragged into the affair.

Klaus Had Carpentier Licked.

Deschamps perhaps is apprehensive that if Carpentier were to fight Beckett he would have to repeat his performance when Carpentier took on Frank Klaus. When Klaus had Carpentier reeling all over the ring in the nineteenth round ready to hit the canvas, Deschamps rushed in and carted Carpentier out. The records say that Klaus won on a foul, but Carpentier was knocked out. The fight ended both by knockout and foul, but the knockout takes precedence, and the records should be amended to give Klaus full credit for his feat.

McGoorty May Substitute.

As a substitute for Carpentier, Cochrane may sign Eddie McGoorty to fight Beckett. The English champion may have reason to rue such a change in opponents, for McGoorty and his lightening left, are mighty tough customers, and Eddie's specialty is knocking out English champions.

TENNIS, TRADITION AND POPULARITY

LAWN TENNIS WAS ONCE CONSIDERED AN EXCLUSIVE GAME.

There was a time when lawn tennis was considered an exclusive game sport of idle rich, something past the understanding and therefore beneath the contempt of the average athletic fan. That period has completely faded into oblivion, and tennis is today conversely in danger of being overpopularized, if such a thing be possible. It has already been proved that more people the world over, play or try to play tennis than the wildest total of devotees that any other sport can legitimately claim. As a spectacle, also, the game is growing to such proportions that the number of spectators at important tournaments is beginning to suggest even the crowds drawn by such popular sports as baseball and racing. And herein lies a problem which is already making its presence felt.

The traditions of tennis demand that the spectator be an absolute neural so far as the match is concerned an, emotionless, unprejudiced, unopinionated automaton, trained to applaud at the proper time, but forbidden to express his feelings beyond the precints of strict decorum. The ruling of an official is never to be questioned; an error on the part of a player is never to be greeted with partisan enthusiasm; no act or sound shall ever intrude upon the silent concentration which is the contestants' due. Tennis, says tradition, is to be a gentleman's game, no matter how many animal instincts have to be curbed in the process of keeping it so.

All this is right and proper. But inevitably, as tennis grows more and more popular and as it appeals more and more to those who are fundamentally ignorant of its traditions and its etiquette, it will be subjected to the rough familiarity and intimate partisanship which are the very lifeblood of our national game. A striking example of this occurred in staid well-behaved Boston last week. The spectators refused to accept one of the decisions in the challenge match for the Longwood Bowl, and the howls and protestations were enough to make one believe that "Take him out!" "Oh, you robber!" and "Kill the ump!" were already waiting in the not far distant future. In this particular case, Umpire Mansfield very properly upheld the questioned decision, and the profiting player, William M. Johnston, with equal grace, declined to accept the advantage. But this by no means atoned for the "rooting" propensities of the bleacheries. Such rowdyism must be nipped in the bud, or the prestige of tennis, built up through centuries of true aristocracy among games, will become a mere memory, a formless shadow of vanished significance.

The National Tennis Umpires' Association, of which Edward C. Conlin is Chairman, should make it a special feature of its activities to see that the gallery at all important tournaments is kept in order. If ignorant or wilfully disorderly spectators insist upon interfering with the decisions and interrupting the proceedings on the court, it should not be a difficult matter to eject the offenders. A few test cases, vigorously prosecuted, might do wonders in establishing a standard of behavior for future tennis galleries. Popularity is desirable, but let it not be purchased at the sacrifice of traditions which have become practically unique in the annals of sport.

CENTRAL WON RETURN GAME

QUEEN MARY HEADS THE PLAYGROUND LEAGUE—THE SCORE.

The Central Playgrounds defeated Queen Mary's 12 to 6 in the return game yesterday. Earlier in the summer Queen Mary's boys were the visitors 14 to 6 on their own grounds.

Whitlaw, Central's pitcher, twirled fine ball besides hitting two home runs, Wolf, and McIntyre played a nice fielding game for the losers, who were handicapped by the absence of three regulars.

The junior teams of both playgrounds played an exciting five inning game which was won by Queen Mary 7 to 5. Kenneth Graham and J. Holland were the stars in this game.

Queen Mary's Playgrounds are still at the top of the league having won two games and lost one, while King Edward is second and Central last.

There were also a number of good prizes principally for veterans which could not be run on account of extra games of ball and the banquet.

In the evening after about 300 of the Veterans and their friends had partaken of a bounteous repast in the armouries additional sports were run off on the street and then the grand finale proceedings took place in front of the town hall. Warden A. J. Henderson was chairman and conducted the duties of that office in his usual happy style. He said he was glad to be present as representative of the Cavan municipality on this glorious occasion. He called on his Honour Judge Ward of Port Hope, who gave a splendid address.

Credit to Millbrook.

He said that Millbrook was deserving of great credit for taking the initiative in the matter of welcoming her heroes, Millbrook and Cavan being the first municipality in the United Counties to give a reception to her heroes.

Col. Earchman, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. John Hutchinson, Cavan, was the next speaker. He thanked the commitee for the honor of an invitation to the happy festivities.

Col. Boggs of Cobourg, in an address, told of the gallantry of the Canadians in many of the big affairs at the front. He was proud of the way in which the municipalities of Cavan and Millbrook had formulated and carried out this great reception to their gallant sons.

The Presentation.

Capt. Spencer gave a brief but interesting address. He called the Veterans to attention at this stage and asked them to come in front of the hall, when each one, as his name was called, marched up to the platform, when Col. Boggs on behalf of the municipalities, presented him with $20 in gold. There were about 160 veterans. Captain Spencer on behalf of the soldiers thanked the citizens of the municipalities for their gift, but more especially for providing this splendid celebration. He is confident that the Veterans of Cavan and Millbrook will do all in their power for what they consider is for the best interests of the community.

The resident ministers were called to the platform, but refrained from giving addresses owing to the lateness of the hour.

The decorating of the town was done by Messrs. J. J. Turner and Sons, of Peterboro, and was "bon," as the Veterans would say.

Warden Henderson on behalf of the Veterans, thanked the ladies for their work in providing the splendid supper.

A dance was afterwards held by the Veterans and a delightful hour or so spent. Altogether the day was a red letter one, and everyone went home happy.

The G.W.V.A. band of Peterboro gave an excellent programme at the ballgrounds and also in the evening.

TRIED SAME JOKE TWICE AND WAS SENT TO JAIL.

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—Pte. David Nicholls, who a week ago was convicted of the theft of a diamond ring from a young girl, was back again in the Police Court, charged with stealing a watch under almost similar circumstances.

While seated in a park, with a different young woman this time, Nicholls borrowed the girl's watch, asked to be excused for a few minutes, and never returned.

Yesterday he explained that it was all a joke, but was sent to jail for thirty days.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acids and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

Fate at Long Range

By SEWARD W. HOPKINS

(Copyright)

It was somewhere about midnight when a frantic ringing of my bell startled me into throwing the book I had been reading to the floor, and rushing to the great old-fashioned oaken entrance.

I had but recently moved into Trivorton, and had made no firm friendships, nor even acquaintances. My small, six-line advertisement was in the only paper published in the place.

My Great Dane growled, being unaccustomed to having his early slumbers thus disturbed.

With the exception of the Great Dane, I was alone. I had permitted my only servant, an old man, to go to visit his sister, almost as old, who was ill.

Opening the door, I saw in the clear, cold light of a winter moon, a young girl. She was pale, extremely agitated and decidedly pretty.

"Oh! Are you Mr. Bayne?" she asked.

"Yes, my name is Bayne—David Bayne," I answered. "In what way may I be of assistance to you?"

"You are a lawyer?"

"Yes, I am a lawyer."

"Then—let me talk to you a moment. We—I—my father—"

"Please take a moment to get your breath. You are excited. My office is rather chilly. Suppose I accompany you to your house. You wish to consult me, I suppose?"

"Yes, come with me. That is why I came here. My father is dying. Is there a printed form of will?"

"Ah! Your father wishes to make his will? I will be with you in a moment. But I know of no printed form of will. However, it will take me but a moment to write it."

"My father is Donald Redbagh," said the girl.

"He wants to make his will," went on the girl with a choking sort of sob, "but I don't want you to write it for him."

"You don't want me to write your father's will?" I asked in amazement. "Does he wish you to be left without inheritance?"

"No. He wants to leave me everything."

"And yet you don't wish—it seems to me there is something more to this than the mere desire of a sick man to make a will. Please explain."

"He has taken a violent dislike to my brother. He wishes to cut him off with a hundred dollars. I do not want that."

"How much is he worth?"

"More than a million."

"You see," she went on, "my brother

Best of all Fly Killers 10c per Packet at all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

Donald married—married a poor girl against my father's wishes. Yet I like her, and do not—you understand—I do not wish him cut off. You are a lawyer. You will know how to manage."

"But if he wishes to make a will, I must write it as he commands," I answered.

"Well—I suppose so—but it will be hard on Don."

As we entered the wide iron gateway the girl turned to me again.

"The doctor is with him now. Try to persuade him to be fair."

"The doctor?"

"No. My father. Don't let him die leaving a will that is unjust."

I had no time to reply, and I could not have framed an answer if I tried. A tall, thin old servant answered her ring, and I was ushered into a bedroom where a man lay huddled in a heap of bedclothes, and a grave, intelligent man I had seen driving about the streets sat close at his side.

"You are Byrnes?" he asked.

"Yes."

"Mr. Redbagh wishes to make his will. You will need to—"

He glanced at me significantly. He did not need to finish the sentence. I could see that but a spark of life remained in the shriveled old frame, and that spark was going fast.

Alone with him, and with a strange feeling of repugnance, I began writing as he ordered.

It was a brief will. He simply left one hundred dollars to his son Donald, and all the residue of his estate, after his funeral expenses had been paid, to his daughter Edna.

While I was writing, a young man entered. He was well set-up, a manly looking young fellow, and there was nothing in his appearance that was not pleasing.

"Father," he said in a low, well-modulated voice, "I am going. Will you shake hands?"

With a scream that seemed beyond his waning strength, the sick man half raised himself on his elbow.

"No!" he said sharply, although feebly. "Shake hands with you? Go. I thought you had gone."

"I know you ordered me out yesterday," said the young man. "I was not here all night. I am going for good now. I wanted to take your hand before I left."

"Go!"

The young man stood for a moment with bowed head. It seemed to me his lips moved. Then he stepped noiselessly to a large oaken cabinet, opened a drawer, took something from it, and thrust it in his pocket.

Again the sick man and I were alone.

I placed the will on a book and held it before the dying man. The doctor bent over him and lifted him. He took the pen and reached out toward the line on which I indicated he should place his signature.

Suddenly the hand that held the pen dropped. A sound, indescribable, came from him, and with a slight gush of blood from a bullet-wound in the right temple, he fell over—dead.

The doctor stared at me.

"Through the window," he said.

He bent himself to the task of holding back the end. It was useless.

"His son," said the physician. "We'll get him. You go—you two. I must do what I can."

The butler and I raced like two maniacs from the room and out into the crisp night air.

"He is not here, sir," said the thin old fellow.

"We can't let this wait," I said. "The police must be notified."

"Yes—the police," said Simmons in a bewildered manner. "Did you hear the shot, sir?"

"No."

This was the first thought that had struck me. I had heard no shot.

We went out through the iron gate and raced like two madmen along the street. The butler knew the [illegible] I had not yet learned enough [illegible] erton to be sure where to find [illegible] lice.

It did not take us long to tell the story—what we had to tell.

I told how the son had asked his father to shake hands. How he had been ordered from the house. And how he had taken something from the cabinet and thrust it in his pocket.

"It's a clear enough case," said the officer. "He must have been watching at the window, and fired just as the old man was about to sign the will. We'll have him. There is no way out of Trivorton before six in the morning."

All the available force was at once put on the case.

I followed with a frenzied sort of fascination all the movements of the police.

Miss Redbagh by this time had been aroused, and sat, dry-eyed and half-stunned, at the bedside of her father.

There had been a way out of Trivorton that night. At half-past seven in the morning Miss Redbagh received a telegram.

"Dear Edna:

Millie and I reached Baldwin at three this morning. I borrowed your horse, and we drove over. I am sending the horse back in care of a man from the hotel here. Don't mind about the will. I am going to work.

"Lovingly,

"DONALD."

"Baldwin—three in the morning," said the police officer in charge of the investigation. "If that's true, he never fired that shot."

"Who did?" I asked helplessly.

"We must verify the telegram first."

Now thoroughly determined to know the end of it, I accompanied two detectives to Baldwin.

At the hotel we learned that Donald Redbagh and his wife did arrive there (twenty miles away) at three o'clock that morning. The shot that killed his father had been fired at half-past one.

"The girl—was she in sympathy with her brother?" asked the detective.

"Yes," I said hesitatingly; "but she never shot her father. The will was all in her favor."

Back we went to Trivorton. The doctor had probed for the bullet.

"You thought young Redbagh took a revolver," he said. "This is a rifle-ball. We heard no shot. It was an accident. I am convinced that no murder was committed. And since the man is dead, I am ready to admit that a great injustice was prevented. Donald married a poor girl, and Redbagh was always a—well—he's dead."

In a small town like Trivorton such a case becomes the main topic of conversation. Sleepless, I was in the police station at about five that same afternoon, when a boy came in, white-faced, frightened, and carrying under his arm a small rifle.

"I'll give myself up," he said. "I think I shot Mr. Redbagh, although I didn't mean to do so. I was out after rabbits. It's fun on a bright, moonlight night. My dog had scared up several, and I guess I got to shooting will. Do you think I'll have to go to prison?

Everybody breathed a sigh of relief. The chief of police looked at me peculiarly.

"Redbagh was about gone, wasn't he?" he asked.

"He couldn't have lived through the night."

"The girl is true to her brother?"

"Yes, and Donald to her."

"What's your name?" asked the chief of the frightened boy.

"Tom Wynert."

"The doctor's son?"

"Yes, sir. My father was with Mr. Redbagh, and I was out on the old rye field. I might have shot my father."

"I don't know—I don't know but what we'll keep the rifle," said the chief. "As for you, if you are wanted, we'll send for you. It is not certain that it was your bullet, anyway. Still, the weapon is dangerous at night for a boy to handle."

As I look back, remembering the impressions made on me that night, the favorable light in which I looked on Donald Redbagh, the harshness of his father, the bitterness of fate, I wonder—I wonder if there was not something more than a boy's chance shot in it all. For I was always a believer in the fastness of fate.

WOMAN SAVED MUCH SUFFERING

By taking Friend's Advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

West Plains, Mo.—"I was all run down in health, had indigestion and terrible cramps every month so I was unable to do anything. I had tried every doctor in West Plains, also every remedy I could think of, without relief. One day when I was suffering greatly a friend was at my house and said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' So I did, and through it I found relief from my suffering and I really believe it saved my life. It does not seem as though I can say enough in praise of this wonderful medicine for the health it has brought me."—Miss CORA LEE HALL, West Plains, Mo.

Perhaps it may seem an extravagant statement to say that this great remedy saved a life; but women like Mrs. Hall, to whom it has brought health, appreciate the danger and suffering they have escaped too well to doubt it! All who suffer should try it. Why risk life and health without it?

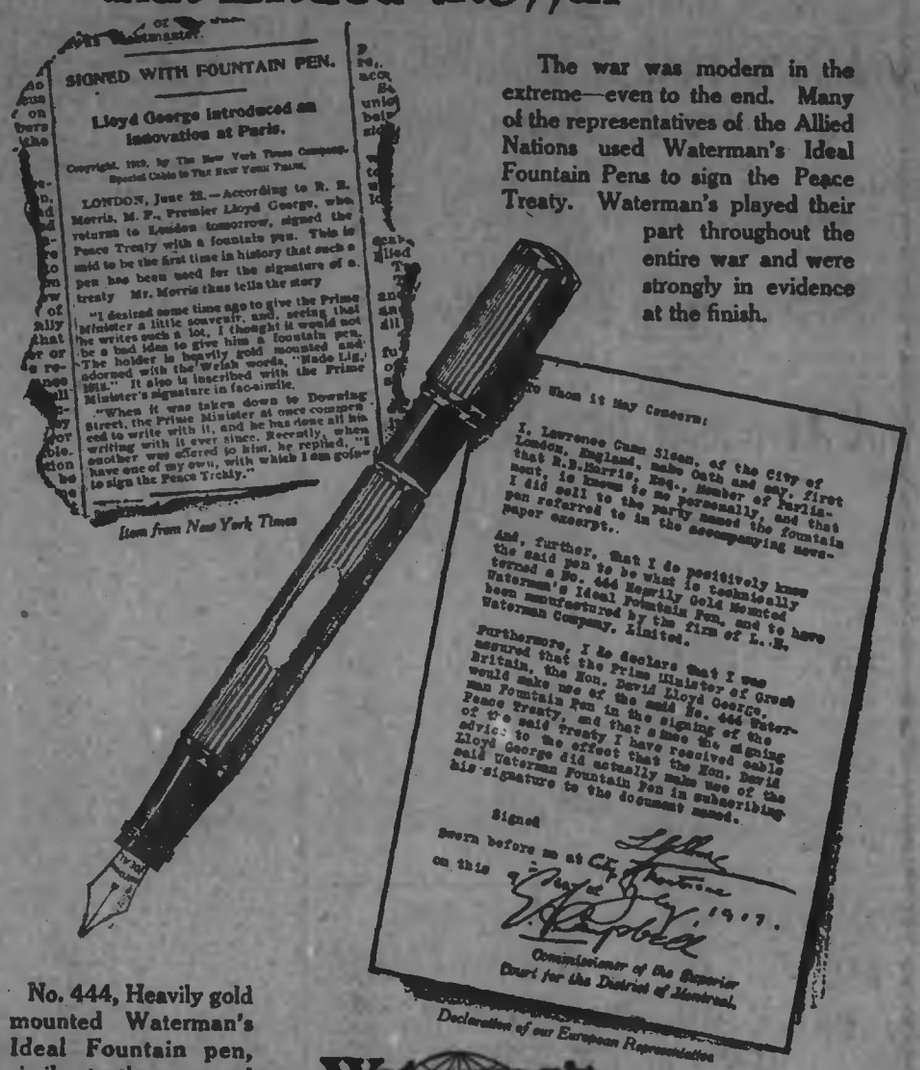
The Pen that Signed the Treaty that Ended the War

The war was modern in the extreme—even to the end. Many of the representatives of the Allied Nations used Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pens to sign the Peace Treaty. Waterman's played their part throughout the entire war and were strongly in evidence at the finish.



SIGNED WITH FOUNTAIN PEN.

Lloyd George introduced an innovation at Paris.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to The New York Times.

LONDON, June 22.—According to R. B. Morris, M. P., Premier Lloyd George, when returns to London tomorrow, signed the Peace Treaty with a fountain pen. This is said to be the first time in history that such a pen has been used for the signature of a treaty. Mr. Morris thus tells the story:

"I desired some time ago to give the Prime Minister a little souvenir, and, seeing that he writes such a lot, I thought it would not be a bad idea to give him a fountain pen. The holder is heavily gold mounted and adorned with the Welsh words, 'Made Liy,' and is inscribed with the Prime Minister's signature in fac-simile.

"When it was taken down to Downing Street, the Prime Minister at once commenced to write with it, and he has done all his writing with it ever since. Recently, when another was offered to him, he replied, 'I have one of my own, with which I am going to sign the Peace Treaty.'"

Item from New York Times

To Whom It May Concern:

I, Lawrence Cann Sloan, of the City of London, England, make Oath and say, first that R.B.Morris, Esq., Member of Parliament, is known to me personally, and that I did sell to the party named the fountain pen referred to in the accompanying newspaper excerpt.

And, further, that I do positively know the said pen to be what is technically termed a No. 444 Heavily Gold Mounted Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen, and to have been manufactured by the firm of L. E. Waterman Company, Limited.

Furthermore, I do declare that I was assured that the Prime Minister of Great Britain, the Hon. David Lloyd George, would make use of the said No. 444 Waterman Fountain Pen in the signing of the Peace Treaty, and that a case the signing of the said treaty I have received advice to the effect that the Hon. David Lloyd George did actually make use of the said Waterman Fountain Pen in subscribing his signature to the document named.

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really inexcitated by illness.

If we all would practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone, its cleansing, sweetening and [illegible] effect upon the system.

YLVIA PANKHURST AGAIN IN TROUBLE

ACCUSED OF RECEIVING MONEY FROM HUNGARIAN BOLSHEVIK.

(United Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Sylvia Pankhurst, Britain's leading feminine agitator, was again in the limelight today when Scotland Yard officials charged that she had recovered $30,000 in Russian gold from Bela Kun, a former Hungarian Soviet leader.

The money was recovered through a Norwegian Radical, it was stated, and was to be used for promoting British strikes.

Miss Pankhurst denied she had received the money.

Scotland Yard operatives said the papers seized in a recent raid in Glasgow included a complete set of rules of the Soviet Republic and the location of places where bombs were stored in Glasgow and Manchester.

SMALL FIRE IN ROOF CAUSED BY A SPARK

A spark from the chimney set fire to the roof of house at 567 Albert street occupied by H. Smith and gave the fire department another lunch hour run at noon to-day. The men ran a line of hose from a nearby hydrant and quickly washed out the flames. A small hole in the roof represened a damage of about five dollars.

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

RETURNED FROM THE CONVENTION

LOCAL EXPRESSIONS OF OPINION CONCERNING THE LIBERAL LEADERSHIP.

Mr. G. N. Gordon returned this morning from the Ottawa Convention, and when asked his view of Mackenzie King, as a leader, said that he gave, in his opinion, the most inspiring, eloqgent and helpful-politic al address he had ever heard. He further said the delegates seemed to want a young man who was resourceful, trained and bright, and Mackenzie King had all the qualifications of a leader, notwithstanding that he is a young man, in the neighborhood of forty-five.

Mr. Gordon further said that he was particularly pleased with Mr. King's selection on account of his wide knowledge of the labor situation, the rights of the workingmen and at the same time he recognized that capital has a right to a reasonble and fair protection for its investment but he did not recognize its right to exploit the workingman for all that can be made out of his producing powers.

Mackenzie King's connection with the Rockfeller foundation, Mr. Gordon said, had given him a first class opportunity to study social conditions and brought him in touch with all the great labor bodies of the United States, and he had an opportunity of learning their views as well as the opinions of the employers with respect to employment and the relationship of the workingman to his employer. In addition to that Mr. Gordon said that it was a common, but a mistaken view, that John D. Rockfeller was connected with this Rockfeller foundation. What Rockfeller had done was to contribute a large sum to be set aside for and to be used by a number of the most prominent United States students of social conditions who were trustees to make investigation as to how social conditions could he bettered, relationship of labor and capital could be best improved and work in harmony and generally to ascertain in what manner the producer of the Nation's wealth could have his rights protected, obtain the most for his toil and prevent loss of production and loss of labor through unemployment.

Mackenzie King, according to Mr. Gordon's view, had given close study to this matters, under advantageous conditions and was the best qualified man in Canada today to deal with all the difficulties that have confronted the workingman and which have caused strained relationship between the employer and the employed and that Mr. King's advocacy of a policy of National insurance against unemployment, loss of production through ill-health, death of the main support of a family, loss by accidental injury and for other cause, he believed the Liberal Party had the most modern policy of any political party outside the Labor Parties of Great Britain and Canada, and he looked to Mackenzie King as the man who will do more good in preventing loss of unemployment by strikes and lockouts than any other man who could have been selected.

Mr. Gordon said that he did canvassing for the resolution dealing with the question of labor and its relationship of the employer and the consumer, and was very well pleased with the labor platform adopted by the Labor Party at Ottawa yesterdap.

M. F. O. Kerr

"The selection of the Honourable Mr. King as leader of the Liberal party in Canada is a happy one. Mr. King's life study of labour and social problems and his wide experience splendidly qualifies him for leadership, particularly at the present time."

Mr. R. J. Soden

Mr. R. J. Soden absolutely refused to express any opinion upon the subject claiming he was not greatly interested but admitting that he thought Fielding should have been the Liberal choice.

Mr. J. J. Hartley

Mr. J. J. Hartley, President of the West Peterboro Liberal Association, when asked his opinion of his party's choice said that he believed the Honourable Mackenzie King is the right man. "He is all right and I believe has good ability and will make a good leader," said Mr. Hartley.

MESSAGE FROM SIR DOUGLAS HAIG TO WAR VETERANS

In reply the following has been received from Sir Douglas Haig:

"Please thank all members of the Peterborough Branch of the Great War Veterans very warmly for message of congratulation. Hope ex-service men throughout the Empire will never forget the comradeship gathered in the Great War." — Sir Douglas Haig, Field Marshal

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—The Canadian Wheat Board, which was to have control of the purchase and marketing of the season's wheat crop of the Dominion, has been appointed, and the members are as follows:

ple who knew their needs better than the people of the other Provinces. In other words the question of Provincial rights came up, and it was thought best to leave the matter with the Provinces to settle according to their own ideas of what was best suited for their needs, and there was not a dissenting voice to this question. All the lady delegates seemed to be satisfield that it was the best solution of the problem.

Of course Quebec has a modified wine and beer license, but the Quebec delegates stated that they are living in a state of Prohibtion. That is not what you would call prohibition in Ontario, but down in Quebec they seem to think it is.

Hartley Dewart has been holding meetings of the Ontario delegates and has been enthusiastically received by them. He met the delegates from the east half of the Province Wednesday night and the west half of the Province met him last night.

There is no doubt that Hartley Dewart has made a hit all along the line, with the Ontario delegates.

If Rowell ever had any friends among them he has none now and that such a man ever existed is now ancient history with the Liberal representatives of the last few days at Ottawa.

On the prohibtion question, Hartley Dewart took the attitude definitely, that the will of the people as indicated by the referendum, should be enforced to the letter.

Discolored or Spotted Skin Easily Peeled Off

The freckling, discoloring or roughening to which most skins are subject at this season, may readily be gotten rid of. Ordinary mercolized wax, spread lightly over the face before retiring and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the disfigured skin. You need not get more than an ounce of the wax from your druggist.

There's no more effective way of banishing tan, freckles, liver spots, moth patches, or other cutaneous defects. Minute, almost invisible, skin particles come off each day, so the process itself doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion, and you soon acquire a brand new, spotless, girlishly beautiful face.

STRIKERS GOING BACK TO WORK

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8. — Telegrams received by the American Federation of Labour to-day indicated that the railway shopmen who struck without authority have already started going back to work in response to President Wilson's letter, in which he asserted that the Government would not consider higher wages for them until all the men were back on their jobs.

The strikers were reported to have returned to all the shops on the Lackawanna and on the Norfolk and the Western railways.

CELEBRATION AT MANN HOMESTEAD

100TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ARRIVAL OF FIRST MEMBER OF FAMILY.

At Bridgenorth today the one hundredth anniversary of the coming of the first member of the Mann family to the "Hawthornes" is being celebrated by a large family reunion attended by about 75 descendants of Mr. James Mann, the first comer, and friends of the family. Mr. James Mann, a United Empire Loyalist, came to the historic homestead in 1819, leaving the New England States, which he had adopted as his home on arrival in the New World. He was followed by his son, James Mann, his grandson, Mr. James Mann, and great-grandson, Mr. William Mann, the present owner of the farm, the latter who is thoroughly enjoying the centenary surrounded by several of his eight sons and daughters. For the historic occasion the lawns surrounding the splendid old homestead are beautifully and fittingly decorated.

KENNEDY FAMILY FROM PETERBORO DETECTIVES SAY

ARE HELD AS IMPORTANT WITNESSES FOR INQUEST INTO DEATH OF RETURNED SOLDIER.

TORONTO, August 8.—The detective department stated to-day that the Kennedy family, who are held as material witnesses in the inquest into the death of Norman Lavoie, came from Peterborough about seven years ago. Their examination will be taken to-night.

The evidence at last night's hearing pointed to a livery row at the home of Mrs. Julia Kennedy at No. 5 Empire Avenue, on the night of Sunday, July 25th, when Lavoie received his injuries, from the effects of which he died on the following Thursday in St. Michael's Hospital. Mrs. Kennedy and her sons, George and Percy, were not called to the stand.

Man Thrown Out.

Mrs. Bailey, a next door neighbour, said that shortly after 11 o'clock in the evening she heard the noise of a quarrel in the kitchen of the Kennedy house, and shortly afterward saw a man thrown out of the back door, although she could not see who had ejected him. He lay motionless for some minutes, she said, until George Kennedy and William Cross, an occupant of the house, picked him up and half-carried him up the street.

Half an hour afterward she heard him return and demand his hat, when he was hailed as "Norman" by one of the Kennedy boys, and a second encounter followed. Four men, to the identity of none of whom she could swear, took part in what she described as a "good fight," disappearing around the corner of Eastern Avenue. Shortly afterward three of them returned. Sounds of quarelling continued in the house, she stated, until nealy three o'clock the following morning. William Cumber, who boards with Mrs. Bailey, corroborated her evidence.

Falls on Steps.

Mrs. Edith Bourdon, 76 Empire avenue, told of seeing two men supporting a third between them pass up the street about 11.30 o'clock that night to a large field, where they left their companion. About half an hour afterward he staggered back to the street and fell face down on the steps of one of the houses. Thinking him intoxicated, she called her son, who went to his assistance.

The latter, Charles Bourdon, said that he had recognized Lavoie, who appeared dazed and asked who had hit him, stating that he had a black eye. He then declared that it was not "Kennedy." Bourdon had not noticed any odor of liquor about Lavoie's person, although he appeared "muddled." He had previously, he said, recognized George Keanedy as one of Lavoie's companions.

The only Percy Kennedy known to the local police lived on Victoria avenue and was employed as a delivery man.

CATTLE KILLED AT IDA IN YESTERDAY'S STORM

Seven head of cattle were killed by lightning yesterday afternoon on a farm near Ida owned by Mr. Harold Baptie of Springville. Mr. Baptie had not visited the farm this morning and therefore did not know who owned the cattle as several other farmers were pasturing their stock on it. The storm that passed over Cavan township yesterday was extremely severe in its electrical element, but the rain will be a great help to the late crops.

AFTER THE PROFITEER

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT PLANS VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN.

MONEY AVAILABLE

(United Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Congress will begin at once the consideration of legislation to carry out, in part at least, President Wilson's recommendations for reducing the high cost of living. House and Senate leaders promised to-day.

Representative Mendell, the Majority leader of the House, said that any request for money to make effective the campaign against the profiteers would speedily be complied with.

"Congress will grant all the money that is needed," said Mendell. "In addition, I have no opposition to extending the Food Control Act if that is believed essential."

Senator Lodge, Majority leader of the Senate, said: "I think the President made some good and practical suggestions in regard to the artificial and extortionate prices for the necessaries of life, and I am sure that Congress will deal with them at once."

ATTRACTIONS AT HOME FOR THE HOLIDAY

NO NEED TO WORRY AS TO HOW TO SPEND A SPLENDID CIVIC HOLIDAY, AFTERNOON AND EVENING.

Attractions for the holiday are of sufficiently attractive a character as to warrant those who are looking for some pleasant diversion to stay right at home and spend a pleasant and profitable day. Hundreds, of course, will go to Stoney Lake, Peterborough's popular summer resort suburb, but the vast crowd of people will be right in the city. For their entertainment, the Grand Opera House has a wonderfully fine programme, and crowded houses are looked for both afternoon and evening.

At the Exhibition grounds one of the finest open air programmes ever put on in the city has been arranged for. Speeding in the ring for purses totalling $1,000, the 91st Highlander Band of Hamilton, Canada's premier concert band, will give full programmes both afternoon and evening. The young ladies of the Y.W.C.A., under the direction of Miss Littlefield, will give an exhibition of fancy drill, for which they have been given special preparation.

Two high class grand stand attractions have been secured from McMahon & Dee, of Buffalo, and the McCarthey Pipe Band, of London, will give a clever programme of pipe music, dancing, etc. In addition to the afternoon programme, which will be given in the evening there will be a grand display of fireworks, making the most complete Civic Holiday programme given in the city.

ALLIES APPROVE OF NEW HUNGARIAN GOVERNMENT

SUPREME COUNCIL OF PEACE CONFERENCE MET TO-DAY—OUTLINE OF POLICY.

PRESS COMMENT

(Canadian Press.)

GENEVA, Aug. 9.— The Inter-Allied Mission at Budapest, after a conference with Archduke Joseph and Premier Friederich, has forwarded to Clemenceau a report to the effect that the Entente representatives are in full accord with the new Hungarian government, according to a Vienna despatch received here.

At to-day's session of the Supreme Council of the Peace Conference, consideration was given to the message from Archduke Joseph, head of the new Hungarian government, announcing the intention of his regime to execute the terms of the armistice and asking recognition and authorization to send delegates to Paris. A message received from the Archduke outlines the policy of the new government and says it will call a properly selected constitutional assembly to re-organize labor with a view to increasing production.

Press Comment.

(Canadian Press.)

ROME, Aug. 9.— Commenting on the situation in Hungary, the "Popolo Romano" suggests the possibility that Archduke Joseph is aiming to restore the Hapsburg Monarchy and again join Vienna and Budapest. The annexation of Croatia and Slavonia would follow, the newspaper says, as these two regions are even more bitter against the Serbians than against the Italians. The Hapsburg Empire, having lost only Galicia and Bohemia, then would consider Fiume as its natural outlet. That is why Fiume was refused the United States. We must keep an eye on Trieste also, the last disorder there having assumed the character of a political plot organized by pro-Austrian elements.

IMPLEMENT MEN HAD POOR YEAR

WILL HAVE TO CARRY WESTERN FARMERS OVER THIS YEAR

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 9.— That this year has been a very poor one for implement dealers is the concensus of opinion among various firms in Winnipeg. Good prospects up to the dry spell early in June made business brisk. Companies handling threshing machines received a large number of orders. Manitoba farmers ordered many threshers, but rust and consequent shrinkage caused delivery to be stopped in a number of cases. In Saskatchewan, especially west of Regina, in the crop failure districts, implement companies will be forced to carry many farmers over this year, general agents say. Prospects for next year are not at all good either, say the dealers. Farmers, they state, are very much unsettled and discontented with government proposition to take their grain at a minimum of $1.75 per bushel, largely because they do not understand exactly what is meant and no one has yet made the proposition clear to them.

FEW CHANGES IN TO-DAY'S MARKET

HARVESTING OPERATIONS KEEP THE FARMERS BACK

This morning's market was somewhat larger than last week's, but harvesting operations still seem to be keeping the farmers at home. Generally there is little difference between the prices this morning and those of last Saturday. This morning's prices follows:

Chickens, each—$1.00.
Cucumbers, each—2c.
Corn, dozen—25c.
Onions, 3 bunches—15c.
Beets, 2 bunches—15c.
Beans, quart—11c.
Tomatoes, basket—$1.25.
Cauliflower, each—20c.
Cabbage, each—10c.
Potatoes, peck—75c.
Apples, peck—50c.

PLANS TO RECEIVE PRINCE OF WALES

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN TO AVOID COLLISION WITH ICEBERGS.

(Canadian Press.)

ST. JOHN'S, NFLD., Aug. 9.—Special precautions against the possible presence of ice floes and bergs in the path of the battleship Renown, bringing the Prince of Wales to this colony and Canada, were taken to-day. It was announced that the cruiser Dauntless, which preceded the escorting fleet to arrange for the Prince's reception here, would cruise about the Grand Banks for the purpose of locating ice and would then proceed to sea to escort the Renown to the anchorage in Conception Bay.

Several unusually large icebergs have been reported in the vicinity of shipping lanes during the week.

Preparations for the Royal visitor's reception were being hurried to-day. The cruiser Dragon, to which the Prince will be transferred from the Renown, will enter this harbour on Tuesday and will be escorted through the long lane of gaily-decked navy and commercial craft.

It is planned that the Prince shall land at noon, and after receiving homage from colonial and city officials, will ride beneath eight great welcome arches.

STOCK MARKET LITTLE STRONGER

OPENING PRICES HIGHER THAN YESTERDAY'S CLOSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Buyers took the floor at the stock market opening to-day in search for opening prices, which were higher than yesterday's close. The strength was reflected throughout the entire list.

U. S. Steel moved up 3-4 at 10.30 a.m. Crucible opened at 185, up 1-4, Mexican Petroleum 176, up 1 point; Central Leather 98, up 1 1-4; Reading 87 3-4, up 1 1-8; Baldwin 105, up 1 1-2; Marine 56, up 1 3-8.

Buoyance stayed with all issues through the early trading. Shorts began to buy heavily and prices gradually mounted. U. S. Steel was up 5 from yesterday's low, with Central Leather showing a gain of 8 points. Tobacco shares were strong

VICTIMS OF LEVEL CROSSING TRAGEDY WERE BURIED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

ONE COMPENSATING FEATURE TO TRAGIC DEATH OF THE LATE MR. AND MRS. J. C. BELL, LATE OF PETERBORO.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, August 9.—Relatives and friends filled the home of Mr. Herbert [illegible] Gerrard Street East, yesterday afternoon on the occasion of the funeral of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bell, late of Peterborough, who met their death on Tuesday evening last when they were run down by a train at the level crossing in Riverdale Park.

Rev. C. I. D. Johnson, rector of St. Saviour's Church, conducted the service at the house and made fitting reference to the tragic nature of the passing of the old couple. The one compensating feature was found in death they were not parted. They had lived forty-four years of happy married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell are survived by three sons and five daughters, A. and Herbert [illegible] of Toronto, and Percival, of Moose Jaw; Mrs. Glover, of Ohio; Mrs. Lind, Mrs. Bradford, and two unmarried daughters, all of Toronto.

SECOND STAGE OF INQUEST CLEARED UP SOME POINTS INVOLVING KENNEDY BOYS

SORDID TALE UNFOLDED LAST EVENING—CHIEF WITNESSES FORMERLY RESIDED IN PETERBORO—STORY OF A SUNDAY DRINKING BOUT.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, August 9. — The second stage of the [illegible] inquest at the morgue last night cleared up some points in connection with the identity of the man who struck the blow or blows that resulted in the death of Norman Lavoie [illegible] as much as a matter of doubt however. There was conclusive evidence to show that Lavoie, the Kennedy [illegible], formerly of Peterboro, and three other men, had been having a drinking seance in the Kennedy home on Sunday night [illegible] received the unfortunate beating that speedily resulted in death, but no testimony bearing any fight or assault apart from [illegible] of Mrs. Kennedy, who admitted having seen the men "scuffling" in the street about midnight, was forthcoming.

The most interesting new evidence was that of [illegible] of 32 Empire Avenue, who told how a man whom he could not identify had walked into the field where Lavoie had been left a short time earlier by two men. The unknown man walked up to the recumbent figure of Lavoie and a moment later Clark heard a sound, "a dull, heavy sound," he described it. He heard no outcry. A few minutes later Lavoie had got over to the nearby house and had fallen on the steps. Clarke's evidence seemed to reconcile the apparent contradiction between the testimony of Charles Bourdon, who on Thursday said that Lavoie, when he turned him over on the steps had a badly injured eye and that of Lloyd Horton last night to the effect that he had gone over and spoken to Lavoie in the field and did not think that he had a blackened eye then.

Met Kennedy.

Horton supplied the only evidence pointing at one of the Kennedy boys, and curiousl yenough it was from "Wellie" Kennedy that he received it. He swore that he had met Kennedy in a restaurant three days after the affair, and when he asked the young man about the Sunday night row, Kenedy said: "I beat him up all by myself."

Charles Wynoski, a chum of Horton's, also heard Kennedy use these words. The fact that Lavoie had been "beaten up" had been common talk around the classic club.

During the cross examining of Mrs. Julia Kennedy of 5 Empire avenue, the home which Norman Lavoie had visited on Sunday, July 27th, Mrs. Kennedy said the family consisted of eight children. Her daughter Alice, with whom Norman Lavoie had kept company prior to his going overseas, had gone to Regina in April. Her son George, who also knew Lavoie, had returned from overseas on Saturday, the 26th.

"Yes; for about three years."

"When Lavoie returned from overseas about six weeks ago, he visited your home, and had a discussion with you regarding your daughter, and wanted to know if she had been keeping company with any one else while he was away?"

"Yes; and I told him she had not; but he said that he knew differently and mentioned Vance and Collinson."

Knew he was Married.

"Had Collinson kept company with your daughter?"

"Yes, he went out with two or three times and my daughter drove the car."

"Did you order Collinson out of your house on previous occasions?"

"Yes; I did not want him to keep company with my son, George."

"When did you order him out previously?"

"About four years ago.'

"You knew he was married?"

"Certainly. I did not like his character."

"What was his relationship with Lavoie?" Witness did not know.

"Have you seen him strike Lavoie?"

"Yes, once."

"What over?"

"Jealousy over Alice, about a year ago."

Following this and with considerable questioning, witness recounted the proceedings of the Sunday when Lavoi and Percy Kennedy arrived at the Kennedy home during the afternoon bringing a bottle of whiskey, in later going out for another bottle which were consumed before tea time. Tea served with Mrs. Kennedy, Lavoie, William Cross and Percy Kennedy, which finished about six o'clock. Witness said she did not know anything following this.

"When did Lavoie leave." "I don't remember."

"Did you hear any scuffling."—"No."

"Who helped Lavoie out." — "I don't know."

"Who went out." After recounting previous evidence the crown elicited that Cross, Collinson, Dainty, Percy Kenedy, George Kennedy and Lavoie had gone out.

Ordered Them Out

"Did you hear Lavoie returning for his hat" "Yes, I was upstairs at the time and he asked for his hat at the side entrance". Witness said William Cross who boarded in the house later told her George had gone out. She followed to the door and went across the street in an endeavour to have her son return to the house. Witness returned to the house with her son and went upstairs, and was later awakened by her son George who requested $10; a part of some money which had been given his mother on Saturday following his discharge. The money was given to him and going to a back room she found Collinson and Dainty, the former on the floor. "I ordered them out", said witness, "and they went, also my son George."

"How long was your son gone." —"He didn't come back until Monday at noon."

Recalling the scuffling in the alleyway, witness admitted some of the men were intoxicated.

"This is the first mention we have had of some one being intoxicated interrupting Coroner McCollum. "They were all a little the worse for liquor," replied witness. A previous witness has said during the scuffling in the alleyway you were saying "Don't be so brutal", and that some dishes were broken in your kitchen, remarked the Crown. "I did not say "Don't be so brutal." I said "Don,s be so foolish", to my son George, to come into the house and there was not a dish broken in the house."

Returned Monday

Questioned by Mr. W. K. Murphy, counsel for witness Mrs Kennedy recalled Lavoie returning on the Monday with a black eye and remarked. "I must have been drunk."

"Did he accuse the boys," asked Mr. Murphy "No, he said they were all his friends." He did not accuse anyone and said he might have fallen off a car."

Collinson is a present being sought by the police but so far his whereabouts are unknown

There are still a number of witnesses to be heard and the inquest will be continued on Monday night next.

THERE IS NO INDICATION THAT SOME PROVINCES VOTED SOLID FOR KING

SUPPORT WAS DIVIDED EVERYWHERE INCLUDING QUEBEC—LIBERAL-UNIONIST RECEIVED A BIG VOTE.

MANY CONFERENCES

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—It was early this morning when the last of succession of conferences between Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, the new Liberal Leader, and groups of Liberals from every province of the Dominion terminated, after continuing all day yesterday. Liberal groups representing each province wanted to talk to the new leader, and he wanted to talk to them to find out the state of public opinion in the different sections and to formualte plans for the future.

One of the first things Mr. King did on Thursday evening after his election was to call on Lady Laurier, and on Friday morning, accompanied by Hon. Sydney Fisher, he visited Sir Wilfrid's grave, depositing on it a wreath, inscribed with the words, "In Affectionate Remebrance."

The Liberal leadership, under Mr. King, will be aggressive and constructive. Not one who knows the man doubts this for a minute. There will be a will and an energy which, supported by the enthusiasm of the party generally, as rekindled at the conference, will effectively prevent any tendency towards stagnation.

There is every indication, to judge from the expression of opinion by delegates, that the Liberal party will present to its opponents an unbroken front under leadership of Mr. King. The voting was keen and the issue was pushed to the ultimate conclusion without compromise candidates being brought in, as is so often the case in spirited elections. The supporters of these candidates who failed to be elected seem to hold no spite; balloting was so keen and the whole situation was so exciting and dramatic that it would be only a rare man indeed who would not generally accept the victor and take delight in supporting him as the open choice for the convention. In spite of some talk to the contrary, there is no indication that any of the provinces voted solid. Talks with delegates from every one of the nine provinces reveals the fact that support was divided everywhere and that solid blocks were unknown. This applies to Quebec as well as to Ontario and the smaller provinces.

There is some talk of Mr. King's election and Mr. Fielding's defeat being due to the fact that the latter had been a Liberal-Unionist and that he was thus made to pay the penalty of his course. The bulk of opinion here, however, lays the emphasis on the very opposite aspect of the situation, the fact that Mr. Fielding, a Liberal-Unionist, polled a magnificent vote, less than forty-two than Mr. King, out of a total of nearly 1,000, is regarded as final evidence that the split between the two wings of the party either had been cemented already or is well on the way to that consummation. If a Liberal-Unionist can roll up such a vote, is it looked on here as idle to contend that to have difference with the party in 1917 means permanent ex-communication, either from its ranks or its higher offices.

NEWTON WESLEY ON WAY HOME

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 9.—Sir Clifford Sifton is spending a few days in the city. Hon. N. W. Rowell will arrive in Winnipeg on Sunday from Okanagan to spend the day. His holiday was cut short by developments at the Liberal convention.

THE STRIKE WILL BE DEFENDED

CASE WILL BE SUBMITTED TO THE CONCILIATION BOARD

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Aug. 9.— Electrical employees of the Toronto Power Company at Niagara Falls decided last night to defer the strike set for noon to-day in order to allow the Board of Conciliation, which is to meet in Toronto, to take up their case with the Toronto men.

The electricians of the Toronto Street Railway and the Toronto Electric Light, have applied for a Board of Conciliation, nominating Fred Bancroft of Toronto, to represent them on the Board. It is expected the the Board will be established immediately and the sessions called as soon as a chairman is chosen. It is this Board that the men at Niagara Falls are to ask to consider their case, states one of the men's officials.

EXTENSIVE SECRET STRIKE MOVEMENT

GENERAL RAILWAY STRIKE THREATENS TO MATERIALIZE ON SEPTEMBER 1ST.

(Canadian Press.)

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—The Government announces the discovery of an extensive secret strike movement which, if successful, will lead to a general railroad strike in central and perhaps all of Germany on 1st September.

Spartacists and Communist agitators are charged with being leaders of a movement, which the Government is using every means to suppress.

The discovery was made just when Germany thought itself quieting down while the rest of the world rioted and struck.

Object of the strike leaders was to appropriate power; the first necessity of which is the stopping of transportation to the present distribution of food and coal.

The movement, which is already widespread, began at Erfurt, where a huge meeting, controlled by Communists, was held last night, a strike being decided upon.

This action is not understandable, because the Government has not only carried out the promises made at the time the last railroad dispute was settled, but has introduced other improvements.

MESSAGES FOR FARMERS AND MANUFACTURERS

(BY MR. J. H. BURNHAM, M.P.)

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—Every true Canadian must be pleased with whatever point of conciliation and mutual understanding that arises from time to time. It is therefore with peculiar and particular pleasure that I quote from the Examiner's report of the proceedings at the well-attended United Farmers' picnic down on the river on Thursday. I would ask you to re-publish the speech of Mr. Burnaby, the president, with which I heartily agree. We want Protection, but not more than enough to protect. With Mr. Burnaby's remarks on the tariff we are, or ought to be, agreed. They are as follows, quoting from your issue:

The Speeches.

After supper Mr. Burnaby, president of the United Farmers' Co-operative Company, gave an interesting address outlining the farmers' national platform. In commencing, after congratulating the farmers on the splendid success of their picnic, he spoke of the causes of the present industrial unrest which he said was not all due, as is commonly supposed, to the farmers, but to different causes, among them the tariff on woollens, and the control of the national resources by a few. The farmers, he said, stand for equal rights for all and special privileges to none, which is the motto of the U.F.O. with a membership of nearly 40,000. The farmers' national platform stands for no class and includes all but the big interests. It is not, as is commonly called a Grit or Tory dodge. They stand for a reduced tariff, not a tariff for revenue, but a tariff for protection. More revenue will naturally follow if the tariff is reduced, as it is a known fact that the cheaper a commodity is the more it is used, therefore if the tariff is reduced more demand will follow. Public ownership of all utilities is a second plank in the platform and lastly prohibition, for which the farmers stand strongly. In concluding, Mr. Burnaby explained the United Farmers' Co-operative Company, which expects to open a store in the city presently.

'I trust all our farmers will read the above carefully, and our manufacturers also.

J. H. BURNHAM.

Girls! Have the Long Beautiful Hair that is Rightfully Yours

Short, scraggly, unsightly hair is more of a habit than anything else.

Hair must have intelligent care. Merely combing and washing will not keep it in a healthy condition, and give you the abundance of hair nature intended you should have.

should be used at frequent intervals, because it keeps the scalp free from dandruff and harmful matter due to perspiration. Herpicide keeps the scalp in a healthy condition permitting the hair to have its normal growth and sheen.

It is astounding how many men and women will go through life with little or no hair and with what they have in a very unhealthy condition, when at a very small cost, they could get Newbro's Herpicide and save and beautify their hair.

Herpicide is sold and guaranteed at drug and department stores everywhere. Applications at barber shops.

Send 10 cents in stamps or coin today for sample and booklet on the care of the hair. Address: The Herpicide Co., Dept. 100-B, Detroit, U. S. A.

STRIKING MONTREAL CIGAR MAKERS GAIN ALL INCREASE THEY ASKED.

MONTREAL, Aug. 8.—Members of the Cigarmakers' Union, who have been out on strike, have reached an agreement with their employers and have returned to work.

In the beginning the men demanded an increase of $2.00 a day. One month ago they received an increase of $1.00. Their employers have now agreed to give them a further increase of $1.00 a day, so that the cigarmakers have gained their point completely.

WAR VETERANS PROTEST AGAINST THE MANY DUTIES OF SERGEANT BLADE

CHIEF THOMPSON HAS NO OBJECTION TO POLICEMEN WASHING CARS AND SOLICITING INSURANCE AS A SIDE-LINE.

POLICE COMMISSION

"Are they supervising the world?" asked Magistrate D. W. Dumble yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Police Commissioners when a letter from Mr. S. A. Whatley, secretary of the Great War Veterans, was read, protesting against the practice followed by Sergt. A. W. Blade, of the police force, of serving as car washer, driver and solicitor of insurance while employed by the city. Chief Thompson explained that the Sergeant only conducted the business mentioned while off duty in his spare time, and that it in no way conflicted with his duties of sergeant. The letter was filed as received.

Silent Policemen.

Upon the suggestion made by Chief Thompson that silent policemen be placed upon different corners where the traffic is heavy, and there are not sufficient policemen to attend to the duties, he was authorized to get information as to the the cost of such.

Acting upon the suggestion of Judge Huycke that a special constable be placed at the Hunter Street Bridge, on the east side of the river, the Mayor will secure a man, probably a returned soldier, to be sworn in as special constable.

Mark Danger Zone.

Chief Thompson drew the Police Commissioners' attention to the danger incurred at the intersection of roads in different parts of the city where the cars and street cars draw up at practically the same place. For the protection of the public he was authorized to have lines marking the danger zones drawn at the different corners if he thinks it advisable to at once.

Accounts Passed,

B. Shortly, $6.40; Roy Studio, $3.50; Nelson Typewriter, $1; Grant and Thorpe, $4.45; Bell Telephone, $25.63; C.P.R. Co. Telegraph, $2.02; W. R. Cowain, $2.28; E. L. Payne, 65c; Peterborough Utilities, 85c; Peterborough Utilities, 60c; Mrs A. Irwin, $13.15; Jos. Fortaine, $1; G. N.W. Telegraph, 90c; Review Printing Co., $8; Wm. Madill, 75c; Peterborough Hardware, $1; R. J. Soden, $14.75; T. J. Parker, $5.10; Merrill & Meredith, $766.

Upon the reading of the latter account, which is on clothes for the police, Magistrate Dumble commented that while it was a large bill, the police are the city's children and must be creditably dressed.

THE CAUSE OF SICKNESS

ALMOST ALWAYS DUE TO WEAK, IMPOVERISHED BLOOD.

Apart from accident or illness due to infection, almost all ill-health arises from one or two reasons. The great mistake that people make is in not realizing that both of these have the same cause at the root of them, namely poor and improper blood. Either bloodlessness or some trouble of the nerves will be found to be the reason for almost every ailment. If you are pale, suffer from headaches, or breathlessness, with palpitation of the heart, poor appetite and weak digestion, the cause is almost always bloodlessness. If you have nervous headaches, neuralgia, sciatica and other nerve pains, the cause is run down, exhausted nerves. But run down nerves are also a result of poor blood, so that the two chief causes of illness are one and the same.

This accounts for the great number of people, once in indifferent health, pale, nervous and dyspeptic, who have been made well and hearty by Dr. Williams Pink Pills; for no other medicine ever discovered is so valuable for increasing the supply of rich red blood, giving strength to worn out nerves. Men and women alike greatly benefit from a course of the splendid blood builder and nerve tonic.

If your dealer does not keep these pills you can get them by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

2,000 LICENSES ISSUED SINCE JANUARY LAST

BIG INCREASE IN NUMBER OF CARS USED IN THE CITY.

Since January the first 2,000 automobile licenses have been issued by Mr. H. P. Lindsay to residents of the city and county, Northumberland and Durham and Victoria. This number, Mr. Lindsay stated, is a considerable increase over that of last year. Mr. Lindsay said that the farmers are taking a great pride in their cars and buying a better class this year than formerly.

BACK SHOP DISCUSSION ON HIGH COST OF LIVING

A CONTRAST OF LIVING CONDITIONS ONCE AND NOW—ARE WE BETTER OFF TO-DAY?

PACKING CASE OPINIONS ON THINGS IN GENERAL

(By F. H. DOBBIN.)

Those who know may find in the city certain stores that form, as a side line, the function of being clearing houses of ideas. Men gather, especially on Saturday nights as that is now about the only evening available and discuss things. A sort of survival from the days when our local daily papers were not issued, and much of the detail of news and happenings of the town was passed about by word of mouth, and often lost nothing of piquancy in the telling. Those who may step into these places and be sure of meeting men whom they have known for years and who express themselves with fluency and decision, as is their wont, on almost any subject that may be brought up or emerge from the general conversation. Will either dance or hold the candle, as was once the saying. There are always listeners and exponents.

Saturday night a few weeks ago the high cost of living was to the fore. The back shop resounded with denunciation good and pungent. Every hanged thing was wrong, and each man had his pet remedy. It seemed in the light of much fervent exposition real sorrowful that the Government of this country and other countries as well remained so obtuse as not to have thought over and hit on such suggestions long ago.

The Real Truth.

Presently one expressed his conviction that he'd love to know the real truth as to the cost-of-living prices and relative wages in what so many elderly people term "the good old days." He, being of the immature age of twenty-eight years, could not point to or recall much of antiquity himself, but had heard. Frankly admitted, and slapped the lid of the box on which he was sitting in a manner of emphasis that he still remained something of a Doubting Thomas, or words to that effect, even if the back shop be redundant of scriptural allusion.

Suppose we drift back for a time indicated around the sixties and seventies, possibly a few years further on in the century as the boys say, just for greens, and see the state of affairs that existed in the relation of earnings to income, of wages in life in general.

Most of the pertinent information that comes to us and which we find useful we pick up as deductions from forms of comparison. So to get the value, for instance, of wages, we compare the conditions that existed at some time in the past with conditions as to-day. And the very vital thing is that it is not the amount of the wage, but what the wage will buy, that is ever the first consideration. A printer was allured to go to Dawson in the early Klondyke days on a promise of a wage of $12.00 per day. When he had gotten there and become acclimatized he advised that beefsteak as $1.50 per pound and that house rent cost $360.00 a month. His wage of $72.00 per week was prostrated. He returned to home and Ontario.

What Things Are Worth.

There are four things that have positive value. The value of the use of tools, of materials, of knowledge and skill in trades and professions, and the value of the use of money. We must appraise, not only of the things of themselves, but of their uses. Tools, in the hands of the mechanic, shape and construct. Hence the tool value. Materials, as for instance as in the ownership of a gravel pit and which sold load by load brings a value. Knowledge and skill in the professions and in educational lines holds large value, while money, in the hands of a man who knows how to use it makes more money. What are termed the "big interests" make money by using it wel, if not wisely. The career of the late Senator G. A. Cox instances a man who had phenomenal ability in the value of uses of money. The four propositions as stated above form the basis of all our economic progress and problems. But comment on this subject may not be carried further.

In the time past, and for a ong period it would seem that by general consent a standard wage of $1.00 per day was recognized and adhered to. It applied to nearly all forms of general work, even in what would be caled the skilled trades, such as carpentering, shoemaking, tinsmiths, etc. All along through the sixties and seventies this rate seldom varied. There are thirty business blocks on George street that were built by Robert Rowe, David Carlisle, Arthur Rutherford and William Toole, all contractors, and the highest wage for men on the job (except that of the stonemason and bricklayers) did not go above $1.25 per day. And viewing these premises, in the light of rentals to-day, and the construction costs it can be seen that so long as they serve their purposes the return from the investment is a very fair one.

How About Laborers' Wages?

It may be said that the laborer's wage was always the lowest. Possibly so, because there was always so many of him. But as late as the early nineties, the civic wage for laboring work was $1.00 per day, of ten hours, not only this, but in local shops the same rate prevailed. And at times even this rate fell. At the corner of George and Dublin streets stand two neat buildings, built in 1878, for Thomas Bradburn, by his foreman, William Lasher. The entire carpenter work was done, on the two houses, at ninety cents per day, $5.40 per week. And, may you ask why? That was a year of depression. And the year following the country adopted the policy of Protection, in self-defence, and wages immediately resumed about standard rates. Materials shared in the low prices.

It must not be assumed that if the wage was low that professional remuneration was relatively much higher, for it was not. Inspection of some old accounts show that the doctor made professional calls at the house and gave service and charged fifty cents per call. Medical bills fliction was diagnosed as being inflamation of the bowels, and treated to equal attention with the standby of hot linseed meal poultice and a calm trust in Providence. The dentist would pull a tooth for twenty-five cents, and if he pulled the wrong one would cheerfully repeat the extraction on the aching offender for nothing. The lawyer asked what he judged the client was able to pay, and let it go at that. Taxes, to be even with low values, stood at about twelve mills on the dollar and were not onerous.

Where the Money Goes.

Before we take up some comparisons as to values, let this be written in answer to the question of one man who wanted to know where all the money he earned went. We are, that is the majority, living in very much greater comfort than our forefathers did, but we don't know it. Only a comparative few can realize that fact and because they can compare. It might be almost a truism to say that there are children attending the public schools who, if they give the matter a thought at all, think that Noah's ark was steam heated and had sanitary plumbing on each deck. They are growing up, as are people of twenty and evan more years, with hot and cold water at the kitchen sink, with gas cooking, elertric light, daily deliveries of mail, everything eatable laid down beside the kitchen range, the laundry given out, and many other services. The things that stay with us are the rampageous bugs, moths and flies that bother the housewife. Why, the household illumination of the days that are gone would be an object lesson in itself. Just pause and think. Are all these benefits and conveniences yours for nothing? You are paying for pavements, sidewalks, oil on the streets, fire service, sanitary service and a lot of protective things, even if you do think that the other fellows are paying your share and theirs. That's human nature to think that when things are paid for in a big lump, cuddled i namong the city rates, that we, in some mysterious way, dodge our share of the responsibility. It is not the big leaps in prices and costs that demoralize the wages and earnings but the little ones that grow and draw all the time. The difference between a straight five cent fare and the tickets sold at special rates, would give the Toronto Street Railway, in one year, over $1,200,000 increased income.

To begin with. Foods were low in price, and why? Because there was a great plenty. Why a plenty? Because a great many people were growing and making, in proportion to the population that are now at it. And being plenty everybody got all they needed. Export out of the country had not reached proportions as now. There were no cheese or butter factories, nor cold storage for eggs and fowl. Possibly some was wanted for lack of icing and cold storage, but fowls were better regulated than now, or something happened. People pitched in and ate

LABOR SHOULD BE REGISTERED

The registration of electors now in progress should find the Peterboro branch of the Independent Labor Party keenly alert and aware of its opportunity. Although the voters' lists have been prepared for the prohibition referendum, there have been intimations that the Hearst Government may hold an election on the same day. Recent political activities anticipate elections. The United Farmers are setting the pace. Their leaders have engagements for this month that take them to all parts of the Province, evincing a zeal that is bound to bring results. If there have been causes for rural unity of late, surely Labor should be aroused. If this patient, long-suffering section of the people is not ready to act together their lack of spirit and inability to realize and mobilize their power are indeed beyond help and hope.

Appeals to the Government at Ottawa and Toronto during recent months for protection against the extortions of profiteers have been as unheeded as the requests for constructive legislation intended to make living and working conditions better and happier. If Labor sincerely believes in the efficacy of the legislation they have thus far demanded in vain, there should be at this time clear and convincing evidence of a new will and determination to make their Governments sympathetic to their reasonable desires.

The Independent Labor Party in this city has a working organization that should see to it that every man and woman entitled to vote is registered, and, if there have been any omissions, steps should be taken at once to correct and complete the voters' lists when the review boards meet. Such vigilance can be obtained only by considerable effort, but the hope of wielding an influence that will be effective should urge the officers of the Labor party to sacrifice the time this work will entail. The enfranchisement of women brings reinforcements to Labor that should be fully utilized, but if these forces are to count they must be enumerated in the muster roll. The lesson of the last municipal elections in this city should not be forgotten.

HONOUR

His Majesty has done well in conferring the Order of Merit on Mr. Lloyd George. It is an order which confers no precedence and carries no title, is very limited in numbers and is conferred on men eminent in any department—war, science, literature or art. So Lloyd George joins the little galaxy of the Empire's greatest men and confers distinction on that most select company by his admission.

Lloyd George is the first British Prime Minister with no ties of birth or training with the old government class. He has been continually in harness for twelve years, and nearly three of these years he has guided the destinies of the British Empire through the most critical period of her history.

Behind the politician, behind the fighting men, behind the world-famous statesman, there always remains the Welshman. His body may be in Westminster, but his soul always steals away in moments of the direst trial to the hills and valleys of Wales which he loves so dearly. An earldom would have oppressed him and the strawberry leaves of the ducal crown would have weighed heavily in those happy flights.—Montreal Star.

PRICES CUT DOWN FOR THE ASKING.

In several of the French cities, and notably in Paris, the part of the people who buy food to eat instead of to sell it do not show the inability to do anything except growl and appeal to the politicians for help that is manifested almost everywhere else. They do growl, indeed, and they do try to get the politicians into action, but in addition to those ordinary and apparently inevitable evidences of human weakness they also have devised a means of self-help which, according to the cable dispatches, has been amazingly successful.

They begin by appointing representative committees of their own to investigate the cost of food and the increments that its cost acquires as the food makes its way through several hands to the consumer. Then the committeemen go to the retail dealers one after another, and in a tone that combines firmness with suavity tell each of them the prices that in the committee's opinion will give him a reasonable profit

The remarkable— the almost unbelievable—result is that the food retailers in Paris are reducing prices by a considerable percentage, doing it sometimes as soon as the representatives of the consumers appear in the shos and sometimes before they arrive. There has been no resort to violence—no wrecking or looting of shops and sometimes before they ardemand for lower prices with a readiness from which can be deduced their preference for doing business at a moderate profit as the alternative of the boycott that would follow a continuance of exorbitant charges.—New York Times.

THE EXCHANGES

Apropos of the prediction of a labour leader that within six months every factory which runs will divide profits with labour, is the time coming when the theatrical press agent will get his share of the profits or the star his efforts go far toward creating?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Not much has been heard from the enemies of the cigarette since the four years of war. Perhaps they will sally forth into public when the national (or is it to be international?) campaign against tobacco is launched.—New Haven Register.

Farmers are elated. Many of them, it is reported, made an average of $1,000 an acre on their strawberry crop and they are looking forward to big profits next year. Whoever was responsible for starting that "simple son of the soil" stuff anyhow? If this bucolic average in farm profits is going to continue increasing it won't be long before the ordinary city dweller will not be able to afford even a look at a pennyroyal-bred heifer or a subsidized hen.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Knowledge of the fact that it's the female mosquito that does the biting is going to make it hard for the chivalrous among us who do hate to swat a lady, no matter how aggravating she may be.—Quebec Telegraph.

Sir Edward Carson, and a few of the Londonderry stalwarts, ought to go as a delegation to Washington, and demand home rule for the oppressed negroes, and, if they can't get it there to appeal to the League of Nations.—Guelph Mercury.

Dean Mortimer E. Cooley, of the University of Michigan, urges municipal ownership of street railways "to convince the public it is undesirable." All we can say is that, in the case of the steam railways the idea has worked.—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

Some wag, in the British Commons, suggests a cask of wine to fire the poet laureate's imagination into the composing of a peace ode. Something to start thought fermentation, as it were. If poetry depends on booze for inspiration there'll soon be an awful shortage of poets.—Toronto Star.

Chairman Edward N. Hurley, who is just leaving the United States Shipping Board, was asked what in his service on the Board had impressed him mostly. His answer was: "The superior efficiency of private ownership and operation as compared with public ownership and operation. The war has given government ownership a great setback." That is the voice of experience. If the American people will heed the lesson, it will be one of the compensations of a destructive war.—Troy Times.

"Hardboiled" Smith's demand for a general investigation of cruelty in the army prisons in France should not be neglected. If his claim that abuses were general is false, it will be well to have its falsity demonstrated beyond cavil.—Springfield Republican.

The President is home, but we hear nothing of Albert Sydney Burleson retiring from the Cabinet. Our guess has always been that the President would stand by Burleson. But the result is disastrous to the President's party, for Burleson is fairly discredited as a Cabinet officer. Mr. Burleson should retire out of regard for the President. He will, if he remains in office, be a very serious handicap in the campaign next year.—Louisville Post.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Peterborough, Aug. 7th, 1919.

Editor of The Examiner:

In Wednesday's issue of the Examiner Mr. Merrill puts up a very good argument. However, it must not go by unnoticed, otherwise Mr. Merrill will think his idea about the working class as a body is just right. Well, bear in mind that the working man has been the goat for a long while, and it is about time that the capitalist and profiteer took his turn at playing hide and seek. Judging by your talk you must be a hard working man. But as the Scotchman says, I hae ma doots.

You should not go back in years to pick men for examples, but should take the men of to-day. Why I can tell you that my grandfather died with a hoe in his hand, and when mourners counted up his life's earnings after he had worked hard all his life from sun up till sun down, he left a fancy little debt of $400 for the rest of his poor family to pay, and I can could name you hundreds of cases in the city of Peterborough to-day that are in poor circumstances, at the same time being hard working men.

Not speaking of the poor men that have had no work for six months, whereas if every person worked eight hours instead of nine and ten in the factories and three or more at home, there would be plenty of work for everyone. What chance has a man got, to work fourteen and sixteen hours like your hard-working self, with the obstacles that are placed in his path through life's journey, for instance no work, low wages, substitute foods, high cost of living and thousands of other things that worry a man so that he cannot live contented, all put in front of him at one time, to grind him down so that when the capitalist wants what what little energy and power that the poor man has got, the capitalist will say come on here and work for me for starvation wages, he will say yes sir, I will, because I am hungry and so is my family.

This is not my idea of what a good man should do while the other fellow gets the cream of everything.

A—Live in a two by four shack, void of furniture and a few of life's comforts.

B—Live on the substitutes that the profiteer puts on the market.

C—Run to work when the employer blows the whistle or rings the bell.

D—Bring up a large family to work hard all their lives so that by exploiting on them the rich man can wax rich. Therefore adding to his great fortune 99 p.c., while the poor man gets 1 p.c. to live on.

Now, my dear Mr. Merrill, just one question. Can you, after working sixteen hours a day, spring from the ground and strike your heels together once before lighting let alone three times like the pigmies? I may be mistaken, but I always thought a pigmy was a very small person in proportion and not in ideals, but maybe you know best.

Thanking your, Mr. Editor, I remain.

Yours truly,
Practice What You Preach.

Peterborough, 8th August, 1919.

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Wednesday's Examiner contains a reply to my letter of the day before. I do not intend that there shall be any continued controversy between Mr. Merrill and myself, but in justice to myself I would like the opportunity of writing just this once. No attention is paid to the insinuation contained in the first part of his letter—that the letter was not written by the undersigned. A man is privileged to think as he chooses, providing that he does not think too loudly.

Mr. Merrill, like many more of the most conservative people, continues to think that the world, and more especially the younger generation, are entirely in the wrong, because they do not see exactly eye to eye with the people of half a century ago. If the younger generation did not have newer ideas, the world would still be in the condition it was centuries ago. Mr. Merrill, along with many others of the same school must awake from their Rip Van Winkle sleep and find that progress is the motto of to-day. Because of the fact that he considers the ideals of to-day to be small, he classes the present generation as pigmies. The working world to-day is refusing to tolerate injustice and tyranny but they rather choose that it should be governed in conformity to God's ideal.

He tells of the achievement and the hardihood of many men like Mr. Gladstone, General Booth, and Dr. Carman. He says these men have constantly lived for others. Probably they have also lived off others.

He speaks of being able to jump in the air, cracking his heels three times before lighting. They may havecsvg before lighting. Probably all of the present generation do not want to do this. They may have heard of some one in times past who tried this and fell, cracking their heads instead of their feet.

Thanking you for the privilege of having published this, my last, effort to reply to Mr. Merrill,—I am, yours truly,
Joseph Richardson.

This concludes the controversy so far as The Examiner is concerned.—Editor.

Peterborough, 8th August, 1919.

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—I wish to enlighten Mr. Drumclog on some matters in regard to the Irish problem. He seems to think it a crime for Ireland to have any form of self-government. Ireland did not come into the Union by the consent of her people, but the Parliament of Ireland, which was bribed by William Pitt the Younger in 1801. Not until 1829 was Ireland given any political rights as citizens. Britain did not grant it then through any generous impulse, but it was through fear of a rebellion that the Emancipation Bill was passed. The famine scenes of 1847 we will pass. They are too terrible to dwell upon. They were so horrible that Daniel O'Connell died of a broken heart shortly after. It was not until 1870 that the Irish tenants were given any surety of a lease on land. Before this the landlords could evict a tenant for no reason whatever. Also, whatever improvements were made by the tenants on the land meant a raising of the rent by the landowners. We read this in our High School History of England, published for use in the Ontario schools.

Furthermore, the Sinn Fein Brotherhood is an old association, and was founded back in the early nineteenth century by Presbyterians in Ireland. They invited the Catholic population to join. This society was used in securing political and religious liberty for both religions. It soon became a power in the land and numbered among its members many Protestant divines and Catholic priests. The society still has Protestants among its number to-day. This is ample proof that it is not a religious question.

The writer also suggests having a deputation of leading Presbyterians call on the Pope, the reason being to get him to influence the high priests to make the people apologise to Dublin Castle. Why should the Pope interfere in the political affairs of the Irish people? He has been called a pro-German and goodness knows what else by Britishers and British newspapers. Why should he worry himself? There is a phrase in the older law books of England which states: "The Pope hath no jurisdiction in this realm of England." This came later to mean the British Empire. So we see that the Pope will let the Empire judge for herself. Irish clergy in the past had endeavoured to keep the people of Ireland from having any part in rebellion, and have for their reward received nothing but abuse from Englishmen.

It appears to me that a strong deputation of leading Presbyterians should have called on Eddie Carson, the rebel leader of Ulster, in 1914, and tried to persuade him to abandon his covenant and to ask the clergy of the Established Church of England in Ulster to cease talking about inviting the "Powerful Continental Monarch" over to become King of Ulster. We all know who this monarch was.

Hoping this will be published, as my last letter was not.—Yours.

G. Francis.

A HOPELESS CASE.

A doctor came up to a patient in a lunatic asylum, slapped him on the back, and said, "Well, old man, you're all right. You can run along and write your folks that you'll be back home in two weeks as good as new."

The patient went off gaily to write his letter. He had it finished and sealed, but as he was about to affix the stamp the letter slipped through his fingers to the floor, alighted on the back of a cockroach that was passing, and stuck. The patient hadn't seen the cockroach. What he did see was his escaped postage stamp zigzagging aimlessly across the floor, and following a crooked tail up the wall and across the ceiling.

In deepressed silence he tore up the letter that he had just written and dropped the pieces on the floor.

"Two weeks!" he said. "I won't be out of here in three years."

FISHING FOR DIAMONDS.

There is a theory that diamonds sometimes fall from the sky, and now it is thought that they may be found also in the sea.

Men have to go down to the depths of the sea for pearls, but up to the present diamonds have been mined from the ground. In South-West Africa, however, where the Germans used to pick up diamonds along the shore, men are now beginning to fish in the sea for these precious stones.

In the course of centuries the heavy rain has washed large quantities of loose earth off the coast into the ocean and some of the best diamond deposits have been washed away. A diamond company is now sending ships to dredge the mud off the coast, in the hope of fishing up millions of the lost diamonds.

BARBARA KNOWS NO PEACE OF MIND.

CHAPTER XXXVII

For the first time in my life I was almost physically afraid, so keen was a sense of danger about me. Something in Neil had struck hard upon my imagination. I could scarcely control the trembling that seized upon me as I heard the door close.

Then I began to sob. I felt shaken and frightened,—like a child. Presently I ceased sobbing. I was however, inundated with self-pity because altho I loved my husband so dearly, he persisted in being almost a stranger to me. What could therebe between him and Blanche Orton, that the death of her invalid husband should affect him as it had? What was the secret between them? I was burning with excitement, yet there was something almost icy in me that tried relentlessly to probe into the heart of things that were causing me such anguish.

At midnight I went to my room The dawn came and found me still at the window, I had not slept at all.

Tonko came to my door about eight o'clock.

"Mr. Forbes will not breakfast at home. Shall madame be served?" Eight o'clock was our breakfast hour.

"I haven't slept well. Bring me some coffee and toast." I told him thru the closed door, then quickly disarranged the bed and slipped into a negligee. All night long I had sat in my dinner gown, never thinking it uncomfortable because of the other thoughts which so filled my mind.

But les convenances must be observed. Servants must not be given cause for gossip: though my heart ached and more than anything in the world did I want to shut myself away from their prying eyes.

But when the maid brought the tray I received her as usual. And retained her a moment upon some trivial matter. So do we women hide our emotions— so must we hide them.

To my surprise, about an hour later Mr. Frederick's card was brought to me.

"Tell him I will be down in a few moments," I said then hurried into a suitable gown.

"This is a surprise after the way you talked yesterday." I said to him after we had exchanged greetings, "I really never expected to see you again."

"As bad as that?" his gray eyes held a twinkle.

"Just as bad as that!"

"I had a few spare moments this morning and I could think of nothing better to do with them, nothing I so longed to do, as to spend them with you. So I took my courage in both hands and made a call at this unearthly hour—for New York."

"Oh, but I am so glad you did! I was just wondering what I should do to pass the time. I woke with a headache"—I was afraid he would notice how tired I looked—" and was just thinking I would order the car and take a ride. I am so glad you came before I did so."

"I have my car outside. Won't you let me take you for a ride? We can talk just as well, and the air may do you good."

The idea appealed to me and I hurried to put on my wraps. For a time, in the car, we did not speak. The air was delightfully fresh and it blew so refreshingly upon my aching head and tired eyes that I was glad to just lean back and enjoy the ease it gave me.

"Feeling better" Mr. Frederick asked after a bit.

"Very much better, thank you."

"It is sad about Orton."

"Very. But he has been an invalid so long I suppose Mrs. Orton was in a way, prepared for death."

"But—he did not die of his old trouble. Haven't you heard anything about it"

"No. That he died last night, is all I know."

"Oh, yes, he died very suddenly. The morning papers were full of it. Pneumonia, I believe."

"I haven't seen a paper this morning," I replied, wondering why Neil had thought it necessary to remain out all night to comfort Mrs. Orton, when her husband's death could be nothing save a relief to her.

That he had been with her, I never doubted.

MABEL NORMAND A DIVING VENUS

GOLDWYN'S FAMOUS FUNMAKER MAKES MERRY IN THE WATER IN HER LATEST SCREEN TRIUMPH---COMING TO GRAND THEATRE.

Mabel Normand, frequently called "the daredevil of the screen," fully lives up to her reputation in her latest Goldwyn Picture, "A Perfect 36," which comes to the Grand Theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Hurling herself from a stepladder to a chandelier and clinging to it for two minutes is a stunt many a man performer would hesitate to attempt, but Mabel Normand went at it with her usual nonchalance, as though hanging from chandeliers was an every day affair in her strenuous screen life.

Mabel Normand is Mabel, a boarding house slavey, when "A Perfect 36" opens. After many complaints from the star boarder that the wall paper in his room is unsightly, the landlady calls upon Mabel to try her hand at paper hanging. Mabel undertakes the work with poor grace and it isn't long before her mistress regrets installing Mabel at the task. On three occasions the landlady is thrown to the floor, once by falling over a pail of paste Mabel has purposely placed in her path; at another time being felled by a step-ladder in Mabel's hands, and later being thrown from the ladder when Mabel pushes it after some cutting remark from the woman.

Mabel stops her pranks for a while in order to get some assistance from the landlady. The paper hanger calls to her mistress from the top of the ladder to hand her some of her paper on one of the rungs. In doing so the landlady shakes the ladder, causing Mabel to jump for dear life to the chandelier, about four feet away, the ladder meanwhile falling upon her portly mistress.

Mabel clings to the chandelier for as long as she deems safe, then drops into a bed below. Her descent doesn't stop there, for she breaks through the slats and lands on the floor. To make matters worse for the now dazed Mabel, in her leap for the chandelier, the brush she held fell against her apron, which is full of paste. In her drop into the bed Mabel's heel tears a pillow and she is a mass of feathers after her fall through the slats of the bed to the floor.

Miss Normand suffered no inconvenience from her leap to the chandelier, but with the fall into feather it was different. It took the star and her maid fully an hour to cleanse her of the pillow's contents after the director had called it a day for scene-taking.

GOLD DEPOSITS ARE DISCOVERED

COMPANY ORGANISED TO DEVELOP RICH CLAIM IN QUEBEC.

(Canadian Press.)

QUEBEC, Aug. 8.—Gold deposits have been discovered in the Abitibi region, on the shores of Lake Kienawieck, on a farm a Polish settler was cultivating. He has just sold out his claim to a British company for eight hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

An analysis of the Provincial Department of Mines declared that the ore is very rich, and much similar to that which was found in the Cobalt region in Ontario.

A firm which will operate this new Eldorado has been incorporated under the name o fthe Harricanna Gold Mines, Ltd.

TRICKS THE BANK TELLER MUST BE ON WATCH FOR

When a new account is opened, bank employes usually watch the customer closely for several months, finding out what kind of a man he is, whether his checks are large or small, etc. If he stands up well under this inspection, they usually cash his check when presented without looking it up. A nuisance is the man who carries a good balance, yet has to be watched on deposits which will be five or ten dollars less in currency than on his deposit ticket. When his attention is called to it he will assume an astonished expression, rub his chin and then exclaim:

"Oh, yes; I remember now, so and so came into my office and I cashed a ten-dollar check for him after making out my deposit ticket. Strange I forgot it."

Then he will proceed to dig enough up to make the right amount. Next month he will try the same trick. But from now on he's a marked man in that bank.

There are many tricks that the bank teller must be on the watch for. A well dressed stranger stepped up to the paying window and handed the teller a twenty-dollar bill, requesting one-dollar bills in return. The teller counted out twenty new crisp bills and laid them on the marble slab in front of him. The man picked them up—ran his hand over them—laid them back down and said:

"I'm afraid they'll be too bulky, please give me the twenty-dollar bill back."

"Just a minute," replied the teller, "I'll count them."

He did so and found only nineteen; the man had removed one, although he had them in his hands only an instant.

Another "peat" is the visitor who tries to get a check cashed when he knows no one can identify him.

Then there is the young "swell" who thinks it great to have a bank account. He wishes to advertise himself to his friends as a wise young business man. After he accumulates enough money to open a checking account at the minimum amount he proceeds to write a lot of checks for small amounts.

The man who is careless about leaving his book to be balanced is not only causing the bank an inconvenience, but is indulging in a very poor business policy on his part.

WHO SAYS IT DOES NOT PAY TO GO FARMING?

To William Walker, of the 5th Concession of Markham, near the village of Unionville, probably belongs the record of making the most money from the smallest acreage in the growing of alsike so far recorded in Ontario.

From less than five acres Mr. Walker threshed nearly 45 bushels of seeding, which he sold to Stiver Bros. of Unionville at $25 a bushel, netting in round figures $1,044 cash.

The Examiner's Faith in the Future of Peterborough

THE EXAMINER COMPLETES INSTALLATION OF NEW PRESS AND STEREOTYPING PLANT

NEW EQUIPMENT WILL GIVE PETERBORO ONE OF THE BEST AND MOST MODERN NEWSPAPER PLANTS IN ONTARIO---EARLIER DELIVERY FOR EXAMINER READERS IS ONE OF THE MANY BENEFITS THAT WILL RESULT.

With the installation of a Scott rotary press and a complete stereotyping equipment, the Examiner has entered upon a new stage of its career. Pressing problems created by a mounting circulation demanded facilities for rapid printing that would not only relieve present exigencies of production, but would also meet the demands of the future. The capacity of the Cox duplex, flat bed type press, which formerly served the Examiner, had reached its limit, and when its best efforts failed to deliver the daily issue early enough to permit a satisfactory distribution of the papers to all parts of the city and suburbs, its usefulness was at an end.

Plans were prepared for improvements, the need of which had become more and more compelling during the last two years. For the present and immediate future a smaller press than the Scott rotary, and generally a less extensive plant, would probably have sufficed, but when a change was decided upon, the Examiner felt confident that the future of Peterborough warranted the purchase of a complete equipment comparable with those of the big city dailies. Inasmuch as the progress of any city is furtherel by its newspapers, the Examiner desired to keep pace with Peterborough's every forward step, not only to urge the ambitious steps that bring success, but in its own sphere to set the example, and to assist in the leadership that is striving to realise this city's aspirations of becoming one of the principal cities of Ontario.

The erection of the new cylindrical press entailed extensive alterations in several departments, the dismantling of the old machine, and the construction of a new and heavier brick and concrete foundation, changes that affected even the office, and finally the creation of a new stereotyping department. A staff of mechanics, carpenters, bricklayers, and concrete mixers have been engaged in this work since early last spring, and every detail is now complete, except the finishing touches. In another department a monotype machine has been set up, and the whole equipment gives the Examiner a thoroughly efficient and modern machanical plant.

EARLIER DELIVERY.

The results of all these alterations and improvements were realised a few days ago when the new press, all set and tuned up for its first performance, ran off the day's issue without a hitch. The 6,100 papers were printed in less than half an hour, as compared with nearly five hours with the lumbering flat bed Cox duplex.

One of the principal advantages of the new press will be the early delivery of the Examiner to all parts of the city and surrounding townships. Readers in the suburbs have received the Examiner shortly after five o'clock, and this should become the ordinary time of delivery henceforth. In the past the newsboys have been as late as six and seven o'clock, but it is hoped that the past will soon be forgotten under the new system.

A stereotyping plant was essential to the rotary press. With the flat bed machine the impressions were taken directly from the type as it was set up by the linotype operators, and assembled in forms. The forms were set horizontally on the press and the rolls passed over them. With the rotary, the forms are sent to the stereotyping department, where a matrix of each of them is taken. These matrices are put into a casting box and there become a mould for thin plates of metal bearing the identical impressions of the type in the original forms. These new plates are in the form of half a cylinder to fit into their places on the big rolls of the press, to which they are sent after certain finishing processes, such as cooling and trimming.

FURNACE AND CASTING MOULD.

The above illustration shows a pump and curved casting mould attached to an ordinary stereotype metal furnace. In this mould the plates for the press are cast from the matrix after it comes from the drying presses.

PAPER IS MADE UP IN ONE VOLUME.

The power driven machines are equipped with C.G.E. motors, and on the big press there is a controller similar to those used in street cars. Speed in production, clearness, and uniformity of the print are features of the Scott press, and there is also the advantage of comprising the paper in one complete volume, thus dispensing with the sections that have been familiar to the many readers of the Examiner. The cylinders flip the papers on to the carrying belts faster than the eye can count them. A Hoe folder turns them out in whatever folds are desired.

The Scott is a "three-decker" press, with a fourth deck on rollers that provide for coloured ink whenever required. Running at high speed, although well within its limit, the rotary runs with a relish as it consumes the rolls of paper. All the parts and adjustments have to be nicely fixed, but there are all the necessary controlling and directing devices to help and guide the operators.

THE MONOTYPE MACHINE

A new monotype machine, which has been operating for several months, is practically a small type foundry. Heretofore The Examiner cast only the type used in the news columns, together with some parts of the advertisements. The large type used in the headings and advertisements had to be bought from commercial type foundries, and had to be replaced from time to time as it wore down under constant use. With the new monotype machine, all the type required for the make-up of The Examiner is produced on the premises, thus providing another facility that rounds out the mechanical equipment of the entire plant. Each day's type is returned to the melting pots for recasting, an improvement that dispenses with the old practice of redistributing the advertising type to its alphebetical compartments in the printers' cases. Some of the heavier type that enters into The Examiner's "ads" are still handled in this way, but the bulk of the used metal is destined for remelting. The monotype machine spills the new type from its font at a steady and rapid rate, and ejbutes a complete supply for the refilling of the cases.

ADVERTISING IN "A" FLAT

As advertising assists all ambitious aspirations and accompanies adequate activity, as all active advertisers admit; as advertising aids accomplishment and attracts attention, alluring as ably as attracting, all ambitious aspirants are active advertisers.

OUR EXCUSE FOR A SHOP TALK

Peterboro presents possibilities unsurpassed That is the sentiment which runs in the veins of 1919 model public-spirited citizens Peterborough's future is limited only by the ability, and progressiveness of the citizens in all walks of life. It is this spirit that actuates The Examiner and finds response in the present outlay and its final result.

PLATE FINISHING MACHINE.

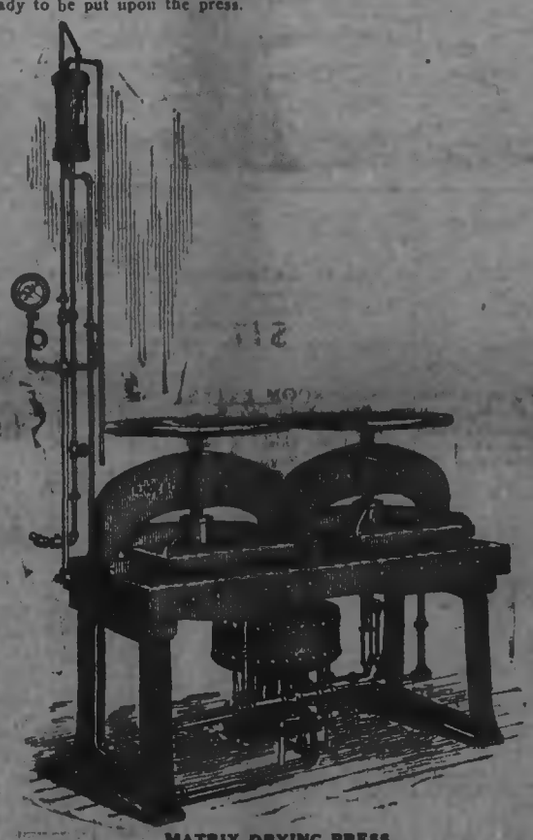
The equipment includes one of the latest type of Patented Automatic Curved Stereotype Plate-finishing, cooling and drying machines. This machine is capable of performing at one operation the several functions of trimming, shaving, bevelling, cooling, and drying curved stereotype plates.

With this machine there is no loss of time due to repeated handling. It cuts the tails from the body of the plate, removes all burrs from the edges, bevels both ends, planes the sides, shaves the interior to uniform thickness, and cools and dries—all at the rate of five to six plates a minute. Every plate is finished completely and accurately, ready to be put upon the press.

For greater speed double plates can be placed on the press, and in this manner two papers printed at once. This is when the marvellous mechanism of the folder is brought into full play. The use of two plates means that two papers are passing into the folder at the same time, and cut, folded and counted out with lightning despatch.



The color deck with which The Examiners new press is equipped is something new for this city. A sample of this work is presented on this page. Any color desired can be used, and the effect can be arranged to suit any need that might arise. When the press is running at full capacity, three rolls of paper are required. They all operate at the same time; each roll winding itself through each of the three decks to the folder.

MATRIX DRYING PRESS.

The double platen Drying Press shown above is equipped with a gas-heated steam generator. It constitutes a part of the stereotyping plant.

DESCRIPTION OF SCOTT PRESS.

This Press is what is known as the three-roll two-plate wide Web Perfecting Press. The rolls of unprinted paper are placed at one end of the press and then fed through the machine in continuous webs or ribbons. These webs pass between sets of cylinders which print them first on one side and then on the other, thus "perfecting" it, as it is called. Each of these sets of cylinders consist of one (1) impression cylinder and one (1) type cylinder and on this type cylinder are placed curved stereotype plates, from which the printing is actually done. From the printing cylinders the paper webs are brought to the cutting and folding mechanism at the other end of the press. This is a combination of marvellous devices, which cuts, folds and delivers the papers at the enormous speed of 24,000 4, 6, 8, 10 or 12-page newspapers per hour.

In addition to the output mentioned above, this press can also print 12,000 16, 20 or 24 page newspapers per hour.

This press embodies practically all the latest improvements in machinery, has the very best inking and distributing arrangements so that papers equal to those of any of the large metropolitan newspapers can easily be turned out.

The press is about 23 feet long, 11 feet high and 9 feet wide. It weights approximately 30 tons.

The cut shown above does not represent the press in its complete form in that it does not show the color cylinder or the Hoe folder. Both of these have been added to the press installed in the Examiner plant.

THE EXAMINER WILL BE GLAD TO SHOW AND EXPLAIN OPERATIONS

The Examiner extends to its readers and the general public a cordial invitation to visit its new press and stereoptying departments. Persons who are interested in mechanics will be doubly repaid, and others will gain a clear understanding of the modern methods of newspaper production. The best time to see the press in operation is from 4 p.m. until 4.30 p.m., but the stereotyping work is in progress throughout the day until nearly 6 o'clock.

EXAMINER'S CONFIDENCE IN FUTURE OF PETERBOROUGH SHOWN BY EXTENSION

ADVERTISING IN "A" FLAT

Advertising alleviates anxiety and averts all agitation, assuring added assets and assuaging all alarm. As Aristotle announced, advertising aids annual averages and averts any adverse agitation, and annual announcements all are agreeable. All are adjured to assist advertising.

IMPROVEMENTS IN MECHANICAL EQUIPMENT WILL ACCOMMODATE THE DEMANDS OF MANY YEARS TO COME, HOWEVER RAPID MAY BE THE INCREASE IN CIRCULATION---SMALLER PLANT MIGHT HAVE SUFFICED FOR A FEW YEARS, BUT PLANS WERE LAID FOR WHAT THE CITY OF PETERBORO DREAMS OF---NEW AND MODERN MACHINERY PROVIDE EVERY FACILITY FOR ADOPTING THE LATEST IDEAS OF NEWSPAPERDOM.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICES HAVE NOT YET BEEN RAISED

The Examiner believes that it will be a matter of interest to the citizens to know that Peterborough has a newspaper and printing establishment as efficient and complete as this. The capacity of the new press, the advantages offered by the stereotyping department, and the combined effects of all the new machinery, give the Examiner an unrivalled and pre-eminent position in this district. Apart from its mechanical features, its circulation and delivery, and its wealth of advertising, the Examiner is providing the people of Peterborough with a news service that is not surpassed by any other newspaper in the cities of this size in Canada. The local and district happenings are fully covered, and the Canadian Press, United Press, and the Toronto Star's News and Picture Service, with home and foreign connections, afford a comprehensive report of current events, and the history that is made from day to day.

MONOTYPE CASTING MACHINE

One of the important features of the Monotype is that it applies the well known principle of specialization to the composing room, for by the Monotype system type-making is separated as distinctly from type-setting as is the type foundry from the printing office.

The Monotype casting machine is a complete automatic type-foundry, producing type, borders and spacing material of any size from 5 point to 36 point, also rules, leads and slugs, at a speed that makes it cheaper to cast everything new than to distribute. The mold is water-cooled and the matrix is air-cooled; making possible the casting of perfect type in the shortest time, so that the production is much greater than that of machines used by type-founders. The Monotype will turn a pound of metal into type of the highest quality in less than two minutes.

Each letter being cast separately, just as foundry type is made, it is possible to use just as hard metal as the type-founders use, and obtain a sharpness and printing quality of face that is impossible where letters are cast in bunches instead of separately. The printing industry was born when movable types were invented and as long as quality and economy count in that great industry type will be used and new uses will be found for the Monotype.

MATRIX ROLLING MACHINE.

The Matrix Rolling Machine from which the impression is first taken off the forms as they come from the composing room. This machine like the rest of the plant is operated with an individual drive motor. The machine is simple in operation and is capable of the most powerful and uniform impression.

COST VERSUS PRICE

It is perhaps overlooked by readers of the Examiner that subscription rates have remained stationary, while the cost of nearly every other commodity has steadily advanced. During the war and since the armistice there were excessive telegraph tolls and special services as new and heavy expenses, and the newsprint manufacturers took their toll in higher prices of paper. No suspicion of profiteering can be directed against the press of Canada, to whom the war offered only the opportunity of broadening the service it could render its public. The Examiner has not spared expense during these years and while the present costs warrant increased subscription charges, these will not be demanded until there is no alternative.

A Kitchen Cabinet and a Refrigerator in One

CONVENIENT IF YOU LIVE IN AN APARTMENT
Regular Price $95, August Sale of Furniture $79

In a Kitchen where the Fleming Refrigerator-Cabinet is installed your work-table, pantry, cupboard and refrigerator are all combined; you can stand or sit in front of your cabinet comfortably, and do all your work in less than half the usual time. You can use it six times a day – before and after each meal—every day in the year.

Our Kitchen Refrigerator-Cabinets are constructed principally of Three-ply Laminated materials (oak and other suitable hardwoods). These woods are treated by a patented cement process, and under heavy hydraulic pressure are hermetically sealed together; one-quarter of an inch thickness is equal to a full inch of an unlaminated wood. This treatment also makes the wood impervious; it will neither shrink, check, nor split. Indurated it becomes harder with age, almost petrified, air-tight, and damp-proof, being at the same time light, strong and absolutely durable.

Our Refrigerator is scientifically constructed, insulated with surgically clean, high-class material "which by test is the best"; in the provision compartment we create a double circulation of pure, cold air, which is as real as though caused by an electric fan. Seventy-five per cent. of every one hundred pounds of ice put into the average refrigerator is melted by the heat which leaks in through the side of the refrigerator, while only twenty-five per cent. is actually used in keeping cool the foods stored therein. It is, therefore, easy to see the importance of proper insulation.

It is really the most practical Kitchen Cabinet ever placed on the market, and we wish to emphasize this fact, that while our Refrigerator adds considerable to the cost of production, the Cabinet can be sold in competition with any other high-class Kitchen Cabinet on the market.

MOTOR TAKES FIRE ON THE HIGHWAY

Mr. Pat. White, while in Uxbridge last week had quite an exciting experience with his automobile. Mr White was near the market, a number of farmers were sitting in the car and on the running board, enjoying a good smoke. When Mr. White left Uxbridge for home, he thought he could smell something burning, but on turning around could see nothing wrong. Going along at a good pace he was surprised on turning around again to find the back part of the car in flames. Pat immediately off with his coat and succeeded in smothering the fire and putting it out quicker than a fire brigade. Of course some new cushions and other repairs will be needed.

The Argentine Government has required railroads to heat their cars in passenger trains as a health measure.

PERMANENT FIRE SUB-STATION WAS PROPOSED FOR ASHBURNHAM'S NEED

SPENCER'S POOLROOM WAS SUGGESTED BY CHIEF GRANGE—TEMPORARY BRANCH NEEDED AND CHIEF STATES THAT PERMANENT STATION WILL HAVE TO COME EVENTUALLY.

WILL GET OPTIONS

Spencer's pool room on Hunter street east, was suggested by Chief Grange to the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night as a desirable location for a permanent fire substation in Ashburnham. It could be bought for $5,000 he said, and could be altered and equipped at a comparatively small expense. The plate glass windows could be removed and big doors substituted. The ceiling was high enough for the drop harness. The rooms upstairs could be easily made into a dormitory and with a brass pole and barn at the rear the branch station would be complete.

Ald. Morrison called the meeting to consider arrangements for meeting the situation that has arisen out of the partial blocking of the street by the work of the new bridge, and while there are several barns mentioned as available, Chief Grange pointed out that if the road is not cleared during the winter the barns would be unsuitable because of the cold weather.

"You need a warm place for the chemical, and the men and horses, and when you are considering temporary quarters it might be well to take up the question of a permanent station for Ashburnham for it has got to come some time," Chief Grange advised.

Ald. Morrison and the chief were authorized to get options on centrally located properties as soon as possible and to report back. Mayor Duncan volunteered to call a special meeting of the Committee of the Whole next week to expedite the preparations for maintaining adequate fire protection for Ashburnham under the conditions caused by the bridge work.

Although Hunter street is not entirely closed to traffic the excavations for the approaches have thrown up obstructions that are practically a barricade to the fire apparatus Committee agreed that the detour by Smith street would not suffice and that security for Ashburnham property could be made most complete by equipping a substation, either a temporary one or permanent.

Members of the Committee present were Ald. Morrison, Garside and Taylor and Mayor Duncan.

PROPOSE 12-INCH MAIN ON MONAGHAN ROAD FOR SCHOOL

UTILITIES COMMISSION WILL BE REQUESTED TO MAKE EXTENSION —ACKERMANS WANT FACTORY FIRE ALARM SYSTEM.

LIGHTS FOR THE MONAGHAN ROAD

By a resolution passed by the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night the Utilities Commission will be required to extend the twelve inch main on the Monaghan Road to provide fire protection for the proposed Peace Memorial School. The action was in response to a request from the Board of Education.

A request for lights on the east side of the Monaghan Road from the C. G. E. property to the C.P.R. was received from seventeen ratepayers. Ald. Morrison will decide the number of lights needed.

Mayor Duncan was authorized to appoint delegates to attend the convention of the Ontario Fire Protective League in Toronto on September 4.

Want Alarm for Factory.

B. F. Ackerman Son & Co., Limited, wrote that they desired to install in their factory an electric fire alarm system similar to one in the J. J. Turner building. They suggested that the work be done by the city and asked for an estimate of the cost together with a fixed charge for five years.

Mayor Duncan said that there could be no objection, provided this system was put in on the same terms as the other.

Chief Grange remarked that probably all the factories would ask for this special protection and in that event an indicator would be needed at the Fire Hall to show on what floor a fire had occurred, in order that there would be no time lost by the firemen in reaching it as quickly as possible.

The J. J. Turner company had assumed all the costs of the equipment and installation, also the responsibility for its operation, and the work was performed to the satisfaction of the Fire Chief.

The committee instructed the City Clerk to inform the Ackerman company that if they would comply with these conditions their request would be further dealt with.

Mayor Duncan observed that if a member of the company would interview the council an understanding would be quickly reached.

Department's Expenditures.

The money expended by the Department during the half year amounted to $15,866.10, of which $1,132.54 was paid out monthly for salaries.

Injury to a Horse.

Mr. Herbert Hamlin's notice to the Council that the horse which he had rented to the City had injured its foot on July 23, was discussed by the Committee. Ald. Phelan explained that it had been rented for 50c a day and its feed, to replace the horses used by the Board of Works, which had been put in pasture. Chief Grange said he believed Mr. Hamlin suspected the firemen of knowing something about the supposed injury, because they had refused to feed the horse owing to a situation arising out of the city laborer's strike. But the Chief's own opinion was that Mr. Hamlin's horse had been overfed after coming off the grass, and that this accounted for the condition of its leg. Ald. Morrison and Ald. Phelan were asked to investigate the circumstances and report.

The Trades and Labor Council's query as to the legality of the operation of the one-man cars was discussed at last night by the Railway Company. It was recommended that City Solicitor Widdifield enquire into the question, and also that if the Trades Council has any complaints about the operation of the cars in relation to public safety that they be forwarded direct to the Hydro-Electric Commission.

Ald. Edgar, chairman, remarked that citizens had commented on the satisfaction the new cars were giving. It was also stated that since passengers cannot enter or get out of the cars while in motion because of the motorman's control of the door that there seemed little possibility of danger.

Paying for Flagmen.

Ald. Phelan drew the attention of the Board of Works to the increased cost to the city of the maintenance of some of the protecting gates at street crossings. His statement was forwarded to the Railway Committee who he told last night that there are only two crossings toward which the municipality pays nothing. They are the G.T.R. crossing on George street and the G.T.R. at Simcoe and Charlotte streets. This exemption was secured by the late James Kendry who had fought the railways to the Privy Council.

Continuing, he showed that the city's share of the maintenance of the G.T.R. gates at Reid, Sherbrooke, Hunter and King streets, and the C.P.R. at Aylmer street was $764.03 for the first four months of this year.

"I always thought it an injustice that the city had to pay anything toward the operation of these gates," Ald. Phelan said. "In the old days we never paid much attention to the city's share, for men were working in twelve hour shifts and their wages were small. Now they have three eight hour shifts, and I understand that the wage is $3.10. I don't object to the men getting a decent wage, but I do say that this is too big a bill for the city to pay.

The Committe decided on motion of Ald. McIntyre, seconded by Ald. Morrison to obtain information from other cities similar to Peterboro as to what charges they have to pay for the maintenance of railway gates, and also, that a deputation wait on the Railway Board in an effort to secure relief from this levy of expenses, and that Ald. Phelan be a member of that deputation.

HER LITTLE GIRL HAD DYSENTERY

Bowels Moved as Many as 35 Times a Day.

Dysentery manifests itself with varying degrees of intensity, but in well marked cases the attack is commonly preceded by some amount of diarrhoea, which gradually increases in severity, and is accompanied with griping pains in the abdomen. The discharges from the bowels succeed each other with great frequency, and the matter passed from the bowels, which at first resembles those of ordinary diarrhoea soon change their character, becoming scanty, mucuous or slimy, and subsequently mixed with, or consisting wholly of blood. Never neglect what at first appears to be a slight attack of diarrhoea or dysentery may set in.

Mrs. Jno. V. Tanton, R.R. No. 8, Watford, Ont., writes:—"My daughter was taken down, two years ago, with dysentery, and I could find no help for her until I got a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. She was only two years old, and ate something different to what she was used to. She had as many as twenty-five movements a day, and mostly blood. We had the doctor several times, but no relief came until we used 'Dr. Fowler's.' I would not be without it in the house for a good bit."

"Be sure and get" Dr. Fowler's" when you ask for it. Price, etc. a bottle, set up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Changes the Blood, Builds Up Strength, Improves Complexion

As a result of debility, sickness or improper diet, the blood often becomes weak and unable to free itself of poisons.

Morbid unhealthy matter accumulates and breaks out in sores that discharge and will not heal.

Washes, salves and ointments are useless because they have no action on the poisoned blood.

But Dr. Hamilton's Pills cleanse and enrich the diseased blood, drive out impurities and fill it with nutriment and strong building material.

Ulcers, boils and sores heal up.

Likewise all weakness due to impoverished blood is cured by these famous pills, and anaemia, erysipelas and rheumatism go before it as chaff before fire.

The skin grows smooth, complexion clears, health, vigor and strength are evident on all sides.

A blood remedy for blood diseases, the formula of a famous physician—no improvement can be made on Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Their use extends to the people of many nations and thousands have proved that they do cure when all else fails.

OXFORD HARVEST WILL BE SMALL

Farmers Are Turning Their Cows Into the Oat Fields.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 9.—A general review of the oat crop in Oxford County for the year shows the yield this year will not total 80 per cent. of the production of 1918. In large areas, particularly in the north half of the country, the yield will not average more than ten bushels to the acre. The early seeding throughout the North is invariably a failure, while the later crops, though still showing some growth, are not expected to produce anything like an average yield per acre. Many of the farmers who are not fortunate enough to have ensilage left in their silos from last year, are turning their cows in their oat fields in an effort to keep up the flow of milk, and incidentally, to keep the animals from starving on pasture fields which are stripped of any semblance of green grass. Following the recent rain falls, the corn crop and turnips and mangolds are showing much improvement, and the indications are now for an average crop. As corn has become the staple crop of the farmers in this country, the promise of a fair crop will go a long way toward making up the cereal deficiency, as both the wheat and hay crops are good.

BAND CONCERT LAST EVENING

A record crowd last night listened with much interest to the Temple Band give one of their best programmes this season. The snappy marches and selections were well received. The band was augmented by Bandsman J. Sutton, who has just arrived from England. Mr. Sutton, who is a cornet soloist, also manipulates a trumpet. The solo played by this new member was very pleasing.

It would appear, judging by the crowd present, that the general public are taking advantage of attending the weekly band concerts, as August concludes the season for concerts in the park.

WALTER JACKSON IS THE CHAMPION HITTER OF CITY LEAGUE BASEBALL

CHERRETT LEADING RUN-GETTER—COMPLETE CITY LEAGUE AVERAGES FOR THIS SEASON—ORIENTALS LEAD IN TEAM BATTING AND FIELDING—THE PITCHING RECORDS.

Below are given the complete official figures of the City Baseball League. The figures show that Walter Jackson, the Matthews-Blackwell outfielder, is the champion batter, with a mark of .488, while Roy Cherrett, shortstop of the Orientals, is the leading run-getter, having crossed the plate 17 times in 12 games.

There are other players with a higher batting average than that of Jackson, but as these players have not played in half the scheduled games, the honours rightly go to the Matthews-Blackell player, who set up his mark of .488 in ten games. The four leading hitters of the League, among whom those who have taken part in at least 50 per cent. of the games, are: Jackson, Matthews-Blackell, with .488 in 10 games, Adams, Matthews-Blackwell, .414 in 8 games, Head, Orientals, with, .407 in 8 games, and Cherrett, Orientals, .404 in 12 games.

The Orientals, although they finished a game behind Matthews-Blackwell in the League standing, led in hitting by a wide margin, with a team average of .302, and also led in fielding. The Orientals had 8 men hitting better than .300, while Mattthews-Blackwell had 4, the De Laval 4, and the War Veterans 1 in the charmed circle. Here are the figures.

TENNIS MATCH AT THE GOLF CLUB

THE RESULT WAS IN FAVOUR OF THE PETERBORO PLAYERS.

A very enjoyable match was played on Thursday afternoon on the Golf Club Courts, the opposing teams being Norwood and Peterborough Golf Club. The rain cleared off in time to allow three doubles and two singles to be finished, the result being 4 matches to 1 in favour of Peterborough. The majority of the contests were very close, especially the match between Dr. Sutton and F. D. Kerr, the result of which was in doubt until the last moment of play. The detail scores were as follows:

F. D. Kerr and F. C. Weber won from J. Grover and T. Puffer—8-6, 6-1.

F. L. Bradburn and G. R. Langley won from Capt. Wilkins and Dr. Sutton—6-3, 4-6, 6-2.

Mr. Grover and Mr. Findlay won from Dr. McPherson and Mr. Dodds, 6-4, 6-2.

F. D. Kerr won from Dr. Sutton—6-3, 4-6, 8-6.

G. R. Langley won from T. Puffer—6-3, 6-1.

F. L. Bradburn vs. Capt. Wilkins—unfinished.

It is expected that a return match will be played at Norwood on 16th August.

"CANNON BALL" SCOTT BEATEN BY SUNDERLAND.

LORNEVILLE, Aug. 7.—In the fastest game of the season Sunderland defeated the locals, with "Cannon Ball" Ed. Scott on the mound, by the score of 4 to 1. Stan. Young, for the visitors, who formerly pitched for the Baracas of the Bayside League, Toronto, and just lately returned from overseas, pitched one of the best games of his career. He held the locals to two hits and fanned 14 men, while Scott struck out nine. Both pitchers received errorless support, and the visitors' runs were the result of timely hitting.

DOLLAR DAY WILL BE HELD ON WEDNESDAY, AUGUST TWENTIETH

MERCHANTS ARE MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR THE BIG DAY—ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-FIVE DOLLARS IN THE MAIN PRIZE CONTEST.

One of the events that has become a fixture in the business life of Peterborough, and is looked forward to with pleasant anticipation by the public generally, is Examiner Dollar Day. Holding one in the winter and another in summer has made two real holidays for the city that are certainly appreciated to the full by the citizens. For weeks before, the merchants make preparations for the big day, and as the time approaches, anticipation becomes keener and everybody seems ready to enter into the spirit of the day.

This summer the day selected by the merchants for Dollar Day is Wednesday, 20th August, and judging by the cheerful aid of preparedness on the faces of the merchants when seen by the Examiner representative, every store on the list, which is a big one, has a lot of surprises waiting for Dollar Day shoppers, each one endeavouring in a friendly rivalry to outdo the other. Without doubt the Dollar Day for 1919 is going to eclipse all former records and be a hard one to beat in future repetitions of the same. The one feature that makes the day attractive is the unanimity of the merchants. The bargain-giving is not confined to any one line of goods, but covers every class of merchandise on the street. There's dry goods, clothing, furs, boots, groceries, hardware, stationery, fancy goods, electric supplies, jewellery, musical goods, etc., and all the dealers are putting forth their best offerings for the one big day, so that no matter what is wanted, there's a chance to buy it at a dollar Day special price on Wednesday, 20th August.

Added to all the stores' bargain attractions comes the participation in the big prize contest for the $185.00 in cash that the merchants give away as bonuses. These prizes, as usual, will be given to the correct estimators on the number of blanks that will be filled out and dropped in the box at the Examiner door by ten o'clock on the evening of Dollar Day. So many people made estimates on the number in January that the number jumped from about 10,000 to 15,574, and hundreds of people got a surprise. We are looking for another surprise this time, and there is no telling what the number of tickets in the box will be that day.

WON KAWARTHA LAKES CHAMPIONSHIP

LINDSAY, Aug. 9. — The sailing events of the Sturgeon Point Regatta, postponed on account of weather, were run off Thursday and were followed with interest.

In the open race Flavelle's sloop, manned by Stuart Flavelle, Jim Allen and Bert Hopkins, won quite handily, right from the start, from Knapman, of Stoney Lake.

The dinghy championship was won by Bert Hopkins, after an exhibition of skillful sailing, from a field of three—Flavelle, Barr and Eastwood, of Chemong. This is the third time the silver cup has been won by Mr. Hopkins, and now it is his permanently. Congratulations were offered on every side for his accomplishment of a triple win—a feat very rare in the history of sailing on the Kawartha Lakes.

QUOITING TOURNAMENT.

An open quoiting tournament will be held Monday morning on the Collegiate Inst. grounds. A number of good matches are scheduled for this event.

Bread and butter is more nutritious than biscuits.

An excellent sandwich may be made with one slice of bread spread with cream cheese, and the other with jelly.

RETURNED MEN TAKE HOLD.

The press room foreman is Mr. Harry Donelly, and his assistant is Mr. Harold McLeay, a returned soldier, who served his apprenticeship with the Examiner. Mr. Donelly is an expert pressman and has already become as familiar with its habits and humours as he was with the old Cox duplex.

The new stereotyping room is manned by three returned soldiers, who were employed by the Examiner before they enlisted. Mr. Albert Stanley, winner of the Military Medal and Distinguished Conduct Medal, Mr. Martin Gorham and Mr. Lynn Callander, have all records of long service at the front, and in their return to the work of peace have adapted themselves to the ways of the stereotyping department with a readiness and efficiency that have conquered any difficulties the new work at first presented.

COBB IS STILL LEADING STRING

A FEW FIGURES CONCERNING AVERAGES OF THE BIG LEAGUERS

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—The battle between the two stars, Sisler of St. Louis, and Cobb, of Detroit, for premier honours among American League batters, resulted in the latter taking first place with an average of .385, according to unofficial averages received here. Sisler is ten points behind. Sisler retained his lead in the total bases with a mark of 106 bases. Johnson, of Cleveland, caught up to the St. Louis star in stolen bases. Each has 22 to his credit. Babe Ruth, the Boston slugger, has failed in his last five games to add to his string of sixteen home runs, but is still at the top of the circuit drive hitters.

JEWS REFUSE BURIAL TO SZAMUELY AS A MURDERER.

VIENA, Aug. 8. — The Board of Management of the Jewish Cemetery at Wiener Neustadt, Lower Austria, has refused to allow the burial there of the body of Tibor Szamuely, Hungarian Communist leader, who was shot and killed as he was trying to cross the Austrian frontier. The reason given by the chief official of the Board was:

"The Mosaic Law contains no provision against the burial of murderers in consecrated ground, but Moses knew that murder was foreign to the nature of the Jews, and therefore he passed no ordinance. I assume that that Jew with his own hands murdered forty men at least. Therefore, I forbid the burial."

The body was taken to the frontier town of Sauerbrunn, near which Szamuely died, for burial.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

The Fantom Diver

By GEORGE W. LEWIS

(Copyright)

Big Harkinson stepped off the raft and disappeared downward. The gray-green water lapped above his head, a few blister-like bubbles danced and exploded in the tiny swirl that marked his exit. That was all. The sepulchered Helena was about to receive a second visitor from the land of the living. The slender conduit that linked the diver with life paid out rapidly, then suddenly stopped, and we knew that Harkinson was aboard the wreck.

"Seventy-one feet," drawled Garrick.

"A little pale, wasn't he?" queried Weary, keeping a watchful eye on the line.

Garrick looked over to the speaker as though he had expected the question.

"What d'you s'pose is wrong?" he said. The faintest trace of anxiety was in his great, slow voice.

"It's Connors—I mean the mysterious way Connors' air-tube parted," returned Weary. "I don't believe in spooks, 'specially submarine ones; but there ain't no more cause for the Atlantic cable coming in two at this minute than there was for poor Connors' hose—a brand new one, too, mind you—separatin' as it did. It's queer."

Garrick, listening, spat reflectively at the last remaining bubble. Watching from my seat in the dingey, I knew that the two men, whatever denials they might make, were at last impressed with the gruesomeness of their chosen profession—dallying with dead things under the sea. Mayhap it was because Connors had been their tutor, their companion. Indeed, the old diver had been pretty nearly everything to them; but he had been even more to his employers. In his unaccountable death the world had lost a master-diver, and the company had lost money. But because John Connors had been a faithful servant, the company had paid hard money that the diver's harness-weighted remains might be the first brought up.

Harkinson's signal "up" was of that nervous, hurry-up sort that tells of sudden distress. He had been down but three minutes. At a similar depth he usually remained thirty or more, for he was a Hercules, and for him water-pressure had no terrors. I knew that Weary, at least—though for no good reason—fully expected to see the big diver come up limp and dead. I read his white face like print. But when big Harkinson's helmet bobbed out of water a moment later, both his big red hands were clutching at the raft as frantically as if some pursuing monster were about to drag him down to death.

When his helmet was off, his face showed mottled and chalky. The spluttered-out, meaningless fragments of speech, and his eyes were fixed in a terrified stare. Garrick forced half a pint of whisky down his throat before anything like coherency could be restored.

"He's down there—boys—Connors!" The diver clapped his hands over his eyes as if to shut out some hideous recurring vision. "Oh, Lord!" he wailed, "think—think of the harness—Connors, dead sixty—sixty minutes—walking and beckoning—"

Harkinson's great strength snapped like a reed under the strain, and he dropped forward upon his face, unconscious.

When Garrick consented to go down to the Helena, I knew that it was because he needed money—needed it badly. Garrick, unavoidably, had long been idle; besides, he was engaged, and the girl was pretty and worthy; and the big, slow-spoken diver knew that he must prepare a suitable home for her. He was of a good, honest sort, was Garrick, and courageous, too. But I had watched his face as Harkinson, his nerves shattered, related from a sick bed his uncanny experience aboard the sunken Helena; and thus I had come to know that, badly as Garrick needed money, he needed courage more, if he would succeed where Harkinson had failed. The thing was on his nerves, right enough; but I saw the grip of his big jaw, and I knew that he was indeed going down, even though he might not come up.

"There was a lot of wreckage piled up about the cabin-door," Harkinson had told us, "and I had to squat as low as I could to pass under it. As I raised up, inside the cabin—Connors—dead sixty hours—got up off a bench fixed to the opposite wall of the cabin, and came to meet me. Seventy-one feet under the sea with a ghost! Connors—yes, it was him, all right—suddenly stopped and threw up his hands as though recognition of me startled him. He wore his same diver's outfit—the kind we all use. After a moment his arms fell limply by his sides; but immediately he made a hand and passed it over his brow perplexedly. Then he seemed to gesture to me; and I found that I was also beckoning to him, signaling to him to follow me up. But he backed away in a manner almost of despair, I thought, and resumed his bench at the farther side of the cabin as I bent low under the wreckage at the door and backed out on deck, signaling to be pulled up."

Weary's face was chalk-white, as big Garrick went over the side and dropped out of sight in the green swell that rocked our raft and dingey. As for me, I confess my nerves were strangely shaken. But I was scarcely more than a green diver as yet, whereas Weary thrilled his listeners—and himself—with well-told tales of raised treasures and strange submarine encounters in which, be it known, he starred himself little of the commendation due to achievements.

Within twelve minutes after Garrick went down, the body of Connors had been recovered in a fair state of preservation. Harkinson, an old-timer, too, had after all allowed himself to be frightened off the job by some foul, subaqueous phenomenon whose phases he had been studying all his precious life.

Weary's superstitious mind was infinitely relieved. A semblance of color came back into his face, and I had begun to feel less of the anxiety experienced by one at work with a near-maniac for a companion, when all at once Garrick startled us with a, fiercely tugged "up" signal. He was mumbling strange sounds before we got his helmet off, and when the light fell on his face it revealed a mask of terror unspeakable. His features were drawn and seamed unbelievably, and speech had deserted him altogether. Some awful emotion shook his great body like an aspen.

It was two long hours before we knew his story. All that Harkinson had seen in the Helena's cabin, Garrick, too, had beheld—the same in all its blood-chilling details.

The affair began to nag my nerves with a vengeance. I would have staked my very existence on the grip of Garrick's big jaw. I almost wished that I had done so; for Weary and I were the only available now, and I knew beforehand that Weary, if detailed, would refuse to go down. It was a time when one must be a man or a mouse; when a white feather becomes a white flag, and a white flag means the surrendering of a career. I am a natural coward, but possess underlying qualities of resolution. I could live without this job, I thought; and, too, I, unlike Garrick, was blessed with no woman's love save a mother's; but her comforts were my pleasures, her self-denials my heartaches. I went down!

I went down—down, down, down until my cumbrous feet met the slimy, slanting deck of the ill-fated Helena. The water was as clear as might be at a like depth. Everywhere was a confusion of wreckage. It had been a smashing gale that wrought all this demolition. I made out the cabin, half-hidden under a tangled mass of wreckage, and worked my way to the debris-barred door. I avoided the keen edge of a long knife which some whim of the storm's fury had fixed firmly in a piece of broken mast. The edge turned outward, menacing my lines, and I gasped. The mystery of Connors' death was laid bare. His hose had doubtless caught on the knife blade; he had tried to haul it after him, and—!

I had to crouch low to pass under the barrier at the door. The cabin windows were clear, and in the ceiling was a large, irregular hole which admitted light. I stood erect inside the cabin, and—! At the opposite side of the room a second diver in full dress had risen before me, motionless, but erect with the confident poise of life. A nervous, insane curiosity seized me; a yearning to know if the diver that faced me were of flesh and blood, or—or something else. I advanced toward the apparition; and then my nerve all but broke, for it followed my example and came forward to meet me! I hesitated only for the space of a heart-beat; then I threw myself forward wildly, hands clutching, but on the greasy, slime-coated floor my feet flew from under me with the effort, and I crashed down.

The fall dazed me. I only knew that my hands, in the instant of my falling, had slipped over a smooth, hard surface exactly where the apparition had stood. From the floor I strained my eyes upward. The strange diver had disappeared. I tottered to my feet; and then the desperation of fright sent my hand to my sheath-knife, for as I gained my feet the vanished figure again confronted me. I drove the knife with all my strength, for I knew that the mysterious diver was not Connors. The knife-point deflected and grazed an impenetrable, even surface, and the force of the blow carried me with a momentary shock against something that felt peculiarly like a sleek, enameled panel. My tense nerves went slack, and my knees swayed weakly from the sudden relaxation as the light of understanding broke upon my groping senses.

"The deuce!" I ejaculated in the close confinement of my helmet, "a mirror!"

Early English Coffee Houses.

In an age when newspapers were unknown, or consisted only of official or strictly licensed prints containing only what the court desired to have known, the coffee house became a great exchange of news and politics, and so marked did its influence become that the government attempted at one time to suppress it. The attempt merely served to bring out the importance of the function this unique institution had attained to, for so widespread was the protest of all classes of business affected, and of opinion roused, that Charles II was forced to abandon it.

Foundation Must Be There.

A man can never be a true gentleman in manner until he is a true gentleman at heart.—Dickens.

Preventives of Militarism.

There is a prejudice against universal military training, founded on the mistaken belief that it means the perpetuation of militarism. Really it is the preventive of militarism. It makes the nation ready to defend itself by making the whole body of citizenship ready. It delivers us from the burden of a great standing army, which otherwise we must have for security, and it saves us from the dangers of a small standing army.

Portugal mines less coal than any other European nation, the annual production being about 22,000 tons.

How Pensions Differ.

Compared with the annual pensions granted by the Overseas Dominions and other countries to their totally disabled married soldiers, those paid by Great Britain cannot be said to err on the side of generosity, says Tit-Bits.

From the following table, which gives the respective pensions at a glance, it will be seen that the United Kingdom comes fifth on the list:

Canada—£145, and £20 for each child under seventeen.

Australia—£117, and £26 for the first child and £13 for others under sixteen.

United States—£113 10s., and £25 for each child up to three under sixteen.

United Kingdom—£74 10s. (plus 30 per cent. bonus for period from November, 1918, to June, 1919), and £17 10s. for the first child to £10 10s. for others under sixteen.

Italy—£43, and £5 10s. for each child under twelve.

France—£48, and £4 for each child. This, however, is being increased.

Protection From Lightning.

Sir Oliver Lodge stated that the problem of securing protection from lightning consisted in finding the best method of dissipating the enormous energy of the flash, but that it was not wise to get rid of the energy too quickly. A thin iron wire is considered the best lightning conductor from the electrical point of view, but it is almost impossible to protect a building from lightning unless it is completely enveloped in a metal cage. It is by no means true that a building is safe when provided with a conductor reaching up to the highest part of the building.

Baby Seals.

When seals are born they are snow white, which makes them invisible on the ice on which they are born. Their eyes and noses are, however, black, and when the little ones are suddenly alarmed they close their eyes, bury their noses and lie quite still. It is only when they grow and begin to seek their own food that they become dark and sleek.

ALLEN TTHEATRE IN PETERBORO WILL OPEN ON MONDAY, AUGUST 18TH

THE NEW MANAGEMENT PROMISES SOMETHING GOOD FOR ITS PATRONS--A STORY OF THE ALLEN'S.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Peterboro joins the chain of Allen Theatres Monday, August 19 with the reopening of the Royal theatre as the Allen. Thorough renovations and many improvements made during the past few weeks have made it a practically new house and one a practically new house and one group of forty theatres owned and operated by Messrs Jule and Jay J. Allen, whose headquarters are in Toronto.

With Peterboro belonging to the Allen chain, the people of this city are promised the same high class attractions that are shown in the biggest houses in the Dominion. There will be no delay in their appearance and they will be presented in a setting that will add the more to their enjoyment. Definite promise is made that the highest class of pictures than have been regularly shown in Peterboro will be exhibited at the Allen, accompanied by a splendid orchestra.

Improvements of the theatre have included both interior and exterior. The walls and ceiling have been entirely changed with a decorative plaster effect, providing beauty and a rest to the eye, while the seats have ben raised and many conveniencs supplied. The building has been completely painted and cleaned throughout and made entirely sanitary. The Allen policy of courtesy and "the public be pleased" will mark the new management of the house.

B. ALLEN, President, Allen Theatre Enterprises.

One of Thirty-Seven

Within the past few weeks the Allens have made a series of announcements that give them first place among all motion picture exhibitors of the entire world both in size and number and in importance of the theatres owned and operated. There are now in actual operation thirty-seven houses with some fifteen others in course of construction and plans made for a number of additional ones. By the first of the year there will be a theatre in operation or under construction in every important city in Canada.

In addition, the Allens are carrying their theatres to the United States and have just announced million dollar houses for Cleveland and Detroit. Actual construction has been started on these and they will be in operation by the early spring. These are expected to be followed by other important houses in the States. Announcement of this step has been the sensation of the year in the motion picture world, and news comes from Toronto that still other striking developments may be expected within a short time.

As a matter of fact, the success of the Allens is a real romance of the business world, although their motion picture career covers but the brief period of twelve years. It was then that B. Allen and two sons, Jule and Jay J. started this first theatre at Brantford. That was at the real beginning of motion picture exhibition and at a time when most men who went into the business regarded it as a passing fad and resolved to get the money during the brief period that they expected the "movie lure" to last.

Two Rules

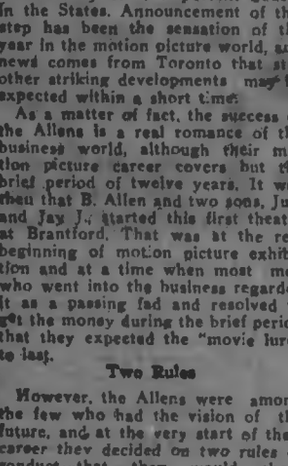
However, the Allens were among the few who had the vision of the future, and at the very start of their career they decided on two rules of conduct—that they would show none but the cleanest pictures obtainable—and that every patron must go away from the theatre satisfied, no matter what the trouble or expense. That is a policy that has since been adopted by successful exhibitors everywhere, but it was this little Ontario group that framed the slogan and made it a watchword that is given no little portion of the credit for the Allens' succes.

In a short time they opened a second Brantford house and then this grew into a small chain of theatres in Western Ontario, but just about this time the Allens saw greater opportunity in the west and selling their Ontario holdings, went to Calgary. From that point they developed a string of film exchanges covering the entire Dominion, and at the same time their new theatre grew, with the Allen of Calgary as the center until they were spread through the prairie provinces. Success with this first series of exchanges brought about the organization of the Famous Players Film Service, controlling the Canadian rights to one of the biggest American companies and then the Monarch Film Company, handling special attractions.



JAY J. ALLEN, Vice-Pres., Allen Theatre Enterprises.

Exchange interests really caused the removal of the Allen headquarters back to Ontario and then came the handsome Allen theatre in Toronto and the further spread of theatres through the eastern section. Following this there were more and more theatres erected and acquired in various cities and only a couple of months ago a deal was completed whereby the Allens took over the largest interests in western Canada, including three large houses in Winnipeg, three in Vancouver, two in Victoria and others in principal centers. In addition they are building new houses to cost more than a half million each in both Winnipeg and Vancouver.

Principal Houses

Some of the principal houses now in operation are the Allen, Allen's Beaver, Allen's Bloor street, Allen's Royal and Allen's Danforth in Toronto; the Regent in Ottawa; Majestic, London; Temple, Hamilton, Windsor, Windsor; Allen and Roma, Kitchener; Allen, Cobourg; Allen and New Grand, Montreal; Allen and Auditorium, Quebec; Province, Dominion, Gaiety, Bijou and Rex. in Winnipeg; Rex, Dominion, Globe and Broadway in Vancouver; Royal Victoria and Dominion in Victoria; Allen and Monarch in Edmonton; Allen, Rex and Rose in Regina; Allen in Moose Jaw; Allen in Brandon and others. Besides those mentioned Allen theatres are also under construction in London, Halifax and St. John's and a half dozen more neighborhood theatres of the highest grade in Toronto.

B. Allen remains as the president of the Allen Enterprises, but the active work has fallen to Jules and Jay J. Allen, the sons, who have proved a remarkable combination. Each has his own field of work, but their efforts dovetail so perfectly that the huge interests are carried forward without a hitch. Around them there has been built up an organization which has often been commented upon as a splendid piece of motion picture machinery.

These huge holdings, giving them control of the principal houses of the Dominion, enable the Allens to select just about the pictures that they desire, and therefore the addition of a Peterboro house to their chain means that this city will be on the circuit to get the very best offerings So, while the Allens control a number of houses in such cities as Toronto, Vancouver and Winnipeg they will be able to pick the very cream of these offerings for Peterboro patrons.

Opening Attraction

Marguerite Clark will be the opening attraction in "Three Men and a Girl". This is a delightful little story taken from the great stage success "The Three Bears" and tells the story of three women-haters fleeing from the opposite sex to Loon Lake, not far from Montreal, and who find their sanctuary invaded by a beautiful girl in bridal gown. A great portion of the action is straight comedy, but there is a pretty love story and sufficient plot to hold the interest close.

Much enjoyment will be added to this feature and to all the others shown at the Allen with the music supplied by a six piece orchestra under the direction of C. Simmons These musicians have been carefully selected and the management of the house promises that they will set a new mark for the Peterboro picture fans. The same music as rendered at the Allen theatre in Toronto and the other big theatres will be used. These complete scores fit every bit of the action of the picture and in the case of "Three Men and a Girl" it is particularly pleasing.

Remainder of the program will include the Graphic and a two reel comedy. Similar bills will be shown each Monday and Tuesday, the policy of the house being three changes each week.

On Wednesday and Thursday of the opening week Cecil B. DeMille's all-star production of "The Squaw Man" will be the attraction and on those days there will be shown the first episodes of the thrilling serial, "The Great Gamble," Anne Luther and Charles Hutchinson are the stars in the chaptered story, which will be shown each Wednesday and Thursday for fifteen weeks together with one of the delightful Outing-Chester scenics and a Harold Lloyd comedy.

Friday and Satuplay of opening week will bring the ever popular Wallace Reid in the most successful of all his offerings, "The Source," and at the same time there will be shown the first installment of the great mystery story, "The Red Glove" in which Marie Walcamp is starred. "The Pool of Mystery" is the title of the first episode. This serial will continue through eighteen Fridays and Saturdays and on the same bills will be a Christie comedy and a travelogue.

M. Rose, a gentleman with long experience in motion pictures, will be the manager of the Allen.

BACK SHOP DISCUSSION

up a surplus. Then everything had to be carried home once it was bought. When W. J. Mason, the grocer put on his and the first delivery rig in town, everybody looked to see the business make an assignment in a couple of months. Such unheard of enterprise and expense was apaling. Inside of six months all grocers were at it and the difference appeared in the price of the goods. Sure thing, just as it does now.

Table Foods and Low Prices.

All meats were sold in the market or from the wagon of the farmer. Today, when a woman recklessly buys two pounds of lamb chop, as a special treat, and pays fiftyeight cents per pound, she proudly stops on the way home to display her purchase. Back in th estimes mentioned the citizen went to the market and carried home on his shoulder a leg of lamb that cost him eighty cents for twenty pounds. A hind quarter of beef would set him back only a trifle, say for one hundred pounds about $4.00. Fifty dollars in eatables would stock a house for a winter and the inmates could stand a siege and would only require tea and sugar to live along through the season.

Clothing was better than now, much better, and at less than half, indeed quarter the prices. Where is the once famous Canadian Tweed, the envy of our neighbors across the border. Gone never to come back. Where will you find the once well-known fullcloth, veritable wool, everlasting in wear if uncouth in appearance. Suit goods, for men are now stuffed with all sorts of make shifts, loose in appearance, expeditious in wear and cost to beat the band. Few men had light and heavy overcoats. Singulary to say shoes for men, until the last three years, were not much dearer. This may be explained by the fact that nearly all men had shoes or the long boots made to order at a cost of from $4.00 to $7.00 depending on the leather. Good calfskin was the rule, and wore long and well. Shoemaking was an intensive handicraft, and many men followed the occupation. House light, first the tallow candle, then whale oil, afterwards coal oil and then to gas and now to electric light. On the whole our electricity is one of the best gifts that science has handed to us, and lighting costs in the workmen's house are about what it was in early days. March, 1919 cost 89 cents for the month.

What the Day's Wage Would Buy.

In the early seventies a day's wage would buy ten dozen of eggs, to-day would get two dozen. To-day's wage would bring in five dozen. The dollar a day income would get nearly six pounds of butter, now the same would not buy two. Firing shows large advances, for where wood sold at $2.50 per cord for best quality, the same is parted with for from $10.00 to $13.00 per cord. Indeed, it is noted that the city of Brantford has 4,000 cords of municipal wood and hopes to get $18.00 per cord. House rent is double what it was, at times three prices. But if the householder of to-day would be content to saw his own wood, fill a boiler with snow and melt it on the kitchen stove to do the family washing before he started for his work of were light, for there were few operations for appendicitus. Such an afternoon morning, raise his own pork, delve in his garden, take the family lantern to guide his footsteps about the streets at night, give up daily papers, ice cream for the kids, make one suit of clothes last for a twelve-month, wear iron-clad, home-made shirts and turned trousers, his boys go barefoot in the summer, and have his excellent wife shape in such conditions, he would have a shack of primitive times and be happy. For it is plain, that what we look on as necessities of to-day would be luxuries of forty years ago. As we live and move and enjoy we trench on the family income.

Production, good hard work, is the only panacea for righting the times, which seem to be out of joint. The joints have loosened much more rapidly in the last five years than in the previous twenty-five, because more people are tinkering at them. So soon as we realize that things are costing not what they are worth but what people can get for them we shall begin to get a line on conditions.

Going into a store the other day, the clerk brought to the proprietor a box containing men's stockings. Said that only nine pairs were left. The boss opened the box, thumbed over the contents, and said that he guessed that they'd not order more until after July. The clerk moved away but was called back. Turning over the box the boss noted the price and said: "You can get from 90 to 95 cents per pair for those, now if you ask it." Is there anything in that story why prices go up?

Can We Ever Build Houses?

The ambition of almost every workman who has a wife and kids, is to own his home. If he hasn't that longing, then it is because: nowadays, he considers it hopeless. Fat chance has he to build a house, considering the straddles that materials have taken.

As an example, taken at random, a mechanic living in the early seventies, married, kept house with his wife and presently two children, farred comfortably and paid for a house and lot on a wage of $10.00 per week, the highest wage at that time paid in his occupation. Without tracing, or even referring to the causes of the steady advances in the cost of building materials in the last forty years and to the phenominal jumps in the last five years, we are reaping the results of the reckless cutting and export of timber and lumber that skinned the district years ago.

Even a moderate dwelling to-day is fearfully and wonderfully made up of materials, in woods, that are put in and covered with pain and stain to hide the poverty of the quality. Good, clear pine, that sold in this town for $10.00 per thousand feet, now costs $60.00 to $70.00. A climb of five hundred per cent. The cheapest hemlock, for studding, flooring and sheeting (pine is out of the question) costs $40.00 to $45.00 per thousand, according to what is facetiously termed the quality. Mighty little quality to it, anyway. If a board or two can be hammered on without the nails splitting the board the workman is lucky. Shingles we bring from British Columbia and disgorge $7.00 per thousand for what we get. Brick has jumped from $5.50 to $18.00 per thousand. To-day material costs in building are fifty-eight per cent over pre-war prices. In the last thirty years over three hundred per cent. advance, while building hardware is away out of sight. Glass is something one can see through, but can't see through the prices. Easily three times the cost of ten years ago. Wages have then possibly less in proportion than materials, say just about one hundred per cent. to one hundred and fifty per cent. No wonder, in self-defence, the workman ask for more money, to have it taken from him almost immediately by the obnoxious advances that immediately follow. In the house building trades and in supply of materials, every advance discounts the probability of further building work, because the man who would build and own a house feels that if he comes to sell he can't pass on the added charges to the man who proposes to buy. Hence building and additions and improvements are kept down and almost negative.

A Venture in Repair Work.

May this small incident be related as illustrating how the whole thing works around in a vicious circle and in the end nullifies the hopes of the man to own his home. A man working in a local factory bought a small, rough-cast, covered house in upper section of the city. He decided to cover the plaster with a cove siding. Give the whole a dash of paint and have the house better looking and warmer. He got the hemlock siding and began nailing it on in evenings and early mornings. A friend going past one evening heard the hammering and went around behind the house to view what was goin on. Found the owner at work. They conversed.

Said the friend: "What's the matter with giving some carpenter, who is out of work, a job doing this. It would be only fair to give him a chance. You, you say, have steady work. How about it?" The idea seemed to appeal to the house owner, who wished to be fair, and the friend said he would send a carpenter man around in the morning, to arrange before the owner got away to his work.

Next morning the carpenter came around good and early. Now, the owner had done a year's work on rough carpentering at the Quaker Oat's Co.'s building. The carpenter said he could handle the job very nicely. As to the cost he would ask 70 cents per hour. But "Good Lord!" said the owner. "I'm only earning 35 cents per hour where I am working. Have I to pay you two hours of my work for one of yours? I hate to refuse, but I can't stand for it. Why I can quit work for a week, do up this job, and save 35 cents per hour on the operation." From force of circumstances he was compelled to finish the work himself.

Who Will Prescribe a Remedy?

What is the remedy? Frankly, there isn't one. If there were men, bodies, governments would hasten to apply. The world convulsion has made as naught all policies and practices. The millions as yet unworking and partially unfed are a claim on the balance of the working world. So long as people abroad are willing and must pay for what we raise that we should pay we shall have to trot along and pay as well as we can. To fix limits on export would be limiting production, for we haven't as yet reached the point where we can compel a man to work and make, to raise and sell, at a fixed price unless that work and price be much as will inspire effect. Nullify that effort and you paralyze the motive for work and production. Down in his consciousness every man knows that. He is even willing to quit work because some one will not pay him what he asks as a living wage. That is his only weapon, the flail of protest. Behind it all there is the one and only principle that stands firm, and to remedy things we must have it applied. Food, honest work. Increased production, more and more of it, until we reach the point that we are growing and producing so much that demands are somewhat satisfied, that the plenty of food products offered will bring down prices. With reductions in necessaries of living prices in other things will fall, they rose because foods rose, they will drop when foods drop and not before. So soon as the food producing proportion of the population overtops, if it ever does, the non-producing part, we shall be able to take home a can of salmon for supper without it being looked on as a piece of reckless extravagance.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat, which clogs Kidneys, then Back hurts and Bladder bothers you.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, then to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

The popularity of automobiles in Canada is rapidly increasing. In 1914 there were 67,415, and four years later, 1918, there were 270,739 cars registered in the Dominion. Ontario has the largest number of any province, 109,734 last year.

CONSTABLE IN BEACH CHASE

SUSPECTING LITTLE MADCAP OF BEING NOTORIOUS JEWEL ROBBER BRINGS GUARDIAN OF LAW MANY TRIALS IN "A PERFECT 36."

Mabel Normand leads a constable a merry chase in her new Goldwyn Picture, "A Perfect 36," which comes to the Grand Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. And that officious minion of the law might be running yet if the little madcap hadn't looked around and seen that he was about to fall in his tracks from exhaustion.

Miss Normand is at her prankiest in "A Perfect 36," particularly in a bathing beach scene, where the constable suspects her of being a crook just because she has been seen in a dress much like the one worn by the real offender on the day she made off with a lot of "jewels." His suspicions only add to the hilarity of the occasion and Mabel Normand in the role of Mabel does nothing to show him his mistake. Rather does she lead him on to convince him that she is the culprit, just to see how far he will go and how he will act in making an arrest.

But for once the ingenious little joker is fooled by a country constable. He resolves not to make the arrest while Mabel is in the surf in her bathing suit. Instead he goes to the proprietor of the pavilion, states his case and gets the key to her dressing room. His suspicions are borne out when he finds the tell-tale dress, and when he discovers the missing "jewels" in her bag he decides on an immediate arrest.

After the constable leaves her room at the bath-house with the dress and bag, Mabel enters it and is shocked to find the place has been ransacked. Certain that the constable is responsible, Mabel seeks him out just when he is combing the beach in search of her.

The officer grabs Mabel's arm, showing her the stolen jewels, orders her to "come along." Mabel is dumfounded when she sees the gems, but even then she is certain that it is all a joke. But she decides not to submit to arrest. With a twist she frees herself from the constable's grasp and dashes away, with the constable in hot pursuit. She makes her way to the surf and, on glancing back, sees that her pursuer is running at full speed. By this time hundreds of people along the beach are amused by the chase. Mabel doubles their glee by dropping suddenly to the sand and the constable falls over her and into the water. It is then that Mabel brings to end what she thinks is a joke.

She submits to arrest but asks permission to go back to the hotel to dress. There they learn that there has never been a robbery, that the scheme is the invention of a press agent for the Malaria Apartment Hotel, who, through a mistake, exchanged bags with Mabel at the station.

A PIPER'S STORY.

Major Albert G. Mackinnon, Army Chaplain, has told how at the annual Scottish Gatherings in Malta, the bagpipes aroused the interest and astonishment of the Maltese. Similarly, the Highland pibroch has waked the echoes among the mountains where the British contingent fought hard for Italy's freedom from the Austrian invader.

But a hundred years ago and more there were Highland soldiers and their pipers in Italy, and an amusing account is related of a Highland piper belonging to the British troops who fought at Maida, encountering in the streets of an Italian town an Italian piper kept busy charming the ears of his countrymen with the strains of his primitive instrument.

The Highlander stopped short in his career and gazed with astonishment at the curious pipes from which proceeded the feeble sounds. Then in a little time astonishment gave place to contempt on the face of the Gael. Muttering a few choice words of Gaelic, he suddenly threw the drones of the great Highland bagpipe over his shoulder, blew up the bag, and set free a hurricane of sound with which the Italian thrills were indeed tame. The piper marched right upon the agonised Italian, who retreated behind the Highland blast, and at last fairly ran and left Donald master of the street.

ASHAMED OF THE PROFITS

GOVERNMENT BILL

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 12.— The House of Commons, after hearing Sir Auckland Geddes, Minister for National Service and Reconstruction, declare that profiteering in foodstuffs was responsible for social unrest and discontent, passed last night on the second reading of the government bill providing for prosecution and penalties for persons guilty of profiteering. The bill was supported on the second reading by the Labour party and the vote on its passage was 251 to 8.

Prices of Shoes.

Sir Auckland, who is in charge of the bill for the government, said the measure would have an effect upon profiteering. The minister said that a manufacturer in North England had told him he "was ashamed" of the profits he was making. He added that shoes which sold at wholesale at from 15 to 25 shilling, retailed at from 50 to 60 shillings. The bill is now in the hands of the Committee of the Whole House, preparatory to bringing up on final passage. The profiteering bill before the House of Commons provides fo restablishment of a central authority to deal with those speculating in the necessities of life. Local and county tribunals would be empowered to inflict penalties up to £900 or six months' imprisonment. The bill would apply to England, Scotland and Wales, but not to Ireland.

FURTHER DECLINES IN STOCK MARKET

(Special to The Examiner.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. — On the theory that Andrew Carnegie was a large holder, there was some selling of United States Steel Common yesterday. It developed to-day, however, that the books of the United States Steel Corporation show he was not a shareholder of record, his interest being confined to first mortgage bonds, most of which are pledged to various educational institutions.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Fractional declines in practically all the leading issues marked the stock market opening to-day. U. S. Steel opened at 108 1-4, off 1-4. Bethlehem B opened 106, off 1-2. Crucible at 188 1-2, off 1-2. Marine at 563 1-4, up 1-2. Central Leather at 99 1-4, off 3-4. American Hide and Leather at 80 3-4, off 1-4. Baldwin at 105 1-2, off 1 1-4; Studebaker at 108, off 1-2, and U. S. Rubber at 125 1-2, off 1 1-2.

At the end of the first half hour the market rallied with equipments the leaders. Baldwin gained 3 1-2 pts. over the opening, selling at 109. Oil shares were well taken on all recessions. Application is being created on the floor of the exchange asking the governors to close the exchange next Saturday.

The entire list became strong around noon and new highs for the day were made. U. S. Steel was up a point from the early low. United Retail Stores sold close to 109. Low priced rails, although at no time weak, failed to follow up the strength of the previous session. The motor stocks acted well, with Saxon up within 2 points of the year's high.

A new wage scale will be drawn up and submitted at close of meeting, which is expected to last the greater part of the week, according to Timothy Shea, Acting President of the Brotherhood. ## A MEDAL WAS PRESENTED CAPTAIN P. P. YOUNG FOR HEROIC ACT LAST SUMMER

THE PRESENTATION

At Young's Point on Saturday evening, Captain P. P. Young was the central figure at a notable event at the lock when a public presentation was made to him of the medal awarded to him by the Royal Canadian Humane Association for his heroic act in saving Miss Mary Bland of 20 McGill street, Toronto, from drowning in August of last year.

Miss Bland fell into the raceway above the power house at Young's Point and was carried down to the turbine under the power house.

Captain Young perceiving a sweater swirling about in the raceway, unable to reach what he immediately supposed to be someone in the water, went out on the breast wall below and swam up against the current, and got her down at the wheel. The suction was so great that he was unable to get away from the wheel, but was able to cling to a brace until a skiff was carried over and worked down under the power house, where in the semi-darkness the unconscious form and Capt. Young were got into the boat.

The conditions were all of such a nature as to Mark Captain Young's act as one of great bravery and especially for a man of nearly 70 years of age.

Ex-Controller McCarthy in Charge.

In heferring to the heroic deed of Captain Young, ex-Controller J. O. McCarthy of Toronto, who represented the Humane Society, and had charge of the formal presentation, after outlining the story of the saving, reminded the huge crowd of cottagers and residents of the Point, that a percentage of only one in forty applications for the medal by the Humane Society, and concluded by charging Mrs. Young with the responsibility of seeing that the medal is worn by Captain Young and not stored away in a bureau drawer.

Many Deeds of Heroism.

Reeve Nicholls of Smith Township Mr. Henry Sutherland of the Stoney Lake Cottagers' Association, and Reb. Father McAuley, spoke briefly, referring to the long kindly life of Captain Young and the many deeds of heroism which he had performed unrecorded; and to the fact that at the time of his latest heroic act in saving Miss Bland the captain was the last to claim any credit.

Mr. Jo M. Wilson of Rochester, a cottager who was present with Mr. McCarthy, pinned the medal on Capt. Young's breast, while the large large crowd cheered the hero to the echo, and the procedings closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Deservedly Popular.

Captain Young is deservedly very popular and the splendid gathering of residents and cottagers were delighted with the honor accorded him by the Humane Society.

SOME OF MEN ARE STILL OUT

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. — While only a few of the striking federated railway shopmen in the Chicago district have returned to work railroad officials were optimistic to-day over prospects of an early return of the workmen to their places pending settlement of their wage demands or the result of the strike vote on which ballots have been distributed from Washington by International officers in the regular way. From other parts of the country reports were that thousands of men had already gone back to work or would return to-day.

WHOLESALE FOOD DEALERS MAKING BIG REDUCTIONS IN THE PRICE OF FOODSTUFFS

CAMPAIGN AGAINST "PROFITEERS AND PRICE GOUGERS" HAS HAD A MARKED EFFECT.

A FEW CUTS

By Ralph F. Couch.

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Wholesale food dealers have begun to make big reductions in prices of vegetables, dressed meats and fruits, government reports showed to-day.

With the campaign to reduce the high cost of living in full swing, a comparison of quotations of July 28, with those of August 11, showed a marked decline, which set in after the attack on unjustified prices began.

Potatoes have been cut from fifty cents to $8.40 a barrel since July 28, according to quotations collected by the Bureau of Markets.

Slashes in the price of dressed meats range up to fifty cents a pound for pork loins.

The cutting also has been extended to beef, the figures showed.

Common grade mutton yesterday brought from 18 to 20 cents a pound in Boston, 14 to 16 cents in New York, 22 to 24 cents in Philadelphia, and 18 to 22 cents in Chicago. Choice mutton sold for 27 to 28 cents in Boston, 26 to 30 cents in New York, 29 to 30 cents in Philadelphia and 29 to 31 cents in Chicago.

Veal, like other meats, seemed highest in Chicago. It ranged from 2 to 5 cents a pound higher in Chicago yesterday than on July 29th. Reductions were reported from Boston, Philadelphia and New York, ranging from two to four cents a pound.

It was stated that there will be no funeral services in New York. At the same time it was learned that the Rev. Denson Wyman, pastor of the Lennox Congregational Church, and Rev. Dr. Wm. Peirson Merill, pastor of the Bick Presbyterian church, New York, will officiate at the private funeral service to be held Thursday morning at Shadow Brook. After the services Thursday the body will then be taken by special train to Tarrytown, New York, for burial in a lot that Mr. Carnegie bought there a few years ago.

PETERBORO MAN SERIOUSLY HURT

GOLDWYN BUILDS PULLMAN CAR FOR "A PERFECT 36"

ILLUSION USED IN MABEL NORMAND PICTURE PERFECT IN EVERY DETAIL.

For Mabel Normand's newest Goldwyn Picture "A Perfect 36," Hugo Ballin, Goldwyn's art director, erected on the studio lot a Pullman coach, perfect in every detail.

In the car were taken a score of uproariugly funny scenes in the play which comes to the Grand to-day and Wednesday.

The illusion is perfect down to the small electric lights on either end of the berths. Mabel Normand on first seeing the plush luxury of the car declared it so inviting that she would be willing to do an entire play in the setting. As much of the action took place in this environment the comedienne was not disappointed.

In building the car in the Goldwyn studios no recourse was made o "faking." Sketches were made in advance and the drawings were verified by members of the technical staff. It is well known that most scenes of this nature are usually photographed in a real car, where the lighting is usually faulty, but it was decided that in "A Perfect 36" no such imperfection would be countenanced. Better said Mr. Ballin, to do the scenes in the studio, with the advanage of the lights, than have the amusing action marred. Accordingly, all was got in readiness for Director Giblyn and Mabel Normand, and work was begun on the Pullman episode.

The star's unfailing sense of comedy has served her director and herself in good stead, for with quick resourcefulness she has supplemented the directions of Mr. Giblyn with her own ideas and the result has been a romp for everyone concerned in the production. Mabel Normands infectious good humor and succession of pranks delight all who work with her and in "A Perfect 36" the star was happier than ever. Miss Normands many side-splitting pranks in the Pullman car kept her associatees in constant laughter all the time Goldwyn's ingenious device was being used for scene-taking.

PRINCE HAS ARRIVED

LANDED AT ST. JOHN TO-DAY AND WAS GIVEN AN ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION.

PRESS COMMENT

(Special to The Examiner.)

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Aug. 12.— The cruiser Dragon, bringing the Prince of Wales, entered the inner harbour at 11 o'clock to-day. He will land on the government pier at noon.

The Dragon, to which the Prince transferred from the cruiser Renown, which brought him from England, was escorted by the Dauntless.

(Canadian Press.)

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Aug. 12.— The Prince of Wales landed here at noon to-day and rode through an enthusiastic crowd lining two miles of city streets over which decorated arches had been erected.

PRESS COMMENT.

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. — Several New York papers to-day, in leading editorials, join in welcoming (with their cousins to the north), the Prince of Wales, upon his arrival on the soil of North America.

The 'Sun.'

The Sun says: "Americans will join with their cousins to the north to-day in welcoming the heir to the British throne, not because is the Prince of Wales, but because he represents officially and most conspicuously, a nation wihch, through the dark days, battled determinedly for freedom, for justice and for right."

The "World."

The World recalls the visit of the Prince's grandfather in 1860, declaring that the American welcome to the present Royal visitor as "a comrade in arms," an envoy in friendship of a nation closely associated in world aims as in language and history, will be less warm."

The "Herald."

The Herald hopes that in future the Prince may look back on his tour of America as one of the great events of his life."

At the landing the Prince received an address of welcome from the Mayor and City Council, and midway of the drive another was presented by the Chamber of Commerce, while the Government's address was delivered at the Parliament Buildings, where the ride ended. Later his Royal Highness proceeded to the Government House, where he is to be the guest of the Governor, Sir Alexander Harris, during his stay in this city.

Returned soldiers and sailors of the Newfoundland contingent participated in the welcoming ceremonies, and detachments of boy scouts and boys' brigade organizations were posted along the route of the procession. The Prince was visibly pleased at the reception accorded him and expressed his appreciation of the popular demonstration. The Royal guest and his suite arrived in the harbour on the British lights Dragoon and Dauntless about 11 a.m., having been transferred in Conception Bay from the battle cruiser Renown on which they crossed the Atlantic.

CARNEGIE GAVE CITY PRESENT PUBLIC LIBRARY

STEEL KING DONATION TOTALLED $30,000.

The death of Andrew Carnegie at Lennox, Mass., on Saturday is of special interest locally as it was through his munificence that the present Public Library was erected. Prior to 1911 there was no Public Library in the city, the lack of one being partly supplied by the Mechanics Institute Library on Water street of which Mr. Walter Pierce was librarian.

In 1910 Mr. Carnegie donated $25,000 toward a building fund for a Public Library on condition that the city be responsible for 10 p.c. of the up-keep. This condition was agreed to. $25,000, however, proved insufficient and a second donation was asked for. The request was granted and Mr. Carnegie provided $5,000 more, making a total of $30,000. The library was opened to the public on February 12th, 1911.

The late Carnegie is related to the Carnegie's of this city

THE STONEY LAKE REGATTA WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

PRIZE PRESENTED

Over 3,000 people gathered at Juniper Island yesterday afternoon when the most successful and best congested regatta ever held at the Lakes was held from the wharf in front of the store. The executive committee Messrs. Graham, Addison, Hugh MacKenzie, W. R. Willoughby, G. O. Cameron, Harold Knapman and J. H. Renwick all of whom figured in the position for the first time proved their efficiency in the splendid and well ordered way in which, the events were run off and in the general way in which the affair was managed. The chairman Dr. John B. Watson and the Secretary Treasurer Mr. Gordon H. Grahame filled their positions in a satisfactory manner. Nothing went wrong outside of the elements which they could not control in the lack of enough wind to run off the two first races; the open sailing and the dinghy sailing for the Senator Cox cup. Mr. Hugh B. Tarbox and Mr. John Henderson acted as judges and Mr. J. R. Dodworth and Mr. Wyndham Eddis as official starters.

The Races

No race lacked entries and in the majority of them they numbered from five as high as twenty the latter number in the case of the greasy pole, which was undoubtedly the most amusing of all the programme.

The results

The results in the different races were:

Boys Double canoe— Willoughby, and Currie, Lockie and Kitchener.

Mixed tandem canoe—D. Fitzgerald and Eileen MacKenzie, Harry Blewett and Margaret McCollum

Men's Single Canoe — Harry Blewett, Clifford Harltone.

G EAT BRITAIN AFTER PROFITEERS

(Special to The Examiner.)

LONDON, Aug. 12. — Great Britain's determination to eliminate her food pirates was reflected in the House of Commons last night in the debate on the Profiteering Bill, which passed its second reading by a vote of 251 to 8. The bill, which provides prosecution and penalties for profiteers, was criticized severely. It is too vague, charged the critics, and does not go deep enough to the root of the profiteering.

The newspapers predicted today the bill would be changed considerably.

FOREST FIRES IN NORTH COUNTRY

NAVIGATION HELD UP BY THE DENSE SMOKE.

(Canadian Press.)

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Aug. 12.—With only limited wire communication with other points, and with inter-lake navigation still practically suspended, business has been virtually brought to a standstill here because of the forest fire situation in the eastern portion of the upper peninsula of Michigan. Telegraph and telephone wires were cut by fires near Soo Junction Sunday night, but service was partially restored late yesterday. None of the villages reported menaced Monday are in imminent danger. One Soo Junction residence was destroyed yesterday. Navigation through St. Mary's river and the government locks here has been halted because of the smoke pall and three large freight carriers are reported aground.

BRAKES ON CAR REFUSED TO WORK

Last evening about 9.30 o'clock while coming down the road near Jackson Park, the brakes on a car run by Mr. Joseph Wolstenholm, 588 Bolivar street, refused to work, and to avoid a probably more serious accident, Mr. Wolstenholm ran into the bank to stop the car. Immediately upon striking the bank the car turned turtle, hurling Mrs. Joseph Wolstenholm with great force upon the ground. Dr. G. S. Cameron and Dr. D. N. Carmichael were called and it was found that she was badly cut and bruised about the thigh and head. The three other occupants of the car escaped practically unhurt, save for a severe shaking up.

APPEAL TO THE ALLIED POWERS

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Appeals for continued military and financial support have been sent to the Allied Governments and the United States by the provisional Government of the Northern Region of Russia at Archangel.

The appeals received to-day in Washington are understood to be identical with those forwarded to the other countries, and said that inevitable disaster would follow the withdrawal of Allied aid.

Music & Drama

"A PERFECT 36."

"A Perfect 36" delighted two of the largest audiences at the Grand yesterday that have yet attended a moving picture show since the opening of the theatre. In the role of Mabel, a boarding-house slavey, Miss Mabel Normand, with her piquant personality and clever handling of the screaming situations, kept the audiences in rolls of laughter throughout the entire performance.

In the dramatic sensation, "White Wash Walls" William Desmond was at his best, and was the hero of a very strong play which also held the audience spell bound, and will doubtless attract record houses during its run in the city.

How to Grow Plants for Winter From Cuttings.

August Ploughing Destroys a Considerable Proportion of White Grubs and Wire Worms Infesting Old Sod Fields—Flax Is a Splendid Crop for a First Crop on Such Fields.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

TOWARD the end of the summer, the amateur flower grower often wonders how the stock of geraniums in the flower border can be increased and preserved by some other means than by taking up the old plants in the autumn; the last named method not having, perhaps, proved successful in past seasons. By starting fairly early, toward the end of August, before cold chilly nights appear, a nice supply of young plants, more especially of all kinds of geraniums of the flowering kind, or those having fragrant leaves, or even the bronze or silver-leaved kinds, can be had by starting cuttings or slips of these plants. First of all obtain a shallow box about three inches deep, ten or twelve inches wide, and from twelve to twenty-four inches in length, an empty haddie (fish) box will do very well. It should have some small holes bored through the bottom for drainage. Pack this box firmly with moist, clean, gritty sand; sand that will make good stone mortar will do. Then take the terminal or top part of the young growth of plants about four or five inches in length, each shoot or cutting having from four to six joints where leaves are produced. Make the base of the cutting just below one of these nodes or leaf joints, making a clean cut with a sharp knife flat across. Cut off some of the lower leaves, leaving two or three leaves at the top. Cut off all bloom buds and blossoms where possible. Make a hole or drill in the wet sand deep enough to set fully half the length of stems of cuttings in the sand. Water them well once and keep the sand moist until cuttings are rooted, which should be in five or six weeks' time. The box can be set out of doors in partial shade until the first week in September, when they can be taken into the window. When cuttings have roots about an inch in length dig them carefully from the sand without injuring the roots and pot them singly into small 2½ inch pots or set them about two inches apart in well-drained shallow boxes in a soil made up of one part sand, one part leaf mould, and about six parts of light loamy soil enriched with one part of dry pulverized cow manure from the pasture field. This last is one of the best possible fertilizers for soil for pot plants. Set the young plants in the window in a temperature of 60 to 70 deg. Fahr., an ordinary house temperature. — William Hunt, O. A. College, Guelph.

White Grubs and Wireworms.

White grubs are the larvae of the large dark brown May beetles, or "June Bugs," as they are commonly called, and, being underground feeders, are very difficult to control. A great variety of experiments have been made with chemicals of many sorts, but none has proved successful. The only method of control is the adoption of a system of rotation of crops. No field should be left in grass for more than three years. An old pasture, when broken up, is often found to be full of these grubs, and they will attack the roots of any plants that are sown in place of their ordinary food which has been removed. Corn and potatoes will suffer severely, but clover is least affected by them and may be seeded down with rye. After the second year any crop will usually be safe. Deep ploughing in October before the weather becomes cold will expose the grubs and destroy many. Pigs and poultry, crows and other birds and shunks greedily devour them. Where an old field is found to be badly infested, it is a good plan to turn in some hogs; they will soon root out and eat up all the grubs. If the field is large it would be well to confine them with hurdles to a small portion at a time, and when that is cleared move them on to a fresh feeding ground.

Wireworms are the larvae of Click beetles, so called from their curious habit of springing up in the air with a "click" when laid upon their backs. The beetles are long and narrow, rounded above, with very short legs, and usually, dull gray or black in color. The grubs are long and round, with a very hard skin, from which they get their name of Wireworms, and yellow or whitish in color. Their life-history is very similar to that of the White Grubs, as they thrive in old pastures and take two or three years to mature. They feed upon the roots of any plants that may be grown where they are, and are especially injurious to corn and potatoes, in the latter of which they often burrow great holes. As in the case of the White Grubs, no treatment of the soil with poisons of any kind has been found effective. There is a prevalent idea that salt will kill them, but this is an entire mistake. The only remedy is a short rotation of crops as is the case of White Grubs. Ploughing in August and cross-ploughing in September will destroy great numbers. Clean cultivation, leaving no weeds or other shelter for the beetles, in fence corners and elsewhere is also of importance. Flax is a particularly valuable crop for sowing on old sod, as the worms injure it but very little.

Y.W.C.A. GIRLS LAND REAL FISH

'LUNGE WEIGHING NINETEEN LBS LANDED AT "I" CAMP.

A maskinonge weighing nineteen pounds was caught on Friday evening last by two of the Y. W. C. A. ladies in a canoe. They captured the big fish behind the island on which their summer cottage is situated, while out trawling in the evening. Fortunately their small boat was being paddled by a male friend who came to their help and assisted in landing their trophy safely. It took the t. . girls to hold it up for exhibition to a number of their admirers on the rock at Burleigh.

HAD A BIG DAY AT BRAUNDPORT

OVER TWO HUNDRED TOOK IN THE FESTIVITIES.

Yesterday was children's day at Braundport, and over two hundred persons, residents, campers and visitors from the city, attended. The programme, which lasted throughout the afternoon and evening, was an excellent one. The sports in the afternoon, under the supervision of Messrs. C. E. Sisson, D. Loomis and J. P. Braund, were run off without a hitch. The sports consisted of races, men's tug-of-war, and a croquet tournament between Routley and Braund.

Home-made candy and piping hot corn were served throughout the grounds by the ladies, and at the Children's Bower needle-work made by the young ladies of the camp was sold. Some of the articles, hair receivers, mats, crochet work, etc., were very artistic. Among those who helped to make this part of the work a success were Mrs. James Richardson, Misses Mary Hunt, Lillian, Mildred, Viola, Jean and Gwenith Routley and the Miss Tullys.

Balloon Ascension.

The balloon ascension and the huge bon-fire in the evening, which burned for hours, was a source of delight to the children. Each child was presented with a souvenir button in commemoration of the event.

Mr. R. C. Braund wishes to thank all those who helped make the day a success, especially Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Benton and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robertson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hetherington, Mr. and Mrs. Sisson and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hensley, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Wellson, Mr. and Mrs. Ford and all those who helped in any way.

From all indications Braundport is becoming exceedingly popular and deserves to be more so.

Next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock Mr. C. E. Sisson is expected to preach the sermon, and all are invited to attend.

CLARA MORRIS DISCUSSES THE HANDSHAKE

It seems strange that all men civilized or savage, in order to express kindness and welcome, require some form of slightest physical contact—the clasp of hands, the pressure of cheek to cheek, or lip to lip, some tribes finding great pleasure in the rubbing together of noses.

I have amused myself by searching through old books, ancient poetry, etc., for references to hand-shaking. A decidedly musty, ill-smelling old translation, informed me that:

"Nestor shook hands with Ulysses on his return to the Grecian camp with the stolen horses of Rhesus."

Again: "Horace, strolling along the Via Sacra, shook hands with an acquaintance." Not very interesting as a news item that, but it tends to show that hand-shaking is a most ancient and honorable rite.

In the Old Testament Jehu asks Johonadab "if the heart was right with him," saying: "If it be, give me thine hand," and Johonadab gave him his hand.

Certainly a good thing, a pleasant and a heartening thing is this close clasping of hands—and coming down through the ages to us. Never abandoned, ever in practice, hand-shaking should today be a very perfect art—but is it?

I recall a poor, sickly newcomer to a western theatre. The manager had introduced his doctor to her. A few minutes later she exclaimed:

"Oh, I never, never can be treated by that man. Why, my dear, his hand is as cold and damp as a frog."

"A Better Hand."

"It's more than that," she fretfully answered. "Just as his eyes wavers so the clasp of his hand is unsteady, uncertain, and suggests insincerity or a lack of selfconfidence. No, he won't do. I must trust my doctor. Don't you know a better physician?"

"I know a better hand," I answered guardedly. "A real doctor's hand, warm, smooth of palm, sensitive of finger-tip and strong withal, that clasps your fingers with a warm, steadily increasing pressure, that never reaches the crushing point, but—he is young yet, and a newcomer, who is working hard to build up a practice."

"Then I'll help him do it!" she declared promptly. "Take me to his office after rehearsal, won't you?" I can trust a hand like that."

A poor little nervous wreck—and yet there really was some truth behind her faddy talk.

Certainly the steady meeting of eyes, over clasping hands are tremendous aids in thought transference, regardless of the words the lips may be forming.

That, I take it, was why Jehu was not content to accept Johonadab's mere word that "his heart was right with him," but added: "If it be, give me thine hand."

A Real Asset.

There is one method of handshaking that is universally condemned. It is indulged in by an exuberant tribe of stone crushers, who believing sincerity is best expressed by force, crunch an offered hand, forcing rings into agonized flesh, welding fingers together into a motionless, waxy-white sort of flipper, which is held to be visible proof of cordiality.

I do not approve of promiscious kissing—rubbing noses I have given no fair trial—but a steady, close hand-clasp is a mighty comy and heartening thing.

MR. HARRY LONG LANDED 'LUNGE

BIG FISH WEIGHED SEVEN POUNDS — NEARLY ESCAPED.

Mr. Harry Long, while fishing at Chemong Park yesterday, landed a 'lunge which tipped the scales at 17 pounds. The big fish was three feet seven inches in length, eighteen inches around the body and nine inches across the tail.

Mr. Long, who was alone in the boat, had some difficulty in landing the 'lunge, but was successful after it had nearly escaped twice.

JAMES M'PARLAN A NOTABLE DETECTIVE

Not many days ago there died in Denver Colorado, a man of whom the present generation never heard, but who was, perhaps one of the most noted men living in the United States a half century ago. James McParlan was a young man in 1873 and a remarkably active member of the Pinkerton Detective Agency. About that time and for some years previous there had been a flourishing murder and loot society among the miners of Pennsylvania with the head centre at Pottsville. This combination of predatory gentlemen was known as the "Molly Maguires." They murdered objectionable foremen and managers, they caused the frequent disappearance of miners whom they disliked, they robbed paymaster, burned office buildings are said even to have assassinated women and kept the whole region in terror so that no man dared to speak or raise hand against them. Young McParlan became obsessed with the determination to wipe out this abominable banditry and free the State from the disgrace of their presence. Possessed of a courage which nothing daunted and gifted with a keen mind, he set out for Pottsville one morning in October, 1873. His mission was known to just two people, Alan Pinkerton, head of the Detective Agency and President Grovers of a coal company. No time was lost in cultivating the friendship of the leaders of the "Mollys" and at length he was accepted as a full member of the terrible organization. his assumed name being Jim McKenna. Winning the complete confidence of the leaders, he was let into every secret, every move, his advice being sought on all occasions. At the momentary risk of his life he managed to send code messages to the detective headquarters in Philadelphia every night. And so the net was woven. When all was ready something like two hundred men suddenly found themselves under arrest and were herded into the Pottsville Court House charged with every crime in the decalogue, among them being "Jim McKenna." After the opening proceedings James McParlan was called to the stand. "It is Jim McKenna one of the crowd," exclaimed one of the prisoners. But it was James McParlan, alright and to the consternation of the "Mollys" he brought forth a mass of testimony which paralyzed all defence, the deeds of murder and other forms of violence proven being almost countless. Seventy of the culprits were found guilty and twelve suffered the supreme penalty. Since that time the coal mining regions of Pennsylvania have been untroubled by any such characters as the "Mollys," and although McParlan's life was threatened and assassins were on his track, yet he lived to a good old age with many later successes to his credit.—Acadian Recorder.

BEST THING FOR THE HEAT IS TO FORGET ABOUT IT

There are two ways of taking hot weather. A person may dwell on its discomforts and tell how it kept him awake a good share of the night and how perfectly miserable it made him feel. Or he may ignore these incidental things and go on living in a normal way as if there was nothing wrong.

He can be perfectly sure that if he adopts the first method he can make himself thoroughly unhappy, a nuisance to himself and to his friends. If he adopts the second he is certain to find he can control his frame of mind to his great advantage.

Professor James used to say that we were good humored because we laughed and we were miserable because we looked glum. His point was the possibility of controlling one's feelings by laying down the proper physical foundation for them. It is hard to continue to be gloomy after putting on an appearance of happiness.

Steveson, the invalid, made the medicine bottle on his shelf an incident to which he paid no attention. We can treat hot weather the same way to the gain of everybody about us.—Kansas City Times.

PETERBORO MAN SERIOUSLY INJURED

One of the men injured in the Port Colborne disaster was Mr. D. S. Harvie, mechanical superintendent at the plant. He is a brother-in-law of Mr. A. B. Cunningham, George street south. He was seriously injured in the explosion, but will recover.

A NEW MEANING TO AN OLD SIGN.

The cloud of smoke that overhung the city on Sunday was the volatile complement of a vast acreage of ashes to which forests in northern Ontario or some other part of Canada have been reduced by recent fires. Their extent may be imagined by the density of the haze that dimmed the sun and filtered the heat from its midsummer beams. The pungent odour of smoke from burning woods has long been a familiar sign of approaching autumn, but to-day it signifies the failure of our efforts to conserve this country's valuable resources of timber. These annual fires present to the heavily wooded provinces a problem that calls for greater precautions and vigilance than have been exercised in the past. Airplanes were suggested as a development in fire-ranging this year, but whether they were extensively used and with what success it remains to be seen. It seems impossible to prevent forest fires, especially in dry seasons such as this, in which it is reported that there has been no rain in New Ontario for three months. The success of protective measures lies in detecting incipient fires, and it is to be hoped that some experiments have been made this year in the employment of airplanes, difficult as it may be.

OSHAWA HAS SUNDAY CARS.

Oshawa of late has been setting the pace of progress for the towns in this district, and its latest move of running Sunday street cars to its water front has been accomplished apparently so easily that it is difficult to understand why the city of Peterborough remains content without a similar service. From the residential sections of Oshawa to the beach on Lake Ontario it is as long a walk as from the central and northern parts of Peterborough to the local resort at the foot of Lock street. With their street cars tied up both communities were deprived of the relief from the heat afforded by the cooling pleasures of boating and bathing. Oshawa's Council last week voted in favour of Sunday cars, which were to be started at once, and anticipted objections that they would interfere with church services by arranging a special schedule. They set out at 7 a.m. and run until 10.30 a.m., appear again at 12.30 .m. and continue until 6.30 p.m., and finally complete the day by running from 8.15 until 11 p.m.

The reasons for Oshawa's Sunday service appear to he identical with Peteborough's. Sunday is indeed a ... of rest for practically every citizen, but who shall say that its observance is better kept by the family that swelters in the heat of a small home from which there is no escape, than their better circumstanced neighbour who motors to the most desirable water place they know. There is no suggestion that the respective positions of these families affect their attendance at church, but it is a fact that the most faithful churchmen who own cars enjoy the pleasures of motoring on Sundays as keenly, if not as repletely, as the man to whom Sunday is only a holiday.

The citizen with a large family who is often unable to buy a house, who is harassed by the cost of the bread and butter and boots his children need, not to think of a "lil ole buss" with its high priced tires and expensive accessories, this citizen deserves some sympathy and consideration from the community which should hold him in high respect and show a willingness to accede to his reasonable wishes. And if he asks for the service of street cars on the only day he is with his family and can take them to cool, shady places, too far to walk to, surely his simple request should be readily granted.

Oshawa seems to have had no difficulty in providing for their citizens; surely Adam Beck would sanction a Sunday service for Peterborough, at least during the summer and autumn months.

"POOREST ROADS ON THE WESTERN CONTINENT."

A news story apearing in the Buffalo Express of Friday headed "Canadians Warms Hosts, But Roads are Worst Ever," deserves a wide circulation in Canada as a warning of the need of good roads. The despatch is dated from St. Catharines. The New York State Fruit Growers had been making a tour through the Niagara fruit district. The party were "a unit on three things": the tour was the most satisfactory the organization had ever experienced; they were delighted with the hospitality of the Canadians; but they came away with the opinion that the "poorest roads on the western continent are in Canada."

This is a pretty strong indictment, possibly a bit sweeping but after due allowance is made for the American weakness for exaggeration there undoubtedly remains a great truth in the statement. We have no first hand knowledge of the roads in the St. Catharines district, but the Express reports that after "leaving the smooth floor-like state roads over which they travelled yesterday in Orleans and Niagara counties, the tourists struck almost impassable roads to-day from Suspension bridge on to Saint Catharines, and even worse from the latter city to Grimsby, where the growers turned back late in the afternoon."

That is candid criticism and The Herald has suggested that it should be given publicity not because it is complimentary, but because the criticism may tend to arouse the people Ontario to a sense of their road-making shortcomings.

Perth County is in no position to point an accusing finger at the St. Catharines district. Leading roads out of Stratford are in a disgraceful condition. Road making has not kept pace with the advance in modes of transportation. The antiquated methods of road tinkering that were in vogue a quarter of a century ago are still in practice. Gravel and crushed stone are dumped on middle of the road and left for traffic to spread, and work into a passable surface. The centre of the highways, thus made practically impassable traffic turns to the smoother roadsides with the result that great ruts and holes are created, and the surface is ground to dust inches deep that adds to the discomfort of travel.

Old time road making methods are totally unsuited to these days of automobile and auto truck transportation. They never were economical. To-day they are worse than wasteful. Instead of aiding and cheapening transportation they retard traffic and add to the expense of drawing every ton that passes from the farm to the neighboring markets.

Parliament and legislature have awakened to the need of better roads but there is need of education among the farmers themselves. A narrow sighted vision balks at the expense of permanent highways. It is unable to see that good roads are in the long run, money makers, saving enormously in upkeep, in haulage costs, in wear and tear on vehicles and equipment and in time and comfort of those who use the roads.

Bad roads are a poor advertisement for a county as the farmers of the St. Catharines district will probably be willing to agree after the candid criticism of the New York State Fruit Growers.—Stratford Herald.

THE EXTRA CAMERA MEN OF THE "MOVIE STUDIO"

There are more camera-men in a "movie" studio than ever make moving pictures; that is to say there is a small staff of expert photographers attached to every producing company who contribute nothing to the films themselves, yet are as busy all day and use their cameras with as much ingenuity, enterprise and diligence as the actual photograhper.

These men are the "snooper-snappers"—so-called because they go "snooping" around "snapping" people—important people, that is—for publicity purposes.

Movie stars are busy folks who cannot cease work whenever the chief of the publicity department wants a new portrait "shot" or when a newspaper decides that its next issue must carry a topical photo. So the "snooper-snapper" must "snoop" around and snap them when the opportunity presents itself.

Besides that he can generally obtain his best studies when he catches the subject unawares—Marguerite Clark trying on her leading man's best Trilby behind the scenes, Billie Burke giving her two-year-old Florence into the nurse's care before enterino the limelight, or Caruso fixing on his false moustache before a pocket mirror out of the camera's range.

It was Carusa by the way, who said, when he first began to play for motion pictures, that he didn't mind the camera, he wasn't in awe of the producer, and he could stand any number of onlookers without getting nervous, but he would go quite made if someone didn't lock up that fool-head fellow creeping around after him like a cold-blooded assassin.

Whereupon the "snooper-snapper" retorted with energy that he was ready to "shoot" at the slightest provocation and was always loaded—with film.

Senor Joaquin Sanchez de Toca is the name of the new Spanish Premier, which is enough in itself to prevent him becoming popular.

Why living is dear. "Four tons of eggs and thirteen hundred pounds of fish were taken from several Winnipeg cold storage plants and burned."

FORMER MAYOR OF BIRMINGHAM, ALA., ENDORSES TANLAC

"YOU WILL HARDLY KNOW ME WHEN WE MEET AGAIN; FOR I AM GETTING WELL," HE WRITES FRIEND.

One of the latest additions to the list of leaders of thought and action who have come forward with their unqualified endorsement of Tanlac is the name of Hon. Frank V. Evans, a former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., ex-State Examiner of Public Accounts of Alabama, and at one time editor of one of the South's greatest newspapers, The Birmingham Age-Herald.

Writing to a personal friend in Atlanta Mrs. Evans says:

Birmingham, Aal.,
Feb. 2nd.

"——— By the way you will hardly know me when we meet again because I am getting so well and so strong again. As I told you while in Atlantic last month, I have been suffering for a long time with gastritis, as the doctors call it—really a disordered stomach with consequent constipation, pains in the shoulders, headache, belching, heartburn, loss of appetite, loss of sleep and fainting spells. For weeks I could not sleep on my back.

"One week ago, upon the recommendation of freinds who had tried the medicine, I purchased one bottle of Tanlac and began taking it. Since my second doze I have suffered none of these troubles to which I refer and really believe that I am going to get perfectly well and strong again. Won't that be wonderful at my age? Well, certain it is that Tanlac is a wonderful medicine and you know I am not giving to 'puffing' mere experiments and am rather orthodox as to materia medica."

Signed. "Frank V. Evans."

Commenting on this splendid endorsement of Tanlac G. F. Willis International Distributor of Tanlac, said:

"Although the list of endorsers is a long one I recall a few leading names that lend both dignity and credit to the entire array. Some of them are: "Hon. C. W. Mangum, of Atlanta, Ga., for three years sheriff of Fulton County, Hon. Moses R. Glenn, Superintendent of Printing for the State of Kentucky; Mr. C. C. Cooper, President of the Georgia Cotton Oil Company; Mr. H. W. Hill, Bank President of South Pittsburg, Tenn.; Mr. J. F. Carroll, Cotton Mill Superintendent of Chattahoochee, Ga.; Hon. A. E. Anderson, of Houston, Texas, for seven terms Sheriff of Harris County; Hon. S. E. Shepard ex-city councilman, of Atlanta, and many others whose names have heretofore been given to the public."

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock, by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield, by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert, by A. J. Scott; in Westwood, by G. Pringle and Son.

The Promoter's Wife

BY JANE PHELPS

MR. FREDERICK'S WORDS WORRY BARBARA.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

Why had Payne Orton had to die? Had he lived, Blanche would still be bound. Dead, it left her free to intrigue my husband.

Mr. Frederick spoke to me. I heard his voice, but did not grasp anything he was saying. My mind was numb with the thought that had come to me.

Had Payne Orton, before he died known of the intimacy of his wife and Neil? And had it made him careless of his health?

It was an hysterical woman's thought, but it gripped me. That he had been ill for long, that scarcely ever had he been able to accompany his wife anywhere since I had known them; that this illness might have been caused by an added cold, never occurred to me. As nearly all women would have done, I took his sudden death to mean something to me simply because my husband had shown a preference for the man's wife.

"What are you thinking of, that you won't speak to me?" Mr. Frederick's voice thought me back to a realizationof my rudeness.

"Pardon me. I was so shocked by what you told me that I was most impolite. It is dreadful! dreadful."

Payne Orton's love for his wife was a matter of common comment among his friends. Could it be possible that, because of some intrigue of hers, he had WANTED to die? And if was Neil the other party to the intrigue?

I tortured myself with the thought. Mr. Frederick was a shrewd man and doubtless understood more of the cause of my answers to his questions than I realized.

Finally he commenced to talk of Neil. Then I pulled myself together. Anything pertaining to my husband was vitally interesting to me.

"He has wonderful staying powers. We, all have to hand it to him for one thing," said Mr. Frederick, "if he makes up his mind to do anything, he will go through fire and water to accomplish it."

I thought I detected some subtle desire to comfort me by this praise of Neil—if it were praise. I would put my pride in my pocket and ask one or two questions.

"Tell me about that Mr. Scott—the man interested in Mexican mines," I spoke as casually as I could.

"Do you know him?"

"Yes—he dined with us one night"

"I shouldn't say he was—your sort. Not that Scott isn't all right as far as some things go; but he's hardly a man I would want you to meet."

The words had scarcely left his lips before he flushed and stammered an apology:

"I had no right to say that! Your husband is the one who has the right to say who you shall or shall not meet. Forgive me."

"There is nothing to forgive—Neil, Mr. Forbes, is connected in some business matters with Mr. Scott and that is the reason he brought him home with him. But he seemed such a different type from any man I have known, that I was curious." As usual, I had not the courage to go on with anything that looked like criticism of Neil.

I often used to wonder if all wives were as fearful of doing anything to lose the love of the man to whom they were married, as was I. I seemed to realize from the first days of our life together that Neil would brook no questioning of himself, his affairs. Every time I had attempted to get closer to him in this way it had resulted disastrously. had been the cause of the only quarrels we ever had had.

"He is a different type. Coarse common, but absolutely straight in business. And hard as nails with those who are not. I have always said that I should be very sorry for anyone against whom Scott had a grudge. He'd flay them alive."

"That is the way he impressed me," I returned, then changed the subject. But in my mind was a new undercurrent of fear. Suppose this Mr. Scott should get a grudge against Neil because of some business they had in common—suppose because of that mining stock Neil had persuaded him to buy?—my thoughts went no further. Mr. Frederick commanded my attention.

You can get this rich, whole milk wherever groceries are sold.

You can use it as cream for tea, coffee, fruit and cereals. You can whip it—chill it first, of course.

You can also use it in every way you use ordinary milk—for the children's drink, for cooking. Because it is evaporated—you should dilute it first—add an equal quantity of water.

Your grocer is the Carnation Milkman. Ask him to send you three or four trial cans (16 oz. tall size). Directions on every can.

A TALE ABOUT A BUG HOUSE

DAYS WHEN NIGHT RAIDS WERE IN FLOWER—FAMOUS OLD SHELL ABSORBER.

There was a place in Ypres which used to be an asylum. All the walls that were left were of red brick, and all the windows that remained had iron bars.

In the early days of the war the asylum camouflaged the guns, light and heavy. In the days of Passchendaele it served as a landing place for horses. In those days if you left the cobble road you left the earth. The bricks which had been blown down from the wall made ideal standings for the horses And the bricks were being steadily blown down; and often the horses made unwilling standings for the bricks.

On both sides of this sanitarium ran a standard gauge railway. It was about 50 yards from the house, beside the Ypres-Vlameringe road. On a German war map this spot must have been marked with a big black cross.

Whenever the German guns got fed up shooting at imaginary targets they turned their muzzles towards the asylum.

Let Them All Go.

Often the Heinie aviators had great difficulty in placing their bombs on effective regions. They were continually harassed by destructive machine gun fire and searchlights. The more timid adventurers, who were in a hurry to get home, used to save time by dropping their entire load on the asylum.

In the early hours of the morning the long range enemy guns, when shooting for "corrector," invariably registered their air bursts over the asylum.

Several batteries kept their equine auxiliaries in this stronghold. In the yard at the back there was a paten trench. It was patent in the sense that it was left open. There were two obvious tracks worn in the yard. One ran from the graveyard to the asylum, and the other ran over to the quartermaster's dugout, where they kept the rum. The burial services were always of the summer variety very short. The "padre," to eliminate undue risks, was wont to bury several at a time. Funeral parties were like working parties—nothing above ground was safe.

In brief, the environment on the whole was absolutely ridiculous.

One Place Bomb Proof.

In the cellar of this house of maniacs were three feet of water. There were trench mats floating through these caverns. These were used for stepping stones, such as one finds in a "house of mirth." And the place was lighted by matches which you struck yourself. This subterranean section was where the worst cases stayed. There was a good thick ceiling on the cellar, and the shell-shocked nerves imagined it was armour proof.

When the water became too deep the inmates used trough-pumps to bail her out. The old ship was always filling, but she couldn't sink. In Flanders at this season you strike water one foot six inches below the sod.

There were three branches of the Government service to which any of us might have belonged. We were either soldiers, sailors or lunatics. If there had been more water in the Ypres Canal we would have stood in imminent danger of submarines.

Was on the Staff.

One of the boys in this wing had a staff job. He was one of the more advanced cases. His sole duty was to take off the nose bags when the horses were done eating. Three times a day he emerged from the padded cellar. Starting at the end horse he would reach the other end at the full trot. If one horse happened to jerk back his head his bag was missed. It stayed on until somebody else came along.

The "empties" were fired in a heap, and all one saw was a khaki shadow fading into the bricks.

Quite possibly during this era the Times told its readers that "conditions on the Ypres sector remain favourable."

The weather used to be nice whenever it wasn't raining.

BE SUSPICIOUS OF TENDER GUMS

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenamaled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system. Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps the teeth white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

CELEBRATION HERE ON LABOUR DAY

The Labor Day Committee of the Trades and Labor Council are leaving nothing undone to make that day one of continuous entertainment for the citizens of Peterborough, and if the weather man does his part there should be no regrets from any one for having stayed in the city for that day. To start with, a ball game will be the morning attraction. Immediately after the noon hour the various unions will line up at the Central Park and parade through the city to Riverside Park. It is expected that union labor will turn out en masse, and in this way show its united strength. Many if not all of the locals will be headed by a float or a banner. The City Fire Fighters are expected to take their positions in the line of march, with their apparatus, and would be placed at the head or rear, so that in the event of an alarm they could respond without any delay or disorder. It is also hoped that the ladies' union (Electrical workers, No 772) will be out in force to take the place of honor in the line with the Trades Council immediately following. The local unions will then appear in the order of the dates of their charters, the oldest chartered union, the Molders, having precedence. The Musicians' Union will furnish the band for the day and besides leading the march will render a choice programme during the afternoon at Riverside Park. On the arrival of the parade at the park a list of sports will be run off. A baby show will also be a feature of the day and a local physician will be requested to act as judge. In order to permit of the afternoon ball-game the committee has been obliged to curtail the number of events on the list of sports. A tug of war will form part of the day's amusements, and will be contested by the various unions. Any union that aspires to the honor of rope stretching champoins is asked to send its entry to the chairman of the commitee, A. J. Bolwell, 165 Hunter street East, by Monday, August 25th. Any two unions of thirty members or less may combine to select a team.

It is still too early to say what team will hook up with the Petes for this demonstration, but both the games will be well worth seeing. An effort will be made to have Belleville play the two games. A silver cup will be put up for competition.

There will be refreshment booths on the grounds under the supervision of the Trades Council. Ladies from the Electrical Workers' Union will be in charge.

To conclude the day's entertainment a dance is being arranged for the evening and efforts are being made to secure permision to utilize the armouries for this event.

The twenty-eight-page programme now in the hands of the printers, will, it is hoped, be available at various stores in the city on or about Tuesday, prior to Labor Day. It is replete with the advertisements of wide-awake merchants and others, and it will repay readers to look them over and remember them.

Any one entering a race who desires to protect his amateur standing can do so by receiving an order for goods equivalent to the value of any prize won, the order to be on any programme advertiser such as the winner may select.

An invitation to participate in the parade is extended to merchants and others who care to decorate their delivery vehicles. As in all parades of this nature they can take up positions in the rear of the line of march.

The complete list of events and prizes follow.

HOW TO STOP BEING NERVOUS

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Strengthen Weak Nerves and Increase Strength and Vigor.

According to a noted French scientisttiat, the most efective remedy for nervou ness, insomnia and ailments due to depleted nerve force, is a form of organic phosphate known among druggists in this country as Bitro-Phosphate.

It is described as a substance which is similar in composition to the phosphorus naturally found in brain and nerve cells and being easily and quickly assimilated, the work of creating nerve force, strength and vigor begins immediately it is taken into the human system.

There are many reports of astonishing results from its use, some showing remarkable improvement even in stubborn cases of long-standing nerve weakness. As there are many kinds of phosphates, care should be exercised to procure the genuine Bitro-Phosphate, as sold by McDermid and Jury in Peterborough, and all good druggists.

GERMANS GAINING CONTROL IN RUSSIA

SECRET COMINGS AND GOINGS HAVE A HIDDEN MEANING.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 8.—From a reliable source a correspondent is able to send the first concrete information supplementing the general suspicion that Germany is again entwining her tantacles about Russia, preparatory to regaining her former control of the economic and industrial fields there. Though diplomatic relations have not yet been resumed important government officials are coming and going between Berlin and Moscow.

With Lenine's cordial co-operation Germany has quietly opened offices at 48 Moika Canal, Petrograd, and also in Moscow. Austria has opened similar offices at 27 Sergievskaya Street, Petrograd, and in Moscow.

The main function of these offices is that of importing German brains to work for Lenine, primarily in re-establishing the efficiency of the railways and secondly in bringing technical knowledge to bear wherever it is most needed. Though Lomonosov, whose arrival in Stockholm was recently cabled, has not yet permitted Kenephon, in exchange, to leave Sweden, as Lenine refuses to keep his promise to release Kalamantiano, he is actively in touch with the Germans here concerning the re-establishment of Russia's railways.

Important German industrial delegates come and go between Sweden and Germany for conferences with Lomonosov. He if believed, with good reason, to be arranging extensive contracts with German railway interests.

HINDENBURG SAYS THAT TRIAL OF THE FORMER KAISER IS UNFAIR

WANT ALLIES TO LOOK UPON GERMANS AS HONOURABLE DEFEATED FOE—WILL RISE AGAIN—"NOT IN MY TTIME, BUT MY SON WILL SEE IT," HE DECLARES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The demand of the Allies for the trial of the former Kaiser, German army leaders, and other officers by tribunals of the Allies, will, if carried out, not only violate soverignty and do violence to the most fundamental principles of international law, but will also re-establish the ancient Roman precedent that patriotic duty and the defense of the country constitute a crime for the defeated in war, according to the view held by Field-Marshal von Hindenburg and expressed in the course of an interview granted Karl H. von Wiegand, whose cabled account appeared in the New York Sun

Von Wiegand continues:

"Do the American people join in the demand," he asked, "that to defeat in war shall be added the bitterest humiliation that can be visited on a country and people—a return to the days of the Roman imperators—by re-establishing the ancient war custom that the leaders of the defeated may be dragged into the victorious countries before prejudiced tribunals, where the accusers and judges are one and the same?

"Do the American people desire that love of country and duty to it and the flag and fighting for its preservation be made a crime for the vanquished? Do they wish a premium to be placed on disloyalty and disobedience to the government and its authority in time of war?

"The prosecution or rather the persecution of the Kaiser and the German army leaders will have that result."

"But the Kaiser is charged with instigating and beginning the war," I interposed.

No Use as a Lesson, Says Hindenburg.

"The victors in war always can make that charge as an excuse for demanding the heads of the ruler and the military leaders of the vanquished nation, which they may desire to see annihilated or humiliated into the dust," quickly retorted the Field Marshal.

"But Premier Lloyd George desires it should be done as a lesson for the future," I persisted.

"That is what the ancient Romans said," replied General von Hindenburg. "The Romans dragged kings and leaders of defeated armies behind their triumphal chariots as 'an example' to others. History will answer if such examples put an end to wars or even lessened them.

"Premier Lloyd George has the thoughts of a reincarnated Roman Imperator; he would drag the Kaiser and the German army and political leaders behind the British chariot to increase his popularity; he would make a Roman show in London or some other city to add to British prestige by exhibiting the Germans as proof of the power of Great Britain.

"He thinks perhaps by this means to terrorize the 60,000,000 of Germans even into the third generation. He is mistaken. Instead, he will implant a most implacable hatred, a hatred that would not promise permanent peace to the world. He will fail in that goal which he professes to be his aim if he expects to reach it by such means, just as the Roman Imperators before him with the same thought failed to terrorize the nations into permanent slavery to Rome."

"Is It Thumbs Down?

"I am not speaking for myself," he continued. "I am an old man and I am a soldier, and as such I shall take what fate metes out to me. If it will give greater lustre to the martial shields of Marshals Foch and Haig to have the men who opposed them on the grim field of battle dragged behind their triumphal chariots, if it adds to British and French glory and chivalry, then take me in place of my Kaiser; I am at their disposal.

"I have written that to Marshal Foch as soldier to soldier, but as yet he has not deigned to acknowledge my letter. But Marshal Foch and Field Marshal Haig are soldiers and as such they understand a soldier's honour and a soldier's duty to his country. They did their duty; we tried to do ours; the fates decided for them.

"We submitted as a nation seldom or never did; is it not enough ?Or is it thumbs down?

"I respect Marshal Foch, Field-Marshal Haig, Gen. Pershing, and the others leaders on their side, and I hope I also have their respect as a soldier who did his duty. If political minds turned back to Roman war days, I will not believe, until it has been proved to me, that soldiers such as Foch, Haig and Pershing support the demand for the delivery of the Kaiser. My Kaiser did not desire the war; he is and remains my Emperor.

"I feel strong, but inwardly I am a broken man, as might be expected after such events," he remarked.

He denounced as untrue reports that the Kaiser always had taken the initiative in the conduct of the war.

Says Kaiser Didn't Dictate.

Explaining the relations between the Kaiser and the General Staff, he said:

"After August, 1916, I was chief of the General Staff and as such was the chief military adviser of the Kaiser in regard to battle plans and the general conduct of the war. I made my recommendations to him, and he signed them.

"I accept all responsibility for him during that period. The Kaiser held himself back and was very reserved in regard to military plans, listening to his advisers, although as commander-in-chief he could disapprove or interpose."

Von Hindenburg added with much interest if President Wilson was not commander-in-chief of our land and naval forces and therefore at least nominally responsible for the campaign determined upon.

"How would the American people feel if, after a disastrous war the victory demanded the giving up of the President, the army leaders and their officers?" he demanded. "Just as the American people would feel, so do the German people feel to-day, except those who have lost all love of country and do not believe in having a country."

French Devastation a Necessity.

I touched upon the devastation of France attending his retreat from the San Quentin line. "A deplorable military necessity," was the terse reply. He added:

"What would the people of your North have thought if the South had been victorious in the Civil War and the Confederates had demanded the surrender of General Sherman for his devastation in the famous March to the Sea?"

"How about the mistreatment of prisoners?" I asked.

"If there is to be an investigation of that," he replied, "then to be fair and just it should not be one-sided, but should cover both sides in the war."

Turning, he picked up a volume of sworn affidavits and alleging mistreatment of German prisoners, and said:

"Read that. It makes one's hair stand on end to learn what incredibly inhuman treatment some of our people were subjected to in some of your prison camps."

The Field Marshal burst out laughing when asked if he believed the great war was the last, "only dreamers believe that," as the answer.

"Then you do not believe that the League of Nations will render wars impossible?" I persisted.

"So long as mankind exists there will be wars," he replied. "There may be fewer wars, but no great people will ever submit questions of national honour or national existence to a tribunal of other people, or will accept an unjust judgment dictated by interest or might without a test of strength. Certainly this peace gives little encouragement to hope that wars may end."

Says Germany Will Rise Again.

"Will Germany ever come back?" I asked.

"The German people will rise again," declared the Field Marshal with conviction in his tone. "But it will not take place in my day," he added.

Then turning to Captain von Hindenburg, of the General Staff, who had been a silent listener to the conversation, he said:

"My son will see it. Although he has been with the shock troops throughout the war, God has spared him to me, perhaps that he may see the day denied to me when Germany shall rise again."

He added: "Between the Romanic people on the one side and the Slavic on the other, the German people have a mission in the world."

What to Use and Avoid On Faces That Perspire

Skin to be healthy must breathe. It all must perspire—must expel, through the pores, its share of the body's waste material. Certain creams and powders clog the pores, interfering both with elimination and breathing, especially during the heated period. If more women understood this there would be fewer self-ruined complexions. If they would use ordinary mercolized wax instead of cosmetics they would have healthy complexions. This remarkable substance actually absorbs a bad skin, also unclogging the pores. Result: The fresher, younger under-skin is permitted to breathe and show itself. The exquisite new complexion gradually peeps out, one free from any appearance of artificiality.

Obtain an ounce of mercolized wax from your druggist and try it. Apply nightly like cold cream for a week or two, washing it off mornings. There's nothing quite so good for an over-red, tanned or freckled face.

RELEASE RUSSIANS, WAR PRISONERS

Germany Ordered Not to Restrict Their Repatriation.

PARIS, Aug. 8.— The problem of the Russian prisoners of war in Germany has been engaging the attention of the Council of Four for some time past. There are about 200,000 Russian prisoners who are still in Germany, and their condition is said to be lamentable.

Their return to Russia would seem to be likely to have no other result than to strengthen the armies of Bolshevism, but nevertheless the council has decided to inform Germany that no restriction be placed upon their repatriation.

No settlement was reached over the week-end in regard to the Bulgarian frontiers, and discussions on the point continue.

GERMANS ATTEMPTING TO GUIDE EMIGRANTS

WANT MEN LEAVING COUNTRY TO AID IN RESTORING THE FATHERLAND'S PRESTIGE.

COBLENZ, Aug. 8.—Big business in Germany is trying to get the National Assembly to pass laws regulating German emigration, so that those leaving the country will work first for the Fatherland, and, secondly, for themselves.

Level-headed Germans reckon on enormous departures as soon as the Peace basis is re-established. A movement is on foot with central direction in Berlin to have these emigrants directed to Russia, South America, Mexico, and Africa as field where the most may be done by them to aid in restoring German commercial prestige.

The current issue of the Jahrmarkt contains a statement which says, in part:

"It is estimated that Germany will have a surplus of 20,000,000 who will be unable to support themselves because of the economic collapse caused by the Peace Treaty. It will be the Government's duty to see that the class of people lost is not that which is needed to build up the country.

"Provision must be made so that the emigrants may keep in touch with the old country, and the emigration must be so regulated that it will be distributed where it will be of assistance in rebuilding our world commerce. This means that those leaving Germany must not be allowed to go where they please, but that their destinations must be disposed by the State with the usual German efficiency.

"It is out of the question that German emigration will be directed towards any of the countries under Allied influence for years to come. Furthermore, it is not to be expected that the German emigrant will be received with open arms anywhere in the world. Therefore, the class of men who are to leave Germany during the next few years must be extraordinarily industrious, and above all must be absolutely patriotic, working first for the Fatherland and secondly for themselves.

"The papers discuss the plan of the 'Iron Squadron' for carrying the old German flag instead of the new national colours, and for singing at every opportunity 'Deutschland Uber Allles' and 'Die Wacht am Rhine.'"

HIRED THUG TO KILL COMPETITOR

FURRIER SHOT DOWN ON STREET—BELIEVE BUSINESS JEALOUSY CAUSE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Seemingly the fourth deliberately arranged "gang" murder was perpetrated Sunday when Joseph Cohen, furrier, of 707 Broadway, was shot to death while walking along West 22nd Street, Coney Island, in the early afternoon — a time when the street was crowded with people. Harry Korman, also a furrier, who was with Cohen, was also shot three times. Both men were fired on from behind. Matt Barron, a partner of Korman, who was with the men, disappeared after the shooting. Korman, although seriously wounded, was placed under arrest. The man who fired the shots escaped in the melee and has not yet been traced. The murdered man was with a woman in the early hours of the morning, and it is alleged she was employed to decoy Cohen to his death later in the day.

The police are working on the theory that the death of Cohen was desired by certain of his business competitors, and that a gangster was hired to do the work. The case bears a resemblance to the famous Baff murder of a short while ago. In this instance it was a big poultry dealer who was killed by an assassin hired by the former's competitors.

ARE YOU A HUMAN MAGPIE?

HAVE YOU THE UNCOMFORTABLE HABIT THAT HOARDS TRIFLES?

"She hadn't given away a thing for forty years!" So said one who not long ago had the task of dismantling the big home of a wealthy woman.

"It was like a jungle," said one who saw it.

Restricted house space and small flats are teaching this generation much. But are not there many who will agree with the following re "Human Magpies?"

"I am a warm advocate of ruthless restruction," said Merrifield. "I am ready to become president of any society for the Elimination of Unnecessary Trifles."

"Ah," said Maria, "your wife is spring cleaning too?"

"Oh, very," said Merrifield. "And in a misguided moment I set out to demonstrate that I hadn't any old rubbish in my possession. And in two minutes I was facing a ten years' accumulation of old pipes, and in ten minutes I was gazing upon the awesome mass of old ties that had gathered about me in the course of fifteen years. I was appalled. Only at such times does man realize he is a human magpie.

"And then we went through the house, or, rather, my particular sections of it, and coldly unearthed the amazing flotsam and jetsam of my ordinary human existence.

All those things I had put on one side to be looked at or used presently, and had never looked at or used in the course of years. I seem to have gone through life adding little bits to an enormous pile of rubbish that was only so much litter in the world. There were those old pipes, about thirty of them, with broken or bitten stems, not one of them fit to smoke, but kept, simply because one does keep old pipes.

"There was, too, a small portable quarry of stones. Small chunks of quartz, specimens of beach, in shell and pebble form, that the jackdaw in me had gathered from all our holidays . . . an astounding collection of pieces of senseless earth, some of them so old that I had forgotten just the seaside place from whence they came. They littered everywhere, mantel-boards and drawers and the bottom of boxes.

"Then there were endless numbers of a paper called 'Cricket.' I had subscribed to it for years, and had kept every copy. There was the mass of it, filling up valuable space in one of our too few cupboards, and the pile hadn't even been touched or looked at for ages. And with these papers was a vast mess of other printed matter, articles I had snipped out of dailies, as well as whole weeklies and monthlies. . . . I suppose they contained matter that I had considered would be interesting and valuable one day, but as I looked through the mass I wondered exactly why.

"I might say I evened up things morally here. . . . My wife tried to convince me that her wad of newspaper special numbers of royal weddings and royal funerals and the like, were of immense national importance. She had heaps of such unspeakable things. But when she admitted that the only time she noticed them was once a year, and that at the spring renaval, they, too, went into the pile amassed for the buyer of old paper.

Old Theatre Programme.

"The old theatre programmes fared the same way. Elizabeth has a passis why I am all for ruthlessness. It grammes; not any particular important programme, but just that of any and every theatre she has visited. . . . I was able to make her see that the world would not be any the poorer if her programme of 'The Admirable Crichton' or 'San Toy' was turned back into pulp.

"Then there were piles and piles of photographs, pictures of ourselves and all the people we had known and forgotten, and the places we had visited, and even those we had not — photographs by the thousand — we winnowed out that litter also.

"We scrapped much of my collection of pen-holders and nibs. I have an uncanny vice for collecting nibs and pen-holders. I buy one by the million and the other by the hundred . . . and I never get rid of either, even when they are past use. An absurd habit, but a very littering one.

"Most of our hoarding habits are [illegible] and one only realises how [illegible] when one indulges in good, hearty destruction and never misses what one has got rid of. That is why I am all for ruthlessness. It is the only way to prevent the earth becoming littered up with unconsidered trifles."

SIMPLE BEAUTY HINTS PRESENTED

Making Lips Kissable—Some Almost Forgotten Stunts.

Modern mothers and modern men condemn the art of powdering and rougeing which even the young girl of to-day flaunts in the face of her elders (and upon her own) as if it were a custom newly grown.

The fact that daughters even of sixteen years, cannot be controlled by their mothers is a new one, though rougeing is a century old practice.

Beauties of mediaeval days, when their lords returned from the wars, heated red sandalwood with vinegar and honey, and used this to conceal the ravages of anxiety. Instead of powdering, they bleached their skins with a decoction of parsley and rain water.

Another old rouge was a decoction of rose petals beaten in fine vinegar, and many stage beauties rely on this mixture to-day for their beauty-colouring.

Beetroot Juice for the Skin.

Vermilion and some carmines are poisons to the skin, so that the component parts of rouge should be known before it is applied.

The homely cochineal, again, mixed with borax, alum and this time isinglass and water, is therefore used by many women who fear the made-up brands.

To their sorrow, many women on using a new face powder, find, after they have been walking about in daylight for a little while, beautified by it, that their faces assume a blue or even deep grey hue.

This happens because the powder contains either bismuth or lead.

The seventeenth century court beauty of France believed firmly in the juice of carrots and of beetroots mixed with corn-starch as a skin beautifier. Many women swear by the virtues of horse-radish mixed with sour milk to remove brown stains and sunburn from white skins.

These simple beauty hints are well worth a trial.

A Toledo judge has decided that people who play ten-cent limit poker are not gamblers. Probably the judge "sits in" a bigger game and looks on those who play the ten cent ante as pikers.

"What led you into politics?" the Senator was asked.

BELLEVILLE WON IN TENTH IN FIRST GAME OF LEAGUE PLAY-OFF

PETES BEATEN 5 TO 4 ON SATURDAY IN THE MOST EXCITING GAME OF THE SEASON BEFORE RECORD CROWD—RETURN GAME IS BEING PLAYED IN BELLEVILLE TO-DAY.

A BATTLE ROYAL

Belleville secured the edge in the Central League play-off on Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park when, before the biggest crowd that ever saw an amateur game in Peterborough, they succeeded in wresting a 5 to 4 decision from the Petes after ten innings of the scrappiest and most exciting baseball that has been seen here in a long time. It was a battle royal, with both teams fighting for every point and with the result in doubt until the final put out. The visitors got the jump by scoring a run in each of the first two innings. The Petes managed to nick one themselves in the third and it remained 2 to 1 until the seventh, when the Belleville crew sent two across and looked to have the game on ice. The Petes, came back with a gallant rally in their half, shooting three runs over the plate ,and the score was tied. The next two sessions were scoreless but in the first of the overtime stanzas a hit by pitcher, followed by a long and timely double by Weir, the Belleville shortstop, sent Goyer home with the run that meant victory for the visitors.

It was a great pitching duel between Kirn and Goyer. The Petes' pitcher only allowed five hits, several of them scratchy, and struck out nine of the visitors, giving one of his best performances of the season, but he was very unfortunate in that three of the four charities he handed out blossomed into runs. Goyer was found for eight hits, but he kept them well scattered and was very effective in the pinches, striking out Manager Solomon in the second with the bases full, when he went in as a pinch hitter, and getting out of several other tight corners. His control was unusually good.

The game was marked by snappy fielding. The feature plays were contributed by Ross, the Belleville centre fielder, who pulled down a fly from Heenan with one hand, Jackson who came in fast and made a splendid catch of a line drive from Mills' bat, and Kirn who tore off a great play on a swinging bunt by Ross. The Belleville player bunted past the box for what looked like a sure hit, but Kirn went over fast and with the same motion with which he picked the ball up with his glove hand slammed the Spalding over to Long in time to get the runner. It was the only way in which the play could have been made.

The umpiring was not of the best, certainly not of the kind that such an important game called for. Umpire Dick Butler, on the bases, gave the Petes the worst of a decision at third that cost a run, and afterwards the locals got the benefit of another that was equally wrong at second base. Umpire-Rosevear behind the bat called some bad ones on both sides. Both umpires are impartial, but their work on Saturday was not on the whole well done.

Very few Canadian League crowds were larger than that of Saturday, which jammed both grand stands and overflowed along the fences. The Peterborough fans turned out in hundreds, and there were scores of enthusiasts from all over the district, Oshawa, Cobourg, Port Hope and Lindsay all being well represented, while Belleville had a noisy bunch of rooters who never stopped rooting. Practically all the Central League officials were in attendance.

Lornie Rose, brother of the Petes' second baseman, just home from overseas, played third base for the home squad and handled himself nicely in the field.

The second game is being played to-day in Belleville. The Petes have to win to tie the League up again, and a loss puts them out of the running.

First Innings.

Belleville.— Weir drew a pass. Meagher hit a roller to Ray Rose, but Lo.. let the throw get away, Weir going to third. Meagher stole second. Ross flied to McCarney, the runners being held. Mills' sacrifice fly to Jackson scored Weir, although Jackson made a fine throw to the plate. Smith walked, but Gerow grounded to Kirn. One run, no hits, one error.

Second Innings.

Belleville.— Kellegher was hit. Symons singled past third. Goyer beat out a bunt, filling the bases. Weir hit to Cherrett, forcing Goyer at second. Kellegher scoring. Swanston nipped Symons off third on a snap throw to Lornie Rose. Meagher fanned. One run, two hits, no errors.

Peterborough.— Swanston singled over third. Long fouled out to Mills, Swanston racing to second after the catch. Jackson was passed. Goyer fumbled Clancy's intended sacrifice bunt, filling the bases. Sixth Innings.

Seventh Innings.

Belleville.— Morden, batting for Kellegher, doubled down the third base line. Symons hit to Kirn, whose throw to third apparently had Morden by two feet, but Umpire Butler called him safe. Goyer's sacrifice bunt to Kirn scored Morden. Weir died, Cherrett to ong, Symons scoring. Meagher flied to Ray Rose. Two runs, one hit, no errors.

Peterborough.—Jackson was passed. Clancy bunted to Meagher, whose throw to second failed to get Jackson. Kirn fanned. Heenan bunted to Goyer and was safe when Gerow dropped the ball, Jackson scoring. Cherrett beat out a bunt, scoring Clancy and stole second. R. Rose hit to Meagher and Heenan was out at the plate. Cherrett going to third. Ray Rose stole second. Gover threw high to third to catch Cherrett and the tieing run came in. Lornie Rose fanned. Three runs, two hits, two errors.

Eight Innings.

Belleville.—Kirn made a great play on a bunt by Ross, getting the runner at first. Mills and Smith struck out. No runs, hits or errors.

Peterborough.— Swanston singled to centre. Long bunted to Goyer and Swanston was out at second. Jackson beat a bunt. The base runners pulled off a double steal, but Clancy hoisted one to Weir and Kirn missed three. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Ross tapped to the same player, who nailed Weir at the plate by a quick throw. Mills was safe when Ray Rose dropped his fly. Smith flied to Jackson, a nice catch by the right fielder. One run, one hit, one error.

Peterborough. —Mulhern, batting for L. Rose, was out on a tap to Goyer. Swanston went out by the same route. Meagher threw Long out at first. No runs, hits or errors.

SAYS FLUFFY HAIR LED TO IMMORALITY

Witness Declares Mrs. Daniels Was Careless as Head of Western House of Refuge.

ROCHESTER, N.Y.— At a hearing before a joint legislative committee into charge against Mrs. Flora P. Daniels, superintendent of the Western House of Refuge, at Albian, Mrs. Aurilla T. Desmond, of Syracuse, a matron in the institution from 1907 to 1916, who resigned, testified to gross immorality of some of the inmates. This was due, she said, to the carelessness of Mrs. Daniels, who was tolerant in matters of morality. Mrs. Desmond testified that under the administration of Mrs. Daniels' predecessor, Miss Curtin, the girls were not allowed to wear their hair fluffed up or curled, but had to have it plain. Mrs. Daniels did not care how they fixed their hair.

"When they were allowed to wear their hair fluffy and curly," said Mrs. Desmond, "they became coarse in their manners.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

The Round-Up

By ROBERT W. CREEL

(Copyright.)

How he came to be braking on the C. I. W. it would be impossible to say. It is doubtful if Legs Brown himself knew. He was a boomer brakeman, and, as such, he traveled by no schedule whatever. To ordinarily find him at any given time, you might inquire on any railway division in America with an equal chance of success.

He reminded you of that insect whose amiable disposition and attenuated appearance have won for it the sobriquet of "grand-daddy-longlegs." Hence, Brown's own nickname. Notwithstanding his fragile proportions, however, when occasion arose he could wield his huge fists with force sufficient to fracture a jaw-bone or drive a man's ear into the side of his head—a fact that had been demonstrated to the sorrow of more than one belligerent hobo.

As the long train of flat cars writhed in and out among the sand hills, Brown, stationed a short distance ahead of the caboose, was the only person visible.

At the last stop, Murphy, the conductor, had received a telegram warning him to be prepared for an attack when they entered Sandville. A large number of hoboes were gathered there and had taken possession of the town, explaining to the unhappy citizens the necessity of majority rule, if the republican form of government was to be maintained in the land.

Previous experience similar to this had detracted from the novelty of the situation for the few inhabitants of Sandville; but the hoboes were becoming bolder, and spoke of capturing the next train that came thither for the purpose of making their escape. Whereupon the station agent had grown alarmed and sent the telegram.

Among his other characteristics, Brown was intensely loyal to the road that chanced to employ him. Any action such as that contemplated by the hoboes was resented as a personal affront. Furthermore, at this particular time he knew that the president of the road was but a few hours behind in his special, and Brown deemed it his duty to do all in his power to prevent any unpleasantness when the great man should arrive.

Therefore as they drew near the little hamlet he returned to the caboose and conferred with the conductor.

"They's no use runnin' clear in, Jim. You better stop on the edge of this here metropolis while I go in an' reconnoiter the force of the enemy, as they'sly in the army."

"I wouldn't advise you to go alone, Legs. You can't tell what those bums'll do if they're drunk."

"Why, Jim, you know them fellers 're like sheep. The only reason I can see for 'em actin' like this is because they got a leader. If that's the case, all I got to is to sling him around like he didn't cost much, an' that'll take the fight right out of 'em. Besides, if a bunch of us go in, they'll git ready for trouble."

"All right, you can go while we stop for water. That'll give you time to see what they're up to."

So it was that, on foot and unaccompanied, Legs Brown ambled into the captured town. He had no doubt as to the location of the triumphant hoboes, for, though it was now almost dark, the only place that showed a light was the saloon, and to this he directed his steps.

At the bar stood a swarthy, well-set fellow, whose curly hair and high cheek-bones, together with the peculiar formation of his head, marked him as a native of Poland. This worthy was the most boisterous of the lot, but Brown thought it hardly likely that he was the leader, giving him scant attention, therefore, as he strode forward and ordered a drink.

"Here, ye rube, ye better ask me fer what ye want, 'r I'll break ye in two," said the tramp aggressively, pausing in the act of raising a glass to his lips.

Brown, reaching for his own drink, seemed not to hear the words, but his prodigious foot, as if released from a spring, suddenly swept up, and, striking the other's hand, threw the glass, with its contents, into his scowling face.

A storm of laughter arose from the onlookers, who swore, with mighty oaths, that it was the funniest thing they had ever seen. The victim, however, laughed not at all, but bellowed with rage and pain as the fiery liquid seared his eyes, and repeatedly yelled for Brown to come near.

Not desirous of being masticated, nor yet willing to move out of the way of the Pole, who was blindly grasping for him, Brown chose the only alternative, and smote him squarely between the eyes, so that he crumpled up on the floor. Then, turning to the man's comrades, he broached the business of the evening.

"I want to tell you dirty bums that I'm going to take charge of this here city government from now till I leave. If any of you've got anything to say, why, you can step up and say it. You might be able to bluff these poor devils that live here, but I've seen too many hoes not to know what you're made of. You're all under arrest, an' the first man that moves'll get plugged." The brakeman placed a hand in his hip-pocket, which, by the way, held nothing but his red bandanna handkerchief.

"Now, I want to see the man that's at the head of this outfit. Who put you up to this job?"

Following a sound of shuffling footsteps, the illustrious leader himself appeared in the doorway. Billy Hackett's visage was one of those of which the worst dreams are made. While it was rendered somewhat vacant by the absence of his nose, one of his eyes, and the major portion of his upper lip—unwilling sacrifices to the god of war—his expression lost none of its ferocity on that account, and his shaggy hair and beard gave him a look that was scarcely human.

Mr. Hackett had been engaged on a private foraging expedition, and knew nothing of the happenings within the saloon, nor saw the brakeman, as he came toward the bar.

"Wot's the matter?" he inquired savagely. "Didn't ye see that freight pull in?"

By way of attracting his attention, Brown struck him smartly on the part of his face formerly occupied by his nose.

"Yes, an' she'll lay there till she rots, if she waits fer you to take her out. By the time I git through with you, you'll be ready to crawl in your hole," said the brakeman. He had seen the train crew gathered in the shadows outside the door and how had little to fear from the other hoboes.

"Better take off your coat, because I'm not a-goin' to knock you out. I'll make you quit like a dog, so the rest of these gents'll see what you are," stated Brown, removing his own outer garment.

Hackett waited not for further advice, but lashed out so viciously with his right arm that Brown was taken unawares, and, had it not been for the bar at his back, he would have gone down ignominously. Even so, he was in an evil plight, for the tramp, seeing his opportunity, rushed in, raining blows on the face and body of his opponent.

Then, indeed, did it seem that the brakeman had been overconfident in his boasting. The other hoboes shouted encouragement to their champion, and the train crew were only restrained from joining in the fight by the conductor, who continued to voice his belief in Brown's prowess.

Veteran of a hundred battles, Brown's first move was to stop the flailing arms. This he did by the simple expedient of twining his own about them. Gradually, with the apparent sinuosity of a boa constrictor, he pressed his limbs about those of the brakeman, who had landed.

Brown was intent on proving a theory that he had long held, namely, that a man, though incredibly a coward, will fight with seeming bravery so long as the blows of his adversary have no the appearance of being well judged or aimed with accuracy; but that a succession of blows, however light, on a sensitive spot will make him quit if he has the least vestige of a yellow streak.

During the next few minutes, so fiercely did Hackett assail him that the brakeman was almost entirely on the defensive. More than once he felt the impact of the tramp's horny fist on his face, but he still held to his purpose. When the opening offered, his hand flashed out, striking with invariable precision the spot he had selected for his attack.

Hackett manifested his displeasure at this mode of warfare, evidently thinking that Brown acted dishonorably in profiting by the absence of his nasal feature.

For a long time they fought, neither gaining the advantage. Brown was bleeding freely from the mouth, and one eye was fast swelling shut; but his antagonist was also badly bruised, the remnant of his nose being quite raw. Of the two, Hackett seemed the more fatigued. Excessive drinking had made him short-winded, and he breathed heavily. The brakeman now began to force the fighting, striking more often in the same spot. Hackett gave ground and once he glanced back, as if seeking a way of escape.

"Stand up an' fight, why don't you?" panted Brown. "You claim to be the champeen bo. Well, I ain't no kind of a champeen, an' here you're tryin' to quit before I git warmed up. What kind of fightin' do you call that? Come on an' mix it a little."

But Hackett had had enough. His spirit was gone, and he slunk back into the crowd, whimpering.

"Stop 'im, boys; stop 'im," he pleaded. "My heavens, my mug's broke in! I can't fight no more."

"You don't need to be scared. I'm satisfied," answered Brown. "I knew you was a quitter the minute I seen you, an' I wanted to show you up, so you couldn't lead these dubs into no more devilry. What'll we do with 'em, Jim?" he asked, turning to the conductor.

"The best thing will be to lock 'em in a box car in charge of the sheriff at Mossington," replied Murphy, who was guarding the door.

From the dark recesses of the caboose he had brought forth an old revolver. With it to uphold his authority, the erstwhile conquerors were placed in line and marched to the waiting train, escorted by the crew.

To Brown, this closed the incident. He marveled greatly, therefore, when there came a commendatory letter from the company's chief executive, together with a small package, which, on examination, was found to contain a gold watch.

"That business must've leaked out some way or other," he remarked thoughtfully.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS TO WAGE WAR ON BOLSHEVISM.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Aug. 8. — The peace convention of the Knights of Columbus opened here with pontifical mass at St. Joseph's Cathedral. Bishop William Turner was celebrant. The sermon was delivered by Bishop Thomas S. Shahan, rector of the Catholic University of Washington. Bishop Shahan's message was a tribute to the Knights of Columbus as a truly American and Catholic order. At the opening business session the principal speaker was Admiral William Shepherd Benson. James A. Flaherty, supreme knight, submitted his annual report. He said a nation-wide education campaign and an extensive programme to fight Bolshevism were the outstanding features of the order's aims for the next year. "The Knights of Columbus always have been and always will be on the side of order," he said. "Not that we are without sympathy for righteous unrest that seeks to remedy evil conditions that call for a cure. But we shall fight to the uttermost of our strength the forces of extreme radicalism, and the crazy doctrines of false, foreign philosophers who seek to spread their pernicious propaganda on our free soil."

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy, when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the fermentations, gases, waste and acids and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated water is quietly extracting a fine of water from the blood getting ready for a thorough flushing all the inside organs.

The millions of people who suffered with constipation, biliousness, stomach trouble, rheumatism and others who have sallow skin, blood disorders and sickly complexions, urged to get a quarter pound stone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, and is about to make anyone enthusiastic crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

ONE OF EUROPE'S GREATEST COURT SCANDALS REVEALED

Fourteen years ago. A city ablaze with flags, flowers, and triumphal arches. A tumultuous cheering crowd and a bride whose dark eyes beamed with a delight, pride, and happiness, as an Emperor and Empress, their glittering Court and a hundred maids of honour, greeted her.

Such was my first impression of Cecile Auguste Maria Duchess of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, as I saw her arrive in Berlin, says a writer in Tit-Bits, in accordance with the Hohenzollern tradition, at the Brandenburg Gate, to meet her betrothed, and drive along the Unter den Linden, the Piccadilly of the German capital.

Never did a prospect seem more fair to an eighteen-year-old bride than on that day when Berlin was en fete to celebrate the nuptials and Cecilie became the wife of the heir to the throne and one of the world's most powerful and prosperous countries.

What a contrast to-day!

I have lately seen the woman who was the envy of her sex on that wonderful day—a sorrowing, unhappy figure, living in obscurity, ignored by the populace, and deserted by the husband she has grown to hate. To-day the ex-Crown Princess is the most miserable woman in Germany; not because of the fate which has befallen the Hohenzollerns through their despotic arrogance and greed, but because marriage has proved such a tragic disillusionment.

A Hushed-Up Scandal.

Wives forgive much, but the most self-sacrificing superwoman could not forgive the cruelty, profligacy, indifference and desertion which the ex-Crown Princess has suffered at the hands of the man whose scandalous conduct has made his name a by-word in Europe.

Many fictitious stories have been told about his conduct towards his wife. The truth is worse, and some of us behind the scenes in Berlin knew of the intense sufferings of the girl who to-day is determined to seek freedom in the courts from one who has proved utterly unworthy of her love. Time after time she has threatened to leave Germany and divorce him, and time after time matters were patched up by the intervention of the Kaiser, who feared the consequences of the scandal. For the people had a genuine liking and admiration for Cecilie, and only the iron heel of Kaiserism and militarism prevented them from showing open contempt for the ex-Crown Prince.

Scandal succeeded scandal, however. He seemed determined to pursue his flirtations and liaisons at all costs. Before his marriage Berlin had begun to murmur at his shameful escapades. Callous, brutal, and cynical to a degree, he treated women as mere toys, and it required all the efforts of the Court to hush up the tragedy of one girl, a lieutenant's sister, who, on account of his conduct, committed suicide.

He could not resist a pretty face. Dancers, actresses, daughters, sisters, and wives of army officers, all were treated without the slightest honour or chivalry.

The ex-Crown Prince's extravagance, dissipation, and the demands of his many mistresses made the Kaiser hold the purse-strings tightly, causing his son to rebel against such parental restrictions; for his income was derived directly from the Kaiser and was only paid subject to his father's goodwill.

"Get him married," said his advisers, when the Kaiser expressed his worry and perplexity.

"What is she worth?" the Crown Prince asked, with his characteristic brutal cynicism and frankness, when Cecilie, daughter of the Grand Duchess Anastasia of Russia, was mentioned to him as a possible bride.

"Her dowry will be one million pounds," was the reply.

And thus it came about that the ex-Crown Prince wooed and wedded Cecilie, not for love of this innocent and charming girl, but merely because her dowry placed him for the first time in a position of independence, and enabled him to snap his fingers at his father, with whom he quarrelled almost every week.

Within a few weeks of his wedding he began to ignore his wedding vows. Shocked and horrified, Cecilie tried to leave her husband. She almost succeeded in reaching Switzerland. Orders, however, had been sent from Berlin to intercept her, and she was captured at the German frontier like any common criminal and taken back to Berlin under arrest.

For Her Children's Sake.

The Grand Duchess Anastasia, who has made repeated efforts to separate her beloved daughter from a man who has violated every principle and promise of the marriage tie, has told me of this disgraceful episode and of occasions when the ex-Crown Prince used actual violence towards his wife, disfiguring her face with his blows.

I am convinced that long ago Cecilie would have divorced her husband had it not been for the sake of her children, the birth of which, however, made no difference to their father's immoral life. Because of her babies, Cecilie had to recognize that she must tolerate the conduct of her husband if she was to do her duty to them. So matters drifted on for several years, the ex-Crown Prince continued his life of dissipation, while his wife sorrowfully made up her mind to carry out her duties as a mother by remaining in Berlin for the sake of her children.

Loot and Ladies.

The war brought matters to a climax. The ex-Crown Prince, [illegible] and the lines, still pursued his dissipated life.

"Loot and ladies," to quote the words of one of his staff, seemed to be a mania. For a time the stories of his behaviour were kept from his father. The accidental discovery, however, of a photograph, showing him in the arms of his charmers, strained her father's patience to breaking point.

[illegible] if Germany had won the war the Grand Duchess Anastasia would have married me, "my daughter would have [illegible] ken definitely away from her influence. To-day she is only waiting for the necessary legal formalities to be completed, and the proceedings which will end her marriage, that has ruined her happiness."

CAREFULLY INVESTIGATED REPORTS ESTABLISH TRULY WONDERFUL RESULTS.

Heretofore it has often been a hopeless task for a thin-blooded person to gain either strength or weight. Neither food or medicine in many instances had beneficial effect.

What is practically a perfect blood-food, containing such elements as Iron, has at last been produced, and when taken after meals will put new life and vigor into people that have despaired of ever being strong again.

This wonderful blood-food supplies nourishment, vim, energy —sends a stream of vigorous, strength-making blood to every nook and corner of the body, makes every muscle and fibre sing with new-found life and health.

That gnawing tiredness leaves you —Ferrozone drives it away. Sleepless nights are turned into periods of rest, and you pick up fast. Day by day your appetite improves,—this means more food is transformed in nutriment that will build and energize weak organs. The inclination to worry passes away because Ferrozone imparts nerve — tone and bodily strength that prevents depression.

Think it over—Ferrozone is a wonderful tonic, in fact, it is more than a tonic, because it establishes a health that lasts. Thousands use it and thereby cleanse and restore the entire system to a perfect condition. You'll feel the uplifting power of Ferrozone in a week,—it's bound to help you if you only give it the chance. Sold by all dealers, 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50; be sure of the name Ferrozone. Earminette McBurney, wife of Mr. John Nugent, 208 Brock street, died suddenly at Mr. Nugent's summer cottage at Stoney Lake, on Monday, August 11th. Mrs. Nugent had been apparently in perfect health on Sunday evening and had attended service at Juniper Island, after which she conversed with friends and enjoyed a trip around the lake. Upon arriving home, however, she complained of feeling ill and retired. In the morning Mr. Nugent hesitated to attempt to awaken her on account of the apparent peaceful sleep she was enjoying and did not know until an hour afterwards that she had passed away in the night. The remains were brought down from the Lakes yesterday afternoon and the funeral will take place Wednesday, August 13th at 2.30 o'clock.

THE NATIONALIZATION OF RAILWAYS IS FAVOURED BY SAMUEL GOMPERS

SAYS GOVERNMENT'S FAILURE DURING THE WAR WAS DUE TO METHODS AS WELL AS ABNORMAL CONDITIONS—LABOUR'S DEMAND FOR SHARE IN ADMINISTRATION.

(United Press.)

PARIS, Aug. 13. — Samuel Gompers (President of the American Federation of Labour) to-day declared in favor of the nationalization of the American railways and labor's demand for an equal share in their administration.

American railways workers intend not only to compel the government to take over the railways, but will demand as the logical next step that labor shall be granted a permanent equal voice in railway administration, President Gompers said in an interview.

"The railways must be brought under suitable control, made up of the government, laborers and technical experts. At present none of these elements has a real voice in any matters of importance concerning the railways. The first step in changing the situation would be for the government to take over the lines. The next step would be taking representatives of labor and representatives of the owners into the administrative council.

Due to Methods.

"The government's failure during the war was due to its methods as well as abnormal conditions. It can't be expected that a man like McAdoo —who had not the slightest knowledge of railroading—would be able to handle the situation even in peace time ,to say nothing of the difficulties added by the war.

"Although I am ready to admit I am not positve that government control would right all the present wrongs I will back the demands of the federation that a real trial be given; when control is taken over, we will insist that railway experts, not mere politicians, be placed in charge of technical questions.

A solution of the whole problem rests with the co-operation of the three heretofore conflicting interests —labour, government and the owners.

Labour is fully justified in its present steps, as it has not received the slightest consideration in the past. Our opponents claim that wages have been sufficiently increased, does not take into consideration the decreasing value of money."

Gompers refused to state the degree the Federation would enter the political arena to gain its ends, stating merely: "Present conditions are extremely unfair; previous methods have failed to achieve legitimate results; hence we will be forced to use other means."

PITTILESS PUBLICITY WILL BE EMPLOYED TO FORCE FOOD HOARDERS TO DISGORGE

By Ralph F. Couch.
(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—"Pitiless publicity" will be employed by the Government to force the food holders to disgorge.

Names of owners of big stocks of food held in storage will be made public under a plan being prepared by Attorney-General Palmer, as another step in his nation-wide campaign to suppress profiteering.

Palmer was expected to make this clear in a telegram to be sent to-day to one of the one hundred district attorneys who are hunting the hoarders.

The plan includes publicity for the prices at which food stuffs were quoted when placed in storage, together with the time held and the present prices, and other details. This information will be given to the newspapers in each community by the district attorney, enabling consumers to know just who gets the profit of the food. Palmer intends, it is said, to create a public opinion which will force hoarders to put their stocks on the market immediately and bring prices down.

Nearly complete information as to stocks of food held in storage is in possession of district attorneys in many big cities.

"LABOUR IS IN POSITION TO GAIN BECAUSE GAINS LAST LONGER THAN LOSSES".

COUNTRY WENT THROUGH SIMILAR SITUATION AFTER THE CIVIL WAR --PRICES BOUND TO COME DOWN --A WORLD SHORTAGE.

RESULT OF WAR

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.— James A. Stillman, President of the National City Bank, one of the world's greatest financial institutions, to-day analyzed the present economic crisis in an interview with the United Press, emphasizing the following points:

The world is short of the commom necessities of life and that is the first situation to be dealt with.

The high cost of living is the result of the war's destruction, which makes the world short of necessaries of life.

Wage earners will come out of the present economic situation the gainers. Labour may lose now owing to high prices.

Railroad men are misled by misinformation, distorted statements and half truths.

Full Value.

Railroad investments as a claim were certainly as clean as any other form of investment.

The public has received full value from the railroads and the best service in the world.

"The general situation at this time is one which calls for temperate speech," said Mr. Stillman. "No man who has any sense of social responsibility will want to say or do anything that will increase the confusion and excitement which exists.

"Patience is a great virtue just now. The world has had enough of fighting, by war.

General Principle.

"That general principle is just as true in disputes in industry and between classes as it is in International affairs. There should be a better way to settle them than by strikes, lockouts or other means which entail loss and suffering upon the public. We should be able to settle our differences without threats or violence as becomes a free people. Any fair proposition will win in this country in the long run.

"The war has interrupted industry and made many conditions abnormal. It is responsible for the high cost of living by causing a great scarcity of all the necessaries. It is just what was to be expected after the withdrawal of so many millions of men from production. The remedy is in orderly industry. The whole situation will right itself as production is increased. Food will go down and clothing will be cheaper.

Similar Situation.

"The country went through a similar situation after our civil war. At first there was a scarcity and high prices, but when industry was fully resumed we had a long period of falling prices. It is true that in many instances wages do not keep pace with commodities when the latter are rising, but on the other hand the wages do not fall as fast as commodities when the latter turn downward.

"Labour generally loses on the rising scales, but gains on the falling scale and the gains last longer than the losses.

"I venture to predict that the wage earners will come out of the situation the gainers, because the decline in what they will buy will be greater than in wages. It has always been so. All the improvements in industry, by invention and the accumulation of capital, work for the benefit of labour.

STEAMER ENGLEWOOD REPORTED SINKING

BOARD WILL INVESTIGATE PORT COLBORNE TRAGEDY

BOARD OF RAILWAYS ORDERS INVESTIGATION OF ELEVATOR DISASTER AT PORT COLBORNE

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—Hon. J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways and Canals, upon his return to the city yesterday immediately took into consideration the matter of the explosion which occurred at the Government elevator at Port Colborne on Saturday last, when a dozen lives were lost and about twenty persons injured. The canal officials are unable to definitely state the cause of the explosion, and Dr. Reid has appointed an Inter-Departmental Board of Engineers to hold an investigation and to furnish a full report on the causes leading up to the accident and on all matters incidental thereto.

This board is composed of the following:

Lieut.-Col. C. N. Monsarrat, Consulting Engineer o the Dominion Government; A. St. Laurent, C. E. Assistant Deputy Minister of the Department of Public Works; D. W. McLachlan, Engineer in charge of the Port Nelson terminals of the Hudson Bay Railway, and John Murphy, Electrical Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals.

This board is empowered to call in experts on grain elevators and others who may be able to give them any assistance desired.

Besides investigating the cause of the accident, the board is required to furnish a recommendation as to repairs and reconstruction, and has been given charge of salvaging the grain remaining in the bins.

Mr. McLachlan is already at Port Colborne, having been immediately sent there by the Railways and Canals Department, after the accident occurred, to advise as to the condition of the elevator, and the other members of the board are proceeding there at once, in order that the investigation may be begun without delay.

THE GRAND TRUNK

PASSENGERS FOR PETERBORO WERE TRANSFERRED.

Last night passengers on the night train from Belleville had to be transferred owing to a derailment on the Grand Trunk east of Drummond station, consisting of a grain car and an engine. An auxiliary sent out from Belleville cleared the track during the night. The derailment, the cause of which is not known, occurred at about 5 o'clock in the evening.

VISCOUNT GREY HAS GOOD RECORD

(Canadian Press.)

Will Represent British Government in the United States.

LONDON, Aug. 13. — Viscount Grey, of Fallodon, Sir Edward Grey comes to the United States to represent the British government after a brilliant career as head of the British Foreign Office. For eleven years momentous in the political affairs of Europe, he was Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs from December 11, 1905, to Dec. 11, 1916. On several occasions during that period it was the initiative of Sir Edward Grey, that caused the gathering clouds of war to disappear. It was he who made the last effort to prevent the European war. His effort failed through the attitude of the German government and the German Emperor. Since his retirement from the Foreign Office, Viscount Grey has been living in retirement in Northumberland. The new Ambassador's eyes began to trouble him in 1918 and at one time it was reported he was totally blind. This report was exaggerated, but Viscount Grey has difficulty in reading, although his eye trouble has improved somewhat.

MINERS WILL GO BACK TO WORK

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The coal miners of Yorkshire where more than 200,000 men have been on strike since July 21, decided to-day to resume work. This action was taken at a mass meeting of delegates at Barnsley.

The Executive Council of Yorkshire Miners Association at a meeting Tuesday recommended that the miners go back to work. The proposed direct action referendum on political demands was postponed by executives of labours triple alliance in London Tuesday. Changes in the policy of the government which needed consideration were said to have played an important part in causing postponement. The triple alliance is composed of the miners, the railwaymens and the transport workers.

RUSH TO QUIT WORK WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR TRAGEDY

TWO ARE KILLED, TWO DYING AND EIGHTEEN SERIOUSLY INJURED WHEN GANGWAY BREAKS AT CHAMPLAIN DRYDOCK IN QUEBEC.

(Canadian Press.)

QUEBEC, Aug. 13. — Two men are dead, two are dying, and 18 others are suffering from grevious injuries while many more received minor casualties as a result of the collapse of a gangway at the new Champlain drydocks at Lauzon at closing time yesterday afternoon.

The names of the dead and dying are as follows: Killed, George Beland, 32 years, of Breakey; Alphonse Richard, 33 years, Montmagny. Dying, Antonio Lecours, 29 years, Bienville; Oscar Rancour, Lauzon.

It was just five o'clock when the accident occurred. Large gangs of men were engaged in repairing two C. P. R. vessels, the War Peridot and the Dunbridge, and as the whistle sounded the quitting time there was a rush for the gangway leading from another vessel to the side of the dock.

The gangway bridged a space of about thirty feet between the ship and the side of th dock, and beneath it was the floor of the dock, forty feet below. In their anxiety to reach the floor of the dock and get to their homes about 50 men rushed on to the gangway and as they reached the centre it snapped, precipitating them to the bottom of the dock.

Only one man was instantly killed when the gangway collapsed, namely, George Beland of Breakeyville, aged 32, who leaves a wife and 11 children. Alphonse Richard, aged 33 years, of Montmagny, was so badly injured that he died at the hospital two hours after the accident.

The doctors in charge of the hospital do not expect Antonio Lecours, aged 29, of Bienville, and Oscar Rancourt of Lauzon, will survive their injuries.

The gangway which collapsed was 38 feet in length, 40 inches in width, and was reinforced with steel supports. It was examined by experts after the accident and they pronounced it of sufficient strength for the purpose for which it was used. They attribute its collapse to the fact that the men were running when crossing it. The great weight coming so suddenly caused it to spring and snap.

BANK ROBBER KILLED HIMSELF

(Canadian Press.)

WSHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Unidentified hold-up man entered the banking rooms of the Munsey Trust Co., in the heart of the Pennsylvania avenue section this morning, and pointing two pistols at the teller demanded $150,000. As the teller was making a show of counting the money the hold-up man fired, missing him and then turned a pistol on himself. He was killed almost instantly.

"HANGING ON TO THIRTY PER CENT"

REASON ADVANCED FOR THE HIGH COST OF LIVING.

(Special to The Examiner.)

KINCARDINE, Aug. 13. — In the opinion of G. Lamb, of Colborne township, Huron county, one of the principal speakers at yesterday's convention of West Bruce farmers, the real cause of the high cost of living is because 70 per cent. of the people of the Dominion are hanging on to thirty per cent. "Three decades ago," he said, the agriculturists represented 70 per cent. of the population. To-day they represent 30 per cent. Do you wonder now at the high cost of living when 70 per cent. of the people are hanging on to thirty per cent. I believe the thirty per cent. still are here because they could not be rooted out."

PUBLICATION OF MILK TEST REPORTS WILL BE DISCONTINUED IN FUTURE

DR. M'PHERSON EXPLAINED THAT THEY WERE NOT ACCURATE AND HENCE WERE UNFAIR TO SOME VENDORS—PUBLIC ALSO MISLED AS A RESULT.

GUIDE TO BOARD OF HEALTH

Advising the discontinuance of the publication of the monthly milk test results, Dr. McPherson, M.O.H., told the Board of Health last night that they were inexact and therefore were misleading to the public and often unfair to the milk vendors and producers.

"This is only a rough test," he said, "and only those who know of the discrepancies that can come in between the taking of the milk and the making of the tests can appreciate the fact that the figures are often unfair from the standpoint of the vendors."

"The tests are no good then," remarked Mayor Duncan.

Dr. McPherson—"I don't say that. They are intended as a guide to this department. If we find from the test that a vendor's milk is running low in butter fat we can take steps to obtain an accurate test, find out the reason for the deficiency, and if he has supplied the milk we can take his license from him. If any vendor were to take action against us over these reports we wouldn't have a leg to stand on. What we are most concerned with is not the content of butter-fat, but the cleanliness of the milk that is sold in the city and fed to babies. We want to be sure that it comes to the people as clean and pure as possible. We are interested in the question as to whether all our milk it fit for consumption."

Although there is a motion in the records of the Board authorizing the publication of the milk test figures, it was decided last night to abide by the recommendation of Dr. McPherson.

Had doctored but did not seem to get cured of the ailment. At last I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it did me more good than any medicine I ever took. It built me up and I felt better in every way than I had for two years previously."—Mrs. L. HEATH.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to flush Kidneys if Bladder bothers you—Drink lots of water.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatism twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

ROMANIANS ARE WILLING TO LEAVE

(Canadian Press.)

BUCHAREST, Aug. 13.—The Roumanian army entered Budapest in what was believed to be in compliance with wishes of the Allies, Premier Bratiano of Roumania said today in a statement given to the Associated Press.

He said the movement was undertaken in an effort to stamp out Bolshevism, and that there was not the slightest disposition on the part of the Roumanians to take any territory beyond that considered essential to Roumania's achievements of national unity.

"Our troops will be withdrawn within the frontiers fixed by the Roumanian Treaty of Alliance with the Allies," Premier Bratiano said, "whenever there is established in Hungary a stable government that will afford protection to the Roumanian frontiers, and give any effective guarantee that the armistice or Treaty terms will be observed."

DEATH WAS A GREAT SHOCK

The news of the sudden death of Mrs. John Nugent at their island home, Stoney Lake, on Monday morning last, came as a great shock to her family and friends, as she had been apparently quite herself the day before.

By her bright unselfishness and continual thought and care for the hapines sof others, Mrs. Nugent had endeared herself to a host of friends, to whom her city and Stony Lake home were always open; and besides all the activities of her private life she was a member of the Board of the Young Women's Christian Association and filled the position of convenor of the Social Committee of it for many years. She has been identified for years also with the work of the Ladies' Aid of the George Street Methodist Church and at different times has held all the offices in that organization. During the war she was also a supervisor in the work of the Peterboro Red Cross Society.

In the city of Peterboro and in the whole of the surrounding country, where both Mr. and Mrs. Nugent are so well known and so deeply loved, the most heartfelt sympathy goes out to Mr. Nugent in his terrible bereavement. It is hard to believe that one so active and full of life as Mrs. Nugent was, has gone from us, but we can truly say that she being dead, still speaks to us in the innumerable acts of love and kindness by which she is remembered, and which are eloquent of her noble and loving spirit.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Colour, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn grey, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

A CLAIM FOR MORE FARMERS

"TOO MANY CITY PEOPLE AND NOT ENOUGH FARMERS."

(Canadian Press.)

KINGSTON, Aug. 13.—Speaking at a banquet last night to delegates of the Canadian Union Municipalities Convention, General Sir Archibald Macdonnell, commandant of the Royal Military College, warmly defended General Sir Arthur Currie against charges of unnecessary casualties at Passchendaele.

General Macdonnell said he was present when Sir Douglas Haig told Currie to take that position, and the Canadians took it after British, Australians, and New Zealanders had failed. Records showed, said Macdonnell, that the Canadians made the maximum gains with minimum losses.

Dr. Edwards, M.P. for Frontenac, urged greater co-operation between rural and urban municipalities. He declared the high cost of living due to the fact that there were not enough farmers and too many city people.

REFINERIES ARE CLOSING DOWN

To-day a traveller for a well-known wholesale house showed the Examiner a letter from a sugar refinery, in which it was stated that this particular refinery expected to close down by August 20th owing to lack of raw material. The letter went on to point out the seriousness of the situation and the loss it would entail to the refineries and incidentally to the consumers who were now in the midst of the canning season.

"We have done everything humanly possible to avoid closing down," said the writer of the letter.

GERMANS ABROAD WILE BE ASSISTED

(Canadian Press.)

BERLIN, Aug. 13.—"We must proceed immediately to create a mercantile fleet and help Germans abroad with State advances," said Mathias Erzberger, Vice-Premier and Minister of Finance of the German Government, speaking before the National Assembly at Weimar yesterday.

He promised the Assembly that a bill carrying out these projects would be presented in a few weeks. Herr Erzberger added that the loan situation must be given consideration, declaring that the German nation must raise twenty-five billion marks yearly in taxes in order to regain a healthy condition.

There has been a falling off of four millions in customs, but excise duties have more than made up the decrease, while the revenue from public works has grown considerably. Expenditures were seventy-six and a half millions, not including war expenditures, this being an increase of forty millions. The net debt at the end of July was one billion six hundred and seventy million, which is an increase during the period of fifty-three millions.

TORONTO, Aug. 13. — Evidence submitted last night at the inquest in to the death of the late John C. and Mrs. Bell, the aged couple who were struck and almost instantly killed by a C.P.R. transfer engine on the Riverdale Park level crossing a week ago, indicated that obstruction of view was the cause of the fatality. Several witnesses testified to the fact that strings of freight cars had been left on a siding both north and south of the crossing in such a position that it was impossible for pedestrians to see approaching traffic until they had almost reached the track on which the accident occurred.

BELGIUM GOES TO WORK

Of the nations that were so recently at war, Belgium appears to be the most intent upon regaining her former prosperity. Occasional reports bring the gratifying information that her people are bending themselves to the production of crops so promising that in the words of Col. Hagarty of Toronto, who returned from Europe a short time ago, Canada's fields look bare in comparison. The first in war it is to be hoped that Belgium may be the first in peace. With her industries to be reassembled and rebuilt, many of her towns to be reconstructed and her fields and farms repaired, Belgium faces a huge task. The silence in regar to labor troubles suggests tranquility, of which there is further evidence in King Albert's proposed visit to America this year. It is hardly likely that Belgium is escaping the high prices that disturb the world, but she seems to be enjoying a social peace that should enable her largely to overcome the maiming handicap with which the Huns left her in the commercial race in which the nations are trying to make a start.

THE POLICEMAN'S SPARE TIME

In dealing with the protest of the Great War Veterans' Association against Police Sergeant Blade's practice of employing his time while off duty is eking out his pay check from the city by washing and driving automobiles and selling insurance, the Police Commission decided that they were not justified in interfering with the enterprise of any member of the force while off duty. There is no complaint that Sergeant Blade has neglected his work as a police officer in consequence of his various and probably remunerative activities after hours. Some citizens whom he has been instrumental in prosecuting may be of the opinion that he is too zealous a constable. If he were a musician would there be any objection to his playing in an orchestra or band and earning all the money he could, providing such engagements did not affect the satisfactory performance of his duties as a police officer? And are not the firemen free, in a large measure at least, to spend their off days as they wish? Sergeant Blade's private undertakings indicate that many opportunities are overlooked or passed up by men who are just as capable of making a success of them. Surely legitimate enterprise is not to be penalized whether it is found in an employe of the city or of any private business.

But there is another phase to the Veterans' protest. Police Commissioners and Chief Constables up and down Canada have condemned the action of some departments in forming or proposing to form unions. The objection raised was that policemen should be unaffiliated with other groups of citizens and concerned only in the protection of property and of the persons and rights of the people. This means that policemen should have no entangling alliance or interests which might influence them in the discharge of their regular duties. By an extension of this principle should not policemen refrain from engaging in any private business for the success of which they depend upon the patronage of the public? In other words, it is not enterprise that is open to criticism so much as the nature of that enterprise. If he engages as a special constable at a baseball park during his spare time, surey there can be no serious objection to that. He has the experience that qualifies him above the ordinary citizen for such work. It is sufficient to point out that there are some lines of activity that might fall within a different category.

THE COST OF LIVING

Appointed by the Dominion Government and acting under is instructions, Dr. R. J. McFall, Cost of Living Commissioner is making a series of searching reports upon domestic trade conditions. The purpose is to detect, expose and stop profiteering. The canners' combine has already been induced to abandon a rebate system which was a factor in maintaining the prices of canned fruits and vegetables at artificial levels. The export of hides has been placed under embargo with a view to preventing further advances in the cost of boots and shoes. To-day Dr. McFall is out after what he denominates "the sugar combine." Any unnecessarp boosting of the price of sugar in the preserving season is simple robbery of the consumer. The Government acted wisely in appointing Dr. McFall. It also acted wisely in getting Parliament to authorize a Board of Commerce. The Board is now being organized for business and we look to see it take drastic action in the disciplining of various trusts and combinations. The business of producers, wholesalers and retailers, must be overhauled in the interests of the general public. While no marked decline in the cost of living may be feasible under present world conditions the people will bear the burden of high prices with greater patence if they know that everything possible is being done to protect them.—Toronto News.

ORACLES EXPOSED.

The whole trouble with Henry Ford and a lot of other men of the same successful commercial type, is that they have been made the victims of a pernicious set of pubicity. Hundreds of articles are written about them, telling all the world what miracle-workers they are, describing the houses they live in and the meals they eat, quoting their opinions on politics and literature and religion and a host of other subjects that they know nothing whatever about. It makes no difference that most of those opinions are manufactured for them by hired press-agents—Henry Fords's own Mr. Delavigne, for instance—the harm is done just the same. It is notoriously easy for a man to believe after a while that the opinions written for him are really his own—every professional interviewer can recall amusing instances of this sort—and soon Henry Ford and men like him begin to think that they are fitted to tackle any problem and deliver judgment in any crisis. They develop what is vulgarly and expressively known as a "swelled head."

The whoe habit of treating men in "big business" as though they were the lords of creation is a recent and pernicious development. It is also peculiarly American, though the habit was spreading to other countries. The war, however, has done much to discredit it, and we are likely to see this adulation of financial and industrial giants become less fashionable—this is certainly to be put on the credit side of the great balance sheet. Before the war we were told that a world-struggle could never take place because the great financiers would not allow it. They could cut off the supply of money and credit, and no money, no war. But we soon saw the great men of bullion and securities being run through the military wringer and their gold being deftly squeezed out of them. Then we were told that the administration of the war in countries like Great Britain and France was bad because they did not hand it over to the great business men of these countries to run. But the great business men of the world did not cut a very striking figure in the struggle. Few of them proved of much use when taken out of their own particular line of work. And when the United States called on their services—well, we know what they did on the American Air Board.

As a matter of fact, it is about time that the business man, no matter how wealthy he is, no matter how large his plants or how numerous his army of employees—should recognise his own limitations. The fact that a man packs more beef or makes more automobiles or lawn mowers or near-beer than anyone else, does not necessarily entitle his opinion on other matters to any more respect that that of his humblest clerk. And if the recent sad experiences of Henry Ford should drive this salutory lesson home to the heads of other successful manufacturers—also the heads of the people who write silly articles about them—we will all have reason to be grateful. The thing was becoming an infernal bore.—Saturday Night.

Enough to Make 'Em Mad.

Louisville Courier-Journal: For the first time in Chinese history Chinese troops are being transported to the front in automobiles. It is certain that when the naturally pacific Celestials have had 1000 miles of spark plug troubles they will be as warlike as the Sioux.

The Joy of Rainy Days.

New York Tribune: Exercise in the open is more possible under dripping skies than when the sun boils. It is the prevalence of such days as we are having which has made the English an outdoor people. If they had not profited by St. Swithin's example, they would be even deader than he is.

Teaching History.

Boston Globe: History is not bunk, but it should be given a new emphasis. The personalities should be put in the shadow. For the most part they were mere symbols of their times. History is really the story not of a few but of the many, and we all need it because before we can take the right road to-morrow we will do well to look back and realize how many times people have started confidently down blind alleys and been confronted with blank walls.

MR. FREDERICK OFFERS TO BE BARBARA'S FRIEND.

CHAPTER XXXIX

"I want to be your friend, Mrs. Forbes — if you ever should need one," Mr. Frederick was saying. "I am a bluff man, but there may come a time when you will be able to make me of use. Will you promise me that if there is such a time, that you will send for me?" he smiled at me, but his eyes were serious.

I almost laughed, it was so like some of the stories I had read. Was Mr. Frederick in love with me? I dismissed the thought at once. There had been absolutely nothing in his behavior to suggest such a thing; and I blushed hotly at my egotistical thought. But why should he be melodramatic—that was what it appeared to me. I laughed a little embarrassed laugh, then replied:

"I can't imagine a time when I should need you,—anyone save Mr. Forbes—to do anything for me, but I will promise that if such a time ever comes I will remember what you have said."

He laid a card in my lap.

"That address will always reach me. A letter or wire there will find me wherever I am."

I made no reply: None was needed. But afer Mr. Frederick had left me at home, and bade me goodbye because he was leaving town that afternoon, I decided that he had come to say that if I needed a friend he would serve me.

Again I asked myself "Why"

It seemed at this time that my life was made up of interrogation points I was continually asking the why of things but never getting an answer.

Neil came home about three o'clock —something so unusual for him, that I feared he was ill. His face had gone gray and haggard since the night before. When I commenced to fuss over him, he waved me aside, and said hoarsely:

"For heaven's sake, Bab, don't do that! I came home because I needed rest. If you are going to rag me about anything, I'll go back to the office."

"I did not mean to rag you dear. You looked tired and I felt anxious," I was conciliatory, as usual.

"Well I am tired, dead tired. So tired I don't want to talk to you or anyone else." He threw himself upon the lounge in the library and closed his eyes. But I knew he was not sleeping. A spasm would occasionally cross his face, and his hands were clenched until the knuckles stood out white and sharp against the dark cover I had thrown over him.

It was nearly two hours later when he rose, bathed and dressed for dinner. He was more like himself, and when Tonko had brought him his evening paper I ventured:

"Isn't it dreadful about Payne Orton" I could keep silence no longer I must know something of his interest in this man's death.

"Terrible. Poor Blanche."

"Did she appear to feel very badly?"

Neil looked curiously at me as if he did not grasp my meaning. I repeated my question.

"How should I know? I haven't seen her. But it is natural to suppose that such a thing would be an awful shock to her."

I felt like singing for joy. A terrible weight seemed to be lifted from my heart. Neil had not been with Blanche Orton. Foolish me, to have sat all night eating my heart out with fear and jealousy. I would never mistrust him again, I vowed — never condemn him until I was sure.

Mr. Frederick was here to-day," I said, lacking strength for anything save commonplaces.

"What did he want" a suspicious glance at me.

"Nothing, save to say good-bye. He is leaving this afternoon. I thought of course you saw Mrs. Orton last night, Neil. You remember you went out as soon as you had answered the phone. I was so anxious when you did not return." I hoped that he might explain his absence.

"Trust a woman for putting her own construction upon everything a man does."

BOATS CARRIED A BIG CROWD

STEAMBOATS GAVE GOOD SERVICE OVER THE HOLIDAY.

Credit is due the Stoney Lake Navigation Company for the efficient service rendered the puplic on Civic Holiday. All the steamers of their fleet handled the several crowded detachments without a single mishap, and in correct time with their connections as advertised.

The "Stoney Lake" pulled out from the George street wharf at eight o'clock in the morning with a capacity crowd of excursionists, for a trip up through the lift lock and canal to Juniper Island. Captain Scollard and his crew brought the boat and party safely to the Juniper Island wharf about one o'clock, where she lay in a convenient view of the regatta, for the benfit of the excursionists, who watched the races from the decks. At 4.30 the steamer left on her home trip and arrived back in the city on advertised time.

The "Empress," which left Lakefield on the arrival of the morning train, carried a full boat load of excursionists, bound for the round trip on the lakes and the regatta. Capt. Robinson and his veteran crew were in fine nautical trim, and never rendered better service. The departure of the "Empress" was delayed for nearly an hour waiting the arrival of the morning train, which was delayed on account of an accident to the Belleville train connection, and a "special" had to be made up to take the place of the regular Lakefield train. The "Empress" made her regular trip round the lakes and returned to Juniper Island, and took up a good outlook position for the regatta, where the passengers could view the various contests. At four o'clock she started on her return trip reaching Lakefield on due time, and without a hitch with her passengers for Peterboro, who arrived in the city at seven o'clock.

The "Manita" took up the third big load of pleasure seekers that arrived in Lakefield by the noon G. T. R. train. With Captain P. Young and his regular crew the "Manita" steamed safely into position at the Juniper Island wharf, and after discharging her passengers, left for her regular lake service, making her return trip without a hitch.

RICE LAKE SERVICE.

The steamer "Geneva" was also well patronized on Civic Holiday. Captain Harris had his competent crew all in readiness at nine o'clock in the morning and left the George street wharf sharp on time with a full boat load of excursionists. The sail down the Otonabee to Gore's Landing and Harwood proved a delightful outing to many of our citizens, who brought members of their families along as well as well filled baskets of provisions. After a day full of pleasure, the "Geneva" landed her party back safely at the city wharves on regular time.

Olive oil, or a substitute, applied with a flannel will preserve black leather shoes.

WHAT FAITH WILL DO.

You will not be transformed into a perfect being all at once, because sudden changes are contrary to nature's laws. It is not easy to reform the habit of a lifetime But have you every found anything worth while that is easy? I have not. Try taking five minutes a day for character building. Take it at the same time each day if possible, and be sure to go where you can be alone. Where does not matter at all—up in the attic or down behind the woodpile—anywhere if you can only be alone and quiet. Try to leave behind for this little time all your cares and anxieties. Try to take with you your faith in Almighty God, and faith in yourself, the child of God. That means you—you just as much as the greatest man in the land. That is your first lesson—faith, the substance of things hoped for. The more you cultivate faith, the more successful you will be in getting the thing you want, whether it is a perfectly rounded character or any other good thing.—J. H. Taylor.

PORTLAND MAN HAS GAINED 30 POUNDS

COLLINS SAYS EVERYBODY WHO KNOWS HIM IS TALKING ABOUT HIS IMPROVEMENT SINCE TAKING TANLAC.

"Tanlac has made such a big improvement in my condition that I feel as well in every way now as I ever did in my life, and I have actually gained thirty pounds since I commenced taking it," said F. T. Collins, who lives at 572 Bortwicth Street, Portland, Ore., a few days ago.

"I began to have indigestion about three years ago," continued Mr. Collins, "and this condition just kept on getting worse all the time until it finally became chronic. My stomach was in such bad condition that everything I ate disagreed with me and caused me to suffer afterwards. Gas often formed on my stomach, and I would be so nauseated that I could not retain what I ate. I also suffered with pains in the small of my back, and if I stooped over I could hardly straighten up again. I was badly constipated all the time, and would often have headaches that would last for nearly a week at a time. I finally got so weak and run down that I had to give up my job. Then my nerves went back on me and I never got a good night's sleep after that. I tell you, I had just about reached the point where I was a complete nervous wreck.

"I didn't think any medicine would do me any good, but I thought I would try Tanlac anyway, and to my surprise I began to improve by the time I had finished my first bottle. Well, from that time on I just kept getting better right along until I am now as well and strong as I ever was. I never had a better appetite, and can eat just anything I want without suffering afterwards. I honestly believe my stomach is in as good condition as it ever was. The pain has left my back, too. I am never constipated now, and those awful headaches are a thing of the past. My nerves are as steady as a clock, and I get in eight or nine hours' good, restful sleep every night. I have regained all my strength, and have gained so much in weight that everybody who knows me is talking about it. I never lose a chance to say a good word for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

WAS REMANDED.

Gunner Allen's Case was Re-opened To-day.

Owing to the absence of witnesses the police court hearing of the charge of theft against Gunner A. L. Allen was enlarged this morning until Aug. 27th. When he pleaded guilty last week and was sentenced to two months in the jail, he was on his way to the court house under a policeman's charge, when Judge Huycke noticed the soldier's uniform and immediately interested himself in the young man.

The Judge learned that Allen had not been defended by a lawyer, and this morning, Mr. J. F. Strickland appeared in his behalf.

Allen at his former trial pleaded not guilty and while on remand expressed a wish to change that plea to guilty.

2. The members of team must be amateur as defined by the A.S.A., and have been members of the Troop they represent not less than three months prior to date of entry, and must be under 18 years of age at that date.

3. In order to save travelling expenses the competition shall consist of a time test, to be conducted in the vicinity of the headquarters of the competing team, each member attired in swimming dress, drawers, or costume, and shall be separately timed as follows:

(a) Two members of the team, each to swim 72 yards breast stroke.

(c) Two members of the team, each to swim 30 yards back stroke, using arms and legs.

(d) Each member of the team to carry a subject (who shall be member of the team) a distance of 18 yards; one shall use the first, one the second, one the third and one the fourth method of rescue as directed in the Handbook of Instruction of the Royal Life Saving Society.

4. The test shall take place in open still water, or in a bath, over a course of 18 yards long, measured in a straight line at right angles to the starting point. The distance to be marked with a rope, to be fixed not more than one foot above the surface, which each competitor must touch when finishing.

5. For the breast stroke, free style, and the rescue tests, the competitors shall start with a dive, and for back strokes they shall start when in the water.

When swimming the breast stroke:

(a) Both hands must be pushed forward at the same time and brought back simultaneously;

(b) The body must be kept perfectly on the breast and both shoulders in line with the surface of the water.

(c) When touching the turn, or finishing the course, the touch shall be made with the hand.

5. For the back stroke:

(a) The competitor shall take up his position in the water facing the starting end with both hands touching the end of the course;

(b) At the word "go" he shall push off and swim upon his back throughout the test;

(c) When turning he must touch the end of the course with the hand.

6. No competitor shall swim twice over the distance mentioned in Condition 3, Clauses A and B; or perform more than one rescue method.

7. The test for the rescue methods shall be conducted as follows:

The subject shall take up his position at the rope or end of the course with his back to rescuer, in an upright position and clear of the bottom.

The rescuer shall start at the word "go," swim (any stroke) to, and tow the subject back to the starting point.

The time test shall commence at the word "go" given to the rescuer, and finish on the rescuer touching the starting point, which may be a starting platform, wall, or rail of the bath.

In the event of a subject assisting a rescue, the team either be disqualified or penalized ten seconds for each assistance at the discretion of the judges.

8. A time-keeper, who shall also act as judge with one other, shall be appointed by the local association. He shall enter the names of the competitors and the time for each test performed by each competitor upon an official form, which will be supplied, and forward same to Boy Scout Headquarters, Toronto, within three days after the test has been completed. He shall also fill in on form his opinion of the style of the contestants when carrying out the tests. The Scoutmaster, or Secretary of district, shall make all arrangements as to dates, time and place of test, and communicate with the Secretary at Headquarters, giving date of same.

The cup will be awarded to the team whose aggregate time is the lowest, such award to be made by the Executive Committee of the Boy Scouts' Association for Ontario with an Advisory Board for the Ontario Executive of the Royal Life Saving Society.

Cut this out Scouts.

Boy Scout Notes and Sir Robert Baden-Powell's Visit.

During the remainder of this week, Merrill & Meredith, the Boy Scouts' official outfitters for Peterborough, will have in their window the photo taken of Sir Robert Baden-Powell reviewing the Scouts at Toronto on May 27. This photo is 5 feet long and 9½ inches wide. It was brought to Peterborough to show the parents of the boys who went up and represented this city. If anybody wants one they should get in touch with the Local Council Secretary.

This is one way of advertising the city of Peterborough, and it is up to the people and Council to help the future generation.

Toronto Headquarters said: "Will you please convey to the officers and boys who attended the rally from Peterborough the congratulations of the Provincial Council upon their neatness and the manner in which they played the game as true Scouts?"

The holidays are nearly over, and the boys will soon be down to business again.

The troops who have entered for the swimming competition are asked to remember it will take place some time this month, so be prepared.

All troops meet on their respective nights.

Scout Secretary.

Alkali In Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is left so soft and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

CLINTON SUGGESTS FILTRATION PLANT

DISTRICT OFFICER OF HEALTH SAYS PRECAUTIONS ARE TAKEN TO KEEP WATER PURE.

Dr. Clinton, district officer of health, informed the Board of Health last night that every precaution was being taken to keep the source of ePerboro's water supply pure. He has just returned from a visi through the Kawartha Lakes district, and has advised the Stoney Lake Cottagers Association that they should provide a proper scavenging system.

"But despite our efforts we can never feel absolutely safe without filtration, and it is possible that there might even then be traces of impurities." Dr. Clinton said. "I hope Peterboro will soon go ahaed with the filtration plant that has been mentioned."

Mayor Duncan explained that the Utilities Committee were handling this problem and would probably under take the construction work next year.

Sanitary Inspector Stapleton called attention to the presence of campers on the river just above he Water works dam.

Dr. Clinton remarked that they might contaminate the water, and advised action by the local health authorities if they deemed it necessary. There was no question of authority. The act, it was stated, gives the Health department the wides latitude and powers.

MR. BARBER SENDS ANOTHER ENGINEER

PROGRESS OF THE BRIDGE WAS CROWDING MR. F. CHRISTIE.

The Russell Townsend companys progress on the east side of the river has been so steady and rapid that the construction of the approach to the bridge is scarcely one lap behind the work laid out by Mr. Fred Christie of Mr. Frank Barber's department. In order that there should be no avoidable delay Mayor Duncan instructed Assistant City Clerk Curtis to telephone to Mr. Barber yesterday afternoon requesting him to send an assistant for Mr. Christie. This second engineer is expected o arrive in Peterboro to-night.

Dangerous Impurities — IN — Raw Cows' Milk

Inspecting milk from the bottom of the bottle, and observing every precaution to prevent dust and dirt from getting into the milk, won't do. That's not enough.

To protect yourself from unsanitary Raw Milk, the only safeguard is the use of milk that you know has been CLARIFIED and PASTEURIZED.

This Process removes from milk the finest particles of foreign matter — particles that are so fine that they will get by any strainer or filter — and such dangerous impurities as are shed from the inner side of the cow's udder, as well as all impurities from unhealthy cows.

VIOLA DANA TO BE SEEN IN "FALSE EVIDENCE"

Metro Play, Written by Mary E. Wilkins, to be Feature at the Grand theatre, Thursday Friday and Saturday

"False Evidence," from the pen of the distinguished authoress, Mary E. Wilkens, and in which Viola Dana is starred, will show Miss Dana in a role rich of heart appeal and rare in humor.

She is seen as Madelon, a girl of the west, who lives in a remote village, amidst the towering redwoods, where it is the primitive custom for parents to betroth their daughters at birth. As Madelon grows to beautiful womanhood, the promised bride of Lot Gordon, she finds that she has no love for him but loves instead his cousin, Burr. Being a high-spirited and passionate girl she upsets the traditions of her race and refuss to marry Lot.

An unfortunate incident occurs which casts the suspicion of a terrible crime on Burr. Lot alone can clear his name and this he refuses to do unless Madelon consents to marry him. To save her lover's life she [illegible] for her wedding grows near, she resigns herself to her unhappy fate. At the last moment, as she has given up all hope of a release from her hateful promise an incident happens which changes the whole situation and gives her the freedom for which she has longed. The romance ends in her happy marriage with Burr.

The clever cast of players supporting Miss Dana includes Wheeler Oakman, Joe King, Edward J. Connelly, Pat O'Malley, Peggy Pearce and Virginia Ross. The production was made under the direction of Edwin Carede.

SOLF MAY COME TO UNITED STATES

BERLIN, Aug. 13—Dr. W. S. Solf, former Foreign Secretary, was being mentioned to-day for the post of German Ambassador to the United States. Dr. Solf was Foreign Secretary in Ebert's first cabinet. He is among the Liberal leaders of Germany, but strongly opposed to Bolshevik doctrines. He also is known as a pacifist.

Skin Without Wrinkles Now Easy to Have

There's no excuse for any woman having wrinkles now. It has been found that a simple mixture of saxolite and witch hazel has a remarkable action upon the deepest wrinkles, no matter what their nature, whether caused by weather, worry, habitual frowning, a debilitated condition or the ravages of Father Time. This harmless remedy, which anyone can easily make and use at home, acts both as an astringent and a tonic. The combined effect of tightening the skin and heightening its vitality is to immediately affect every line and wrinkle, keeping the cuticle smooth and firm as in youth.

The proportions are one ounce saxolite (powdered) to one-half pint witch hazel, ingredients which are found in every drugstore. The solution should be used effective in disposing of flabbiness of cheek and neck, as well as sagging below the eyes.

That words are little things, but they strike hard. We utter them so easily that we are apt to forget their hidden power. Fitly spoken, they act like sunshine.

EXAMINER PATTERN SERVICE

A PRETTY STYLE FOR SLENDER FIGURES.

2803—Shantung, serge, voile, duvetyn, gabardine, or taffeta would be nice for this model. The tunic may be omitted. The sleeve may be finished in wrist or elbow length. Width of skirt at lower edge is about 1 1-2 yards.

The Pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 16, 18, and 20 years. Size 18 will require 4 1-4 yards of 40 inch material. Navy blue serge with braid trimming, or brown gabardine, with trimming of sand colour satin, would develop this style effectively.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

Address— Examiner Pattern Service, Examiner Office, Peterborough.

SYMPTOMS THAT TELL OF BILIOUSNESS

HOW TO PREVENT AND CURE

Are you dizzy?

Does your head swim?

Does everything turn dark when you rise after stooping?

Are you constantly suffering from headache?

Are you short of breath after going upstairs

Is your tongue coated and furred?

These symptoms give warning that your system needs a thorough cleansing—all poisons must be flushed out. The remedy is Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Marked benefit immediately follows their use.

These famous pills loosen the bowels and stop constipation; they act on the liver and kidneys, make them strong and vigorous.

This ensures health and purity for the blood and consequently the whole system benefits.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Said

"After all, what a man does with his money is to invest, and there is no better way to invest it than in Life Insurance."

As an ESTATE BUILDER there is nothing to equal Life Insurance.

TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTUAL RESULT

A young man, sixteen years of age, took out a 15-year Endowment (No. 210380) in the Sun Life of Canada, which matured on the first of April. This young man paid annually $66.30 for fifteen years, and he has now, through that investment, an immediate estate of $3,495.00 in case of death.

DO YOU KNOW THAT THIS AMOUNTS TO ALMOST 15% COMPOUND INTEREST ON EVERY DOLLAR HE PAID?

No wonder Sir Wilfrid said (and he might have added, No better place than the Sun Life of Canada), "There is no better way to invest it than in LIFE INSURANCE."

AND THE SUN LIFE OF CANADA GIVES THIS RESULT.

MATTEHWS-BLACKWELL WON THE FIRST GAME OF THE SERIES

SCORE WAS 10-7 IN FAVOUR OF THE PACKERS--LINDSAY PUT UP A GOOD GAME.

In the first game of the Ontario Amateur Championship series at Lindsay last night the Matthews-Blackwell team came out the victors over the Lindsay Greys by the score of 10 to 7. The Packers started off with a rush and piled up ten runs in four innings, but when McIlroy took the mound for Lindsay in the fifth the aspect of things changed, and the Packers succeeded in getting only one scratch hit in the remaining five innings, McElroy having eleven strike-outs to his credit.

In the first part of the game there was some heavy slugging on the part of the Matthews aggregation, Lowe, Corin and Coursey all making three-baggers. In the field, however, they were not so strong, though Corrin on first and Lefave behind the bat both put up a good game, as did Shaughnessy in left field, who made two spectacular throws.

Return Game.

The return game will be played here Thursday evening, with McIlroy on the mound for Lindsay.

The Matthews' line-up for last night follows: Adams c.s. Lowe 2b, Holyman 3b., Corrin 1b., Shaughnessy l.f., Coursey r.f. Lefave c., Frost p.

Score by innings:

Matthews . . . . . 302300000—10
Lindsay. . . . . 210000022— 7

Batteries:— Matthews, Frost and Lefavé; Lindsay, Hill, McIlroy and Logan.

Umpires—A. C. Kay, Dick Butler.

MYSTERY CLOCK A GIFT.

"Poor Richard's" Curious Timepiece Presented to Franklin Institute.

The Franklin "Mystery Clock," built in 1770 and still a good timepiece, has been presented to Franklin Institute by Mrs. George C. Thomas, Jun., says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

The clock has its one remaining hand fastened to the centre of a transparent disc of glass. There are no springs, wheels or mechanism behind the disc. No mechanism is connected from the edge of the glass to the hand.

A careful examination of the clock as it stands on the desk of Robert B. Owens, secretary of Franklin Institute, fails to show anything but one block hand apparently poised in the centre of a piece of transparent glass.

The dial of the clock is in turn poised on the top of a transparent glass tube, and fails to show any hidden wires or mechanism that might reach the dial of the clock. The entire contrivance stands on an ornamental base.

And how does the clock run?

Mr. Owens explained: "The base of the clock contains the spring and the clock mechanism. The power from the spring is transmitted to a hollow glass tube inserted in the tube on which the dial rests. The inner tube does not show to the naked eye. In a picture however, the camera catches the outlines of it.

"This inner tube is connected with a power shaft hidden within the ornamental bracket, holding the dial. On the end of the shaft, touching the dial, is a worm which fits into cogs in the edge of the glass dial. The cogs are hidden by the metal edging. The clock face is really two glass discs, one superimposed on the other. The disc having the clock numerals remains stationary, while the one with cogs revolves and carries the hand with it."

Mrs. Thomas, in a letter which accompanies the clock, states that it was presented to Franklin while he was American Ambassador to France. It was built by an eccentric clock maker in 1770. For twenty years, it was exhibited at the American Institute in New York and a prize of $50 was offered to any one who could solve the mystery of the clock without taking it apart.

THE EPIDEMIC LIKELY TO RETURN

WHAT IT COST THE INSURANCE COMPANIES LAST YEAR.

The following item of news appeared in Canadian and American papers on their issue of Friday, July 25th. One of the best preventatives of the 'flu' is the use of Pyrolne, which is on sale exclusively at the drug store of the Warne Drug Company, Limited, of this city:

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, July 25.—A recurrence of the epidemic of influenza, which cost nearly half a million lives in the United States last fall, was predicted to-day by insurance experts.

Edward Kepf, of the Statistical Bureau, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, stated that the epidemic had cost the life insurance companies in the United States from $90,000,000 to $100,000,000, while the Bureau of War Risk insurance in Washington paid out about $180,000,000 to beneficiaries of influenza victims.

A SKETCH OF M. MILLERAND

New Governor-General of Alsace-Lorraine was once an Enemy of Clemenceau.

Many of the characteristics of Georges Clemenceau are said to enter into the "human equation" of Alexandre Millerand, the former Minister of War, whom the French Government has put at the head of affairs in Alsace and Lorraine. Like Clemenceau he is a man of combined newspaper and political experience, with quite strong convictions as to the first duty of a war minister being to prepare for war. A promise made by his predecessor to restore Col. Paty du Clem to the army, and kept by Millerand because he held himself compelled to respect it whatever might be the popular disapproval, led to his resignation from the War Ministry to which he returned after Germany has begun her invasion. To his new position in Alsace-Lorraine, Millerand takes also the experience of a man who has served France as Minister of Commerce and Minister of Public Works. The two were old friends who had become antagonized and the attempt to assassinate Clemenceau happily reconciled them.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Mt. Brydges, 8th Aug., 1919.

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—The best political news that has come to me for a long time is the announcement that has reached me here on the farm that Mackenzie King is now our new Liberal Leader. This is a man surely that we can all rally around, and his election to the leadership of the party means the infusion of a new life into it. The highest and best traditions of Liberalism will be carried on under the new leadership, and Liberal principles have found a great exponent. I am acquainted with Mr. King personally, and know him to be a great student of public questions and political science, an orator of very first rank with few equals in the country, and a man of the very highest character and honour.—Yours truly,

Joseph Wearing.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—The time is approaching when we must take a firm stand regarding a great question. Let us write across our campaign flag these words: "Is God a prohibitionist? or do I know better?" There is only one sure guide.

J. H. BURNHAM.

Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — If there are any rules as regards those auto-coasters on sidewalks, I wish that you would publish them. A family here got a new one last week and they are a perfect nuisance to the other neighbors, monopolizing the other streets, coasting past your door every ten minutes in the day, even on Sunday.

I am the mother of a large family myself, have a nervous baby eight weeks old, and am nervous myself, and it is impossible to have any rest through the day.

I have requested them to desist on acount of the baby, but they only persist in it worse than ever. It is impossible for me to keep the baby in the front part of the house where it should be.

You need not publish this as a letter you know, but you can perhaps make a few comments on the subject that will possibly do good. Yours truly,

Mother.

Ed. Note—This is a time worn nuisance and one that the police make an effort to stop. You can take out an injunction to restrain your neighbors from disturbing the peace and committing a public nuisance.—

THE PRINCE AND THE BAR.

Some time ago I stated that the Prince of Wales was shortly to be called to the Bar and admitted as a Bachelor of the Middle Temple. His Royal Highness has just indicated that it will be convenient for him to visit the Middle Temple for this ceremony in the early part of July, and that so soon as he returns from his present tour in Cornwall and Devonshire he will affix a definite date. His Royal Highness will be received in the historic old hall of the Middle Temple by the Benchers and members of the Inn, and an address of welcome will be read to him by the Treasurer, Lord Coleridge. A guard of honour of the Inn of Court Officers Training Corps (the "Devil's Own") will be mounted outside the hall, and the Prince will inspect this prior to the ceremony taking place. The procedure to be followed on this occasion will be very similar to that observed when the late King Edward became a Bencher of the Middle Temple in 1861. When he was an undergraduate at Oxford the Prince of Wales took a special course in Constitutional Law, so that he is not entirely without qualifications for his new dignity.

Cornstarch applied on white faces and brushed out after a day or two will clean them.

"HARD BOILED" SMITH DEFENDED BY GRINSTEAD

PHOENIX, Ariz.,—Further defence of Lieutenant Frank H. ("Hard Boiled") Smith in his conduct of prison farm No. 2 at Challes, France and assertions that large numbers of American army desertions made necessary drastic action, were contained in a foral statement made public to-day by Colonel Edgar P. Grinstead, mentioned in testimony Tuesday before the Congressional committee in New York as one of the men responsible for alleged prison cruelties in the American Expeditionary Forces.

Colonel Grinstead said:—

"Everybody that was a soldier in France knew that thousands of our men were running away from the front lines and that had the war continued many executions would have been necessary before these desertions could have been stopped."

He characterized as "absurd" intimations that he had made a scapegoat of Lieutenant Smith or had been a party to such action. "I don't believe, and never did believe, that Lieutenant Smith did anything but his duty at farm No. 2" he said.

Anyway the man who boasts of his ability as a liar isn't a hypocrite.

A young man seldom discovers he is in love until the girl in the case puts him next.

No man's life is one grand, sweet song if he is married to a woman who only thinks she can sing.

DR M'PHERSON ADVISES VACCINATION

Because of the prevalence of smallpox in Peterborough City and parts of the County, and more or less generally throughout the Province, Dr. McPherson, Medical Officer of Health, suggested at the Board of Health meeting last night that children should be vaccinated before the reopening of the schools in September.

Dr. McPherson stated that he proposed this precaution in the interests of the children and their families. There was nothing compulsory about it. Nor is there any epidemic of the disease in the district. Cases are reported from all parts of the Province.

VISITOR DEVELOPS SMALLPOX, IS HOLIDAYING AT ISOLATION HOSPITAL

ONLY ONE PATIENT AT THE QUEEN MARY HOSPITAL, BUT TWO HOUSES WERE PLACARDED FOR FOR SMALLPOX.

The appointment of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reed as caretaker and cook respectively at the Isolation Hospital at a salary of $650 a year was confirmed by the Board of Health last night.

"Our aim should be to try to get these men moved out from the centre of the city if possible", Dr. McPherson said.

He and the Sanitary Inspector were instructed to examine Roth's present building on Stewart street north, and to recommend whether or not he should be permitted to use it.

Two Smallpox Placards.

Two dwellings were recently quarantined for smallpox, Dr. McPherson reported. In the one cast the family were all down with the disease and were not removed to the hospital In th other, the patient was a visitor who is now at the Queen Mary Hospital while the house is placarded until it is determined whether any members of the family have contracted it

SALVAGING THE WHEAT

MOST OF THE 400,000 BUSHELS OF WHEAT AT PORT COLBORNE WILL BE SAVED.

WILL BE DIVERTED

(Special to The Examiner.)

PORT COLBORNE, Aug. 14. — That the bulk of the four hundred thousand bushels of grain in the Federal Government elevator, which was wrecked by an explosion on Saturday, will be saved, is the prediction made by the elevator authorities. Salvage operations have been started due to the quick action of W. F. Fawcett, superintendent of the elevator and his staff in swiftly evolving plans, the bulk of the wheat will be saved. There will be some loss, but it will be small, and the hope is expressed that it will all be saved. Salvage operations are in full swing to-day. It is stated that ninety per cent. of the grain is American owned. The United States' Grain Corporation, which is the United States' Government, are the owners.

The wheat will be shipped to Montreal by the Wheat Export Board, who handle American wheat through Canadian ports for the seaboard. The forty thousand bushels of wheat on the barge Quebec, now under water, is said to be a total loss and cannot be saved, as it is too soft after lying under water five days. It has been dumped overboard, as it cannot be even utilized for chicken feed. Although the destruction of the elevator is chaarcterized by grain men as an additional catastrophe, every effort is being made to keep the grain moving. The Maple Leaf Milling Plant are unloading boats as fast as their plant can handle it, which is three times as slow as the Federal elevator. The steamer "Westmount" with four hundred and twenty thousand bushels, unloaded in three days and cleared yesterday. The "Home Smith" is at the Maple Leaf elevators with two hundred and thirty thousand bushels, and started unloading last night. The "Martin" with two hundred thousand bushels, is waiting to be unloaded and the "Ogawa" with two hundred thousand bushels is due to-morrow. Most of the wheat is regulated by the Wheat Export Board, and when these boats are emptied most of the wheat will be diverted and sent through a Georgian Bay port and thence by rail to the sea.

MANY PRAISE OFFER OF NEW DICTIONARY

Language Guide Should Keep Apace With Flow of Added Words

Distributing a new dictionary has brought this paper many complimentary remarks. One subscriber who presented coupons yesterday for a half dozen dictionaries for different employes and members of his family, said he deemed it necessary that a dictionary should progress with the language just as a newspaper does. The world moves rapidly these days, and only the New Universities is apace with to-day's growth of the language.

While readers are eager for the book on account of its being authoritative and complete, its absolute newness appeals to thousands. It has been many a long year since an actually new dictionary was given to the public. The New Universities Dictionary is new in all the word implies—new in contents, new in type, new in arrangements of helps to word study. Particularly is it new in making the study of to-day's English easy for young people who are situated that they cannot attend schools and obtain individual instruction. Unaided, a young man or woman, employed may learn the correct use of the English of modern bdusiness and society, if they but follow the directions of the great university teachers whose articles on "Standard English," "Practical Syntax," (which means: How to Make Good Sentences), "Punctuation," and "Etymology" appear, plainly written in simple English in this book.

SAD DROWNING AT CROWE'S LANDING

TORONTO GIRL LOST HER LIFE—FELL OUT OF SKIFF.

A sad drowning accident took place last evening at Crowe's Landing when Gertrude Sparks, who was employed at the cottage of Mr. H. J. Hamilton, of Toronto, lost her life by drowning. A launch containing Mr. Hamilton and family, was disabled a short distance from the shore, and it was in an attempt to get out in a skiff and render assistance that the girl lost her life. It is thought that she fell into the water while getting into the skiff. The launch drifted behind an island out of sight of the girl, so the accident was not witnessed by the party. It was some time before the girl was missed and the body was not recovered until two hours later.

The deceased had been in the employ of the Hamilton family for the past five years. She was 22 years of age, and had no relatives in this country. Mr. Hamilton's cottage is located north east of Crowe's Landing.

WILL NOT CARRY HATS AND CAPS

In future, the well known fur store of W. E. Lech, 366 George street, near the corner of Simcoe, will no longer carry men's hats or caps, on account of the excessive prices demanded by the makers.

As will be seen by reference to another page, a speedy clearance of present stocks is announced. Greater attention is to be given to furs and children's headwear, and extra room is required for this purpose. A decisive mark-down in all hats and caps now in stock has been made to expedite a speedy clearance. The reliable quality and high grade character of W. E. Lech's hats has been well known by gentlemen for years, so that this event affords a special opportunity for hat buying.

MISS CAROLINE LITTLEFIELD PRESENTED WITH A BOUQUET OF ROSES WILL ACCEPT POSITION IN QUEBEC.

THE RACES

About 30 of Miss Caroline Littlefield's mermaids gave a splendid exhibition of swimming and life saving last evening at the Y.W.C.A. swimming pool and the entertainment was attended by over one hundred interested spectators. The work of the girls was a warm tribute to the ability of Miss Littlefield as an instructress and to such an extent that the spectators could scarcely credit the fact that some of the girls were practically beginners. This was especially true in the case of two little girls, Mary Denne aged 8 years and Molly Wood aged 6 years who after only a few week's instruction last evening dived into the pool swam across and returned swimming on their backs.

The Races

In the races the winners were:
40 foot race on back (junior)—Dorothy Graham.
Egg and Spoon race—Annie Lawrence.
40 foot relay race, captains,—Alice Sanderson.
Cork race—Edna Woods.

At the conclusion of the races the life saving class gave an interesting exhibition performing really wonderfully in the face float, drift on back, plunge, long plunge, drift on face, first method of release and rescue, second method of release and rescue and fourth method of release and rescue, (for tired swimmers), surface dive for 5 pound object and diving from board for heavy object, and lastly an exhibition of straight diving.

Special Exhibition.

Miss Jessie Cressman and Miss Phyllis Young gave a pretty exhibition of fancy diving which was watched with the keenest interest by the spectators. The programme was concluded by a game of leap frog played by the life savers greatly to the amusement of all present. During the exhibition Miss Mabel Penrose sang two much enjoyed solos.

Presented Bouquet

A pretty feature of the exhibition was a presentation of a bouquet of a sheaf of American Beauties to Miss Littlefield from the Life Saving class. The presentation was made in a very novel and appropriate manner, the bouquet tied to a life bouy was set afloat at one end of the pool and Miss Littlefield was handed a string which was attached to the life buoy and with which she pulled the gift to the end of the pool at which she was standing.

Miss Littlefield Leaving

It was sincelely regretted that last evening's exhibition was the last in which Miss Littlefield will participate in the city as she leaves in September for Quebec city, where she has accepted a splendid position. During her four years spent as physical directress at the Y.W.C.A her splendid work in the institution has been thoroughly appreciated by the entire city.

ANDREW CARNEGIE WAS BURIED TO-DAY

SERVICE WAS SIMPLE YET IMPRESSIVE—LAST RESTING PLACE OF STEEL KING

(United Press.)

LENOX, Mass., Aug. 14.— The body of Andrew Carnegie passed through the Berkshire Hills, beloved so well, for the last time to-day.

Banked high with choice floral tributes, his coffin was borne over the mountains of Massachusettes and into the hillside where a special train of one car was waiting to bear it to Sleepy Hollow, a short distance from Tarrytown, N.Y.

Mr. Carnegie's funeral was simple yet impressive. There were hardly forty mourners present at Shadow Brook when Rev. Dr. Wm. Pierson Merrill, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church, New York, began the service.

Charles M. Schwab, head of one of the greatest steel corporations in the world, was one of the chief mourners present, and was unusually affected. Shortly after the services ended Schwab said: "We were the closest friends and I can hardly believe he has gone on." Mrs. Carnegie will not return to Shadow Brook, it was said at the Carnegie residence, but will go to New York City after the burial at Sleepy Hollow, Andrew Carnegie's last resting place.

THE GUARDS WILL VISIT PETERBORO

FAMOUS BAND WILL PLAY HERE ON THE EVENING OF AUGUST 22ND.

As a result of the concerts at Liverpool, Peterboro music lovers will have an opportunity of listening to the Band of the Grenadier Guards. The Guards, who by the consent of His Majesty King George, were engaged to play at the Canadian National Exhibition this year, arranged to sail from England August 20th. Labor troubles intervened, however, they were compelled to leave much earlier, and as a result arrangements have been made whereby they will be able to give a special concert at Grand Opera House on Friday evening, August 22nd, before being heard in Toronto.

The Guards Band is the most famous of all British musical organizations and their services have been in great demand for the victory celebrations all over England and the allied countries. They have a splendid war record, having spent a whole year in France in the thickest of the fray, frequently leading the brigade of Guards into the battle area; at other times giving their best to lighten the burden of the men doing the actual fighting. The Guards will be led by Lieut. Dr. Williams, senior Bandmaster of the Brigade of Guards Bands, who was also the conductor when they made their last visit to Canada in 1910.

CHAOS FOLLOWS THE GREAT STRIKE

West African Railway Men Were Refused War Bonus.

FREETOWN, Sierra Leone, Aug. 14.—Subordinates on the Government railway here have gone out on strike because they were refused the war bonus, which was granted to the officers and the higher grades of employees. Sabotage followed and the natives in and about Freetown raided every Syrian store within their reach and looted promiscuously. It was alleged that the Syrian traders had hoarded rice for months, only doleing it out when there was a shortage in Freetown and exorbitant prices could be demanded.

Troops were called in from Wilberforce, but arrived too late to save the stores, though hundreds of rioters were arrested. The disturbances continued in Freetown and more prisoners were taken. It was, however, a case of Greek meeting Greek when the men of a West African regiment came on the scene and the proposed peace celebration took the form of a miniature battle under medieval conditions. Troops are still performing police duty in the town.

OTONABEE FARMER GETS $131.60 FOR 700 LBS. PIG

For just one pig, not a drove or full grown litter of them, Robert Scully of Otonabee, received $131.60 this morning. A four year old sow, it tipped the beam on the market scales at 700 pounds, and before the weighing operations some one suggested to Market Clerk Fisher that he ought to prop up the platform. The price paid to Mr. Scully was 18¾c a hundred pounds.

"Isn't that a whopping price?" said a retired farmer. "I guess you get less than that for ten pigs and they were all two and three hundred pounders."

HOUSE OF COMMONS PASSED A BILL AGAINST PROFITEERING THIS MORNING

FOOD HOGS AND OTHERS WILL BE TAKEN OFF BY NEW LEGISLATION —WOMEN INCLUDED ON COSTS BOARD.

CAN FIX PRICES

(United Press.)

LONDON, Aug 14.—Great Britain dealt a body blow to prospective profiteers at dawn to-day when, sitting as a Committee of the Whole since four o'clock yesterday afternoon, the House of Commons passed the bill against profiteering. The bill was passed at 8.47 o'clock.

The bill included several amendments. One provides for the prosecution of directors of corporations, with a penalty of three months' imprisonment and a fine of one thousand dollars. Another, aiming at combines, empowers the Board of Trade to make investigations at any time and fix maximum prices. The amendments also provide for the establishment of a Central Costs Department, and the admittance of women to membership in the local costs tribunal.

Labourites jeered and laughed when an amendment was adopted providing that the bill be applicable only to profiteering after the bill becomes law. Lord Robert Cecil, former Minister of War Trade and Sir Donald MacLean, a Liberal, joined in the attack, declaring the amendment left the profiteers in possession of enormous profits they had made since the armistice.

"GOMPERS IS TOO CONSERVATIVE"

(United Press.)

PARIS, August 14.—American labour is too conservative, in the view of European workers. Speaking of Samuel Gompers, the president of the American Federation of Labour, Joan Longuet, French Deputy, and the Pan-European Labour Leader, said to-day: "Gompers is too conservative. We are unable to reach common grounds for action. I find him entirely out of sympathy with our cause."

The wide gulf separating the ideas, aims, plans, and methods of American and European labour, so clearly emphasised at the recent International Conference in Amsterdam, has been even more clearly demonstrated since Gompers came to Paris. He and the French Labourites cannot attain a common viewpoint.

Gompers was here conferring with members of the American Peace Commission as well as the French Labourites.

REVERSES FOR THE ENTENTE FORCES

BRIGHTER NEWS RECEIVED FROM SOUTH RUSSIA—MUNITION ON WAY.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The retreat in the Ural Mountains of the forces of Admiral Kalchak continues, according to news received here to-day.

South of Uralsk, at the southern end of the Urals, it is added, the Bolsheviki have driven the Cossacks back sixty miles, and are endeavouring to separate them from the main body of the Kalchak forces.

The Associated Press is informed, however, that the general position of Admiral Kalchak and his government is not believed to be materially weakened by the Bolshevik advance, and barring the unexpected collapse of Admiral Kalchak, the munitions being sent should arrive in Siberia in time to aid in his recovery.

Nevertheless, it is admitted here that the reverses suffered by Admiral Kalchak are a serious blow to the policy of the Entente in Russia.

Better news has been received from South Russia, where General Petlura, the Ukrainian anti-Bolsheviki leader, is progressing rapidly toward Kiev with a view to cutting the railways southward towards Odessa, which probably will have to be evacuated by the Soviet forces.

The Russian volunteer troops, under General Denekine, are closing in on Odessa from the north-east and the east, and it is believed that the whole Black Sea coast will soon be out of Bolshevik hands.

NEW LIBERAL LEADER THINKS IT WISE TO SEEK ONTARIO RIDING.

OTTAWA, Aug. 14.—Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, recently elected Leader of the Liberal party, will seek election in the vacant constituency of Glengarry and Stormont, according to statements in authoritative circles here. It has been rumored that he might seek entry to the Commons through Quebec East, represented prior to his death by the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier, but it is generally felt that this would not be politically wise or judicious on his part.

Traditional Liberal Seat.

Glengarry electors are very largely of Highland Scotch and French-Canadian stock. Mr. King is of the former ancestry and his running in Glengarry would, no doubt, be popular. The seat is traditionally Liberal, while Stormont, tacked on to it through the last redistribution, is good fighting ground.

It has been stated that a farmer candidate would be in the fight in Glengarry. This would present some difficulty inasmuch as it would not be an auspicious thing for Mr. King to open his career as Liberal Leader in opposition to the farmers' organization. The same, however, would be true of North Ontario or Assiniboia.

WILSON TO STICK TO DAYLIGHT SAVING

CANADA WILL HAVE TO FOLLOW SUIT—WILL VETO BILL.

WASHINGTON, August 14. President Wilson will veto the new daylight saving repeal bill, it was stated authoritatively here.

This will make it necessary, if daylight saving is to be abandoned, for the House and the Senate to pass the measure over the President's veto by a two-thirds majority.

It is regarded as very doubtful if this can be done, since his veto of the daylight saving repeal, which was included in the Agricultural Appropriation Bill, was sustained when the second vote was taken in the House of Representatives.

OTTAWA, Aug. 14. — The continuance of daylight-saving in Canada depends largely upon the action in the United States because of the necessity of having [illegible] our cables.

If the repeal bill at Washington is passed and the time stands Canada will still have daylight-saving.

THE POULTRYMEN HELD MEETING

RECORDS OF PERFORMANCE FOR POULTRY AS WELL AS CATTLE.

At the regular meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association last night, there was a very good exhibition of chickens, Buff Leghorns, White Wyandottes, and Rhode Island Reds brought by Mr. Meagher, and Judge Abbott picked out the best ones, which will probably be seen again next month at the Peterborough exhibition.

A letter was read from Mr. Barnes, Ontario's representative of the National Poultry Council, announcing that the Government had sanctioned the plans for laying tents and contests and for the establishment of Records of Performance for poultry similar to those for dairy cattle.

Poultrymen who have the facilities for trapnesting, and who satisfy the demands of the Government inspectors, may have birds registered, and will thus secure the benefits of their extra work and attention.

The secretary of the local association expects to receive a number of entry forms soon, and will be glad to furnish them to anybody desiring to make an entry. Any further information relative to the rules and regulations, date of making entry, etc., may be obtained from R. Tudhope, secretary, Peterborough Poultry Association, 560 Homewood Avenue.

CASE WENT TO JURY TO-DAY

(Canadian Press.)

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Aug. 14.—The jury, which for three months has been hearing testimony and arguments in Henry Ford's $1,000,000 libel suit against the Chicago Daily Tribune, retired to-day to consider its verdict. Judge Tucker instructed the jury that "the right of fair comment" is expected in the case of Mr. Ford because his position as a great employer of labour and entry as propagandist into the discussion of preparedness question made him a public character. The judge held that a newspaper has no greater privileges in making comment than has an individual.

'FOOLISHNESS'—D. F. HANNA.

Head of C.N.R. Condemns Controller Maguire's Statements.

TORONTO, Aug. 14.— President D. B. Hanna, of the Canadian National Railways, emphatically condemned the action of Acting Mayor Maguire in attempting to place the blame for the recent accident in Riverdale Park on the C.N.R.

When seen here Mr. Hanna said: "Acting Mayor Maguire is talking foolishness. The accident did not happen on our tracks at all. It happened on the C.P.R. tracks, and it was the crowd in front of the aged Bell couple that obscured the vision of the approaching train.

THIRD DOSE RELIEF! FIFTH DOSE! DIARRHOEA STOPPED

Diarrhoea does not need to persist for any length of time until the whole system is weakened and debilitated. No other disease so quickly undermines the strength and brings about a condition of prostration and very often total collapse.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is the only prompt and effectual in checking the diarrhoea, but at the same time acts as a stimulant, strengthening the heart and braces up the whole system, and one of its principal points is that it does not leave the bowels in a constipated condition.

Mr. W. H. Arnold, Fort Qu-Appelle, Sask., writes: "A few years ago while out threshing I had a severe attack of diarrhoea. Nothing I took seemed to do me any good. I was getting worse all the time. Hearing that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry was good for diarrhoea I went into town and procured a bottle. / After the third dose I felt relief and after I had taken the fifth dose the diarrhoea had stopped. I always keep it in the house and would not be without it."

See that you get the original "Dr. Fowler's." It has been on the market for the past 74 years. Substitutes may endanger your health. Price 35c. Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

OLD TIMERS AT STONEY LAKE

By SAM HUNTER

In no two features perhaps has the summer outing changed so much as in the character of the "outer" himself, and that of the settler who once welcomed him to the north and ministered to his few wants while here. Forty years ago the gasoline launch had not yet made its appearance; cottages were few. The white tent of the camper showed in many an evergreen where to-day a modern bungalow stands. White "ducks" were unknown to civilization's centres. The one-piece bathing suit was unwhispered of, and had its counterpart only in the daring costume of Mlle De Risque who did the high tumbling in Old Dan Rice's circus Few women or children thought of braving the discomforts which were supposed to be the chief features of a life under canvas. Few old time citizens who still looked upon the feather bed as an institution had anything but contempt for a bed of cedar and balsam boughs or permitted themselves to think of the Annual Camper-out as anything but a species of half-wit or half Indian. The children and grandchildren of many of those well meaning people to-day have as little use for the "bed of boughs" or the simple life which went with it. But they have their summer "places," rival each other in fast launches, and revel in every "trick" costume which fashion assures them is the correct thing to go with the life. The old time camper, except in the north, will soon be as extinct as the wild pigeon Those funny little two hundred foot "place" of so many of those bungalow-owning people have elbowed him out of his old camping ground and he has gone farther "back" or in a gentle, resigned state of melancholy has taken to home golf or lawn bowling. A few go to Boyce's Landing. One or two still return here to the scene of their former joys, and near the mouth of a creek, or in some out-of-the-way bay, put up the old tent, and unpack the camp bacon and frying pan. The old settler has given place to a new settler, who pretty nearly settles you when you learn the price of his early vegetables and family services. He usually owns a motor-boat, tools, a Ford and has a couple of steel fishing rods in the place where Dad's old cedar pole used to lean. His girls have last year's Pittsburg or Cleveland mode of coiffure and small talk to a turn. The boys act as guides, whistle and sing the last awful products of New York song foundries, and are returned heroes from the war most of them. An altogether efficient and up-to-date family. But there is mightly little of what the artists are given to calling the "atmosphere and local color of the great out-of-doors" about them. Dad, or rather Grandad used to supply all one needed of it. But Grandad sleeps up beside the little stone hill-side meetin' house now or pads down to the landin' in the evenings to listen to to, but take little part in, the fish gossip, which the close of each day brings with the returning fishermen and their guides. But that evening down at the store they came together, two of these old-timers, the old Camper and the old Settler. They shook hands and assured each other that they hadn't met for twenty years. They were genuinely glad to see each other.

"Yes, just got here this evening, Billy," said the old Camper to the old Settler. "For the first time in twenty years and I don't like the looks of it. Too many cottages, too many doo dads and fancy fol-delrols and dressed-up folks. It wasn't that way thirty years ago when you an I used to catch twenty and thirty pound 'lunge in Gilchrist's Bay. My partner missed connection at Peterboro and he's got the camping kit with him. But I supppose you can put me up for the night at your place?"

Said the old Settler:

"I sartinly sure can, Sir. I'm doo to start home weth th' old punt and th' groceries anny minute now. An' ef we havn't a room in th' house for ye, th' hide aff th' big 'lunge we landed in 1885 'll sarve as a lean-to for th' night. It'll kape aff the doo annyway."

And two hours later as I was falling off to sleep I heard the creak and splash of an uplake punt going past. An age-worn tenor voice was uplifted to the stars in an age-worn song: "In Dear, Dead Days Beyond Recall" and Billy was trying to sing bass and steer a true course at one and the same time.

EXPERIENCES OF THE ENUMERATORS AROUND WARSAW

SOME OF THE WOMEN ARE A LITTLE "VOTE SHY."

WARSAW, Aug 13.—The enumerators for the referendum vote have about completed their work and have had some amusing experiences. Evee many people do not know that women have votes the same as men have. Others feared to give their names to the enumerators for fear it would mean something they did not know about.

The majority of peoplt gave their names quickly. One great trouble enumeraors, new at the job had, was to get the number of the lot and of the concession. Rarely could a woman give the number of the lot. She could generally give the concession, however.

The churchea last Sunday were very sparsely filled.

Football Game.

The Lakefield-Warsaw football game at Lakefield last Friday evening wa a tie 1-1. This was supposed to be the last game of the series.

Harvest Nearly Over.

The harvest is rapidly nearing completion. Much of the oats that have very short straw are quite heavily loaded, but a great deal of this barley is very poor.

War Memorial.

AIRMAN TO DROP MAIL ON LINER'S DECK.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The first attempt to deliver mails from an airplane to a steamer at sea will be made by the New York Post Office to-day. Two hours after the Adriatic sails for Southampton a seaplane will start from the foreign Post Office station on the North River with a bag of mail to be dropped on the liner's deck.

The mail will be carried in a waterproof non-sinkable bag. The 'plane will first fly low over the steamer and drop a line across its fore rigging. The bag of mail, attached to the other end of the line, will then be dropped. If the airman misses his target and the bag falls into the sea, it can be hauled on board ship.

GEN. VON FALKENHAYN WILL NOT SURRENDER

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—Gen. Von Falkenhayn, former German Chief of Staff, in announcing to the newspapers that he assumes responsibility for the decisions and commands of former Emperor William from September, 1914 to August 1916, declares he has no intention whatever of voluntarily placing himself at the disposal of the allies. The General's statement says that if he surrendered himself to the allies he would recognize a procedure which, he considers "mocks all sense of justice."

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle, sunburn and tan lotion, and complexion whitener, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of Orchard White for a few cents. It is harmless.

GERMAN DESERTERS TO GO.

7,000 Must Leave Holland, Amnesty Being Decreed at Home.

THE HAGUE.— According to the Vaderland, the German deserters, about 7,000 in all, who arrived in Holland during the war, will soon be obliged to leave the country.

The paper says that the reason for this is that Dutch laws provide that foreignehs can only be admitted on foreign passports, and the deserters had no passports, but enjoyed the right of asylum during the war, when deportation would have meant death, while now amnesty is declared by Germany.

The pro-German Vaderland makes no reference to the ex-Kaiser and the ex-Crown Prince, who also arrived in Holland without passports.

Germans are at present swarming into Holland. Of 20,000 requests monthly for the Dutch vise to enter the country, 75 per cent. are made by Germans. n spite of elaborate red tape, many undesirables manage to reach Holland with Bolshevist propaganda, of which the Netherlands live in fear and trembling.

ACTS FOR INSANE SOLDIERS.

Attorney-General Safeguarding Interests of 350 in State Hospitals.

ALBANY, Aug. 13.—There are 350 insane soldiers in the various New York State Hospitals, virtually all of whom suffered mental breakdown in France. Attorney-General Newton has undertaken to prepare applications to the Supreme Court for the appointment of committees to look after the property and money of the soldier-insane.

It was estimated that at least 1,000 New York soldiers will have been admitted to various insane asylums by the time demobilisation is completed. The Attorney-General said he would apply promptly for the appointment of committees for each insane soldier to ensure the absolute safety of his property.

GERMAN LABOUR FOR FRANCE

Workmen Will Rehabilitate Northern and Eastern Departments.

PARIS, Aug. 13.—Several commissioners, having to do with reconstruction and other work in connection with the German delegation, went to the Paris offices of the Eastern Railway to work out with the French Commissioners the railroad schedules for the transportation of a large number of German workmen.

The labourers will be assigned to rehabilitation operations in the Northern and Eastern Departments of France.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. ## A U. F. O. PLANK.

The reforestation plank in the newly planned platform of the United Farmers of Ontario should be appropriated by the old political parties of this Province. One of the causes contributing to the extremely high cost of lumber at the present time is the fact that in the spacious days of which Mr. F. H. Dobbin has written so interestingly the timber limits of this and other sections of Ontario were stripped of their timber without a thought of providing for the future. Fortunes were made out of the lumbering industry which flourished through all this Trent watershed. Forest that edged the lakes of all the Kawartha district a short distance above Peterboro were felled and floated away in great rafts and "drives" with but little enduring profit to this community and county. Only the stoutest and tallest trees were then cut down, for nature was lavish of her resources. Necessity later demanded more extensive culling and fires consumed the rest. Some of the land thus denuded of lumber is close to prohibitive prices, for the most part the "limits" were left with their blunted stumps.

This wilful waste has brought the almost woeful want of to-day, for lumber is close to prohibitive prices, partly due to conditions arising out of the war, it is true, but mostly because the forests are remote. Sufficient for each generation are the needs thereof, is one of man's reckless principles, and to-day we are paying toll to past extravagance and to the utter lack of that sense of stewardship that should inspire man to make this world better for the next generation than we received it. But the "masters of industry" who have free or easy access to the country's natural resources have ever made the most of their opportunities, thoughtless of the future. It is not too late to attempt a new ordering but it must be broader and more earnest than anything the Governments have thus far essayed. Perhaps the U. F. O. may get a chance to show the way.

FIRE PROTECTION FOR ASHBURNHAM.

In discussing the need of a temporary fire hall for Ashburnham until the Hunter street bridge is completed, the Fire Water and Light Committee suggested that the city might be well advised to take time by the forelock and erect a permanent sub-station. For this expansion they have the repeated recommendations of the Fire Underwriters' Association. Fire Chief Grange has also given warning that Peterboro has outgrown its department. He has at times proposed sub-stations in both the east and south wards. The Committee is therefore simply anticipating the demands of the immediate future in considering a permanent instead of a temporary building for Ashburnham.

In view of the fact that the Committee's plans are unformed it may be premature to criticize the suggestion made at a recent meeting that the building occupied by Spencer's pool room be purchased. The price mentioned was $5,000, and with a few alterations it would make a satisfactory fire hall, Chief Grange said. However, if temporary quarters for twelve or sixteen months are completed the expense involved seems unnecessary. And there are strong objections to it as a permanent substation.

In the first place it is located in the centre of the business section of Ashburnham, and is on the street leading directly to the bridge and almost shutting the eastern approach. Hunter street is the main highway from the city not only to the Lift Lock, but also to the residential districts extending north and south. The heavy traffic it has borne in the past is bound to be greatly increased with the development the new bridge is expected to promote. The Spencer building seems to be entirely too prominent and too valuable a site for a fire hall.

Besides, it is practically on the eastern boundary of Ashburnham. In choosing a location it should be remembered that there is a long run in Ashburnham and the Nicholls park district, and south of Hunter street there is a wide area that reaches to the Vermont Marble works. A more central site would therefore be on Concession street and perhaps as far north as the Douro street corner. Present plans for permanency should certainly consider the probable enlargement of the Auburn Woollen Mills.

If general alarms would be sounded under an extended service it is evident that when the bridge is completed the corner of Burnham and Hunter streets would only be a few minutes run from the main fire station. This is all the stronger reason for suggesting that Ald. Morrison's Committee look farther east if they intend to recommend a permanent sub-station. Some of these objections likewise apply to the use of the city's property at the corner of Mark and Hunter streets.

READY FOR ANY EMERGENCY

During the Liberal convention a proposition was made in the Quebec Committee room that the delegates from the Province should take no part in the nomination of a leader of the Liberal party. The reason was assigned that Quebec had been persistently maligned, and would continue to be maligned; that however the French-Canadians voted they would be accused of attempting to manage the convention for the purpose of furthering the sectional interests of Quebec and bringing about French domination. The motion was rejected by an overwhelming majority, and this was regarded as wise. The proposition looked as if Quebec were going off in the sulks, refusing to take part in the public life of Canada, and slanting toward secession.

But now it appears that the mover of the resolution was right at least in his opinion that the cry of Quebec domination would be raised no matter how Quebec voted. Mr. King is now said to have been the result of Quebec's determination, although less than half his votes came from that Province. But do you suppose the Quebec bogey would not have been raised if Mr. Fielding had been selected? It was actually raised in the expectation that Quebec would support Fielding. "It is considered significant," said the Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Telegram on August1st, "that the Fielding boom appears to have emanated from Quebec." Here was the reason:

"Some explanation of it may be found in a whisper that if the Liberals triumph at the next election, Premier Gouin of Quebec, is coming to Ottawa to help him run the country, that the real Premier of Canada will not be the little grey man in Nova Scotia, but the able Frenchman from Montreal, who not only controls the political destinies of this Province, but who always retains the unlimited confidence of the big interests who make their headquarters in the French-Canadian metropolis."

So if Mr. Fielding had been the choice the attack was all framed up. "Fielding is merely the tool of Gouin French domination, and the big interests." Then Mr. D. D. McKenzie was a favorite of Quebec, and Mr. Graham spent a good deal of time in Montreal. In no circumstances would the bigots part with their beloved howl of French domination.—Toronto Star.

THE EXCHANGES

Why don't the coal operators who are prophesying a tragic scarcity of fuel next winter accumulate something of a surplus stock themselves instead of expecting the consumer to do it all? Their coal won't spoil. —St. Joseph Gazette.

The demand that the Government take over, own and operate the railroads of the country will not strike a responsive chord in the breasts of Americans who have seen railroad charges go skyward and service sink to its lowest level under government direction. Government control is bad enough—government ownership? Not much!—Augusta Chronicle.

Polish troops are now reported at Minsk, which is deep in purely Russian territory, to which Poland has no shadow of claim. The egregious conduct of Roumania may have been inspired to some extent by the success with which Polish imperialism has defied the peace conference. Both of these voracious little states need to be called to order if there is to be hope of peace in Europe.—Springfield Republican.

The high cost of necessaries is directly traceable to the Washington administration. With its extravagant wage scales, by scattering money like chaff, it secured industrial speed that could have been obtained in safer ways; but it upset economic standards, inflated the dollar to a dangerous degree, and now we and the whole world are paying the piper—Baltimore American.

PROVINCIAL PLATFORM OF THE U.F.O.

WHEREAS the rural population of Ontario has been declining for many years, being now 139,800 less than it was in 1881 and this in spite of the natural increase in population, immigration and the extension of settlement;

AND WHEREAS rural life has been rendered difficult and trying, and farm production has been checked;

AND WHEREAS the present condition in the rural districts is justly attributable to the unequal rewards of farm and town industry, owing to the dominance in Parliament and Legislature, of Privileged urban interests;

AND WHEREAS the Provincial public debt has increased at an alarming rate (now exceeding 100 million dollars) and the annual expenditure of the Province has increased almost five-fold in the last 15 years;

AND WHEREAS both of the old parties are responsible for this state of affairs;

We, therefore, United Farmers of Ontario, deem it our duty, to ourselves and the Province, to seek independent representation in the Legislature, with the following objects:

1—To cut out all expenditures that are not absolutely essential.

2—To abolish the system of party patronage.

3—To limit Governmental activity respecting commercial co-operation to legislate facilitating co-operative effort, to the keeping of accurate records, and to general education along co-operative lines.

4—To provide equal educational opportunities for all the children of the people, by greatly extending and improving educational facilities in the rural districts.

5—To substitute for the policy of expensive Provincial highways, a policy of organized continuous road maintenance, and of making good roads for all rather than high grade roads for a few, the cost of road construction and maintenance being equitably distributed between city and county.

6—To promote a system of forestry which will maintain and increase the public revenues from this source, protect and perpetuate our forest resources, re-forest the waste places of Old Ontario, and encourage municipalities to engage in forestation enterprises.

7—To encourage and cheapen Hydro Electric development and maintain effective public control over it.

8—To enact and enforce such prohibitory legislation against the liquor traffic as the people may sanction in the approaching referendum and as lies within the power of the Province. Prohibition is an integral part of the Farmers' platform, and the U. F. O. will use its influence in that direction.

9—To extend the policy and practice of Direct Legislation through the Initiative and the Referendum.

To apply the principle of Proportional Representation to our Electoral methods.

THERE IS DANGER IN TENDER GUMS

To preserve healthy teeth the ordinary tooth-paste is futile. You must first care for the gums, on which teeth health depends.

How many people think of this? Yet four out of five people over forty suffer from gum-decay, or Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease).

At first the gums become tender, though actual gum-shrinkage is imperceptible. But in time receding gums will surely loosen your teeth, and then only a dentist can save them. The tender, bleeding gums of Pyorrhea also act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Forhan's (For the Gums) prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. This means that it prevents gum-shrinkage, gum-tenderness, gum-bleeding. So, automatically, Forhan's prevents tooth loosening.

Brush your teeth with it. It scientifically cleans the teeth—keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for treatment.

BARBARA HEARS GOSSIP OF BLANCHE AND NEIL

CHAPTER XL.

Naturally, I was immensely relieved that Neil had not been with Blanche Orton, yet I knew that in some way Payne Orton's death had been the cause of his excitement, also of his remaining out all night. I wanted to question him, but feared to anger him, and so waited until after he had finished his dinner and was smoking his cigar in the library.

"Aren't you going to tell me where you were last night, Neil? I was terribly worried. I didn't sleep a wink. You ran off without a word, you remember."

"I was atending to business at the club till late. Then I was so tired I turned in there. I had to see a man there very early."

"Business that Mr. Orton's death made necessary?"

"Yes," he frowned.

"Can't you explain what it was to me, dear? I have been so anxious." and talking does no good." The same old excuse, and one with which I never could feel satisfied; that I wouldn't understand.

How did he know that I wouldn't Never had he given me a chance to try.

Payne Orton's funeral was to be strictly private. But I knew Neil had sent Blanche Orton orchids, because the day after was the first of the month and the bill for them came that morning.

I saw little of Neil in those days following the death of Payne Orton. I was not very well and so remained more closely at home than usual. Yet, in a way, I did not think of him as being with her. As far as I knew, Neil never had told me an untruth; and if he had not gone to her the night of her trouble, what right had I to think he was with her now? But that he was terribly anxious and worried, was plainly to be seen.

Then came the day when Lorraine Morton disturbed what peace of mind I had. It was a dismal, rainy afternoon, and she said that she knew I would be depressed, so she had dropped everything to run over an cheer me up.

have said she was inclined to gossip.

We chatted about various things, then she spoke of Mr. Orton's death.

"I'll bet Blanche was relieved. Of course it must have been a shock, but I don't think she cared a button for him. She never has acted as if she did, anyway."

"Why did she marry him, do you suppose? Neil says it is she who has the money, so it couldn't have been that."

"I guess she wanted 'Mrs.' on her calling cards so she could do as she pleased." Then she quoted: "Oh, for a love for a year, a week, a day—' That's Blanche Orton."

"She fickle then?"

"Notoriously so — when she was young. They say she was engaged to half a dozen men before she settled down and married Payne Orton."

"But she did settle down." - -

"After a fashion—yes. But, Bab if I were you I would keep Neil away from her if I could. It was bad enough for them to be seen together so much before; but people will surely say he is in love with her if they are intimate now. And they might say that was the reason Payne was so careless of his health that he went off suddenly, as he did."

She had given voice to the thought which had come to me, when I heard he was dead, but which I had forgotten.

"Nonsense!" I replied, but I felt myself growing pale.

"It isn't nonsense, Bab," she said as she rose to go. "And if I weren't so fond of you I'd never mention it. But I saw Neil going there yesterday. Iwas calling next door on Mrs. Tenny, and although I remained an hour, Neil was still with Blanche when I left. Watch out for he Bab."

"God deliver us from our gossiping friends," I moaned, the tears starting I had almost ceased thinking of Blanche Orton and Neil—and now this!

When she had gone I sat thinking wretchedly, about it all. Then my suspicions had been right—Payne Orton had been foolishly careless with his health, of late, and the perhaps, was the cause of his death I could remember now hearing vague rumors about his drinking to excess keeping late hours, etc. Had he, then been unhappy over Blanche's friendship with Neil—so unhappy that he din't care?

To-morrow—Barbara Is Anxious Because Neil is Drinking.

STATEMENTS OF PROMINENT AUTHORS AND LEADERS OF THE PEOPLE WITH ADDITIONS.

(COMPILED BY T. TOOKE)

There was no time in history when Democracy was so rampant than at this time. The social barometer indicates fundamental changes in our civilization when the toiler will sing the glorious Magnificat at the birth of a new era. When the proletariat will aspire to raise humanity from the actual to the ideal. To Democracy no attainment can be perfectly satisfying; the ideal is ever in front. The tenacity of faith, the heroism of the struggle, spells achievement. As Justice has been, and is, almost an unknown quantity, the producer has pledged himself that the world must not fall back and found Empires by exploitation of the masses. The proletariats are agitating against rapid and dangerous concentration of wealth. For the world is against the world oppressor: the capitalist (not capital.) The toiler has acquired a religion of self-respect, a granite quality, root of all virtues, and moral character. Each individual must learn to have self-respect, or the nation cannot have it, and so long as the people have this self-respect, the intimidators of the national army are of no avail, neither the punishment of any who impress the worker with the sense of their infinite and real worth, liftin~ them above the level of animals and machines.

Democracy has no more to waste with social and moral snobs, for the people want contributors to their joys, rather than restrainers to their merriment.

It is evident by the Winnipeg strike that the revelation of the proletariat eschew the sword, and are content with a teaching campaign of self-respect; and if the people that make up a nation have not that great factor, history behoves ill for that nation. Some picture Democracy's coronation as a day of burnings and fuels of fire, with confused noise, and garments rolled in blood, but the red sky which these take for a conflagration is but the re/ glow of dawn. The proletariat, the social outcast, the lost, can lawfully claim Jesus of Nazareth as the leader and guide Who in His neighbor's anger against the oppressors of the toiler, and the profiteers of the temple, stands probably without a peer in the concentrated verbal damnation; such hot metaphors as: "Woe unto ye, ye shall receive the greater damnation, Child of Hell, ye blind guides, hypocrites, full of extortion and excess, white sepulchre, full of dead men's bones, how shall ye escape the damnation of hell, etc, etc. Of course the priests and leaders of the people sought to lay hands upon Him, because Jesus of Gallilee never taught political quietism.

The toiler realizes his obligation, whatsoever ye would that others should do unto you, do ye also unto them, but no duties without right and no rights without duties. Under the present system of civilization the rich are getting more rich, and the poor are getting more impoverished. While religion with its powerful leverage of the human heart no longer urges to liberty and self-respect, but to subjugation and political quietism, obedience at the cost of personal values, abject submission is not democratit. Labor must have a religious principle of moral development to accomplish its great social transportation. A brand of ethics which is the destroyer of servitude and the begetter of freedom. Democracy has reached a stage where it need fear no foe from outside. Her danger in a moral social upheaval is becoming more tense day by day. So clearly is the debacle foreshadowed, that one fails to see how anyone can be blind to its approach. The social unrest can have but one event, therefore a nation will be wise to regard Democracy as an elemental power moving down with power unresistable, crushing gainsayers like a falling millstone. A Democracy in which all are born free to be equal, to every man a chance and place in society to which his talents entitle him. The proletariat do not begrudge wealth to a person that creates wealth, but most great fortunes are annexed, not created. A great many rich men's fortunes come from the labor of women and young children. Able bodied men, willing to live on the slavedom of the weaker sex and their offspring. These men are undoubtedly deficient in manliness. Labor has no use for benefits that stand upon the foundation of economic injustice, they cannot stand. Free the masses, have more national comforts than they have had before, but less justice. The share of the worker in the product of his toil is shrinking; the percentage that is. He may be rising in the scale of materialities, but the employing class is rising also to a far greater decree. Just fancy a boy fifteen years old receiving a fortune of $72,000,000, or an income of $10,000 a day, and this fortune was heaped up in one generation. There is something wrong with a government that permits making such tremendous wealth at the expense of our fellow men. We want to see that the thousands of souls and bodies, rotting in overcrowded tenement houses are of more value than forests and mines. No increase in material goods can compensate for the decay of free spirits. A civilization based on money. The poor in purse are bound to be poor in spirit. The labor movement is not altogether for material goods, it is also for spiritual goods.

"MORE GOOD THAN ALL OF THE REST"

THIS IS WHAT FARMER SAYS OF TANLAC—GAINS FIFTEEN POUNDS —HAD SUFFERED 25 YEARS.

"You may know that Tanlac is doing me a lot of good or I wouldn't have come nearly twenty miles to get these three bottles I am buying now," said Samuel Baon, a well-known and prosperous farmer who lives at Boring, Oregon, while in the Owl Drug Store in Portland the other day.

"I have been trying for twenty-five years to find a medicine or treatment that would overcome my trouble," he continued, "and Tanlac is the only thing that has ever done me any good at all. During all these years I suffered terribly from rheumatism in my back, and there were times when I was in such bad condition that I couldn't turn over in bed, after sitting down for a little while I could hardly get up again. My kidneys bothered me a great deal, too, and I would often have to get up four or five times during the night, and the pains in my back were so severe that I rarely ever got any sleep. My appetite was very poor, and what little I did force myself to eat would give me indigestion in the worse way. I lost a lot in weight and finally got so weak and rundown that I could hardly walk or stand on my feet.

"Then I heard about Tanlac through my daughter who had been greatly benefited by taking it. In fact she was so pleased with Tanlac that she bought me a bottle of it and told me that she thought it was the very thing I needed. Well sir, I began to feel stronger and better in every way before I had finished that first bottle. I get ashamed of myself sometimes. What I eat agrees with me, too, and I never have a sign of indigestion now. I have gained fifteen pounds in weight, and feel like a different man altogether. The pains have left my back, and my kidneys seem to be in first class condition, and I never have to get up during the night any more. I am also free from rheumatism and in fact, I feel better in every way than I have been for many years. I tell you, this Tanlac is a good medicine, and has done me more good than all the rest of the medicine put together I have taken during the last twenty-five years, and I think that is saying a good deal.

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwod by G. Pringle and Son.

ARGYLE HOUSE OFFICERS DIS'PPOINTED

BECAUSE THEY CANNOT GET THE O.B.E.

LONDON, Aug. 14. — Several Canadian officers doing administrative duties here have received a letter from Canadian headquarters informing them that their name was submitted by the departmental chief for an Order of the British Empire.

"I am, however, advised," the letter proceeds, "that a resolution has been passed by the Canadian Government who have submitted a memorial to his Majesty praying that no further honours be granted the Canadian personnel, and in these circumstances no action can be taken to advance of my recommendations."

Many recipients of this letter openly express deep disappointment at being denied "the bit of ribbon," and point out that many officers who also did administrative duties, took their discharge at the earliest moment but received decorations before the memorial to the King was submitted.

TANK CARS AS SPRINKLERS.

Railways, Fire Wardens, and Volunteers Fight Two Fires.

(Canadian Press.)

SAULT STE. MARIE, Aug. 14.—Fire wardens, aided by scores of volunteer helpers continued to-day their fight against forest and bush fires in this section of the Upper Michigan. Brisk winds added to the seriousness of the situation in the tall timber districts, but most villages in Chippewa County are believed safe, as all the underbrush in the immediate vicinity has been consumed by previous fires and wide furrows have been ploughed around each settlement.

Railroads in this section are keeping the right of way wet by using tank cars as sprinklers. Lifting of the smoke cloud has permitted resumption of navigation.

"DRY" WORLD FIGHT TO COST $35,000,000

MONTGOMERY, Ala., August 14.—It will take $35,000,000 to conduct the world anti-Saloon League fight, and the campaign will commence at once, according to announcement by the Finance Committee of the league at its meeting here. The fight will be waged in every nook and corner of the globe against the manufacture or sale of liquor.

VIOLA DANA GROWS IN DRAMATIC FAVOUR

Young Metro Star is Popular Both on Stage and Screen.

Viola Dana, the winsome young Metro Star of "False Evidence," which will be the attraction at the Grand to-day, Friday and Saturday, is one of the youngest players to have reached stardom both on the stage and screen and she is known and admired wherever pictures are shown.

Her first public appearance was at the age of five when she made her debut as a toe dancer. For many years little Viola was in constant demand for entertainments of all kinds but as soon as she was old enough to decide for herself she gave up dancing for the drama and appeared in such productions as "When We Dead Awake," "Rip Van Winkle," and "The Poor Little Rich Girl." In the latter play, which ran for two years on Broadway, she created the title role and raised herself to the heights of stardom.

Miss Dana's first appearance on the screen was with the Edison Company. So great was her success that she was induced to sign a long time contract by Metro with which company she has appeared in such plays as "The Parisian Tigress," "Satin Junior," "The Gold Cure," "Opportunity," "Blue Jeans," and many others.

The clever little actress was born in Brooklyn but has lived in New York practically all her life.

Mr. Denne and Mr. Turner expressed the appreciation felt generally for Miss Littlefield's untiring interest in many local projects.

RUSSELL AN ECONOMIST.

Has Fire Apparatus Painted in Department Workshop.

TORONTO, Aug. 14.— Fire Chief Russell is saving the citizens' money by having the fire motor trucks and wagons painted in the department workshop instead of sending them to outside contractors which has been the policy in the past.

Where it cost from $80 to $70 to paint wagons and trucks the chief is now having it done for an average costof $4 to $8. One of the firemen who is a good painter, has been brought into fire headquarters to paint the trucks.

"It would cost about $80 to-day to paint some of the trucks," stated the chief, "and it can be done just as well in the department's shops. Only one truck has been painted in the past four years and some of them need painting."

LETTER FROM MR. J. H. BURNHAM, M.P.

A meeting of the "Citizen's Liberty League", is called for to-night at 8 o'clock, at Victoria Hall when it is planned to form an organization and elect officers. The following open letter has been sent to the League by Mr. J. H. Burnham:

The Citizens Liberty League:—

Sirs:—You ask me to join in your movement on the ground that it makes for the freedom of the people. I am absolutely against the bar and against all but firm governmental control but within those limits I believe alcohol to be a necessary created by God for the benefit of mankind. We must beware of telling God that our system of morals is superior to His, and whilst total Prohibition is equivalent to telling the Creator that He could have instituted it with regard to all means of evil but did not do so yet Regulation must be rigidly enforced. In this way the man who goes to excess and the self-controlled man will both be protected. Repression in personal matters by the tyranny of a majority is mere brute force and we cannot be surprised if it is answered by brute force which will produce a Bolshevik condition of brutality and chaos. With this explanation I will join your Liberty League.

The Crusade against Tobacco which is to follow and against every other means of evil and benefit, if conducted on the plan of Total Prohibition will further aggravate the feeling of resistance to force. We had at one time the craze that "I didn't raise my boy to be a soldier," and what became of it?

(Signed) J. H. Burnham.

An Unfailing Way To Banish Hairs

(Beauty Notes)

Ugly hairy growths can be removed in the privacy of your own home if you get a small original package of delatone and mix into a paste enough of the powder nd water to cover the hairy surface. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then removed and the skin washed and every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm or inconvenience can result from this treatment, but be sure you buy real delatone.

WILL NOT MELT CANADIAN COIN

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Aug. 14.—There is no danger that the advance in the price of silver will result in jewellery manufacturers in Canada melting coin to furnish raw material for their wares as has been done in Britain, where the price of metals has increased to such an extent that refineries there are now putting foreign currency into the melting pot.

An expert, interviewed, stated that there was a long way to go before Canadian firms would find it a paying proposition to boil down Canadian silver money.

A STONEY LAKE FISH STORY

BY SAM HUNTER.

There comes a day each season, usually in mid or late August with us, when we awaken one morning to find the red seal of Autumn everywhere affixed to the covenant of the seasons. We perceive for the first time that the water side maple has suddenly flamed into crimson, that golden rod and asters, which later will make every dusty wayside a royal highway, have suddenly taken on their colors of gold and purple. One night's frost has wrought this magic.

This season an almost tropical June—a long drought, and one night's frost, and lo, we have had with us, this quiet Sunday in early August, an Indian Summer day—a golden day. Bush fires, too, the smoke from which veils islands and distant shores in a blue mist, served to brighten the effect. Whenever sunshine filtered through the roof of the woods it lay on the dead leaves and fallen logs and painted the tree trunks in rose and amber. The woody perfume, from freshly dead leaves and prematurely ripened seed cones and berries is that of September. Dogwoods, nightshades, baneberries, Kohosh, ginseng, every berry producing plant or bush, is odorous and brilliant with the scents and colors of that month. The air has been musical with insect voices, the tree locust, or cicada, leading them all — the "small innumerable sound" of the "choir invisible." It has already taken the place, two weeks in advance of the usual time, of bird voices. All day to-day and yesterday I have heard but two bird notes in the wood about us, that of a red-eyed vireo, and the plaintive calling of a wood pewee. One must go to the densely timbered shelter of the swamps to find the birds now. The young are are raised and the season of the Summer molt is on. The swamps afford protection against their natural enemies, hawks, owls, etc., while the old birds exchange their gayer spring plumage for their going away "duds" of sober browns and greys. The dashing male scarlet tanager, that posed and strutted as proudly as an Argyle House major, two weeks ago in his brilliant uniform of scarlet and black, will emerge from the swamp two or three weeks from now in sober "civies" of olive green. And we shall not again hear the full songs of the birds till they come back to us again next Spring.

To-night we hear for the first time this season the cries of migrating birds — two weeks earlier than ever before. They were the voices of the thrushes and warblers, evidently the first of the far northern birds to start for the South. Following the valleys and the water courses their flight is continued night after night, resting and feeding during the day. To-night we know that the first warnings of winter has been conveyed to them in their old summer home in the far north. Flying high and calling to each other, they are the first of many millions that before November shall have taken to this broad silver highway lighted by the moon and stars. It is "the end of a perfect day."

'Twere a pity to spoil it by a fish story — so I won't. Just a line or two, however, to say that a gentleman from Syracuse, N. Y., had a providential escape from death yesterday when a skiff from which he was fishing was overturned opposite Sheriff Hall's cottage by a monster 'lunge which he was trying to gaff. He claims that the fish was nearly six feet long, and that it tried to swallow him, being only frightened off by his rescuer, a Mr. Pickings, of London, Eng. I saw Mr. P. last evening and find the story well corroborated. "It was a big fish," said Mr. Pickings, "and when I 'it it with the hoar it 'ad the chap swallowed up to the harms; but bless you, 'e was in no danger. The fish was trying to disgorge 'im, and most certainly would have disgorged 'im, even if I 'adn't 'it 'im, being an adult, and, as I take it, an intelligent fish. You see the gentleman was wearing one of those funny little buttons with 'We Won the War,' on 'is lapel. When it swallowed the chap thus far it made the bally fish sick. Even a muskanonge, y' know, couldn't swallow that!. What, what!"

PETERBORO NURSE RETURNS HOME FROM OVERSEAS

NURSING SISTER E. M. LONG MADE A TOUR OF THE WAR ZONES.

Nursing Sister E. M. Long, daughter of Mrs. Long, 676 Water street, returned on Saturday to the city after two years and a half service with the Medical Corps in England. Miss Long, who is a graduate of the Hamilton City Hospital, enlisted in October, 1914, but was unable to get across until april, 1917, since when she has been attached to the Kitchen Hospital at Brighton, and the Officers' Hospital in London. While she never nursed in the war zones in spite of her most persistent efforts to get across the channel she came very closely in touch with men who kept pouring into the hospitals in which she was nursing and towards the latter end of her career overseas nursed several returned men from the German Prison Camps. Miss Long said to-day that the tales of ill treatment by the Germans brought by the men were hardly believable and instanced the case of a young officer who would probably go through life sightless due to positive neglect on the part of German doctors, of the effects of gas. A little treatment would probably have saved his sight, she said, but this was denied him. In all cases the straightening out of limbs and anything but the most superficial treatment was too much for the Germans to give.

Very Reserved.

Miss Long said that the English people generally were very reserved in their reception to the Canadian nursing sisters, and never extended to them the hospitality they offered the soldiers. She said that the people of England when she left, were most enthusiastic over the idea of their Prince leaving for a trip to Canada.

Canadians, she said, are growing very scarce in England and only an odd one is seen. At present only about 300 nursing sisters are left belonging to Canada and some of the Canadian hospitals anticipate closing in the middle of the month. She left for Canada on the "Adriatic," which carried about 2,000 people amongst whom were a large number of soldiers' dependents. The first class passengers included besides the 44 nursing sisters, Sir Wm. and Lady MacKenzie, Col. Swalm, the American Consul at Southampton, and Mrs. Swalm, and Sir Stanley Cochrane.

APSLEY GIRL GUIDES OUTING

CAMPED FOR A WEEK ON THE SHORES OF LOON LAKE.

The first Apsley company Canadian Girl Guides, under the guardianship of Mrs. (Rev.) C. A. G. Spence, spent an enjoyable week of camp life on the shores of Loon Lake on Mr. Alex. Wood's old homestead. Lean-tos of brush were constructed to sleep in, and proved to be comfortable sleeping quarters. During the daytime the hours passed all too quickly in lessons in tracking, stalking, signalling, swimming, cooking, first aid, etc, while a merry hour was spent in games each evening around the camp fire. Not an untoward incident occurred to mar the enjoyment of an event which will not soon be forgotten by the Girl Guides. On the last evening Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Woods visited the camp and regaled the company with lemonade and cakes, a kindness which was much appreciated. Divine service was conducted at the camp on Sunday afternoon by the Rev. C. A. G. Spence, when several visitors attended, after which those Guides who had passed their test were enrolled and invested with the badge and neckerchief.

MACHINE SHOPS RUNNING LIGHT

MOULDERS STRIKE STILL HOLDING BACK WORK.

The general feeling among machine tool dealers and steel warehousemen is that business is satisfactory, though not quite as lively as during the previous week. There is some hesitancy still being shown by machine tool purchasers regarding the probabilities of labour troubles interfering with business later on. While there are plenty of machinists available now, the fact that in many places molders are still on strike makes it impossible for the machine shops to be fully engaged.

There have been no changes in steel prices since last week. That a change must come before long, and that when it does it will be upward, is the opinion of those interested in these lines. There is still a difference of opinion as to the probabilities of an advance in plate prices, but the fact that mills are operating at 75 per cent. capacity and will not promise delivery before last quarter would seem to preclude the idea of a drop in prices.

Pig iron will show advances. Many furnaces are now booked for the rest of the year and show no anxiety to book business for next year. What bookings have been made for the first quarter have been at an advance of from $1 to $2 a ton over present prices.

In the scrap market the scarcity of steel scrap is still the feature, and prices for heavy melting continue to advance. Dealers are holding on to what they have for better prices, and sales at $36 per ton have been reported. Cast scrap has reached a point in some districts where furnace men are buying low grade pig as being cheaper than scrap.—Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News.

NEWS ITEMS FROM OLD NEW YORK

SCARCITY OF FEMALE HELP---THE DRUG HABIT---PRICE OF CLOTHES

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Fifty-three solid columns of "Help Wanted— Female" ads. were carried in a morning newspaper one day this week. It is but another proof that New York is experiencing an unparalleled shortage of women workers. Factories and big commercial concerns are offering all manner of inducements to secure female help. Free medical attention, short hours, and high pay are among the baits dangled. The increased demand for female labour is all the more interesting in view of the fact that among the males there is much unemployment. Some firms are even offering cash prizes to girl employees who bring in a companion. Others, taking a page out of the book of the theatre managers, are advertising that their factory enjoys a temperature so many degrees lower than that of the street.

The return from industry to domesticity of thousands of soldiers' wives is perhaps one reason for the situation. Another may be the resumption of non-essential industries suspended during the war. But whatever the reason, there seems to be jobs abegging for stenographers, clerks, bookkeepers, milliners, models, hairdressers, hemstitchers, cooks, buttonhole-makers, and scores of other workers.

THE DRUG HABIT.

Whatever stimulants the New York journalists may enjoy, they don't use drugs. A recent analysis of drug addicts shows that but one lone newspaper man applied to the civic drug clinic during the registration of 21 actors, 13 chauffeurs, 66 clerks, 113 drivers, 16 electricians, 12 elevator operators, 37 factory workers, 130 labourers, 10 janitors, 18 longshoremen, 10 painters, 48 salesmen, 10 plumbers, 28 porters, 10 printers, 7 steam-fitters, 3 students, 10 tinsmiths, 7 ushers, 23 peddlers, and 51 waiters.

A BIG CATCH.

The week's excitement—One 300-pound man-eating shark, in good working condition, harpooned and towed ashore after an hour's fight with a fisherman (in a boat) at Little Neck Bay.

PROHIBITION AGAIN.

Everybody who knows Coney Island knows Henderson's. But they won't know it very shortly. All the block in which the famous restaurant and music-hall are situated has been purchased by the United Cigar Stores, and the hostelry and amusement place which have been identified with Coney for forty years, will pass out of existence. Prohibition again.

THE PRICE OF CLOTHES.

Masculine readers may be interested to know what the average New Yorker has to pay for his clothes now as compared with 1914. The following figures were compiled by one of the largest retail clothing establishments in New York. They represent the same grade of goods in each case, and the outfit is such as experience shows a man who used to wear $30.00 suits would buy. Here goes:

| Suit | $30.00 | $55.00 |
| Shoes | 6.50 | 16.00 |
| Shirt | 1.50 | 2.50 |
| Undershirt | 1.50 | 2.50 |
| Drawers | 1.50 | 2.50 |
| Socks | .50 | 1.00 |
| Necktie | 1.00 | 1.50 |
| Hat, felt | 3.50 | 6.00 |
| Gloves | 1.50 | 2.50 |
| Collar | .15 | .25 |
| Handkerchief | .35 | .35 |
| Raincoat | 15.00 | 22.00 |
| Totals | $62.90 | $112.10 |

IRISH FREEDOM.

Wonder what St. Patrick would think about this? Fifty Chinese have made application for membership in the Malachi, the Great Branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom, of Rockaway Beach. The president of the branch says it shows that every nation and race is interested in winning freedom for Ireland. Perhaps the combination is not so strange when one remembers that linen comes from Ireland.

A wooden spoon is best for cake because the round handle does not tire the hands.

SAT DURING SINGING OF NATIONAL ANTHEM

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, Aug. 14.—R. J. Johns boasted of having remained seated during the singing of the National Anthem at a Labour meeting, in a letter to R. B. Russell, read in Court at the preliminary trial of Johns, Russell, and six other Labour leaders for seditious conspiracy.

Other letters read, which had passed between the accused and other agitators, and between agitators not on trial, but connected with the accused through the Calgary convention and correspondence, appeared to show that the One Big Union is considered by them not as a basis of Labour organisation, but as a mere step toward organisation, which will lead to the seizure of industries.

Got Away With It.

The letter in which Johns made his boast was sent from Hamilton, Ont., 30th April. It says in part:

"Well, the meeting opened with, playing 'God Save the King.' We were forced to do that to obtain the hall. So the bunch in the audience stood, and Lewis Moore and I sat down on the platform, and got away with it."

Two letters from Carl E. Berg, of Edmonton, a delegate to the Calgary convention, addressed to other persons who attended the convention, and later seized by the Royal North-West Mounted Police, were read.

One addressed to Victor McRea, Peace River, Alta., dated 17th May, says in part: "The One Big Union is a measure of success, and the time will not be far off that we will be able to dictate to the masters under what terms we shall have to sell our labour power, and also when we shall be able to take over the industries and run them for the benefit of the producers.

Another letter from Berg, addressed to William Killing, Brule, Alta., dated 25th June, says in part: "One of my friends stated there was no use in this" (referring to amendments to the One Big Union Charter), "as the present system will not last over two months and all we needed was a universal card and all things would right themselves."

Would "Buy" Credentials.

How some members of the One Big Union faction intended to work is shown in a letter from T. S. Cassidy, of North Bay, Ont., to J. Kavanagh, an official of the One Big Union, 28th April, read to the Court. It says in part: "I have been getting after Russell, of Winnipeg, to help line up the West now, to, if possible, capture the next Trades and Labour Congress. It is capture or kill. It may even be necessary to 'buy' some credentials for those necessary to the attack. We must get busy quick on the matter."

INVADED DISTRICTS ANGRY.

Clemenceau Acts When They Threaten to Go it Alone.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—Premier Clemenceau is taking vigorous action in behalf of the liberated departments, where the feeling that they have been neglected since the Germans departed has risen to such a point that the leading men of these departments have formed a body to look after their interests, a stand which is thought almost equivalent to a threat of separation.

The Premier called a meeting of the Inter-Ministerial Commission and told it that a new regime must be applied. The schools must be opened, he said, funds advanced to communes and individuals, drinking water supplied, wells sunk, camions provided, and war prisoners properly divided.

M. Clemenceau then received the Prefects of the departments and explained the programme. He said that they would receive the fullest powers. They must supervise all services, inflict necessary penalties, and remain always in close touch with their administrations.

Bring your expenses down to your income, regardless of inconveniences, and you will come out with flying colours.

BASEBALL EXPENSES COME VERY HIGH

BELLEVILLE MAY BREAK EVEN--SEVERAL WILL GO IN THE HOLE --PORT HOPE AND PETERBORO HAVE SUBSTANTIAL BALANCES.

Baseball costs money these days. Just like everything else, the High Cost of Living has put a serious crimp in the aspirations of many a club. About the only team in the Central League to come out well on top is Port Hope, the club having over $200 to the good. Of course the free grounds and the grant from the Council materially assisted. In nearly all of the other towns of the League the clubs pay the percentage of the gate for the use of the grounds.

Peterborough being in the winning class, expects to pull out ahead nicely, as the fans have proved to be very loyal. Oshawa, it is said, will finish in the hole, Cobourg may break even, while Belleville is behind, with the hope of another game pulling them out. Lindsay claims to have a large deficit which makes one wonder if some of Lindsay's high-grade imports were not drawing on the treasury.

Of course, there are no club rates on the railways now, and baseballs have doubled in price, now selling at $2.00 each. Then there is the amusement tax, high hotel rates, and other incidentals which makes the management of a baseball team a rather expensive proposition. — Port Hope Guide.

PORT HOPE ON PETERBORO GAME

Port Hope Guide.—It was in Bingville that the great and only Casey struck out and it was in Peterborough last Saturday that the greatest manager in the Central League, Jake Solomon, fanned the wind. With the bases full, two strikes and three balls Jake reached for one of Goyer's high ones, and there was not a baseball bat in Peterborough long enough to reach the sphere. It was heart rending to watch, and it certainly took a lot of pep out of the Peterborough manager. But it was a grand exhibition of baseball and it was simply the flip of a coin which would win. It went for an extra innings and the boys from the Bay of Quinte won out by a 5 to 4 score. Both pitchers were in fine form and the splendid fielding of Kirn was a feature of the game.

UMPIRE KAY HELPED OUT LINDSAY CLUB

Alex. Kay, the Peterboro umpire, not only knows how to umpire, but knows how to appreciate the fact that a club is in the hole, financially. He officiated at last night's game in the O.B.A.A. championships between Lindsay and Peterboro Packers, but when he discovered that the Lindsay boys were behind in the gate receipts he very generously and with good sportsmanlike manner refused to charge the Lindsay Club for his fee and expenses, viz., $7. Umpire Butler did likewise. — Lindsay Warder.

FIFTEEN RUNS GARNERED IN BY THE WINNING TEAM--STANDING OF THE LEAGUE.

A baseball game in which interest and excitement ran high was played yesterday at Central school playground between the Central boys and the boys of King Edward school playground, resulting in victory for the Centrals by a score of 15 to 6. In pitching, Whitlow for Central team, seemed to have the upper hand throughout the game, although Moore for King Edward showed remarkable control. When it came to hitting, Harrison and Lebarr did well for the winners, while McDonald, Killoran and Clark wielded the stick heroically for the losers. The King Edward lads put up a game fight to the finish, but showed lack of team work, and failed to rally in the last inning as they did in the previous game.

There was a large number of spectators at the game, and at its conclusion, volley ball, tether tennis and a game of horseshoes were enjoyed by the children present. A junior ball game of three innings was won by Central to the tune of 9 to 8. The lineup and summary of the senior game was as follows:

King Edward—McDonald, r.f., l.f.; J. Jones, c.; Killoran, 3rd; Moore, p., 1st; Collins, s.s.; F. Jones, l.f., r.f.; Clarke, 1st, p.; Nicholls (Evans), c.f.; Prest, 2nd.

SANDY LOCKINGTON REPLIES TO DEDMAN

PRESIDENT OF CENTRAL ONTARIO BASEBALL LEAGUE GIVES HIS VIEWS RE UMPIRE TROUBLE.

Sandy Lockington of Port Hope, president of the Central Ontario Baseball League, has written to the Mail and Empire as follows:

"I notice in your issue of Aug. 12, a letter from W. J. Dedman, addressed to myself and dealing with a recent decision of the executive of the Central Ontario League, in which he states the action of the Executive was unbusinesslike and unsportsmanlike.

"The facts of the case are these: When Belleville and Peterboro were ordered to play home and home games to decide the championship, Mr. Dedman phoned me and suggested that Rosevear of Port Hope officiate as umpire behind the plate at Peterboro, with Butler of Lindsay on the bases, and vice versa in the game at Belleville. As soon as Mr. Solomon of the Peterboro team learned of this arrangement he objected to Butler, explaining that he considered Butler quite fair and honorable, but his knowledge of baseball rules did qualify him for an umpire. After explaining to Mr. Solomon that Butler would only act as base umpire the Peterboro manager remarked that he could not do much harm in that position, but if he proved unsatisfactory he would not accept him as an umpire for the game in Belleville. I told him that the executive would meet after the game to consider certain matters and if he had any objection to offer to Butler's going to Belleville he would be given a hearing. At the meeting Mr. Solomon asked that some other official be sent to Belleville and the entire Executive with the exception of Mr. Dedman, acceded to his request and this was after the Executive members had seen Mr Butler operate in the game that afternoon.

"My own experience with the O.H.A. has been that when an objection was taken to a certain referee and reasons could be shown for the objection said referee was never forced upon a team by Mr. Hewitt. In the opinion of the Central League Executive it was for the best interests of sport and for all concerned that a change be made of the officials at Belleville. Mr. Dedman has worked hard for the Central Ontario League and as secretary was called upon to perform more work than the other officers. But with all respect to my good friend Dedman, I must say that every member of the Executive had the interest of the league just as much at heart as Mr. Dedman had. Officers of the Central Ontario League were elected to conduct the business of the league without fear or favor, and as is customary in all executives, to abide by the decision of the majority. Instead, however, Mr. Dedman places his opinion above that of the other six members of the Executive and when voted down sends in his resignation. None of us object to Mr. Dedman holding his own views, but we do very strongly object upon him endeavoring to force those views on the other members.

"Personally, Mr. Dedman is a very fine fellow and an active worker, and I regret having to cross swords with him on this question. The Executive sincerely hopes tht by this time he has seen the error of his ways and will at once withdraw his resignation."

SMITHER'S CONFERRED WITH THE PREMIER

NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN REGARD TO THE G.T.R.

(Special to Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 14. — Sir Alfred Smithers, chairman of the Grand Trunk Railway Board of Directors, has been in Ottawa but is gone again. He paid a brief visit to the capital on Tuesday but left on the same train as Sir Robert Borden took for the East yesterday. No doubt he was in conference with the Prime Minister during the trip.

It is stated here that no new developments with regard to the future of the system need be anticipated until after Sir Robert Borden's returns, when a further conference will be held. In the meantime Chairman Smithers will engage in some inspection work.

There is only a mere handful of Cabinet ministers at the capital at present, the great majority being on holidays.

ROME.—"The fear of a revolution of Asiatic Bolshevism is unfounded," said Francesco Nitti, the Italian Premier, in an interview given out to-day with reference to conditions in Italy.

There are many thin oils on the market that are not suitable for internal use; other oils have irritating qualities which render them also unsuitable. The one we are selling is guaranteed thick and entirely pure.

It is recognised that a good grade of Mineral Oil is one of the best remedies for CHRONIC CONSTIPATION that is being used. It acts mechanically and does not irritate the intestinal tract, nor does the dose have to be continually increased as is the case with ordinary purgatives.

It is much better and cheaper than Castor Oil as a laxative for Children, since Castor Oil has two effects, the first of which is purgative and the second or after effect, which is Constipating.

CITY HALL NEWS

A Level Stretch on Water Street

While taking the levels of Water street north of Smith street City Engineer Parsons discovered that the streets is a dead level for a considerable distance. It was the first time he had occasion to use the instrument on this street.

The results confirmed the engineer's previous opinion for in winter and spring the water lays on the street without the least drainage. Residents have complained in the past and Street Commissioner has tried to carry off the water by trenches but without success.

A surface drainage would provide the only relief. It could be laid from some point below Argyle street and emptied into the "goose pond" at Antrim street.

REFERENDUM AND ELECTION VOTING

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Aug. 14.—The Hearst government will make its own announcement of the date for the temperance referendum and general election. Friday, October 3rd is being mentioned as the date on which both votes will be taken, but the government has not committed itself either to the day or to the policy of staging both on the same day. Up till yesterday afternoon when an Executive Council meeting was held, the Ministers themselves did not know what course was favoured by the leader of the government. The date for the referendum depends upon the celerity with which the voters' lists in the unorganized districts of the north are made up. The Premier is reported to be anxious to avoid any appearance of rushing through incomplete lists. The enumerating of the women voters of itself is a tremendous task and at the best many electors who have voted for years are liable to be left off through a combination of circumstances, including their own carelessness. On that account, the time for appealing to be put on the list will be extended as much as possible. But it can be taken for granted that the referendum vote will be brought on before the end of October and probably in the first half of the month. Friday, the 3rd is just as likely as any other day.

There are lots of things that a man can't afford to do and he can't afford not to—so they keep him going.

A STRIKE VOTE IN MONTREAL

Building Trades Will Go After a Forty-four Hour Week.

(Special to The Examiner.)

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 15.—Building Trades Council of Montreal, representing 16 crafts and fifteen thousand workmen, decided unanimously last night to take a strike vote on all locals between now and August 28th. On the date mentioned they will meet again to decide whether or not to declare the strike on Labour Day. The demand is for a 44-hour week and increases in present rates of wages.

RETAILER FINED FOR PROFITEERING

FIRST CONVICTION FOR PROFITEERING IS REGISTERED IN UNITED STATES.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 15.—Important new developments in the Government's fight to reduce the high cost of living came to-day.

One of the most interesting was the announcement by Attorney-General Palmer that the first federal conviction for profiteering had been obtained. District Attorney Lucey telegraphed from Binghamton, N.Y., that a retail grocer had been fined $800 for selling sugar at 15 cents a pound. No details were given and the law under which the case was brought was not known here.

"A few good cases of profiteering in each state will settle that trouble," Mr. Palmer remarked.

In order to bring to book persons guilty of raising prices exorbitantly, or hoarding food to advance prices, Mr. Palmer submitted to the agriculture committee of Congress the draft of an amendment to the food control act, extending its provisions to clothing and containers of foods and feeds, and providing a penalty of $5,000 fine or two years' imprisonment or both, for violation of the law. Chairman Haugen of the House committee announced that the amendment would be considered immediately by a subcommittee and that a report might be made to-morrow.

Hoarding Reported.

Reports of excessive stocks of food held in storage have been received from at least six states, Mr. Palmer said. He declined to be more specific, but it was indicated that New Jersey was one of the states.

Reports to the department showed that organization of fair price committees in counties was proceeding rapidly.

The effect of the Government's campaign was indicated in the revision by the war department of prices to be charged for surplus army food. Reductions were made "to meet competition by retailers."

The cost of living continues to colour much of the debate in Congress.

COMMENT ON NATURE OF CURRIE'S LEAVING

Surprise Expressed at Lack of Ceremony When He Left England.

LONDON, Aug. 15. — The Yorkshire Post's London correspondent says that the fact of General Currie being allowed to embark without any leave-taking or ceremony has occasioned considerable surprise among his compatriots here, and has been the subject of much comment.

He says: "It is no great secret that recent events have a little upset the good working of the Canadian administration here, and though too much may be easily made of this in connection with the Liverpool incident, it is not strange that it should be recalled by commentators who keep particularly in mind the feeling aroused over the proposed exclusion of Canadian troops from the peace march."

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE HAS BEEN PREFERRED AGAINST G. WELLINGTON KENNEDY

It took the jury only 20 minutes to bring in their verdict, which read: "We find that Norman Lavoie came to his death on August 2nd in St. Michael's Hospital from septic poisoning caused as the result of blows and kicks received in a fight with George Wellington Kennedy at 5 Empire avenue on Monday, July 28th, 1919."

PETERBORO MAN ON EXECUTIVE

The local delegates who attended the convention of the Canadian Horticultural Association in Toronto this week, were Mr. H. B. Cowan and Mr. C. S. Thompson, of the "Farm and Dairy," Mr. C. Williamson, of the Peterboro Floral Co., Mr. and Mrs. S. Jordan.

To-day the convention are holding an excursion to Niagara Falls, and Mr. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Jordan are staying over for it.

At yesterday morning's meeting the election of officers took place, and Mr. Samuel Jordan of Peterboro was elected to the Executive Committee for a term of three years.

A very interesting paper on "Plant Registration" was given by Mr. H. J. Moore of Niagara Falls. So strongly did the idea take hold of the convention that a committee was appointed composed of Messrs. H. J. Moore, W. E. Groves and J. H. Dunlop to deal with the matter and with power to request cooperation from the Vegetable and Fruit Growers' Associations, by adding representatives to the committee.

A paper was also given by Mr. Herman Simmers of Toronto, on "Bulbs and their Future," which led to considerable discussion on the advisability of growing bulbs in Canada.

ARE LOOKING FOR TRADE EXPANSION

LEATHER INTERESTS SEEKING ALLIANCES WITH GERMANY.

(United Press.)

BERLIN, Aug. 15. — Boston and Philadelphia Shoe Companies were reported to-day to be seeking alliances with German houses, hoping to find a big market in Central Europe and the east. Some attempts are being made to rent stores for independent branch houses, but most of the American concerns plan to use existing establishments as middle men. The German shoe fatcories are planning to obtain leather from the east.

NEARLY HALF MILLION WORDS IN ENGLISH

OUR LANGUAGE BORROWS PROFUSELY AND VOCABULARY MULTIPLIES RAPIDLY.

"The English [illegible] has grown to great size," says Professor Clark S. Northup, of Cornell University, one of the contributors to The New Universities Dictionary now being distributed by this paper exclusively to its readers; "the number of words found in Old English literature does not exceed thirty thousand; recent dictionaries have listed more than four hundred thousand, mostly of foreign origin. Yet most writers use mainly English words.

"Shakespeare used ninety per cent. of English words; the English Bible contains ninety-four per cent; Milton eighty-one per cent.; Addison eigthy-two per cent.; Tennyson eighty-eight per cent. Most of our shortest and simplest words are of native origin."

Floods of coupons continue pouring in for The New Universities Dictionary. The distributing clerks are kept busy. The publishers have been ordered to keep a big supply bound and ready for emergency calls. It looks as though the raid on the supply would soon make a replenishment necessary. Such a rush was not expected, but this paper is greatly pleased to see readers taking such enthusiastic advantage of its educational offer.

FIGHTING BATTLES OF THE DEPENDANTS OF FALLEN COMRADES

(Special to the Examiner.)

HAMILTON, Aug. 15. — Declaring it to be their sacred duty to fight the battles of the widows and dependents of fallen comrades, the Veterans of France at a largely attended meeting last night passed unanimously a resolution to petition the government to suspend all further negotiations regarding proposed increases to pensions, gratuities of other moneys for services rendered or for disabilities incurred during the great war, and ask that all other increases either in the act of being granted or in contemplation be held in suspension until the next of kin or dependents of all soldiers who died in the services or were killed in action, be granted their legitimate and justifiable portion of the war service gratuity as paid to the dependents of those who were more fortunate to return to their families, homes and country.

THREATENED STRIKE OF RAILWAY MEN IN ENGLAND HAS BEEN AVERTED FOR ONE WEEK.

A NEW OFFER

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Resumption of work by striking miners in Yorkshire district is still hanging fire, the West Yorkshire section refusing to fall into line and are haggling over minor claims. At a meeting of labour leaders of the Trade Union Union at Liverpool it was unanimously decided there should be a general stoppage of all work for three days, commencing next Wednesday to secure the reinstatement of policemen who were dismissed prior to and during the recent policemen's strike in that city.

Another Threat.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Demand made by locomotive engineers and firemen upon Sir Auckland Geddes, British Minister of Reconstruction, that their wage dispute be settled at once threatens, unless a settlement is reached, to disorganize the railway system of the whole country.

LARGE GARDEN PARTY AT LITTLE BRITAIN

A splendid garden party and fruit festival was held at Little Britain Methodist Church. The festival was held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church and was very largely attended, a number of Indians [illegible] exhibiting the opportunity to attend.

The Cannington Band was on hand and added the desired musical atmosphere to the scene. The Band rendered many selections in fine style. Rev. G. R. Clare was chairman of the concert, and filled the important position in a capable manner.

INCINERATOR JOB GOES TO RETURNED SOLDIER

JACK MURPHY SUPPLANTED TO-DAY BY MR. W. W. WITHERS.

W. W. Withers to-day took charge of the incinerator, replacing John Murphy, who has held the senior position since October 10th, 1917. His request that the job be restored to him was received at the last meeting of the Council and referred to the Property committee. Mr. Withers stated that he was a returned soldier and that he had resigned his position to go overseas. There was some question about the latter assertion, but Ald. Hamilton was authorized to give Mr. Withers the appointment if the records showed that Withers had resigned the position at the incinerator to enlist. It is presumed that this was shown to the satisfaction of Ald. Hamilton. At the City Hall it was shown that Murphy had given the highest satisfaction and with the help of his assistant had brought the incinerator premises to a cleanliness that has not been obtained before.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Profiteers in sugar are expected to be reached as a result of telegraphic instructions which A. Mitchell Palmer, Attorney-General of the United States, sent to the various Federal District Attorneys throughout the country. In these instructions Mr. Palmer emphasizes the fact that sugar should not be retailed for more than eleven cents, in the opinion of the Administration, and "where it is retailed for more it indicates that either the wholesaler or retailer is making an unreasonable profit."

The Attorney-General's telegram also informed the Federal Attorneys that through cancellations of licenses of sugar dealers it was hoped to reach some cases that would be more difficult to reach through enforcement of the original regulations of the Control Act.

Still Subject to License.

"Dealers in sugar," the Attorney-General's telegram read, "except retailers doing a gross business of $100,000 or less annually, are still subject to license under the Food Control Act. In addition to the provisions of the law itself, the regulations governing dealers in sugar prohibit the licensee from charging an exorbitant, unreasonable or unfair commission, profit or storage charge. They also provide, that resales within the same trade without reasonable justification, if tending to result in a higher market price to the retailers or consumers, will be dealt with as an unfair practise.

11 Cents Per Pound.

"The United States Food Administration has taken the position that sugar should not retail for more than eleven cents and where it is retailing for more it indicates that either the wholesaler or retailer is making an unreasonable profit.

"It is hoped through license regulations and the power of the Food Administration to procure the cancellation of licenses to reach some cases that would be more difficult to reach through enforcement of the criminal law of the Food Control Act."

CREW DRUNK IN MID-OCEAN

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 15. — A wireless despatch received at Queenstown from the British tank steamer War Khan says that the tanker had picked up another steamer in mid-ocean, and found the crew drunk and the captain incapacitated from injuries.

Some of the other officers were in irons.

The crew of the War Khan arrested the mutinous crew of the other steamer, and supplied enough men to take the steamer to Brest, where it was bound.

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS LANDED AT ST. JOHN AT ELEVEN O'CLOCK THIS MORNING.

A BIG RECEPTION

(Canadian Press.)

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 15.—A Royal welcome was extended to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales as he set foot for the first time an Canadian soil at eleven o'clock this morning. The weather was not auspicious, rain commencing to fall shortly before the Prince left his ship, but the adverse conditions in no way affected the warmth of his reception, nor lessened the enthusiasm of the greetings extended to the heir to the British throne.

It was eminently fitting that the Prince's first glimpse of Canada should be of the city founded by the Loyalists, who had sacrificed so much to remain beneath the British flag, and the heartiness of the welcome showed that the same spirit still animated those who have come after them.

Dense crowds were on the route of the procession. Owing to a misunderstanding regarding the time arrangements. The Prince landed an hour later than had been expected, as he followed the Atlantic standard time, while the local arrangements had been made on daylight time. This made it necessary to defer all arrangements for an hour, but the crowds waited patiently and good-naturedly.

The Duke of Devonshire was early aboard the cruiser Dragon, which had brought the Prince from Newfoundland, and later landed with His Royal Highness.

The Prince was received with great enthusiasm when he landed. He smilingly acknowledged the applause.

(Canadian Press.)

ST. JOHN, Aug. 15. — The Cruiser Dragon anchored in the harbour here at 9.30 with the Prince of Wales on board. The Governor-General and Lord Hastings immediately went out to the ship with greetings to the Prince. Landing was deferred for an hour, until 11 o'clock.

From the landing place to the armouries, where the Prince of Wales was given his first formal reception on Canadian soil, the route of His Royal Higness was thronged with cheering crowds. The procession was led by the local police, followed by an automobile in which rode the Prince, the Governor-General, and Lord Hastings. Then followed in other autos. Premier Fisher of New Brunswick, Governor Milliken of the State of Maine, Sir Robert Borden, and other dignitaries.

The streets were gaily decorated. Addresses of welcome were presented to the Prince at the armouries from the province and city, and emphasized congratulations to the Prince for the part he had taken in the world war and expressed the loyalty of the whole of Canada to King George and his representatives.

His Royal Highness replied with feeling to both addresses, and said he was deeply touched by the depth of loyalty and welcome expressed. He referred modestly to references to his service in France, and declared that it was in that service, in trenches, billets, and camps of the war zone that he gained his first real knowledge of what the Empire means to its own people and the world at large. He valued that service deeply also for the opportunity it gave him of becoming acquainted with Canadian brother officers and men. He said he shared Canada's pride in the achievements of her soldiers, and mourned with Canada the heavy losses which Canadian homes have suffered.

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

Many advertisers, and particularly retail advertisers, never get the full cumulative power of advertising behind their business because they lack patience. They demand direct returns. Thy run a one-time announcement in the local paper to-day and look for sales enough—sales directly traceable to the little one-time advertisement—before next week to pay for the cost of the space.

Of course they are disappointed. Retail advertising seldom works out that way. But they are impatient for results. They are not prepared to invest money in advertising as they would in new goods, in store fixtures, in stocks or in real estate—and wait for profits to be earned. No. The returns of to-day's advertising must ring in cash profits to-morrow, or, in the estimation of too many retail dealers, the advertising is not worth what it costs.

Hand-to-mouth advetising is not worth what it costs. It yields only hand-to-mouth returns. To show the best results as a business building power, the advertising of the retail merchant must be persistent. Its chief purpose should be to build up permanent trade; to make the people of your community turn to your store in preference to other stores; to make them think of you and of your place of business; to convince them that they cannot get better quality and price and service anywhere.

"Would you advise a sixty-inch advertisement in the newspaper once a week or six ads. covering ten inches of space each week?" was one of the questions asked.

"I would advise six ads., one each day, or, better still, three twenty-inch ads. each week," replied the advertiser.

"Anything that is desirable is advertisable," he said, and pointed out that the desirability of an article depends much on the consistency with which it is advertised.

"One of the best ways to advertise is to cultivate the customers you have acquired and they will assist you in your advertising."

GERMANS BAR RELIEF FOR TYPHUS SUFFERERS.

Will Not Allow Medical Supplies to Cross the Country.

BERLIN, Aug. 14—The German War Office has refused to permit the American Relief Administration to send 700 army trucks across Germany to Poland with anti-typhus materials.

The War Office said it feared outbreaks would occur against the Americans when they crossed the border.

The Foreign Office strongly urged the military authorities to grant the permit, but the latter emphatically declined.

The Americans had proposed to start the materials from Cologne and already had 800 cars of freight prepared for shipment.

BATTLESHIPS OF THE FUTURE AS AN EXPERT SEES THEM

"I was coming south from Scapa Flow the other day with the battle-cruiser squadron, and as we sped along I was chatting to a shipmate about the beautiful design of the Renown, which was one of the ships of the squadron," writes "Tarpaulin" in "Answers."

"We're getting near to the end of warships as we have known them," he said. "Beatty afloat is supposed to have died with the passing of sails. Wait until you see the battleships of ten years hence. Then you will realize that even the mastodons of the great war were things of beauty compared with the novelties."

As if to bear out his words, one of the first vessels we sighted, as we steamed up the Firth of Forth to our anchorage at Rosyth, was the Argus. And the Argus is no thing of beauty. She is an aeroplane ship, built with a deck extending from her bow to her stern. Her smoke-stacks, instead of being funnels, are long pipes that run horizontally from the centre of the ship to the after end, and discharge the smoke over the sea, like the exhaust-pipe of a motor car. She is just a humped-up ark of a ship.

And that, they say, is what our battleships of ten years hence will probably look like.

There are three reasons for this, and two of them are lessons we learned during the war.

"Top Armor" Needed.

The first lesson was that armor in future would have to form the roof of the ship rather than the sides. Everybody knows that the Queen Mary, the Indefatigable, and the Invincible blew up at the battle of Jutland because heavy shells from the German guns fell out of the skies, as it were, on top of them, and found an easy entrance to the vitals of the ships because the armor was all on their sides.

We put armor there before the war because, hitherto, guns had fired shells at short ranges, which meant that they travelled in an almost direct line from the mouth of the gun to the side of the ship. But when we started firing guns at seven, eight and nine miles' range, it was necessary to point the gun upwards, and send the shell towards the target in a curve, with the result that at the end of its run it fell downwards at a sharp angle, and hardly ever hit the side of the ship, but thrashed on deck. The method makes for more difficult marksmanship.

Nine miles will be considered a very modest range in future. We hear gunnery experts talk of 30,000 yards (or fifteen sea miles) as an everyday thing of the future. So it will be no use having armor on the side of the ship, where no hit will ever be made, and leaving the deck to consist of five-eighths of an inch of steel.

The second lesson is that, at these extreme ranges, no gunnery officer can hope to see the fall of the shells accurately, however high up on the mast his control-tower may be. "Spotting" will have to be done by aeroplanes, and that means that every ship that carries big guns will also have to carry a couple of aeroplanes that can fly off from the ship and scout towards the enemy ship, in order to control the firing of the guns by wireless news of where each salvo falls.

Guns or Torpedoes?

Our present arrangement is that aeroplanes fly off from a short launching platform built over the gun-turrets; but these are only small scouts, and much larger and heavier types will be needed in future, since they will not be undisturbed while they are watching the fall of the shells, but will have to fight to maintain their positions.

This type of machine will want more room in which to make its preliminary run, and there will have to be a "flying-off deck." The Furious, which was originally meant to be a battle cruiser, but became an aeroplane ship, has a "flying-off deck" 300 feet in length. Something of the same sort will probably have to be provided in all our future battleships.

That sort of thing, of course, interferes with the gun-turrets, as we know them at present. How the difficulty will be overcome is still a puzzle to naval men. But torpedo experts (who are the natural enemies of guns) say hat it doesn't matter, because the increasing range and sureness of the torpedo will make it possible to carry fewer guns than at present, and to put torpedo tubes above the water-line in large numbers. Already some of our big ships have perfect nests of torpedo-tubes on their upper decks.

To get a perfect "flying-off platform," with no obstructions, we must, as we have seen in the Argus, get rid of the funnels. Is that to be done by running pipes aft under the eaves of the armor roof?

Perhaps. But it is not impossible that we may do away with funnels altogether if the marine engineers can produce a satisfactory motor-car engine which will take the place of the present steam-driven turbine machinery. But they have a big task in front of them. High speed is imperative for warships, and high speed means terrific horse-power in the engines. I know of a ship that has as much as 140,000 horse-power to drive her propellers.

Internal combustion engines have not produced that total yet in one installation. In our new big submarines—the K class, for example—we have had to give up internal-combustion engines for the main propelling machinery, and have installed a small edition of the turbines and steam boilers of our destroyers.

Another thing that would interfere with the clear run along the deck would be the navigating bridge; but that is a difficulty which we have already learned to get over. The bridge becomes simply a hydraulic lift. When you want to navigate the ship, you send the lift up from its resting place on the main deck, and, complete with chart house, compass platform, steering wheel, communication pipes, and everything else, it rises to its position.

Then there comes the need to send up an aeroplane. The officer in charge touches a button, the bridge-lift drops gently down again, and the roof of the chart house forms a part of the aeroplane platform, filling up the gap that would otherwise be left by the sinking of the bridge.

And another advantage would be that the roof of the bridge, like the rest of the deck, would be well armored. "Safety first" is a motto which stands good in the navy as elsewhere.

We talked over these things as we lay at our moorings below the Forth Bridge. We looked ever and anon at the humped-up Argus in the other line of ships.

90 P. C. OF TILLABLE EUROPE PLANTED

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Distress in Europe, so far as food grains are concerned, will disappear after the present harvests, according to John D. Shanahan of United States Grain Corporation, who arrived here to-day after an official tour of the grain-producing sections of Italy, the Balkans, Poland, Russia, Austria, Czeko-Slovakia, Germany, Belgium, Holland, and Northern France.

At least 90 per cent. of the tillable acreage of Europe is planted, Mr. Shanahan declared, and, despite a lack of fertilisers, proper tools for tillage, and unfavourable season in some sections, this vast planted area will help to drive away the "real distress" now existing abroad because of food shortages.

HIDE EMBARGO ONE OF A SERIES?

OTTAWA, Aug. 14.—The embargo on the export of hides and leather to the United States, passed at the urgent insistence of Dr. R. J. McFall, Cost of Living Commissioner, is not likely to be withdrawn despite much trade pressure.

It is stated to be only the first of several similar suggestions made for the reduction of the present cost of common commodities by conserving Canadian products for home use. The situation is a little complex by the fact that in normal times there is both export and import of hides and leather, but Dr. McFall thinks, in view of the statement that boots may be retailing at $30 some drastic step is necessary to prevent manipulation of our markets by foreign dealers who have no interest in the Canadian workingman.

The embargo is one of a series designed to reduce prices and to prevent further soaring.

Both appear vigorous and prosperous and are surprised at the growth attained by Peterboro since their residence there.—Lindsay Warder.

Dr. Riddell, superintendent of the labor branch of the Public Works Department, in speaking about the labor situation in the province, stated that work could be found for every man in the province. At present there are at least 10,000 men wanted in the lumber camps, and there are other lines of work at which men could be placed. ## "PRODUCE AND SAVE."

Greater production is a phrase that has outlived the war. Then it was a challenge to the "soldiers of the soil" and to factory workers who had no other chance to serve, now it is an exhortation to the people when they impatiently demand the settled conditions they expected with the restoration of peace. Unfortunately, it has lost its impellingly patriotic appeal. The world offers a market for our products with prices as attractive if not more so than a year ago, but producers are insisting upon an explanation of the discouraging fact that increased production has brought increased and not diminished prices.

The Governments of Canada and of other countries that are in a position to supply the needs of nations that cannot quickly recover from the effects of the war, are urging their peoples to produce and save. Industry and thrift now would go a long way in helping to reduce our huge debt, but the Government must realize that a public distracted by costs of living that seem to it unconscionably high are not in the mood either to maintain or redouble efforts that bring no relief. Under present conditions the spurring phrase has a hollow, mocking sound. When a commission appointed by the Government uncovers combines, restraint of trade and similar vicious methods of business, surely that should be sufficient evidence to warrant action by the Government more drastic than the doubtful efforts of the mere publication of the commission's report. If there is to be industry and thrift, and Canada sorely needs both virtues in her reconstruction period, the Government must take the initiative by creating conditions and the confidence that will make thrift to the great body of the people. A Cost of Living Commisioner and a Board of Commerce are determined to correct and prevent the abuses that have been so recently disclosed to them. Some one cynically remarked that every time the Government appoints a food commission prices immediately advance. Since the announcement of the Board of Commerce, there have been several notable increases. To-day's reports from the United States indicate that President Wilson's plan of attack on profiteering is making an impression on guilty consciences. The threat of heavy fines and imprisonment would sharpen the point of such instruments as a Board of Commerce or a Food Commissioner.

SOVIET GOVERNMENT AND BOLSHEVISM.

Efforts are being made to distinguish between the Soviet Government prevailing in Russia and Bolshevism. It is claimed that while the latter is undesirable and an evidence of the control of a Socialist party, just just as a particular party might control the affairs of the United States, nevertheless it is asserted that the Soviet Government is a form of government and desirable, no matter what particular party prevails and is in power. In other words, it is sought to make a distinction between Bolshevism and Sovietism.

There is a distinction, but neither is desirable. The Soviet form of government is something more than representative government through trades and groups instead of through territorial sections; it is a complete reversal of the economic and industrial experience of the centuries. It is the rule of the most ignorant peasants and the slavery and disfranchisement of all who have any property or who do not work with their hands or who employ any one. It is an overthrow of the systems whereby civilised society has progressed, poperty made safe, thrift rewarded, and marriage and home made sacred. Such a system of government has no virtue whatever and should not receive the slightest consideration of sane men and women.—New York Herald.

LIBERALISM AND TAXATION.

For a considerable time it has been becoming evident that the main business of democratic legislation in the immediate future is to be (1) government control and taxation of profits; (2) heavily graded income taxes and taxes on luxuries. The war with its legacy of debt, has only hastened the issue. Democratic countries like Australia and New Zealand have long shown us a lead in these directions, and now the common Canadian citizen is making up his mind that the richer a man is, the more he will have to pay for the upkeep of government. From him that hath shall be taken, for the common weal.

At last the Liberal party has definitely placed on its programme specific proposals towards this democratic end. Mr. King is the first Liberal leader who has looked at government in Canada, not from the lawyer's, but from labor's point of view, from the standpoint of the working proprietor of the farm and from that of the wage-earner in both town and country. All his working life hitherto it is known that Mr. King has devoted to the ultimate purpose of serving the people as a legislator, and into the advanced financial legislation which the Liberal platform forecasts he will put an unparalleled energy. He will be to Sir Wilfrid Laurier as Lloyd George to Gladstone. Both younger men were picked out by the elder statesmen as their probable successors, both are men of the people and bent upon democratic finance with a resolution that must be redoubtable to the selfish rich.

The budget is always the real battle ground of common rights and there is going to be a King budget that will put Canada in line with the new Britain that came about in 1910.

Professor Skelton has shewn in convincing figures the old world, almost mediaeval charactar of Canadian taxation as compared with that of Britain and the United States. Let the people of Canada keep one thing more than anything else firmly in view, the absolute need of taxation reform which shall transform this rich man's paradise into a land of neither poverty nor overbearing wealth. One reason why the protectionears are so anxious to keep up a tariff wall is that loss in indirect revenue may force all the sooner a vigorous direct taxation on wealth and luxuries, higher and higher death duties, etc. The flag will be waved, everything will be done, as usual, to obscure the main issue, followers of Mr. King will probably be called Bolshevists, but Canadians do well to recognise that the sine qua non for a democratic Canada is a fair and scientific reconstruction of taxation. This is the one thing to forestall Bolshevistic agitation.

The old cry will go up of course that heavy taxes on wealth will discourage initiative. But what profiteth it the mass of the people that the country should be prosperous in a few while the masses, struggling with an ever-mounting cost of living tend to glide down to the position of "wage slave"? What good to the nation at large is profiteering initiative, initiative that builds up selfish hoards? The only initiative worth while is that which works for the common weal and delights to be taxed for it. Liberalism will give the people at the next general election a choice between things as they are and a poor man's budget.—London Advertiser.

The gentle pastime of passing the buck already has a good start in the Senate. Flour at $14 a barrel is the cheapest of food, declares Senator McCumber of North Dakota. The meat packers are in no way to blame for the high cost of living. Senator Sherman of Illinois gives assurance. Brilliant alibis are doubtless ready also for all the rest.—Springfield Republican.

The milk problem can be stated arithmetically. The basic price per quart to the farmer for Board of Health standard milk delivered at the station is 6 2-3 cents in August, as against 8.66 cents in July; premiums for extra butter-fat added. Grade A milk in the city costs 18 cents; grade B milk 16 cents. Why the disproportionate difference?—New York World.

Instead of permitting guns to get into the hands of Mexicans, Uncle Sam ought to take them away. If the Mexicans had no guns and were thus reduced to the necessity of knifing one another or going to work some of them would go to work. But as long as a bad peon can ride around on a mule with a rifle on his shoulder he will be idle and quarrelsome. If there wasn't a cartridge in Mexico the republic would be in comparative peace. Uncle Sam is responsible for nearly all the ammunition now or ever in Mexico and to that exteat at least can be blamed for the slaughter of many of his own citizens.—Los Angeles Times.

Few People Know This

The big dose purges its way through the system fast, but does not cleanse thoroughly.

The small dose (if right) acts gently on the liver, and gives it just the slight help it needs to do its own work, and do it well.

Take one pill regularly, until you know you are all right.

Nature and the Indian

The Indian never liked work but he wanted his squaw to get well as soon as possible so that she could do the work and let him hunt, therefore he dug papoose root for her, for that was their great remedy for female weakness.

Dr. Pierce uses the same root—called Blue Cohosh—in his "Favorite Prescription" skilfully combined with other agents that make it more effective.

Women who are worn out, who suffer from pain at regular or irregular intervals, who are nervous or dizzy at times, should take that reliable, temperance, herbal tonic which a doctor in active practice prescribed many years ago. Now sold by druggists, in tablets and liquid, as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Woodstock, Ont.—"I cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Pierce's Medicines. I had nervous prostration and was completely 'down and out.' I was so bad the doctors considered mine a hopeless case. I was much discouraged and was ready to give up when I began taking the 'Favorite Prescription' and the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' These medicines put me on my feet again and gave me the only real relief. Being a nurse I have recommended Dr. Pierce's Medicines to many, especially the 'Favorite Prescription.' I know of many a woman mother to whom I have recommended 'Favorite Prescription' that has been wonderfully helped.

"I am glad to lend my name in connection with Dr. Pierce's Medicines, knowing how good they are."—Mrs. A. L. Bruce, 315 John Street.

THIN, FRAIL FOLKS NEED PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate To Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh And to Increase Strength Vigor and Nerve Force

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitrophosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by McDermid & Jury in Peterboro and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

Caution—Although Bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

POLICE COURT CASE FOLLOWS "SCOOP"

CITY EDITORS OF ST. CATHARINES PAPERS LAY CHARGES AGAINST EACH OTHER.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 14.—The interesting point whether a piece of newspaper copy has any intrinsic value, came before Magistrate Campbell in the Police Court, when City Editor Strong of the Daily Journel charged W. Arthur Moore, city editor of the Standard, with assault, and Moore charged Strong with theft. A fine of $10.00, with costs of $8.00, was imposed on Moore for the assault, and the theft charge was dismissed.

The case arose out of the report of a picnic, which was handed to Strong in the Standard office. Strong claimed that he did not know he had been intended to pass the copy on to Moore. In an argument over this point Moore struck Strong, and when the latter laid a charge of assault, Moore retaliated with one of theft.

Officials of the Standard declared that the paper had suffered through being unable to publish the report. The Magistrate ruled, however, that Strong had not intended to steal the "copy."

TO RESTORE BELGIAN FARMS.

Government Will Take Over Devastated Areas and Improve Them.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 13.—The Belgian Government has undertaken a vast project for reclaiming the devastated farm lands in the battle zone. The farms will be taken over from their owners and worked under the latest scientific principles and then returned in first-class condition to them.

Owners are to be paid 5 per cent. interest on the pre-war valuation of the property during operation by the Government, which, however, is prepared to purchase the land outright in the event of the owners not desiring to keep the farms.

King Albert will fix the limit of the operation of the project, which is designed merely to hasten, in the national interest, the restoration of the vast territory laid waste by shellfire.

HIGH HONEY PRICES MAY TAKE TUMBLE

MONTREAL DEALERS REFUSE TO PAY THE PRODUCERS' FIGURES.

MONTREAL, Aug. 14.—An interesting situation has developed in the local honey market. Around the time of the year, early this summer, when the Montreal dealer looked around him for his fall honey supplies, the producers in the nearby counties met and by mutual consent raised the price of honey to around 28 cents per pound.

The local firms offered between 20 and 24 cents, according to grade, but the producer, with faith in the combine, held to his high figure. That he will be able to maintain his present stand is doubtful.

An inspection of the province shows that the coming crop of honey will possibly be the largest for many years. Bee raisers state that they cannot raise a sufficient number of bees to supply the demand, showing that the honey producers are going in for the business on a large scale. The weather has been most excellent for the raising of honey.

When this large crop of honey is ready to be marketed, it will be found that dealers are not buying, and it is hardly likely that producers will care to have on hand the large quantity that is now in sight. It may be expected, therefore, that prices for honey will have a material reduction this fall.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

(Aug. 17, 1919.)

Christian Misions. Acts 1:8; 13:1; 14:28.

1. Acts 1:8. When does the Holy Ghost come upon a Christian?
2. What precisely is meant by the Holy Ghost coming upon us?
3. What relation is there between having the Holy Spirit, effectual testimony for Christ and missionary work?
4. Acts 13:1-3. How did the Holy Ghost speak to the Apostles?
5. What are the most essential qualifications for a missionary?
6. Verses 4-13. With a missionary field almost as wide as the world how should missionaries select the places to go to first?
7. How should missionaries overcome diculties, especially those men who would keep them from their work?
8. Verses 14-16. Why would it or not be an improvement if Christian ministers were to adopt the plan of the "rulers of the synagogue" and call upon strangers in the congregation who were fitted for the work, to address the congregation?
9. Verses 17-25. What did Paul expect to accomplish by giving this historic summary of God's dealings with Israel?
10. What outline history would you give of the Christian church if you were preaching the gospel for the first time, say, in China or Japan?
11. Verses 26-27. Was it innocent or guilty ignorance which caused the rulers of the Jews to crucify Jesus?
12. Was God desirous that the Jews would accept Jesus or reject and crucify Him? Give your reasons.
13. Verses 38-41. When God forgives a very bad, mean, contemptible sinner is the sinner made just as good as if he had never sinned?
14. What is the reason that the majority of people really do not believe and many treat with contempt, the gospel message of the forgiveness of sins?
15. Verses 42-52. Why was it that the Gentiles were made glad by the Gospel message and the Jews were angered?
16. Acts 14:1-7. What are the chief difficulties that missionaries now meet with in non-Christian countries?
17. Verses 8-18. Why is that God gave miraculous power to preaching of the Gospel in those days but does not do so in these days?
18. Verses 8-18. If a preacher in these days demonstrated the same miraculous power as Paul did how would he be treated by the people?
19. Verses 19-28. If a Christian in these days should show the same red hot determination and zeal all the time, and everywhere, as Paul did, how would he be treated by the church and the average Christian professor?
20. In what and how many respects is Paul a copiable example for present day missionaries and missionary work? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by the members of the club.)

Lesson for Sunday, Aug. 24: Social Responsibility. Luke 10:25-37; Gal. 6: 2, 9, 10; James 2:14-16.

INDIA WOMEN ASK BALLOT.

Appeal to Montagu Meets With Sympathetic Response.

LONDON.— A deputation of Indian women, who are permanent residents in this country, waited upon the Secretary of State for India, Mr. Montagu, to appeal for the enfranchisement of Indian women. The deputation included notable women whose works in art, literature, politics and finance are well known in both hemispheres. Most of them wore gorgeous Oriental costumes with beautifully jewelled Indian ornaments. The chief speakers for the deputation were the poetess, Mrs. Sarojini Naida; the singer and writer, Mrs. Sen and Mrs. Dehant.

Montagu expressed sympathy with the argument placed before him and declared that he would give the matter serious consideration, but couldn't commit himself to any definite promise.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

"Poor, Crazy Hobo"

By EDWIN BALMER

(Copyright.)

One crime remained for No. 32 mixed freight, west bound. Shorthanded and overloaded (five in the crew and eighty-three cars), she had "broken" twice, stopped for hot boxes four times, and had been forced to double over every hill from Crews to Stockton.

Therefore, at Benton she had "laid out" No. 17, east-bound passenger; at Jefferson she had held up No. 35, the fast freight of refrigerated perishables rushing to Chicago; at Evans she had delayed passenger No. 15 for half an hour; at Brunswick she had held back passenger No. 24; and last, at Lavern she had laid out, for almost an hour, the crack Transcontinental Express No. 9, east bound.

In ten minutes No. 32 would complete the calendar by laying out No. 10 also, the twin Transcontinental rushing up from behind. The siding at Stockton (which the freight had been allowed fifty minutes to reach from Lavern, ten miles back) was still eight miles ahead, and forty of the fifty minutes were gone.

The crew, out thirty-eight hours, were exhausted, exasperated, humiliated. They had freighted too long to mind the mere thirty-eight hours' exhaustion and exasperation, but this time the humiliation was overdone.

Their superiors had humiliated them personally and pointedly at the larger towns and by wire at the stops between. Their equals on the other trains had humbled them as they slunk into the sidings; but what was entirely intolerable, their inferiors and worse, the very hobos stealing rides on the train had mocked them and rubbed it in.

Thirty bobos had boarded the train at the hill beyond Lavern, overborne the weak crew, broken into a car of foodstuffs, and, after eating what they wanted, had scattered the rest along the right of way till it had ceased to amuse them.

The crew had found it best to sulk very silently in the caboose at the end of the train till the volley of stones smashing through the windows told that the tramps had departed. Then, as one man, the crew of No. 32 sprang forward for revenge.

The object was still asleep in the "empty" at the middle of the train. The crew had come upon him some hours before; but that was before they had learned the personal advantages of enforcing the rule to eject tramps, and before they had laid out the last two passenger trains and the Transcontinental, and received the telegraph comments thereon.

Harring kicked the object to consciousness while Kalvert and Bender, one on each side, picked him up. One of the others opened wider the big door of the box car.

"One," Harring remarked, with another kick, as Kalvert and Bender swung the hobo between them.

"Two," Harring kicked again. No. 32, in a last spurt to reach the siding before No. 10 could overtake it, put on speed and jumped ahead, but the men in the car did not heed it.

"Three!" The hobo, at the touch of Harring's foot, swung free from the hands on either side and dove out through the door in a low parabola. A howl! and for an instant a gray gulf appeared in the flying hedge beside the track.

"He's hit the road," muttered Harring. "What do you want to hurt a man for?" He blamed it upon the others. "Why couldn't you let him go into the bush?"

Kalvert spat upon the floor, but turned his face away from the lantern.

"We're hitting it up," he observed carelessly. "The damned hobo."

Bender grunted grimly.

The hobo drew himself up on his hands. He felt stunned and deadened all over, and was conscious more of a battered dullness than of pain. He had a numbed understanding that he must have been quite senseless after he struck—not for very long, but for a few moments anyway.

Yet as he dragged himself around and sat up, he saw that he could scarcely have lost consciousness. They had thrown him off half-way around a curve, and the red light of the caboose was still visible at the farther horn of the crescent.

He gazed at it stupidly and rubbed his eyes with his swollen knuckles, but still the red light persisted there, and it came to him slowly that the train must have stopped.

The wagon road the tramp had been thrown upon might lead to a town, but he couldn't tell how far off it might be, or in which direction. The train was there, and now that he was hurt the hobo thought he might get the crew to let him ride to the next station; if not, he might hide himself somehow.

He was wondering only whether he could catch them in time to ask them to let him on again; and if they wouldn't, he was planning where he might hide from them.

Then he saw that something was the matter with the train. The cars were not straight on the track, but were lying across it in every direction. The roofs had slid down and the sides bulged out. Big boards and barrels and boxes were thrown about, and as far as the tramp could see through the darkness, the wavy line of cars zigzagged crazily over both sides of the track. Some were rolled over on the sides.

But nowhere in the long line was there a sound or sign of life, although the little flaring wick in the red lamp at the rear of the train still burned. The tramp pulled the lamp from its fastening and walked along the wreckage, until, from under a pile of boards at his feet, he heard a groan.

The hobo kicked the boards and the groan sounded again. He leaned over and, with a queer, silly feeling at his weakness, tugged ineffectually at the planking. His fingers kept letting go their hold and he sat back helplessly, but he knew the man underneath was conscious now, for the mutterings were audible, though still incoherent.

"Number ten . . . ten . . . ten . . . ten . . . damn . . . ten . . . ten . . . ten—" the man underneath was saying as the bobo tugged over him.

The tramp tore a board free and the man below shuddered and twisted his head in the ragged hole.

"Number ten, damn you," he gasped in pain from the weight of which his lungs were relieved.

"Stop ten . . . ten . . . you damned hobo," he gasped as the pain gripped him again. "Stop ten—the express train behind us," he explained madly, "stop it . . . stop it . . . lantern there . . . run . . . run . . . run!—"

The hobo understood at last, and Harring sank back again unconscious.

The tramp was running mechanically, automatically, at the trainman's bidding. From far away the whistle of No. 10 came to him, half startled him from his automatism, and he raced on more consciously. His legs wobbled queerly as he forced them and he stumbled between the ties, sometimes staggering two or three steps backward to save his balance before he could lunge madly forward again.

The second screech from No. 10 echoed past him, and, as he looked fearfully ahead and did not see the engine, he suddenly recalled that he was on the curve and spurred on more desperately, throwing himself forward now as he stumbled and pressing himself up again with his free hand when he fell. It was quite two hundred yards to the beginning of the straight stretch which he must reach to signal the train.

Again No. 10 whistled, but now the sound, instead of coming around the crescent ahead, seemed to the tramp to come through the woods at his side, and, as he glanced aside, it seemed to come directly through the opening where a path ran through the trees. Spontaneously facing about to the direction of the shriek, the tramp raced into the cut-off.

The pound of the train now came to him clearly as he ran; but the smooth dirt of the path spread before him. Yet he lurched over it with high, strained strides, and, still feeling for the treacherous ties when they were no longer there to trip him, he slipped at first. But his stride soon adapted itself and he reeled on to beat the train.

To beat the train! The exhaust of the Transcontinental's great engine already hissed through the trees about him, yet he had to beat the train. He had to beat it, but he could hear it coming so fast that his little steps seemed nothing. He could feel the pain of his muscles and the beat of his feet upon the path, but compared with the tremendous rush of the train, he seemed held by a weight.

In the opening ahead he saw the track where it crossed his little path, and he had to beat the train to that track! Madly, thinking only to win the race, and to lighten himself, he hurled the signal lantern from him and seemed to gain a little.

The track showed plainly before him, almost at his feet, so plainly that he knew the headlight of the engine was almost over the spot where the path crossed it. To beat the train there—to beat the train. He didn't know where his strength came from or that it came at all till it stiffened his legs and steadied him. He was ten feet from the track, but the train was almost as near the crossing.

To beat it now—to win at the finish! The white glare of the headlight smote his eyes but he shut them and threw himself forward blindly, with his arms thrown out.

It was the end of the race, and wildly, madly now, the engine—the big, pounding engine beaten by the little man—roared to try to frighten him away and win after all; but the little man wouldn't be frightened or cheated. With the blind, reckless burst of his triumph, he gathered himself, hurtled forward—and beat the train to the track.

* * * * * * * *

"The crazy, damned hobo," the engineer of No. 10 sputtered to the group which gathered about the pilot. "Suicide; suicide, that's what it is. Jumped right out of the bushes there and threw himself under the wheels. Heard me whistle, didn't you? But he was bound to kill himself.

"Thought he might be crazy and I gave her mand and reversed her; but he was under the wheels as soon as I saw him. Suicide; suicide . . . love right under the wheels . . . and I'll get raked for killing him! Killing him? Lord!"

But the engineer of No. 10 was kneeling and fingering gently the rough cloth of the sleeve of the man lying under the pilot.

"Poor, crazy hobo," he murmured very softly, "poor, crazy hobo."

MUSIC IN THE HOME

PASSING THOUGHTS ON SCHOOL MUSIC.

Teachers like to have pupils for the period following the singing period. The children are then more alert, and more responsive.

Children should be encouraged in those recreations that they can continue with pleasure and profit when they become adults. Does anything fit that case like music?

Credit for music study, under certain prescribed conditions, is allowed in the regular school courses by the educational authorities in such cities as Boston, New York, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, and many others.

School children should not be taught music merely with the idea of making them musicians. They should be taught music so that as grocers, doctors, engineers, lawyers, mechanics, and housewives they will in after years get the great joy out of music that Providence intended they should.

A CHANGE SINCE CHARLES II.'S DAY.

A certain gentleman made the remark not long since that the only time he remembers of shedding tears was at the public funeral of a prominent statesman, when some twenty massed bands played certain of the old familiar hymns. The thrill and solemnity and pathos and grandeur of those strains were too much for him and tears streamed down the cheeks of this matter-of-fact business man. True it is that music has its place in the very presence of death. The funeral hymn has just as big a place in the heart of humanity, though in a different way, as the wedding song or the music incident to any other special occasion.

But this, it seems, was not always so. The Chaplain to King Charles the Second of England, Jeremy Taylor, wrote in his day: "God never rejoices in the death of him that dies; and we also esteem it indecent to have music at a funeral." It may be that the class of music that King Charles II. delighted in would have been indecent for funerals, but times have changed. To-day the funeral hymns are very often the favourites of and requested by the deceased. They are rendered in a manner becoming the carrying out of one of the last wishes of a departed friend. They comfort the mourners. They inspire right thoughts of the change we call death. They let in a little ray of sunshine through the gloom. This is only another instance of the peculiar and effective power of music in life.

WISE MEN SAY—

That you should forgive many things in others but nothing in yourself.

That to appreciate real love it isn't necessary to sample too many imitations.

That self-control and real faith are not only strength to their possessor, they also enable him to impart strength to others.

That you never realize how small this world really is until you try to dodge someone you do not want to meet.

That the fool with a good memory is full of ideas and facts; but he can't draw conclusions from them; everything turns upon that.

That carefulness is generated by interest in one's job, by determination to make good, by ambition to master the work in hand and to earn promotion.

ENNISMORE LAWN SOCIAL WAS A SUCCESSFUL EVENT

OVER SIX HUNDRED VISITORS PARTICIPATED IN THE FESTIVITIES —AROUND THE BOOTHS.

The people of Ennismore, well known for their hospitality, well sustained their reputation at the annual church picnic last night, and it is estimated that at least six hundred and fifty people from all parts of the surrounding country attended the entertainment. From as early as two o'clock, automobiles and carriages commenced to arrive bringing visitors from Lindsay, Peterboro, Downeyville, Chemong, and practically every neighboring town and the constant stream of arrivals continued during the entire afternoon and until late in the evening. For the occasion the committees had made the church grounds at the west of the parish hall most attractive with the gaily decorated booths and comfortable seating capacity and had spared no effort in making provision for the comfort of all who attend.

Clergy Present

A large representation of the clergy from the surrounding towns was present including His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, Dean McColl, Fathers O'Gorman, Cantillon, Guiry, Maguire Rogers of Chatham, N.B., O'Leary of Lindsay Captain the Rev. Costello and the rector of the Ennismore church, Rev. Father McAuley.

At the Booths

Galvin were in charge at the lottery booth Misses Stella Hickey, Molly Kennedy, Vivian Galvin, Lyde Killen, Josie Brick, Gertrude Murphy and Mr. George Lynch, were in charge, the latter making as usual an enterprising and convincing auctioneer of beautiful hand worked articles the booth held. At the soft drink booth Wm. F. Cavanagh, James Killen and John Flood were in charge, at the ice cream and candy booth, Miss Lillian Crough, Norielle Crough, Clara Young and Vincent Hickey. The fish pond in charge of Miss Nellie Killen, Miss Clara Harrington Miss Dora DeSorcy and Miss Geraldine Kennedy attracted both young and old during the entire entertainment.

Fowl Supper.

At 4.30 o'clock the doors of the parish hall in which the fowl supper was served, were opened and the visitors flocked to enjoy one of the daintiest and best cooked repasts imaginable consisting of chicken, salads, cakes and pies, served under the supervision of a committee of Mrs. Killen, president, Mrs. Michael Conway, Mrs. Will Young, Mrs. Jack Flood, Mrs. Wm. Harrington and Mrs. Michael Doran. The committee was assisted from the time of opening until 7 o'clock by the young ladies of the parish who made charming and efficient waitresses. At 7 o'clock the married ladies relieved the girls and were kept busy until 9 o'clock.

Chemong Band Present.

At about 8 o'clock the Chemong band arrived at the picnic and provided an excellent programme of spirited music until a late hour when the crowd reluctantly returned to their homes.

NOT ENOUGH TIME GIVEN?

H. H. Dewart Says Period for Voters' Appeals Is Curtailed.

TORONTO, Aug. 14.—Charges that insufficient time is being allowed for appeals against the Provincial voters' lists in North-west Toronto, have been made by H. H. Dewart, K.C., leader of the Ontario Liberal party. Mr. Dewart states that the Election Act provides for fifteen days' notice of the holding of the Revision court, and allows ten days after the posting of the lists for the filing of the appeals. In the present instance, he states, the time for appeals has been shortened to ten days, and the notice of the holding of the court to eight. "Every voter will have to look after himself and see that he is on the list," declared Mr. Dewart. "The artisan Conservative enumerators have had control of the situation, and their friends no doubt will have the fullest information. Others should watch the advertisements, daily, to learn the date for appeals in the various constituencies."

MAKE HELIGOLAND REFUGE FOR BIRDS

Ornithologists in Great Britain and U. S. Suggests Use for Former Fortress .

LONDON.— On the question of Helgoland as a birds' paradise, L. Nardiner, Secretary of the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds, says:

"The bird-lovers' scheme for Helgoland was that the island should be an international bird observation station and a birds' sanctuary. There was no suggestion whatever in this connection that it should be restored to Germany. A resolution to this effect was carried at the annual meeting of the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds, and was forwarded to the British Peace Delegation."

Dr. W. J. Hoardy of New York, a leader of the wild life protection movement in the States, cordially seconded the appeal, and wrote Mr. Lansing urging that if Helgoland could not be given back to England it should be neutralized as a naval base and placed upon the map as an international reservation for the protection of birds.

"The value of the rock for this purpose, situated as it is in the mid-stream of migration, is well known to ornithologists and has been abundantly proved by the work of Cathe."

GIRL BANK CLERKS ARE EQUAL TO MEN

TORONTO, Aug. 14.—"There is no reason why the average girl should not be able to do bank work as well, if not better, than the average man." This is the opinionof Miss M. Blenkarn who, since the outbreak of the war, has held a position of responsibility in one of the English banks, and who has just arrived in Toronto on her first visit to Canada. Miss Blenkarn has been in charge of girl workers for a greater part of her four years' experience in the bank, and has found them keen, quick and steady. Miss Blenkarn said she had found the girls far more conscientious than the men, though, as she added later, the criticism was hardly a fair one, since the girls with whom she came in contact were working in the banks simply in a war service capacity, and hence were more enthusiastic.

"We were all in it together," she added, "trying to keep the country going while our boys fought for us in France. Of course, the work was hard at first, and the nerve tension in bank work is hard to get used to, but we all had our hearts in the work and after the first few months we found the work very easy."

"I must say I have not as yet formed a particularly favourable opinion of the country, but my views are very much prejudiced by a rather unpleasant voyage and I feel that when I become more accustomed to it I shall like Canada very much."

Miss Blenkarn came across on the Canada, which for days plied its way with considerable danger through fog and icebergs. She describes very visibly the five days when the boat's movements were hardly perceptible, and when she crept through the dense fog with the greatest caution. "We were afterwards informed by the captain that we barely escaped collision with one of the bergs, though all we knew at the time was that the boat took a sudden swerve and stopped dead for a few minutes."

Keep your sewing machine thoroughly cleaned if you would have it operate properly.

OBJECTS OF THE CITIZENS' LIBERTY LEAGUE WERE CLEARLY EXPLAINED

IS OPPOSED TO PROHIBITION, BUT DOES NOT FAVOUR RETURN OF THE BAR—DISAVOWS CONNECTION WITH LIQUOR INTERESTS—AIMS BROADER THAN PROHIBITION QUESTION.

SERGT. HAIGHT SPOKE

"Prohibition is not British. The necessity of having to fight for liberty under the Union Jack is paradoxical and absurd," stated Sergeant C. F. Haight, of Toronto, at the organization meeting of the Citizens' Liberty League last night in Victoria Hall.

The meeting, which was opened by the chairman, Mr. J. Guise-Bagley, was attended by about one hundred people. Mr. Bagley, in his opening remarks, explained that the League represented no party, creed, or any particular section of the community; it was composed of all parties and all creeds; its aim was the protection of the liberties of the public. He then introduced the speaker of the evening, Sergt. Haight, of Toronto, an organizer for the League, a and a brother of the Crown Attorney of Parry Sound. He said that this was merely a "get together" meeting for the purpose of organization. A mass meeting will be held next week, at which Col. Machin, President of the League, will be present.

"Prohibitionists are attempting to set us back a thousand years," he said "The purpose of the League is to fight them. "Liberty" as the League uses it, does not mean "license." The idea of liberty has been in the minds of many men for several years and has resulted in the formation of the Citizens' Liberty eLague It originated in Cobalt and spread from there to Toronto .At present its membership in Toronto alone is estimated at more than 40,000. Its executive is headed by Sir Edmund B. Osler, with Col. H. A. C. Machin, M.P.P., as President, and is composed of bankers, lawyers, professional and military men, and men of prominence in all trades. But the common labourer is as good as the millionaire in this movement."

Continuing he stated that the League was steadily gaining in strength; soon its progress would be startling. But it had to fight the best organized party in the world to-day, the Prohibition party. The Committee of One Hundred in Toronto has more power than either political party in the province.

"But the principle of the prohibitionists is what might be termed "arm chair philosophy," the sort which says, "Why don't they make laws to prohibit it," to anything which is offensive to them.

Sergt. Haight next pointed out the methods used by the Prohibition party to gain their ends. While working for the Coal Administration in the United States last year he had occasion to notice this. In one State a certain political party desired control of the power interests. The Prohibition party promised them the power interests if they would reciprocate by aiding the Prohibition party's policy. Prohibition was not forced in the States uptil a great part of the men were in the army and thus unable to vote. The Sergeant characterized such methods as "damnable and unfair."

Furthermore he pointed out that if the world goes to one extreme it soon swings to the opposite one. Thus, if prohibition were secured, conditions would after a time become worse than they were before. The prohibitionist labels both the drunkard and the man who takes an occasional glass of beer as "sots." The Bible says, "Thou shalt not kill." If so why not prohibit weapons? "Is drinking worse than killing?" the speaker asked.

Sergt. Haight next quoted Mr. Burnham's statement in yesterday's papers and remarked that it put the matter up to one question, "Was the Lord a prohibitionist?" He answered his question with "no."

The League desired regulation, not license. It was not in favour of the open bar. But it was, he said, in favour of a man's getting whiskey without having to lie to a doctor for a prescription. Prohibition was merely a case of trying to make a man good by law, and led to an increase in the use of drugs.

"Liquor," he continued, "is a natural medicine. For example, the American army in France was a prohibition army, and its death from disease exceeded its casualties in action because the men were denied liquor. But the next article to be prohibited will be tobacco. At present, at the headquarters of the W.C.T.U. in Youngstown, Ohio, are tons of literature against tobacco ready to be distributed. The prohibitionists will go to any extreme.

The League desires that the question of prohibition be put up squarely to the people of Ontario. The referendum is the nearest approach to this. But it is feared that there are many irregularities in the preparation of the voters' lists for the referendum."

In conclusion Sergt. Haight said that the liquor question was not the only one which the League would attack. Its principles were far broader than that. The protection of the liberties of the people against interference is its aim.

"There are no liquor interests behind it. Neither the liquor men nor their money is wanted."

Mr. Guise-Bagley then thanked the speaker and stated the regulations regarding membership in the League. The membership fee is one dollar and all inquiries may be made at Mr. Guise-Bagley's office, 440 Water street. About twenty men paid in their membership fees last evening.

WHEAT TESTS

Tests in comparing eight-inch with four-inch drilling of grain with wheat and oats carried on at the Ohio Experiment Station are being viewed by agricultural specialists as particularly significant in dealing with the problems in economic grain production. It has been claimed that four-inch drills, because of the closer rows, would give larger yields than the eight-inch drills, but this is not the case, as eight-inch drilling has shown a larger [illegible] although the gain has been only about one bushel of grain to the acre, and 60 pounds of straw.

With oats, covering a four-year period, there is a gain in favor of eight-inch drilling, the gain being four bushels of grain and 51 pounds of straw to the acre.

The results of the tests were averaged from yields secured since 1915, and from different rates of seeding per acre.

STATEMENTS OF PROMINENT AUTHORS AND LEADERS OF THE PEOPLE, WITH ADDITIONS.

(COMPILED BY T. TOOMS)

Were the solidarity of industrialism to be lost, despotism would again make headway. For the heritage of liberty is not a free gift. So far the heritage of liberty has been wrested from the employing class by a united proletariat, and it has proved again and again that man for man, there is as much sagacity in the working man as in any other class of society. Democracy is not perfect, but it is the least imperfect thing the human race has thus far produced.

Lord Coleridge, when Chief Justice of England, declared the right of inheritance a purely artificial right. All laws of property must stand upon the foot of general advantage, for a country belongs to its inhabitants. The laws of property are like all other laws, to be changed when public good demands it. The sanctity of private fortunes over every other sanctity came from pagan Rome.

It would appear that some of our Crown Attorneys are of the Pontius Pilate type, chosen because conscience was not a part of their make-up, but brutality and moral bluntness are their qualities. When a thinker or reformer is questioned they make it their business in spite of conscience and justice to crucify or deport the man because he stirs up the people. Humiliation is the principle on which slave masters operate. It is not hard to understand the hysterias of the capitalist, when they perceive the new order of society. When the world's workers shall be the world's owners, it hurts vested interests. The proletariats are no longer sheep at the mercy of ravenous wolves. They have discovered that a civilization founded on property rights as we have in Canada, is built upon the sands, and will not stand the backwash when the rain sets in. Only a civilization founded upon human rights, with property as a subordinate, can permanently endure.

CHAPTER II.

"If the light that is in the world be darkness, how great is that darkness."

The toiler is worked upon as a machine, and if that machine dare protest, a few deportations now and then seem to be looked upon as a good policy on the part of the capitalist. It supplies the element of intimidation, so essential to an industrialism based on profits and human degradation. Slave labour never yet produced art, and never will; creative art, under oppression, takes a chill and sickens. The effect defective comes by cause, for the vices of civilization have indeed taken the vices of barbarism, and are more to be feared. But the war is now over, and the world's peace is signed, and we now enter upon a new era of revolutionary change, a revolution of thought and feeling. The revolution is fundamental inasmuch as it touches the springs of action in the great mass of the proletariat, and a failure to appreciate that the minds of the people have been deeply influenced by equalitarian ideals, or to under-estimate the popular resentment of class privileges, whether based on accident of birth or upon possession of wealth will be fatal in the future of the government and political parties alike. These are conceptions which will determine the politics of the future. The seething at the bottom of society is of favourable omen. Stiffened by manly fibre, refusing doles of charity, the working class should eb the saviour of humanity, of a civilization threatened with dry rot. For charity, the working class should be him that gives, and softens him that takes. Neighbourly help, man to man, is acceptable. Charity does more harm to the poor than exploitation, because it makes them willing to be exploited. It breeds slavishness, which is moral suicide. There is nothing so safe for society as justice, and the workers must display as much practical sagacity in advancing their cause as their enemies do in opposing it. There is need for shrewdness in combatting shrewdness. The economic distress is mounting day by day. free men have been pushed nearer to the verge of slavery. We should be proud of the toiler, his absence of can't, the rugged facing of facts, his elemental simplicity, his first hand contact with the realities of life. Who is his superior? A person without these things is the loser, and has only a fancied superiority. Everyone must admire a thoroughbred type of a man, meandering brings disgust. Agitators come from those who feel and think. Those that accept a place in the bread line, free blankets, night shelter and soup kitchens, have not the firm material out of which Democracy forges her weapons. Self respect is a thing to be desired more than a full stomach. Hunger bites sharp, but a sense of wrong bites sharper. Democracy is an enthusiasm or it is nothing. Above all, Democracy needs leaders, who shall refuse to be absorbed in the meshes, and who ask, "Are the powers that be, the powers that ought to be." The worker has looked in vain to the church to preach a gospel of self respect, and a kingdom for a new and democratic order of society for whose coming Jesus lived and died, a society of happy hearted workeres, the industrial commonwealth of heaven. If this be dreams to the worker, we may me sure it's nothing less than a nightmare for the capitalist class.

Religion is now used as a check upon the people administering its cocaine of political quietism to the restive slave. Who knows that the life of man is grounded on economics. Religion of the present day is partner with the privilege class, from the fact that the capitalist rules six days in the week, and the church the seventh day. Jesus was crucified because He was looked upon as an enemy of the existing order of society by the ruling oligarchy. His followers were put to death on the charge that they were dangerous to social stability. As Rome understood it they were. History repeats itself, for theirs was a social system that degraded many to exalt a few, whose government was irresponsible and was forced by might, not right. The cross that topped Calvary's hill and the working man there put to death, lingeringly typed the lot that has been meted out to the wage class, through a long historic story; labour has known the wormwood and the gall.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even colour, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the same troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Home On The Empress of Britain—Soldiers Eager to See Their Native Land.

No place takes the place of home. It is pleasant to be going home—going home from the field or the office, a baseball game or the threatre, a party or a banquet—it is nice to be going home from anywhere, for home is better than anywhere else. At home we meet the men, women and children who are dearest to us, and to whom we are the dearest. The home folks welcome us with smiles and laughter and with rejoicing words. Even the friendly old dog greets us with paw shakes and barks a greeting. If we have a rich home it seems to us the most luxurious in the world, and if it is a humble home it is rich in our eyes. And the longer we are away from home and the farther we go wandering, the happier we are to return. The exile is happiest of all when he goes back to the old hearth.

Many thousands of Canadian soldiers have been in foreign lands during the recent war; some of them have been absent for over four years. You would need to be one of them to know the rapture they experience as the ship on which they sail approaches their native soil. Here are a few of the impressions of A. G. B. H., one of a number of soldiers who recently arrived at Quebec on one of the Canadian Pacific ocean liners:

The feet of these returning are very sore, but their hearts are glad; their limbs are full of weariness, but their souls are full of song; the moving finger has written and moved on and they who guided it to write the word "Liberty" upon the scroll of the world's history laugh and forget the years as they see your handiwork upon this old shed.

"Welcome Home."

My heart sings as I write.

A man on the vessel is looking through a pair of binoculars as the ship approaches; a tense eagerness draws lines of anxiety in his already furrowed face; he is seeking for a sign he has been told is lettered on the wall—a sign to assure him that Canada is awaiting him—waiting to take him in her mother arms and smooth away the ache of years of separation. Presently his face lightens; as he drops the glasses his eyes are seen to hold a passionate fire. "It's there, boys!" he calls. "It's right there on the shed! Welcome Home!" Immediately the air, surcharged with suspense becomes lightened, faces are brighter, smiles radiate the faces of these boys, and then there is a rousing cheer and a babble of conversation. There is a shout, "Home it is boys—they're there awaiting. Welcome home! Hurrah!" And some one says: "Look at that engine—see the smoke. Everything's bigger in Canada—there is even more and blacker smoke from the old engine!"

You who read, if you could see right down deep into the hearts of these men you would understand just how much this homecoming means to them. Their hearts are bursting, their arms are stretching out to you, their nostrils distend to catch the odor of the pine woods, their eyes are boring holes in space and in the smoke from that noisy locomotive they conjure up a picture of you, their mothers and fathers, of you, their sisters, their sweethearts and their wives; can't you see them standing at the door, feel their strong arms around you, their kiss upon your lips and hear their barely whispered sigh of contentment. "At last—home again!"

How happy you must be, and proud to have them home again. Hold them lightly and try to make up for these hard bitter years—as they will assuredly work their utmost to compensate you for years of equally bitter and agonizing suspense—and prayer.

BARBARA IS ANXIOUS BECAUSE NEIL IS DRINKING.

CHAPTER XLI

When Neil came home to dinner I saw at once that his mood had changed. He was almost uproariously happy. That he had been drinking was obvious, yet he seemed not at all elated because of that, but on account of something deeper—more permanent.

It was tingling with resentment. He had spent hours, the day before, calling on Blanche Orton; how did I know that he had not been there again that afternoon He ate very little dinner, but emptied his glass several times. And he talked, talked gaily, as a person talks when something which has caused them anxiety, is done with.

When I begged him not to drink any more, he became repentant, and pushed his glass away. Then, as we sipped our coffee, he told me little—just enough to give hint as to the cause of his actions of the past few days.

"That damned Scott thought he was mighty smart" he said, apropos of nothing. I fairly held my breath, hoping he would go on.

"What did he do" I could wait no longer.

"Tried to bluff me! He ran up against the wrong fellow, I can tell you. Got cold feet and tried to make trouble for me. But I headed him off— took his stock off his hands. I'll show him he can't fool with me."

His voice was strident, loud.

"What did he want to get rid of it for?"

"Said it wasn't worth the paper it was written, or some such thing. Tried to queer me with Frederick too. But he fell down there. Frederick stood pat.

I turned cold with dread. Mr. Frederick had a motive in telling me he would be my friend. Had he already proven a friend? Had he stood "pat", as Neil had said, because of his friendship—for me?

"Where—who took his stock?" I asked. "Mr. Frederick?"

"No—what made you think it was Frederick"

"What you said—that he 'stood pat.'"

"It was a good friend of mine who did it—a very good friend." He then buried himself in the paper, while I wondered who the "very good friend" could be, at the same time feeling relieved it had not been Mr. Frederick,—the man who had offered to serve me if ever there should be need.

"Go to bed, Bab. You are the tired-looking one to-night."

I was tired. The emotion I had felt during the last days, added to my physical condition, had left me weak and nervous. Tears were ready to start at the slightest provocation; almost at no provocation at all. So I hurried to bed, sighing gratefully as I slipped between the cool sheets.

It was good to have Neil more like himself. It must have been terrible to have that horrid Mr. Scott throw the stock on his hands after he had thought it sold. Poor Neil. No wonder he was anxious and worried. Men had it rather hard, after all. They had such financial worries—men of big business affairs like Neil.

It was so tired that I fell asleep almost immediately. And never wakened until the sunlight was streaming in at the windows the next morning.

Neil had gone down-town, leaving word that under no consideration was I to be disturbed. That I was to rest.

"Dear Neil," I said as I sat up in bed and lazily sipped my coffee. "We will soon be so happy that you will have no thought for anyone or anything but those who belong to you." Yet as I slipped down among the pillows for another half hour, I remembered that he had said nothing of his call on Blanche Orton.

Try Magnesia For Stomach Trouble

Doubtless, if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried pepsin, bismuth, soda, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little bisurated magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, oxide or milk, but the pure bisurated magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form. Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach, which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn, and the bloated or heavy lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that, provided you take a little bisurated magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and moreover the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

COLLECTION OF "DONT'S" FOR THE POULTRY RAISER

Don't forget that grit is the hen's teeth.

Don't forget that a broody hen setting a few hours on fertile eggs will spoil them for eating.

Don't forget that eggs are porous and will absorb bad flavors if they are placed near them.

Don't think that spoiled feed can be fed to laying hens and still have good flavored eggs.

Don't feed poultry at irregular times.

Don't keep a male bird with hens not intended for breeding.

Don't blame the incubator for poor hatches when the breeding stock lacks in vitality.

Don't waste good eating eggs in an incubator if you are not reasonably sure they are fertile.

Don't fail to keep the poultry house clean, dry and sanitary.

Don't have filthy nest boxes; see that they are cleaned and have fresh litter occasionally.

Don't keep the loafers. They make better soup than anything else.

Don't nail roots to the wall; have them so they can be removed for cleaning.

Don't forget to keep a record of your operations. If you want a good form, write Poultry Division, Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Don't fail to let plenty of sunlight into the poultry house.

Don't say your chicks died of white diarrhoea, when it was your carelessness that killed them.

Don't buy a cheap incubator, and think it should hatch every egg.

Don't blame the weather when you find that leaky brooders are full of dead chicks.

Don't think you can make a success of poultry because you have failed at everything else.

Don't give up hope, however, without a fair trial; it may be just where you belong.

WILSON'S FLY PADS

Kill them all, and the germs too. 10c a packet at Druggists, Grocers and General Stores.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

If you are accustomed to wake up with a coated tongue, foul breath or a dull, dizzy headache; or, if your meals sour and turn into gas and acids, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

To-morrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal.

Those subject to sick headaches, backache, bilious attacks, constipation or any form of stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning inside-bath. It is said that men and women who try this become enthusiastic and keep it up daily. It is a splendid health measure for it is more important to keep clean and pure on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing disease, while the bowel pores do.

The principle of bathing inside is not new, as millions of people practice it. Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate set on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.

EFFECT OF TEMPERATURE ON BUOYANCY ON AIRSHIP

Weather observations are even more important to an airship than to waterborne craft. Temperature has a great deal to do with the buoyancy of an airship. Here, however, we behold a paradox; for the officer, prior to a flight, carefully shades his thermometer from the rays of the sun before reading it, although his airship is going to be exposed to full sunshine.

It is the same paradox that gives rise to indignation in the bosom of the average citizen when, at the close of a boiling July day, he reads the official weather report, according to which the highest temperature was only ninety. He feels positive it was at least a hundred—and so it was over a sunbaked pavement.

The universal practice of taking air temperatures in the shade is not sheer perversity on the part of the weather man. He would like to be able to answer the question: "How hot is it in the sun?" Unfortunately this question merely prompts another: "How hot is what in the sun?" A thermometer exposed to the sunshine registers the temperature of the glass and metal of which it is made, not the temperature of the air.

The shaded thermometer registers more or less accurately the temperature of the air, perhaps the most important factor of weather. The thermometer is doubly protected by its wooden case. Perhaps there is also a ventilating device in the shape of a revolving fan.

An alternative to reading the thermometer in the shade is to whirl it rapidly in the air at the end of a cord. The excessive heat when the instrument absorbs is immediately lost by conduction to the air.—Popular Science.

HAMILTON VETS HEAR OF COMING GRATUITY.

Rumor Says Government to Consider $1.00 for Each Day's Service.

HAMILTON, August 14. — From a reliable source at Ottawa comes the information that the Government is about to consider three different propositions concerning additional gratuity. They follow:

(1) That a lump sum be paid in December to all men who served in France.

(2) That all ex-members of the C. E.F., receive as additional gratuity one dollar for every day's service from enlistment to discharge.

(3) That the equivalent to a captain's pay be paid to all ranks ac-

BUS LINES IN FUTURE AN END OF TROLLEYS

PROPHECY OF A WESTERN ALDERMAN AFTER OBSERVING LARGE CITIES OF THE EAST.

KANSAS CITY.—"I am neither a prophet nor the son of a prophet," said Alderman Isaac Reicher at the City Hall, "but after a month's stay back East I maintain that any ordinary man, with the least spark of vision, can see that the days of street railways are numbered. The time is coming, and it will not be long in coming, when there will be no such thing as permitting a corporation to lay permanent tracks in a city street.

Demand Rapid Service.

"It is the age of progress. With progress has arisen a demand for rapid transportation. People like to get to and from their work as rapidly as possible and they are willing to pay for it. In New York I was surprised to find lines of motor buses running out as far as One Hundred Sixty-eighth Street. They go out one street and come back another, the cars being numbered to indicate the route they operate over. These buses seat fifty passengers, twenty-five below and twenty-five on top. No one is permitted to stand. Whenever a car gets its load it moves directly ahead without delay. I made an investigation of the system and found that no one had to wait longer than two minutes for a bus. Fare is ten cents.

"In Chicago I found a similar condition, bus lines covering nearly as great a distance as in New York; running on schedule, no one standing and loaded all the time. People there take an evening's outing by getting a top seat on a bus and making several round trips along the lake front. If the drivers break even, or run at a loss during the day, they get all their money back and make a profit between 7 and 12 o'clock at night.

"To my mind this is to be the mode of transportation of the future; there is no use denying it. The manner in which bus lines are patronized indicates that people are willing to pay the price. It has been said that such lines could not operate in Kansas City because of prohibitive grades. the steamer Lapland on Saturday.

A LIVING WAGE IN PARIS.

Estimate Made by a Newspaper Fixes Sum at $975 a Year.

As the absolute minimum for maintaining a man and wife in Paris under the present cost of living, $975 a years is the estimate made after a detailed investigation by the Socialist newspaper L'Oeuvre, this allows for the smallest quantity of food capable of keeping them in health and permits of no extra expenses, such as use of tubes, omnibuses, the purchase of newspapers, pleasures, or even the replacement of worn-out household articles. The possibility of obtaining supplies at figures so low as those taken is, however, disputed.—London Mail.

SHE SUFFERED FIVE YEARS

Finally Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Key West, Fla.—"For five years I suffered from irregularities, with terrible pains and an awful weakness in my back. The doctor gave me different medicines but they did me no good. A friend asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I found it to be the best medicine I ever tried because it made me well, and I can now do my housework. I am telling my friends about it."—Mrs. J. M. CAMUS, 726 Caroline St., Key West, Florida.

Many women at some period in their life suffer from ailments peculiar to their sex and which in most cases may be readily relieved by this famous root and herb medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, just as Mrs. Camus found it helped her after suffering for years and trying everything else in vain.

TRYING TO EXCUSE THE CAVELL MURDER

Berlin Newspaper Declares Court-Martial Was Unanimous.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 14.—An attempt to relieve German authorities of blame for the execution of the British nurse, Edith Cavell, in Brussels, on October 12, 1915, is made in an article printed in the Berlin Deutsche Allegemeine Zeitung received here. The article, which it is asserted, is based on documentary evidence, says Edith Cavell was an assistant of Prince Reginald of Croy, abused the trust placed in her as one enagged in philanthropic work, by concealing officers and men of Allied nationalities until they could cross the frontier.

Miss Cavell's guide, Gillies, is said in the article to have conducted 900 men over the border. Sentence of death was imposed upon Miss Cavell by court-martial, it is asserted, by an unanimous decision, and the sentence was confirmed principally because the Germans had found the nurse had been guilty of a breach of trust.

AIRPLANE FLEW TO HEIGHT OF OVER 30,000 FEET.

PARIS, Aug. 15.—A new world's altitude record of 30,000 feet is said to have been established for an airplane with passenger here by Lieut. Weiss, the pilot, and Mechanician Bgue, according to the newspaper Auto.

The flight, which took 52 minutes, was made at Villa Coublay, near here. The aviators' instruments showed that they experienced a temperature of more than 21 degrees Fahrenheit below zero. The official figures on the ascent will be made public later.

HENRY FORD WINS HIS LIBEL SUIT

JURY AWARDS THE AUTO KING SIX CENTS DAMAGES.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Aug. 15.— A jury last night awarded Henry Ford six cents damages against the Chicago Tribune for calling him an anarchist.

Orvy Hulett, foreman of the jury, said that they took "nine ballots that I can remember," the first one standing 8 to 4 in favour of awarding Mr. Ford some damages.

"Does the award of six cents about express the feelings of the jury as to the case?" a reporter asked Mr. Hulett.

"It just about does. That expresses our judgment."

Attorney Alfred J. Murphy, for Mr. Ford, said: "The important issue in this case has been determined favourably to the plaintiff. He has been vindicated. Money damages were entirely subordinate and were not sought by Mr. Ford. He stands not only vindicated, but has attitude as an American citizen has been justified after a trial which raised every issue against him which ingenuity and research could present. His friends are entirely satisfied."

Weymouth Kirkland, of counsel for the Tribune, said: "We consider it a victory for the reason that Attorney Alfred Lucking, in closing for Mr. Ford, stated that anything less than substantial damages would be a defeat for his client."

PLENTY OF OIL IN SOUTH AMERICA

Marked Decline in the Price of Gasoline Will Follow.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.— Central and South American republics will soon rank second only to Mexico as oil-producing countries, according to W. E. Griffiths, of Pittsburg, who arrived here from Colombia on the United Fruit Company's steamer Turrialba, after a trip through that country for New York oil interests.

The output of oil which the tropical countries will yield in the next few years will bring about a marked decline in the price of gasoline in the United States, he asserted. In Colombia, he said, the development of the oil wells is just beginning.

THE MAN WHO FAILS.

The man who fails is the sort of a chap,
Who is always looking around for a snap;
Who neglects his work to regard the clock;
Who never misses a chance to knock.

He is grouchy and slow when work begins;
When it's time to quit, he jokes and grins,
He's always as busy as busy can be,
When he thinks the boss is around to see.

He believes that a "pull" is the only way
By which he can ever draw bigger pay;
And he sulks and growls when he sees his plan
Upset by the "push" of another man.

He's on the job when he draws his pay;
That done, he soldiers his time away;
While the men who tackle their jobs with vim,
Keep pushing and climbing ahead of him.

For the man who fails has himself to blame,
If he wastes his chances and misses his aim;
He'd win, if he'd use his hands and wits;
The man who fails is the man who quits.

—Charles R. Barrett.

The Editor's Advantage.

Did you ever stop to think of how many more whacks the editor gets at his victim than any other business man in town does? With the editor the whacking process lasts from the cradle to the grave. When a person is born, even before the preacher gets a chance to baptize him, the editor has congratulated the happy parents and has specified in extravagant phrases the weight, sex and pedigree of the new arrival. At the christening the editor often manages to squeeze out a personal item of interest to his readers, which is far better than the preacher can do, for he has to charge up his labors to the Lord, who is far harder to get cash out of even than a subscriber. When the victim graduates from the town High school the editor generally expects to reap about a column of good reading matter and often prints a picture. Then if the victim gets married, the preacher gets five dollars worth and editor gets twenty-five dollars worth of surprise for his readers. When Mr. Victim gets sick the doctor gets a faint chance of some day collecting a bill against him, but the editor has some cash news every day, telling the patient's "many friends" how he is getting along. And then if he dies, the editor gets the most valuable news of all. Not that he is ever glad of the misfortune, but the news is worth money to him just the same. Maybe the undertaker gets a little more than the editor, but it is the only chance he has had at the victim during his whole career, while the editor has been pulling something out of him all along the line.

Not so much in the putting on of airs or fine and costly apparel, bespeaks the lady or the gentleman, as does politeness and good manners.

Sunshine in the face, sunshine in the heart and sunshine in our homes if we would be healthy and happy Catch the sunshine in all the living rooms, roll up the shades and let the flowers and the children—those dearer human flowers—bask in the sunshine, the life of the world, that is now in the springtime calling the grass, the wild flowers and all vegetation from their damp, cold beds to answer to its greeting. The trailing arbutus that sweetest flower of the New England springtime, is now peeping out from beneath its covering of green leaves; to greet its warm smiles the sweet song birds trill forth their sweetest melodies a sunrise. And in the winter how we welcome the sunshiny days. It changes our gloom to gladness. Then let us gather in all we can, that when the dark days come we can still have its beams radiate our faces, purify our hearts, and glorify our own lives and also the lives of others. Let us daily sing the bright song of sunshine.—Aunt Prue.

Keep in good health—though adverse winds blow and a chilly atmosphere prevails. True the way is rough—exceedingly rough and the winds are keen and pierce us through and make us shrink from duty. But hesitate not, face the blast firmly, determinedly, good naturedly and hopefully, and when the better days dawn, when the clouds have dispersed and all is sunshine, how sweet and satisfactory will be the rest in the noonday of life knowing our work is done and that labor has no been in vain.

Here is a rule for those who would be happy instead of miserable: Forget self entirely, think of what others think and want, strive to make them happy and do not worry over what people think and say.

Have you received a good turn? Forget it not. Have you done one Remember it not.

NEVER EXPECTS TO BE WITHOUT IT

"THERE'S NOTHING AS GOOD AS TANLAC," SAYS PORTLAND MAN —TWENTY-FIVE POUNDS.

"In all my long experience I have never found anything as good as Tanlac when it comes to relieving suffering," said J. A. Neisz, a well known employee of the Pacific Car and Foundry Co., and who lives at 14 East 56th street, North Portland, Ore., the other day.

"My troubles began about three years ago," continued Mr. Neisz, "and I have been having a tough time of it ever since that is, until I began taking Tanlac. I had rheumatism in my arms and back and I suffered almost constantly during all that time. Of course there were times when this trouble was worse than others, but I can truthfully say that there was hardly a time when I was not conscious of pain to some extent. My arms were so stiff and sore at times that I could not raise my hands to my head. Besides that I spent for treatment and medicine, the time I lost from my work on account of this rheumatism amounted to over four hundred dollars in salary. I couldn't sleep much and just gradually went down hill until I had lost in weight from one hundred and thirty-five to one hundred and ten pounds and was so weak and run down that I could hardly get about at all.

"A friend of mine who had been suffering from this same kind of trouble told me that Tanlac was the only thing that had ever done him any good, and advised me to give it a trial. Well, to make a long story short I have just finished my sixth bottle of Tanlac, and I am as free from suffering in every way and am as well and strong as I ever was in my life. I weigh one hundred and thirty five pounds now, which means that I have gotten back all I lost in weight. I have regained all my strength and can do as much work as I could fifteen years ago. All that soreness and stiffness has gone from my arms and I can raise my hands above my head without the least trouble. Yes, sir; Tanlac has been a godsend to me, and I never lose the opportunity to recommend it to others. I am buying another bottle to take home with me to-day for I never expect to be without it."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwod by G. Pringle and Son.

REV. P. J. KELLY IS HOME FROM EUROPE

ACCOMPANIED THE 3RD DIVISION INTO GERMANY—CANADIAN SOLDIERS WERE PROVOKED BY DELAYS.

Captain P. J. Kelly, C.F., has returned from overseas, and is being warmly welcomed by his many friends in Peterborough. After general service as a chaplain in England and France, he was appointed senior chaplain of Bramshott Camp, which position he held from 12th February last until his departure a short time ago. Father Kelly stated that there had been considerable cause for the outbreaks of the Canadian soldiers, who, demanding to be sent home at once, had to put up with continued delays and difficulties that made the conditions anything but satisfactory. Canadian soldiers deeply regretted the Epsom affair, which was largely result of unfortunate misapprehensions. The first signs of obstructions caused by strikes of transport workers was when the troops were moving out of Belgium. The information that reached the officers, Father Kelly said, was that train crews in sympathy with the dock and boat employees caused trouble in the moving of trains. That was in February, and men had to spend hours by the roadside in the cold and snow. They were so angered that they declared that if given "live" ammunition they would quickly settle things. The vexations to which the men were subjected were thus first experienced on their way out of Belgium, and the delays and other troubles in the camps to which they had been sent expecting early embarkation, provoked them to the limit of their patience.

After hospital work at the beginning of his experience, Father Kelly was transferred to the 8th Brigade of the 3rd Division, and attached to the 5th C.M.R. From Mons he was sent forward to the farthest Canadian Headquarter Corps in Germany, and in company with an Anglican chaplain from Muskoka had to depend upon chance assistance in making the journey. They went as far as Schleiden. Arriving in the dead of night, with the town in complete darkness, the two chaplains aroused the burgomaster, who directed them to the house of a priest, with whom they spent the night.

Before coming home, Father Kelly visited Scotland and Ireland. In the land of his ancestors he gained the impression, during a stay of nearly two weeks, that the Sinn Feins hadn't the following they claimed. There was a marked feeling for Dominion Home Rule, which Father Kelly believed would just now get a majority from the whole of Ireland if it were put to a vote.

Referring to his trip through Belgium, Father Kelly said he had been in Liege and Namur, the first towns attacked by the Germans in August, 1914. They had escaped serious damage and had surrendered after their guns were outranged by the enemy's big guns, which stood off and started to demolish them. Liege is one of the finest towns Father Kelly had ever seen. In England he enjoyed the warmest of hospitality. In both England and Scotland business men were looking anxiously to the future, fearing that the increasing demands of workmen would seriously affect British industry and commerce. It was believed, however, that the sound commonsense of the people would save the situation from consequences that might prove dangerous to the nation's progress.

Going overseas, the convoy of fourteen vessels was attacked by a submarine, but American destroyers drove it off or destroyed it with depth charges. Father Kelly said he had met many friends from Peterborough while in Europe, and particularly mentioned Captain W. W. Miller, son of Col. J. W. Miller of this city.

Father Kelly has already been discharged, and is awaiting instructions from Bishop O'Brien. Before his appointment as chaplain, he was parish priest at Parry Sound.

The best paper is none too good for our community. But to make it the best each and every one should feel a personal interest in it.

TRUCE ARRANGED AT PARIS MARKETS

Hostilities Suspended to Try the Effect of Posting "Normal Prices."

PARIS, August 14. — The central markets resumed their usual aspect this morning with business more active than customary, due to the exhaustion of retail stocks and the accumulation of provisions.

A truce has been declared between the merchants and the consumers, through the intervention of Jos. B. E. Noulens, Minister of Provisions, who asked the Vigilance Committee to suspend action until it was seen whether the posting of "normal prices" would not produce the desirable effect without provoking retaliatory measures on the part of the merchants.

The merchants' strike came to an end at the same time; but the truck gardeners reduced shipments to the smallest proportions, in view of the uncertainty as to the fate of perishable goods. Both sides now appear to be in accord to give the plan of M. Noulens a trial before resuming hostilities.

An old gentleman was viewing some statues. Standing by one of the largest was a porter. Going up to him, the old gentleman said:

"That's a massive statue, porter!"

Porter: "Yes sir, the hand is just 11 inches across."

Old man—"Is that so? I wonder why they did not make it twelve?"

Porter—"Och! Sure, then it would have been a foot."

HAD TO BLOW PASSAGE THROUGH WEEVILS BEFORE THE SHIP COULD BE WORKED

SCHOONER ARRIVES IN NEW YORK FROM ARGENTINA WITH THESE BUG AS ITS PRINCIPAL CARGO—CREW IS SUFFERING FROM BITE OF THE INSECTS.

NEW YORK, August 15.—Federal authorities were asked to take charge of the four-masted American schooner Augusta G. Hilton, which arrived here from Buenos Ayres with a cargo of grain and a pest of weevils. WhileDepartment of Agriculture inspectors are ridding the boat of the bugs, the crew will seek medical treatment to help them recover from the effects of the insects' attacks.

Captain Orlando C. Sawir said the weevils made the two months' voyage a nightmare and gave his schooner a bad start on its maiden trip. A few of the bugs appeared when the Gulf Stream was reached, and they multiplied with amazing rapidity.

The weevils became so thick on the deck, members of the crew solemnly avowed, that sometimes it was necessary to rig up a hose and blow a passageway through them so that the ship could be worked.

PRESENTATION TO PADRE COSTELLO

ROUSING RECEPTION IN ENNISMORE ON FRIDAY EVENING.

At Ennismore, in the Parish Hall, on Friday evening, a rousing reception was tendered Captain Father Costello, who returned recently from three years' service overseas, where he served with the Canadian forces, by the residents of both Ennismore and practically all the country side. The speakers of the evening were the chairman, Rev. J .V. McAuley, the Very Rev. P. J. Maguire, Fathers Guiry, Galvin, O'Leary, Rogers of Chatham, N.B., and Rev. John O'Brien of Peterborough. To the addresses, the Padre made a suitable reply, expressing his satisfaction at being spared to return, and delight to be amongst all again.

Acceptable Programme.

A very acceptable musical programme was given at the conclusion of the addresses, which was heartily enjoyed by the large gathering. This included a solo by Miss Loretta Kennedy of Chicago, solos by Mr. Daly of Toronto, and Miss Maloney of Cornwall, the latter very appropriately rendering "Flanders Fields"; a duet by Mrs. O'Donohue and Mrs. O'Connor and a trio by Messrs. O'Reilly and Leonard, accompanied by Miss Maloney, and a comic sketch, "A Coon Rehearsal," rendered by Mr. Jack Primeau in his inimitable style, assisted by Mr. J. O'Reilly. A feature of the evening's programme was the opening chorus by the members of the choir and a fancy drill by a number of the little school girls.

Payne, caretaker of the Normal school, has received his "1914 Mons star" medal which was struck as a decoration for all the survivors of the first British Expeditionary force and as a memento of heir gallant fighting and of the great sacrifices they paid in the retreat from Mons and the battle of the Marne. Mr. Payne's regimental number was 5045. He was with the Wiltshire regiment having reported for service at midnight of the day Great Britain declared war. It is believed that this is the first Mons star to come to Peterboro.

CANDIDATE FOR FEDERAL HOUSE

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—It is understood here that the Liberal Executive of Glengarry and Stormant is to meet in the county to-night to consider the question of holding a convention for the nomination of a candidate for the next Federal election.

The rumour that the Liberals would to-night tender Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King the candidature is not borne out by Mr. King himself, who, when questioned this morning, declared that he knew nothing of such a proposal, and believed the rumour to be at least premature.

TROOPS MANNED LONDONDERRY WALLS

LONDONDERRY, Ireland, Aug. 15.—Troops manned the walls of Londonderry to-day for the first time since the historic siege of 1689, as part of the military effort to prevent the Nationalist and Sinn Fein demonstration set for to-day.

This demonstration had been forbidden by the British commander, General Hacket-Pain.

A number of members of the House of Commons, representing Irish districts, left for Ireland last night after it was announced that the Government had decided to suppress all Sinn Fein and kindred organisations in County Clare as a result of the increased disorders there.

CONCRETE ROAD.

Proposed to Build Concrete Road Between Regina and Moosejaw.

REGINA, Sask., Aug. 14. — The first definite step to have permanent roads built in this province is being taken b ythe Regina Automobile Club, by the appointment of a committee to wait on the Government and urge the construction of a concrete road between Regina and Moose Jaw, a distance of 30 tiles. It is contended that the auto owners of these two cities and the district intervening contribute over $100,000 annually in license fees and that this sum should be earmarked as the basis for a sinking fund on a bond issue to build a concrete road. The cost of such construction here is about $40,000 a mile.

THE INSTRUMENTAL INSIDE OF SCHOOL MUSIC.

In an outline of the progress school music has made in recent years, Mr. Lewellyn Rees, supervisor of music in the Toronto public schools, recently referred incidentally to the instrumental side. Thirteen years ago, Mr. Rees said, he was planning for violin classes in every school of over ten rooms, but the newspapers came out against the new "fiddle fad," and not a single musician came to the rescue.

The public now has a different and a saner opinion. "This afternoon," said Mr. Rees recently, "a delegation visited a school having thirty violins, and where the teacher had the children trace the theme of a given composition. In that school there are now four pianos, thirty violins, and two phonographs, and the children have the advantages of listening to the very best music.

Mr. Rees puts the development of music in the schools of Britain down to two strong factors, largely—the competitive festivals throughout Britain and the wonderfully well-trained boy choirs there.

Japan, too, is showing an interest in western music in the schools. Only the other day was noticed a picture of a class of eighteen girls with violins and 'cellos forming an orchestra in the High School at Hiroschima, Japan. This high school is maintained by a society in connection with the American Methodist Church, and is such a centre for the dissemination of Christianity and western civilisation, that a wealthy Bhuddist came and established and well-endowed Bhuddist school almost next door. A strong influence of this nature is sure to extend. Instrumental music in the schools is fast becoming a round-the-world reality.

DOWNEYVILLE CORRESPONDENCE

DOWNEYVILLE,—A very large crowd was present at the hall here, where the drawing of the five valuable prizes took place. Rev. Father Galvin asked Mrs. Victor Perdue, of Detroit, to do the drawing. The first prize, a set of dishes, was won by Master Gerald O'Neill, King's Wharf second a barrel of flour, was won by Mr. Albert Lucas; third, fancy cushion, was won by Mr. Peter Galvin, Ennismore; fourth, a fancy centre piece, won by Miss Adrian O'Neil, and fifth was $5.00 in gold, won by Mr. Edward Costello.

The two valuable prizes which were offered to the lady and gentleman for selling the greatest number of tickets, which were a gold watch and fancy hand satchel, were won by Miss Pearl Herlihey and Mr. Francis Lucas. The others who sold tickets, namely Miss Gertrude Perdue and Fergus O'Neil, and Audrey and Zetta Crowley all got valuable prizes. After the presentations, fine speeches were made by Rev. Fathers Rogers, O'Leary and Galvin; also Mr. Martin Carroll. At the conclusion of these proceedings the younger folk spent the remainder of the evening in dancing and other amusements; also during the drawing of prizes, there was a refreshment booth, where they could refresh themselves during the dances.

Miss Flossie O'Brien, who has been away teaching school, is renewing old acquaintances and visiting relatives here.

Mr. John Fox, of South Ops, was a Sunday visitor to Mr. Walter Carroll's.

25th Aniversary.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Herlihey of Emily township was the scene of a happy gathering on Wednesday, July 30th, when a number of their friends gathered to extend congratulations to them on the occasion of the attainment of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. All the immediate members of the family were present — five sons and two daughters. Among those who came from a distance were Rev. Father McGuire of Peterboro; Rev. Father McAuley of Ennismore; and Rev. Capt. Costello, who has recently returned from overseas. Rev. Father Galvin of Downeyville, was also present. Several relaitves from Douro, Otonabee, Ops, Lindsay and Peterboro motored here during the day, and conveyed greetings from a still larger circle of friends and relatives who were unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Herlihey were the recipients on this occasion of many costly presents from the guests and other friends and relatives. Mr. Fred Fitzpartick of New York, a cousin if Mrs. Herlihey, sent a beautiful set of silverware consisting of five pieces and other choice pieces were given by the many guests who attended.

During the evening a dainty banquet was provided at the conclusion of which several speeches were delivered by the clergy, by Mr. Herlihey and his sons, Sergt. Alphonse and William, and also by John C. O'Leary, James O'Leary and Augustine Whibbs.

The high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Herlihey are held was clearly evident from the words of different speakers and from the general enthusiasm of the assembled guests. For twenty five years they have in an unostentatious way endeared themselves to their friends and neighbors, and have been at all times most unsparing in their efforts for the upbuilding of the community in which they live. Their friends are many and their well wishers are as numerous as the circle of their acquaintance is wide.

The ardent wish of their many friends and relatives is that God may spare them long years to enov the esteem in which they are held and that the next twenty-five years may be as propitious to them as the quarter century just closed has been.

WEDDING BELLS

SLIGHT — FORSEY.

The home of the bride's parents, 1325 Lansdowne avenue, Toronto, was the scene of a pretty wedding at half past two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when Bessie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Forsey, was married to Mr. Percy W. Slight, formerly of Peterboro.

The bride looked charming in white georgette, tulle veil and orange blossoms, with a shower bouquet of white roses and sweet peas, and the groom's gift, a pearl and diamond pin pin. The bride entered the drawing room with her father to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by her sister, Miss Eleanor Forsey, who wore a frock of green satin and white georgette. Miss Eva Sharpe as bridesmaid wore a frock of pale pink silk and black picture hat and carried sweetheart roses. Mr. Earle Johnston of Peterboro was the best man. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. Crossley Hunter. The drawing room wes prettily decorated with palms and tea roses.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a pearl bar pin and to the best man gold cuff links. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Slight left for the Kawartha Lakes, the bride travelling in a navy blue suit with hat to match.

SEARCH FOR FOOD HOGS WELL UNDER WAY

AFTER THE PROFITEERS

ENORMOUS QUANTITIES OF FOOD WILL BE SEIZED AS SOON AS EVIDENCE IS ALL IN.

FIREMEN HELP

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The search for hoarded food contigued here to-day and the Federal authorities planned to seize enormous quantities as soon as investigators have completed their evidence.

Under orders from Mayor Hyland, Fire Commissioner Gremman assigned three hundred and fifty-seven men from his department to inspect warehouses. The Board of Health has joined the fight on high prices. Commissioner Copeland threatens to revoke the Health Department licenses to all firms found hoarding or profiteering.

(United States.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 11th. — Jonathan C. Day, commissioner of public markets in New York, announced to-day that final plans had been completed for the opening of the sale of army surplus foodstuffs in New York City on Monday morning to reduce the cost of living.

The sale will be begun in 46 different school buildings situated in the five boroughs, and later when the full stock of food furnished by the army quartermasters reaches the city, 203 schools in all will handle the distribution.

SUPPLIES SEIZED.

(UnitedStates.)

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 10. — Seven hundred and eighty thousand dozen of eggs (more than 9,300,000) held in cold storage by the A. F. Thibodeau Company of this city, and the Rock Island Butter Company of Toledo, were seized by federal agents yesterday afternoon at the cold storage warehouses of the Detroit Refrigerator Co., Howard street.

The value of these eggs at the present wholesale price is more than $300,000.

This is the first seizure of food made in this city since the campaign to prevent profiteering and hoarding was voted and follows closely on similar action in other cities.

MILITARY AND NAVAL TERMS

NEW DICTIONARY AIDS READING OF WAR REPORTS.

Definitions of military and naval terms, grouped together under a single heading, is one of the special features of The New Universities Dictionary now being offered to readers of this paper, contributing to the splendid success attending the distribution of the book. In reading about the war, not intrequently the reports contain some word or expression with which the average reader is unfamiliar.

The meaning of such terms can readily be had by turning to The New Universities Dictionary, as well as that of many expressions which have come into more common usage since the Continent of Europe became one vast battle ground and the high seas turned into "a danger zone" by the naval operations of the contending powers.

Coupons are being redeemed in large quantities, so enthusiastically has the offer been received, and it is evident that The New Universities Dictionary is finding its way into the homes as well as the homes.

GOVERNMENT ATTITUDE

MEIGHEN SAYS GREAT BRITAIN IS FOLLOWING LINES OF CANADIAN PARLIAMENT

AMPLE POWERS

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 16. — It makes very little appeal to me," was the reply of the Hon. Arthur Meighen, Minister of the Interior, when asked last night, upon arriving at Winnipeg, what the thought of the platform adopted by at the recent Liberal convention. Questioned about the government attitude regarding agitation in the country for a reduction in the high cost of living. Meighen stated "the Board of Commerce is now at work and has ample powers to deal adequately with such questions. Its personnel is satisfatcory to the whole country. Whatever is necessary will be done by the Board. Meighen added. "Great Britain is going on lines that the Canadian Parliament adopted at the last session."

NORMAL SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS

RESULTS LATER THIS YEAR OWING TO INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Aug. 16.— Announcement is made by the Department of Education that the results of the examinations for entrance to the Normal schools will be published on or before August 22nd. The lateness of the publication of the results is due to the fact that the examinations were deferred this year to allow the schools to make up part of the time lost during the influenza epidemic.

$20,000 FOR A MUNITION CONTRACT

(Special to the Examiner.)

SHELBURNE, August 16th. — In his address to the Dufferin County farmers yesterday afternoon, J. J. Morrison, secretary of the U. F. O., made one amusing and one startling statement regarding the government's war contracts. He told of the case of a man in the Maritime Provinces who sold to the government for more than $100.00, a horse that had been rejected at the time of the South African war, and which he had obtained for a pair of ducks. The man, he said, was discovered, but instead of being imprisoned, was given a good position with the Canadian National Railways. Morrison read a C. N. R. advertisement, clipped from an American magazine, giving the man's name as special agent in a large American centre. Morrison also told the meeting that a Brockville munition maker had informed him that it cost him $20,000 to obtain his first contract.

MORE RIOTING AT LONDODERRY

TROOPS HAD TO CLEAR THE STREETS —HEAVY MONETARY LOSS.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDONDERRY, Aug. 16.—Rioting and looting occurred in this city during last night and early this morning. Troops charged on mobs but did not fire any shots. Soldiers, however, were met with a volley of stones when they attempted to break up the Nationalists demonstration. The monetary loss from looting and from damage to property is estimated at thousands of pounds by the police authorities. The trouble started when the Nationalists set fire to a large number of tar barrels which had been collected beneath an arch over which was displayed a picture of Edward De Valera, President of the Irish Republic, and sang the "Soldiers' Song." Unionists responded by singing the National Anthem. One force of troops kept the crowds apart, while other detachments attempted to clear the streets, charging upon the throngs repeatedly.

Bricks and stones were hurled at charging troops, one soldier being seriously hurt. The Nationalists were finally driven back to their own own quarters. Windows were smashed and shops were looted by crowds and the city was in darkness the entire night. More rioting is feared to-night.

Although several revolver shots were heard during the rioting, no reports of any one having been injured have been received. The troops declare none of them fired any shots, and that when they drove back the crowds they advanced with their bayonets raised in the air.

BELFAST, Aug. 10.—Ten Nationalist excursionists were injured during a fight on Friday with Orangemen at Lisburn, County Down. Serious rioting also occurred at Coal Island, County Tyronne.

SON SHOT BY MOTHER

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY IN TORONTO HOME—SHOOTING ACCIDENTAL.

FELL DEAD

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Aug. 16. — Clifford Wild, the seventeen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wild, was accidentally killed by a bullet from a revolver in the hands of his mother in their home at 986 Queen street east, at 7.10 this morning. The young lad, who was going away with his mother to Stayner to-day, brought the revolver in a leather case, together with a belt loaded with cartridges, upstairs to his mother, and asked her to put them in her suit case. Mrs. Wild took the revolver from her son and started to examine it. In some manner the firearm discharged, the bullet striking Clifford in the back on the right side, under his arm, penetrating his lung. He tumbled over dead at his mother's feet.

TOWN WIPED OUT BY FIRES

FOREST FIRES BAD IN PARRY SOUND DISTRICT.

(Special to Examiner.)

TORONTO, Aug. 1. — Forest fires which are now sweeping the Parry Sound district, have completely wiped out the Deer Lake settlement, 23 miles from Parry Sound, on Wednesday, according to incomers from the north country.

There were 11 buildings destroyed in that one settlement, including the general store, the doctor's office, hospital, hotel, school and dwelling houses. Travellers who alighted from the trains last evening said the settlers were preserving their lives only by moving about from one clearing to another as the fire swept onwards.

NOT PERMITTED TO STRIP HUNGARY

MATTER IS UNDER THE CONTROL OF THE ALLIED POWERS

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Aug. 16. — Roumania will not be permitted to strip Hungary according to the draft of the Supreme Council's reply to the last note from Bucharest, which was completed at to-day's meeting of the Council.

The Bucharest Government is informed that the fixing of the amount of reparation to be made by Hungary as well as its distribution is a matter under the control of the Allied and Associated Powers, and that until a final decision is reached, all war, railway, and agricultural material now in Hungary, and subject to distribution, will be under the common administration of the Allied Powers.

CANADIAN GUNS FOR MONS CITY

(Canadian Press.)

MONS, Aug. 16.—The Canadian cannon which fired the last shots at the Germans on Armistice Day, 11th November, were presented to the village of Mons this morning with elaborate ceremonies.

Colonel Bovey, of the Canadian Forces, said, in presenting the guns, that they would "be a souvenir of the kindness shown by the natives of the town to the soldiers."

The Mayor of Mons spoke of the self-sacrifice of the Canadians, who, "without profit, came to fight for the liberty of Belgium."

DON'T WANT TO RETURN TO POWER

(Special to The Examiner.)

ZURICH, August 16.—In view of Archduke Joseph's success in handling the new Hungarian government, the Monarchists have urged the former Emperor Carl to re-enter political activities, but Zita, the former Empress, has decided against such a step, it was learned here to-day.

"No," she is quoted as saying. "The Emperor's position was hell. We have done our duty. We have suffered enough, and we don't want to return to power."

FARMERS ARE HEARING THINGS

(Special to The Examiner.)

SHELBOURNE, Aug. 16.—The report from Ottawa tht Sir Robert Borden and Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, recently chosen leader of the Liberal party in Canada, had reached an agreement whereby John Best, Dufferin's Minister in the Federal House for the past decade, would be appointed a Senator to create a vacancy for Sir Henry Drayton, the Minister of Finance, stalked in and under and over and around the convention of Dufferin county farmers here yesterday afternoon. It simply would not be downed.

ALLEN OPENING WILL BE DELAYED

NEW INTERIOR EFFECTS FOR LOCAL THEATRE.

Opening of the Allen theatre, formerly the Royal, has been delayed until August 25, and possibly a few days later, according to announcement made by Messrs. Jule and Jay J. Allen. Delay in the arrival of some of the material for the refinishing is responsible for the postponement, the new management being determined that everything shall be in perfect order before the first ticket is sold. Due announcement of the actual date will be made in the Examiner.

Except for the actual walls it is promised that Peterborough citizens will scarcely be able to recognize the theatre when it makes its first bid for patronage under the new management. The new plastering and interior effects will add a new freshness to the house and afford an attractive setting for the motion picture and musical programmes to be offered at the Allen.

Twenty-six vacancies were reported.

Only one woman applied during the week for domestic employment, and is as yet not placed.

TWO CABINET MINISTERS HAVE GONE TO WINNIPEG FOR THAT PURPOSE—EIGHT LEADERS STILL IN JAIL.

MAY BE DEPORTED

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 16.— Hon. J. A. Calder, Minister of Immigration, and Hon. Arthur Meighen, Minister of Justice, will reach Winnipeg to-night to deal personally with the appeals in the cases of eight strike leaders and aliens who are slated for deportation.

While definite plans of the two Ministers have not been announced, it is understood that Calder will hear the appeals taken to him on deportation orders of the special Board of Inquiry against Michael Charitonoff and Oscar Schoppelrei. Bail for eight strike leaders held in the Provincial jail pending trial on charge of seditous conspiracy at the fall assizes, will be one of the matters to be passed by Meighen. Marcus Hyman of the counsel for defence, in all cases said that bail probably would be granted by the courts if Meighen's consent could be obtained.

A Conference.

The question of seeking bail from other judges is still being considered by the defence. Mr. Hyman said. A conference of the counsel was to be held Hyman stated that the decision of Justice Cameron did not barr any other judge from granting bail. In view of this fact it is possible that a petition for bail will be carried before other courts in case of Meighen's approval to the release of the men is obtained. A. J. Andrews, K.C., special Crown Prosecutor, said that he understood Calder would dispose of appeals in the immigration cases during his stay in Winnipeg. Separate appeals have been taken in both Charitonoff and Schippelrei cases to Calder under the provisions of the Immigration Act, and also to the Court of Appeals in an attempt to quash the entire proceedings of the Board by court action. Andrews left for the east last night after a conference with two members of the Cabinet.

WHEAT IS KING

The war settled the question as to the supremacy of wheat among the products of the soil. But be sure you eat the whole wheat prepared in a digestible form. In making Shredded Wheat Biscuit we cook the whole wheat in steam, shred it and bake it in coal ovens. It is the most real food for the least money. It is deliciously nourishing for any meal with milk or cream, with sliced bananas, sliced peaches or other fruits. It is ready-cooked and ready-to-eat.

COAL MEN ACCUSED OF FAMINE PLOT

U. S. House Told That They Are Withholding Coal to Secure Big Prices Later.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Representative Huddleston, himself a large owner of coal lands, told the house that "sky high" prices for coal next winter and intense sufferings are bound to result from "the refusal of the National Coal Association to sell c al now at a reasonable price." He demanded that congress pass legislation to force coal on the market now and that laws be passed to fix prices so that exorbitant profits may be prohibited next winter.

"The members of the association having failed in their campaign to sell their coal at the present exorbitant prices," said Mr. Huddleston, "have now decided to withhold fuel from the market until the snow flies. The association claims there is a shortage of coal now, because of a shortage of labour and coal cars.

Demand Exorbitant Prices.

"The whole trouble is that there is no market because the operators are demanding exorbitant prices. There is no shortage of labour or coal cars. The only shortage is found in the coal association itself—it is woefully lacking in the principles of common honesty and humanity."

Mr. Huddleston read to the house a letter from the railroad administration, stating the supply of coal cars is adequate, but there is no demand for men because of the weak market.

The National Coal Association, Mr. Huddleston claimed, recently appropriated $50,000 to carry on a "buy-coal-now campaign."

"This was divided up among 400 newspapers," he said, "and there was hardly a single statement of fact in the advertisements. This campaign has failed, and the association at a recent meeting at Kansas City, decided to keep as much coal as possible off the market until winter comes. Nothing is going to stay this infamous plot except the action of congress."

GERMANS BUYING LAND IN ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.

BUENOS AYRES, Aug. 15—Baron von Dem Bossche Haddenhausen, former German Minister to Argentina, who arrived here early this month, represents a German colonisation syndicate, which is buying land to accommodate Germans who are coming to Argentina, the newspaper El Diario says.

The newspaper asserts that the baron and his fellow-agents have already bought 12,000 hectares (29,640 acres) and are actively exchanging cablegrams with Berlin.

Diminutive Art Pianos

The trend of living to-day, especially in the larger towns and cities, is towards smaller quarters. Hence the growing number of families who seek the apartment and duplex house for a home.

The piano is a necessity in the home at all times, and the Diminutive Art Upright Piano of "Ye Olde Firme" fully meets the case.

Suited in size for the smaller room, this piano possesses all the finer qualities in tone and touch and sweet responsiveness that is exclusive to this peerless Canadian-made piano.

For your guidance in estimating, we might say that The Examiner is printing and distributing to the Merchants, for use on Dollar Day, 25,000 Blanks, and it is only necessary to estimate what number each purchaser thinks will be used on the great day. Should any Store run short of Blanks, The Examiner will print more, so that the number printed might reach as high as 40,000. The number of estimates put in the last Dollar Day Campaign was in the neighbourhood of 15,000. With this information, an estimate can be made before doing your shopping. Of course, as many estimates can be made as the purchaser has Blanks, and they will get one with every Dollar purchase they make.

Make up your mind what and where you want to buy, and come to Peterborough on Wednesday, 20th August, expecting the greatest economy shopping event of your lives.

YOU CAN RECOGNISE ALL THE STORES WHERE DOLLAR SPECIALS ARE BEING GIVEN BY THE BLUE LETTERED PENNANTS IN THEIR WINDOWS.

STATEMENTS OF PROMINENT AUTHORS AND LEADERS OF THE PEOPLE WITH ADDITIONS.

(COMPILED BY T. TOOMS.)

Th age boasts of many triumphs over time and space, but these wonder-working flames, these levers and cogways, more than human, have built for the toiler no avenue to heaven. It is questionable if all the mechanical inventors yet made lightened a day's toil of a human being, for remember it is ratio, and not the absolute amount of wealth received, that is causing the unrest, and the social upheaval of our day. The coming of machinery has aggravated the sore, for it has shipped the control ten-fold more into the hands of the capitalist class, instead of raising the entire mass equally. It has sundered through the social body, cleaving it in twain, so that well night three-fourths of human labour to-day is so exhausted that it stupefies. The production of wealth has increased a thousand-fold over the days of hard labour, but the increase has gone to the oligarchy at the top, and only scantily to the toiler, so that the gulf has been widened, one-tenth owning nine-tenths and the disproportion still growing.

Our industrialism is great, but the social chasm is greater; privileges wrested from the many are used for the fattening of the few. Under the form of modern freedom, a crueller serfdom is in process than in the older days of status, for the ancient guarantees are now lacking, which once assured the peasant food and roof.

The root of transgression is production for the sake of profit; the toiling masses are used as tools. But now that a world's peace is a realized fact and signed (?) the coming of the world democracy means the universal reign of freedom, justice, equality and fraternity. The universal acceptance of equal opportunities for all people. In international affairs it means the welfare of the whole of humanity, as against selfish national interests and ambitions.

The essential qualities of national greatness are moral, not material. A democracy cannot rise to the full greatness of its possiilities unless the individual rises to the highest point of moral greatness. Popular forms of government are only possible when individual men can govern their own lives on moral principles and when duty is of more importance than pleasure and justice than material expediency. Those who think that the social revolution of our day is belly centred, think a very foolish thing. The craving for a comrade in human affairs is the deepest of all cravings. Humanity cannot ge along without fellowship. But inordinate wealth corrupts, instead of enobling its possession. Money never established a Republican institution in the world, it has no affinity to them that doesn't understand them. Money has neither soul nor sentiment. It does not know the meaning of liberty, or the rights of man. It is not surprising, therefore that democracy is quite set in its determination, and predicts that the end of some of these things is at hand. For a feeling of might is within her breast. It will break oppression with a rod of iron. Democracy has learned how to produce wealth, she is going to learn how to distribute it, for high diet along side of the bread line is bad and both shall be done away with. Economics is the master knot of human fate. We have at present the immoderate growth of wealth. The decay of morals. We have the proletariat, and one need not be a seer to detect that the atmosphere is becoming charged and electrical. If there is any danger to civilization it comes not from the agitator type of working man. It comes from those who have no desire for freedom and are content with the bread line; devoid of respect for themselves, when comes the hour of opportunity they will be devoid of respect for others. The proletariat is awake and aware of its power. There never was a bigger opportunity for democracy to achieve its main aims than the one which now offers. It is generally acknowledged that the old political party system has irretrievably broken down. Political power is about to be redistributed, not only among the electors, but among the parliamentary parties, which will claim to represent the new democratic conscience. Real political democracy cannot be organized on the basis of class interests. Labour claims are justified because the producers have been robbed of the major part of the fruits of their industry, therefore the democratic control of all the activities of society. The proletariat must beware of government, previous to election time. The toiler claims to be protected from the dangers of unemployment and reduction of wage, with the consequent degradation of life. What the worker wants is freedom, a definite elevation of their status; the abolition of the system of wage slavery which destroyed their independence and made freedom in any real sense impossible. Labour seeks by common ownership and taxation to do away with the accumulation of great fortunes in private hands. Instead of the senseless individual extravagances we desire to see wealth of the nation expended for social purposes, for constant improvements in the nations enterprises. To make provision for the sick, aged, infirm. To establish a genuine system of education. Promote means for public improvements in all directions to ensure the happiness and health of the people.

Here's Proof That ZUTOO Cures Headache

Mr. E. F. Tomkins, Ex-Mayor of Coaticook, Que. proves it.

Mr. Geo. Legge, Editor of the "Granby Leader-Mail" proves it.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Said

"After all, what a man does with his money is to invest, and there is no better way to invest it than in Life Insurance."

As an ESTATE BUILDER there is nothing to equal Life Insurance.

TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTUAL RESULT

A young man, sixteen years of age, took out a 15-year Endowment (No. 210386) in the Sun Life of Canada, which matured on the first of April. This young man paid annually $66.30 for fifteen years, and he has now, through that investment, an immediate estate of $3,425.00 in case of death.

DO YOU KNOW THAT THIS AMOUNTS TO ALMOST 15% COMPOUND INTEREST ON EVERY DOLLAR HE PAID?

No wonder Sir Wilfrid said (and he might have added, No better place than the Sun Life of Canada), "There is no better way to invest it than in LIFE INSURANCE."

AND THE SUN LIFE OF CANADA GIVES THIS RESULT.

THE INGLORIOUS SIDE

The reverse side of the military honors won by American soldiers in the war is appearing in the stories of the brutal punishment of deserters at prison farms behind the lines in France, into the conduct of which a Congressional committee is now making enquiry. Doubtless all the armies had their share of deserters despite the extreme penalty that should have deterred them, but this inglorious phase of army life has been veiled in silence until the present investigation brought it into prominence. Men absent without leave were arrested in the towns and cities by the military police, and were sent to the military farms where the seriousness of their offence was unforgettably impressed upon them. The testimony of men who were in these camps especially the one of which Lieutenant "Hard Boiled" Smith had charge, makes unpleasant reading, but the discipline that gave victory to the armies of democracy had to concede something of humaneness in the struggle against the armies of autocracy, who were often reported to have been driven to the assault by their officers.

No American soldier was executed for military offences, but Col. Grindstead, defending the drastic methods used by "Hard Boiled" Smith, said a few weeks ago: "Everybody that was a soldier in France knew that thousands of our men were running away from the front lines, and that had the war continued many executions would have been necessary before these desertions could have been stopped."

TWO KINDS OF "UNREST."

"Ralph Connor," in an interview in Toronto, declares that the labour unrest is a good thing. Within limits, he is right.

It would have been an abnormal and unwholesome thing if the cessation of the war had left the world to sink back quietly into the old ruts. The war shook our system to its base and brought its inequalities, injustices and abuses into glaring prominence. Labour has been more articulate in its protests than has any other phase of our national life because labour has been more directly affected, but there has been just as much "unrest" in commerce and in the professions.

And, in the end, where should we be without "unrest?" What was ever accomplished toward the bettering of conditions, the sweeping away of old abuses, and the substitution of better things, without at once discontent and the initiative that makes for action?

But while the process of development goes on, quickened immeasurably now by the earthquake of war while we wait for the better day that we know will dawn, we must maintain the structure of what we have already built. To tear down, to destroy, is anarchy—the negation of all development built upon justified unrest.—Sarnia Observer.

THE EXCHANGES

A vote of confidence has been given the German Government by the National Assembly of Germany. Such a vote has the effect of a second ratification of the Peace Treaty by the Huns, though the United States Senate has not ratified it once.—Oklahoma Oklahoman.

There are many kinds of nuts in this world, but probably the saddest variety is the sentimentalist who, having sensed the spirit of divine unrest in mankind and having no economic and industrial training for a background, starts out to reform the whole place. — Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

It will soon be evident whether Congress is the friend of the people or of the plunderers.—Baltimore American.

The high cost of living has looked more formidable enemies than Congress in the eye without trembling.—Minneapolis Tribune.

The demand of the railway brotherhoods for the nationalisation of the railways of the United States and the division of the profits between the owners and the workers, does not mean [illegible] in practice according to present [illegible]. The State operates the railways and takes all their revenue, pays all expenses. In eighteen months the railways earned no more than [illegible] brotherhood members [illegible] the State's share as [illegible] and something over.—Montreal Gazette.

MUST BE A GOLDEN RULE MOTHER.

Sir,—Seeing the letter of Mother in Wednesday night's Examiner, I most surely think she deserves the public's sympathy. What more horrible or nerve-racking noise than a coaster waggon being run at full speed along the sidewalk. I have a small son of 2 and a half years who owns one, and if it were left to him to amuse himself with, the noise would not be too great, but it's when the bigger ones come along and take him to the top of the street and run right down than the trouble commences. Surely if mother of a large family and nervous baby were to go to the owner of the coaster and request them to have the noise moderated they would, in all decency, comply. If anyone came to me and told me my child's coaster was causing them annoyance I would gladly keep it at home, as we have lots of grass the little fellow would amuse himself on. I do not think Wednesday's letter hits me any, at least not by my own children using the coaster, though they are no saints, but I do think if the police were to issue warnings in the papers from time to time in regard to the terrible noise made by these vehicles on the sidewalks by thoughtless lads, it might perhaps make some of our streets a little more peaceful.

Yours truly,
Live and Let Live.

THE REVOLT AGAINST SOCIAL DISCIPLINE.

To the Editor,—

The war produced a general willingness to accept restrictions and to adopt changes in private programmes of life. These restrictions were of such a nature as to invade the most domestic aspects of life. The war did not last long enough to make this restrained life so familiar as to make it seem natural. Habit and custom lasted long enough to lose romance but not long enough to become second nature. They are irksome. Inevitably therefore is just now a psychological reaction, and this reaction contains grave perils.

Press censorship has produced acute irritation which in its turn finds expression in inflammatory, if not incendiary, speeches. Industrial restrictions are being set aside in the interest of any policy which appears to offer more industrial freedom. Grave uneasiness has been caused by efforts to discredit the existing industrial system so as to compel its abolition. And beyond question there are fellow citizens, perhaps steadily increasing in numbers, who some what lightly adopt a programme of overthrow.

This social temper challenges earnest thought. Working class radicals have seen citizens of very different social status evading prohibition laws and with aroused feelings have noted that although these laws have been ignored and discredited, too often there has been neither punishment nor lowering of the social standing of these citizens by this lawlessness. The effect of this on the more revolutionary element in labor circles is obvious to any observer.

Under the name of a Liberty League there is proclaimed a war against all kinds of prohibitory legislation. What kind of temper will be fostered by this repudiation of social regulation and discipline? Criticism of specific legislative proposals is one thing—opposition to any and every legislative prohibition is quite another. One wishes to be strictly fair but does not this Liberty League platform make for the weakening of social discipline just when such discipline is most needed to enable us to pass through a period of unparalleled stress and strain? Does not the Liberty League stand for unbridled freedom to restore conditions which the citizens as a whole have come to regard as intolerable?

This is a time for steady, conservative, cautious and disciplined speech and action. Indiscriminate hostility to social discipline invites social disintegration.

Social control may call for more discrimination and may need to be organized with due regard to personal preference, but a moment of acute tension, such as the present, is not the apropriate time to weaken any form of discipline adopted for social and economic efficiency.

ERNEST THOMAS,
Board of Social Service.

The Quiet Hour

The men of the quiet hour are often the men of the greatest activity: John the Baptist had his days of quiet preparation in the Wilderness. Jesus, man of activity, spent forty days and nights in meditation and prayer on the eve of his active ministry; John Wesley, one of the busiest of men of his generation, did not neglect private devotion George Washington had his quiet hour as he knelt in the snows of the valley forge and prayed for the blessing of God upon his ragged continentals; Abraham Lincoln had his quiet hour as night after night with Bishop Simpson at his side, he called upon the God of Battles for wisdom and strength. And do you know that Marshal Foch, great as the greatest sought each morning some quiet church and spent an hour alone with God. Is it any wonder he was successful

The secret of the Lord is with them that fear Him and He will show them his covenant.

If great men need the quiet hour, can we common mortals get along without it "Be still and know that I am God".

BY JANE PHELPS

BAB HAS AN ERA OF COMPLETE HAPPINESS.

CHAPTER XLII

Neil and I had often talked of the child which so soon was to come to us. I always returned to the subject with eargerness. At times I thought I detected something in Neil, a hint of something connected with his love for me, that seemed morbid. I was unable to put the idea from me, and determined to destroy it if possible. When I spoke of my fears, he said:

"I'm not really morbid, Bab. Yet it seems to me that a child will take you from me—divide your love."

"Silly boy," I laughed at him. But as always when Neil spoke of wanting all my love, it in a way comforted me. Surely no man would speak like that unless he loved the woman to whom he spoke? In my joy at my coming motherhood, I almost forgot that I ever had felt that anything could take Neil from me; or that I ever had doubted him in any way. Now he was so tender, so thoughtful. Not since the night when he came home so happily and told me that "a very good friend" had made it impossible for Scott to harm his business, had he been once impatient or forgetful of me. I had a sensation of being wrapped about with love; a feeling that nothing would ever again make me unhappy.

There was one thing about Neil's and I supposed other men's, business methods that I could not bring myself to feel was necessary for success—altho when I spoke of this, Neil patiently explained—or tried to explain to me: It was the idea that late supper parties, at which much wine was drunk, motor rides to outlying Inns where cabaret dancing and hilarious gayety was kept up until the wee small hours, and such pleasures, helpful business.

In his confident manner Neil had expounded the methods by which he proposed to extend his business, with each retail that he described, I grew more certain that such means were unnecessary. When I said so, Neil only laughed at me, and said it wasn't to be expected I should know about such things.

Now this was his way in everything. He only talked to me of success ;never did he, at this time, mention that he was ever anxious or worried. He spent money lavishly, as always—more than lavishly for my comfort.

"I am falling in love with you all over again, Neil," I said to him, "yet how can I when I never have fallen out?"

"Just beginning to appreciate your luck?" he questioned, with a laugh. "It is too bad you had to wait five years to find out what a prize you had found in your matrimonial package."

"But honestly, dear, I am so frightened sometimes, I love you so much."

"I'll soon only get half, so don't worry."

In all the years that came after, I have looked back upon this time as one of the happiest in my life. Coming after a period of worry and questioning anxiety, it was all the more welcome; it stood out the more clearly.

Another thing, too, that had added to my happiness and content was the fact hat Neil had not been drinking much lately—just a cocktail or a glass of wine occasionally. I was very watchful. He seemed to sense that he would worry me if he drank more, and so refrained.

Then came the day when my thoughts went flying across great spaces of time and emotion. I lost count of time, of everything but the one fact that I must make this journey into the land of motherhood alone. When I came back from that far land, my baby boy lay on my arm, and Neil was bending over me with a face transfigured.

Wht did anything matter now?

ADVANTAGES OF FALL PLOWING

SAVES WORK DURING SPRING RUSH BUT ON CERTAIN LAND HARMFUL.

In a short time many farmers will be deciding whether certain fields will be ploughed this fall or next spring. A timely article in a bulletin published by the Michigan State Agricultural College may help to solve the question.

Where the land is inclined to be light it should be remembered that fall ploughing will, owing to the uneven surface, help to conserve moisture for the following year. The water collected there during the winter, alternately freezing and thawing, helps to break down clods and tends to put soil in a better conition of tilt for spring crops.

One of the great advantages of fall ploughing is that this work is out of the way of the spring rush, thus giving a better distribution of labour. This is an important matter at present because of the shortage of farm labour, and especially should the following spring be late, necessitating hasty spring ploughing or working the ground when it is too wet. By fall ploughing many weeds may be buried before they mature seeds, giving a better control on these pests and causing them to decay and be changed into plant food before seeding the land. If done at the right time, fall ploughing may destroy insects and worms by exposing them to the elements and the eyes of the birds that feed upon them.

Depth to Plough.

In regard to depth of fall ploughing care should be taken not to go too deeply into the subsoil at any one time, and turn too much of this raw soil up towards the surface. It is safe to plough as deeply as the surface soil will permit, especially for beets, potatoes, or corn. Fall ploughing may be done when the soil is over dry or over wet, providing the soil will recover from the harmful effects liable to be produced before seeding. Working some soils in this manner and the packing effects of heavy rains on some soils, however, may cause them to run together and destroy the benefits derived from freezing and thawing. It is on soils that exhibit this tendency that fall ploughing may not be advantageous. They may not recover mellowness or good tilth for two or three years, and may require more fitting in the spring than if spring ploughed in the proper condition of moisture. In this case the land should be worked as early as possible in the spring to prevent drying and hardening of the soil. Drainage and the ploughing under of manure and green manuring crops will tend to overcome this harmful tendency.

The kind of soil and conditions that will usually give the farmer great advantages from fall ploughing over spring ploughing then, is one that is comparatively level, fairly well drained with a reasonable supply of vegetable matter—one that is not easily puddled by heavy rains or recovers from the effects of these harmful influences.

Rat fur may figure largely in linings for coats and trimmings for dresses and suits in London, England. The skins, furriers say, will give a lining better than may now be had in coats which cost from $200 to $300. Such a market for rat skins would help in the extermination of the rodent.

ONTARIO TEMPERANCE ACT HAS IMPROVED PETERBORO CONDITIONS

MERCHANTS HAVE PRACTICALLY NO BAD ACCOUNTS AND THERE IS LITTLE POVERTY—CONSIDERABLE SENTIMENT IN FAVOUR OF A LICENSED VENDOR HERE.

"GLOBE" REPORTER'S INTERVIEWS

(From Toronto Globe.)

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 13.—Little or no poverty, a general reduction in arrests of from fifty to sixty per cent. in the last two years, truancy from the schools owing to lack of proper clothing for the youngsters cut down to small proportions, and bad or doubtful accounts on the merchants' books practically vanished, are a few of the benefits Peterborough observes as the direct result of the Ontario Temperance Act. To set against this about the only ill effects which could be noted are the arrests for breach of the act, and the opinion that the act has a tendency to promote law-breaking among respectable citizens, and that perjury in the Courts in liquor cases is on the increase.

Increase in Perjury.

Chief of Police Thompson dwelt upon the latter point. "That's one bad feature," he said. "There are lots of respectable people who will get up and perjure themselves when it comes to a liquor case." But he added that the act had been a fine thing generally. Crime had gone down, particularly on the case of family troubles caused through liquor; the city had been able to clean house generally, and the old array of habitues of the Police Court on Monday morning had vanished. The greater proportion of these old offenders, the Chief observed, were now respectable citizens, and the effect noticed on their families was striking and enough to make a convert to Prohibition on this one point alone.

The old bar-room system is as dead here as it appears to be all over the Province. There is quite a bit of sentiment to the effect that Government shops would solve the problem of allowing respectable people to purchase liquor without either breaking the law or inviting the family physician to strain a point for them. There is also the feeling that the Government vendor should be located in Peterborough for the district, and not in Kingston or Toronto. Sentiment for the return of the bar is non-existent.

To Kill "Class" Cry.

Mr. A. B. Cunningham, a well-known builder, would go further, however. Mr. Cunningham thinks that the critical point for Prohibition is in the first year. After this the people will be educated to it. He would have the Government eliminate the "class legislation" cry by forbidding the keeping of private stocks, and would have search proceedings made, if necessary, to do away with this privilege of the wealthy. "It may be a matter of personal liberty, but we are beginning to learn that we can't be as free as some of us might want, and these people owe a duty to the coming generation," he declared. Further, he thought that the medical men of the country had failed badly in their duty to enlighten the people of the Province on the effect of even moderate consumption of liquor.

"The doctors should begin a general campaign of education on the liquor question," said Mr. Cunningham. "They should go into the thing from the viewpoint of its physical effect. The people really need education on drink, and I think that most would then see the question fairly except a few who are against Prohibition because they wish to drink themselves. It's the coming generation we should look after."

Magistrate's Testimony.

Police Magistrate D. W. Dumble had only one fault to find with the law. He thought people who wished to have liquor in the house should have the right to purchase it in limited quantities under Government control. In speaking of the effect the law had on the city, he was able to point out that the arrests made while the bars were running totalled over 1,700 in one year. This total had been cut down to around the 500 mark. In addition to this, he stated that the Truancy Officer found himself with little to do. Previously there were many cases of truancy principally because the children were unable to attend school owing to insufficient clothing. These cases were in nearly every instance, the result of drink. They were now either rare or had ceased altogether. "The law has been a fine thing for the city," the Magistrate stated. "It has cleaned up the streets from many objectionable features, and there isn't a doubt in the world that the families are benefiting. We do not want the old conditions back."

Proved by the Ledger.

The experience of the city merchants follows closely along the lines set forth by Mr. A. W. Cressman. "Its effect has been wonderful." Mr. Cressman stated. "Look back in our old ledgers, and you will see pages of bad or doubtful accounts. And these were with men who held first-class positions. At the present time I haven't a dollar on my books which I do not consider worth 100 cents. We used to have to employ collection agencies. We do not now. We notice in the store that where people bought the cheapest goods possible they are now buying the best quality." It was beyond argument, that the money which went over the bar was now going for food and clothing.

Peterborough has illicit whisky trading going on, but not to any great extent. This was used on several occasions as an argument against Prohibition. One business man, however, reversed the argument and pointed out that where an odd case comes into the city at the present time, when the bars were running liquor came in by the car load. Accordingly he figured that Peterborough, although never a hard drinking city, managed to get away with many times the amount of liquor during the open period. Police Magistrate Dumble admitted some illicit sale by bootleggers, but also pointed out that the fines imposed were sufficiently heavy to give the city a larger revenue than before with only a percentage of the number of cases.

A bank manager thought that the law had a bad moral effect in forcing people to resort to subterfuge to secure liquor. It also had, in his opinion, a bad effect on the medical profession through the temptation to issue unlimited prescriptions. He cited cases where medical men had made large sums through this kind of professional practise. As a remedy he suggested Government sale. The Veterans were also against total Prohibition. The local branch, one of the oldest and strongest in the G. W. V. A., is in favour of beer licenses. They declared for it by endorsing the recent action of the Senate. At the same time, however, officials of the Veterans were quite cretain that no majority could be secured for the return of the bar, nor could more than a few scattered votes be counted on for a return to liquor sale in the old manner. One veteran feared that a good many Old Countrymen intended leaving for home in case Prohibition was endorsed by the people of the Province when the referendum comes up.

Capital and Labour Agreed.

"I can't conceive of any manufacturer wanting liquor sale back," was the opinion given by one manufacturer. This gentleman had not had much trouble with liquor, even when the bars were running, but the general effect was plainly noticed. Others had noticed a direct improvement among their own men in the matter of improved efficiency and less disposition to "lay off" on the beginning of the week.

Several Labour officials were asked for an opinion. They explained that the matter had not been voted upon lately, and that for this reason nothing definite could be said. At the same time they recalled that an attempt to get the Trades and Labour Council of city to support a protest against the closing of the bars had been badly beaten. Peterborough Labour men voted nearly three to one against interference with the act on that occasion. These officials thought that sentiment had not altered to any great extent since that, although there were a number who wanted some modification of the present law.

Some doctors may be reaping a harvest from prescription work. Others are finding that absence of the bars is helping to solve one of the principal worries of many that a physician has. The doctor's bill, so frequently left to the last and then forgotten, is being paid with some degree of regularity. It was stated that several doctors reported an improvement of fifty per cent. in this regard.

Experience Best Canvasser.

Local option was twice put before the people in the city and was twice beaten. In both cases the "drys" secured a majority, although not the three-fifths required. In the coming referendum they openly claim that they have made enough converts to carry even a local option fight. A house-to-house canvass has been planned. Where in other Prohibition battles the "dry" forces met bitter opposition, there is no organised party in the field against them now. It was a pretty general prediction that Prohibition would carry, and this prediction came largely from citizens who do not favour a bone-dry law. Where they mostly feel that the cause of liquor has been lost is through the breaking up of the local alliance which existed when the bars were open. The "retainers" of the bar-room have either become respectable citizens and have gone to work or have become out-and-out vagrants and have gone to jail. In either case, the liquor machine in the towns and cities has lost some of its most valuable parts and is no longer in working order.

Suggestions and Complaints.

Nearly everyone had some suggestion ofr the Government, from a demand that private houses be searched for liquor and total Prohibition be rigidly enforced by cutting off all manufacture, importation or sale, down to schemes whereby the Government install reputable men in charge of Governmental liquor stores. Provincial authorities were blamed for the activity of bootleggers because no co-operation between Quebec and Ontario had been secured.

"Coming right down to it," remarked a humorous citizen, "there is no argument against Prohibition in this city. It has been a fine thing for dozens of families I know of. There is no doubt that it has reduced poverty. The only fault I can find about it is that I can't get a drink." Which says about the final word in any argument against the act.

This avalanche of correspondence, which the aged statesman showed the correspondent, was filled with checks for amonts uvarying from $1 to $100, the aggregate running up into the thousands. The letters implored the former Premier to reserve tickets in the gigantic international lottery, which the letters asserted he is conducting to pay the cost of the war.

"The proposal for an international lottery was widely published in the French press," he said. "Such a scheme was shown me by an Italian some months ago, but I am not identified with it, in fact, at the time that I was, interviewed regarding the plan I strongly disapproved of it. I hope Americans wilyl forgive my inability to satisfy their appetite for a good game."

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

SAY BACKACHE IS A SIGN YOU HAVE BEEN EATING TOO MUCH MEAT, WHICH FORMS URIC ACID

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a wellknown authority Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive cannot injure, and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

THEY embody such loveliness that they are bound to please, no matter how fastidious he or she may be. We say he, for often, he is the severest of critics. They are so soft and billowy, with drapings of meline and foundations of satin and metalic cloth, that they are in harmony with the light hearted occasions for which they are intended.

A captivating model is of delicately tinted meline in pale helio and green. The bodice is shot silk in corresponding colors and garnished with a small corsage boquet in silver and gold. Wherever meline is used the edges are finished with a silver thread. Price..... $55.00

A particularly handsome model is of pink taffeta. From the waist falls an overskirt of meline, which in turn is trimmed with three narrow ruffles of the silk itself. # HEARST GOVERNMENT SCORED BY LT.-COL. PRATT, CONSERVATIVE M.P.P.

SAYS ITS POLICIES ARE OBSOLETE AND ITS CABINET MORIBUND—DOES NOT REPRESENT THE PARTY OR THE PEOPLE—MOST OF ITS MINISTERS WEAK AND LAWYERS TOO NUMEROUS.

In a criticism of the Hearst Government, Lieut. Col. Pratt, M.P.P. for South Norfolk, declared recently that its policies were obsolete and its cabinet moribund. His statements in the Toronto World set forth his reasons for demanding a house-cleaning of the Conservative party in Ontario:

"Our present leader," he said, "was not selected by the Conservatives of Ontario, nor were the members of the legislature consulted. He was given his mandate by one of more Ottawa politicians who may or may not be connected with the nickel industry or other corporation interests. When the premier came into caucus early in 1915, and announced himself as leader, the world was convulsed with war, and no domestic problem could be entertained.

Had Earlier Protested.

"During the war we departed from the principle of representative government. At the time, in a letter from overseas to the premier, I questioned the wisdom of the move, whereby the cabinet extended its political life without consulting the sovereign electorate."

"My objection was tremendously emphasized," continued Col. Pratt, "when on my return I learned that after extending his own political life, the premier humbly consented to accept a salary of $13,000 a year, while the Ontario boys in the trenches, facing unknown privation and untold dangers, were dragging $1.10 per day from the outstretched palms of death. Sir James Whitney managed to exist on $6,000 a year. I have no objection to the present premier receiving more, provided the people agree, but in common honesty, the electorate should have been consulted."

"You think, then, that Sir James Whitney would have taken a different course?"

"Not a doubt of it. Nothing is admired more than the British ability to turn a government out and carry on as usual. Nothing is worse for a country than the too prolonged and lingering existence of a government whose only inspiration is the clinging to office. When to this is added an evasion of the wishes of the people, the situation becomes intolerable. Our cabinet is composed largely of lawyers. It is recognized that they predominate. In my opinion no class and no profession should predominate in governing powers. In recent years the legal profession has got its hands far too deeply into the money chests of our Provinces, and the fees paid to some friends of the cabinet are nothing short of a scandal. Dr. Cody has been sacrificed, taken in to whitewash the others, and Hon. Mr. Henry, however admirable, was not chosen for his strength. We cannot submit to be ruled by a body of lawyers, whose only purpose is to keep themselves in power.

"Our handling of our returned men has not been a success. The New Ontario colony scheme was visionary and costly in the extreme and must now be set down as a failure. The soldiers' aid commission is not a success. Criticism is rampant among the returned men. The university students among them are being miserably treated. A convention could and would pave the way to an adjustment of these difficulties."

"In a word, I believe our cabinet of lawyer law-makers has failed to interpret the will and wish of Ontario electors. The recent by-elections indicate this. I believe the farmer of Ontario is entitled to greater recognition in our legislatures. I believe we are behind the times in labor legislation. Other great questions of an advanced nature are facing us for solution. Public ownership is on trial, and a recent appointment at Ottawa gives cause for uneasiness to Hydro-Electric supporters."

Orpington Hospital.

"Do you know anything about the Orpington Hospital? It is said that money was spent there recklessly and uselessly."

"The Province spent millions on that Orpington Hospital. Not all the money was spent wisely. In fact, among the medical men overseas the institution was known as "the hospital of colossal graft.' But it was a splendid institution, magnificently equipped and staffed with thoroughly trained Canadian nurses. When my boys were wounded I expected to find them in this very wonderful hospital that Ontario people had gladly taxed themselves to provide, but I did not find them there. Instead, my Norfolk boys were jolted by train to every remote corner of Great Britain, very often placed in V.A.D. hospitals, while our own great institution was filled with other British wounded. In my worry over my suffering boys I felt that charity begins at home, and when our cabinet sat, meek and quiescent, while Sir George Perley, with his peerage ambitions, let Lady Drummond and other fussy ladies cart our lads all over Britain instead of leaving them where they rightfully belonged, I confess that my enthusiasm for our home-staying administrators waned."

The Nickel Question.

"We have been thinking a good deal about the nickel industry in Ontario during the war, colonel. Did you find any interest in the army about it?"

"In the spring of 1915," replied the colonel "from my place in the legislature I discussed the question and I urged the government to take all and every precaution to prevent the Germans from securing our nickel. I suggested that the nickel properties be taken over during the war, so that we might know that not an ounce reached our enemies. My suggestions were a huge joke to the minister of mines and he was particularly sarcastic in referring to my disbelief in the assurances from Ottawa that no nickel could reach Germany.

"While I was in Dunkirk in 1917, I recalled his great confidence in the Ottawa assurance. I was bombed out of my billet on five different occasions, and after each event I gathered up fragments of nickel-steel that had been presented to me by the Boche as a reminder that I came from Canada, the home of the nickel. I have a basketful of these mementos and I often wished our minister of mines, could be the recipient instead of myself. Every Ontario boy who brought back a rifle bullet or a machine gun bullet has a Canadian nickel souvenir.

So sure was I of this that last winter I asked a friend in the British House of Commons to make enquiry, and General Henry Page Croft, M.P., was officially informed on May 12, last, by the British government that at least twelve cargoes of nickel had been seized; eleven of these cargoes sailing from United States ports. I now have very decided opinions as to what Ontario should do with our wonderfully rich belt of nickel-bearing rock.

HIDES WILL COME DOWN EMBARGO HAS EFFECT

The Demand has Fallen Off — Tanners are Not Buying — Drop of 10c a Pound.

TORONTO, August 6. — There will be a drop of ten cents a pound in green hides at the end of the week," said the representative of a big abattoir yesterday.

"The embargo is having its effect and the tanneries are not buying now so that the lessened demand is largely responsible. I cannot tell, however, what will happen should the tanners come into the market again."

A leading tannery company interviewed stated that they were not buying any hides, claiming that they had sufficient on hand.

With the price of hides down, the question now is will the price of leather and shoes drop?

MAGNIFICENT NEW 1920 DODGE BROTHERS TOURING CAR

The Duffus Garage have just received a new 1920 Dodge Brothers touring car, which embodies a number of new attractive features—sloping wind shield, new style top with side curtains arranged to open with the doors, thus making it a winter top; magnificent deep upholstering, genuine leather, cushion 10 inches deep, and complete new instrument board.

The Dodge car is equipped throughout with famous Timken bearings, and has long since been recognised as the acme of mechanical perfection in motor car construction. Mr. Duffus states they have six new Dodge Brothers cars sold to customers, who are waiting delivery, and that he anticipates many new sales in the immediate future owing to the likelihood of an increase in price. 2d-37-1w-34

MAY BE MORE VICTIMS IN MYSTIC RILL RUINS.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—Fire Commissioner Laflippe opened his inquiry yesterday afternoon into the fire at Dominion Park on Sunday last, and it was brought out in evidence that twelve persons had boarded the boats of the Mystic Rill just previous to the tragedy.

To the present, clues showing that eight had lost their lives had been found. A long list of witnesses were subjected to close questioning, and his conclusion at the end of the inquiry was that passengers in going through the Mystic Rill had been responsible for the fire through smoking. No witness was prepared to state that the fire was of an incendiary nature. The Fire Commissioner adjourned the inquiry sine die, and stated that full investigations as to the origin will be continued.

Inspecting milk from the bottom of the bottle, and observing every precaution to prevent dust and dirt from getting into the milk, won't do. That's not enough.

To protect yourself from unsanitary Raw Milk, the only safeguard is the use of milk that you know has been CLARIFIED and PASTEURIZED.

This Process removes from milk the finest particles of foreign matter — particles that are so fine that they will get by any strainer or filter — and such dangerous impurities as are shed from the inner side of the cow's udder, as well as all impurities from unhealthy cows.

Among those who have arrived are Lieut. Dinder, accused of swindling and robbery in connection with the requisitioning of supplies; and Lieut. Schmitz accused of stealing silver plate. Two others have been arrested at Strasbourg, and are awaiting transfer, while warrants have been issued against others, among whom is General von Zolner, who is alleged to have ordered the deportation of young men and women from Lille.

APPLIES FOR HIS OWN JOB AND OBTAINS HIGHER SALARY

TEESWATER, August 16.—H. Thompson, principal of Teeswater Public and High School, has been re-engaged for another term at a salary of $1,200 per year. Behind this is the story of how Teeswater School Board compelled itself against its own will to pay him $100 more than it had intended.

Mr. Thompson was willing to retain his position at his former salary, $1,100. The Board advertised for a new principal at $1,200. Mr. Thompson applied at that figure. His was the only satisfactory application received, and he got the job at the higher rate of pay.

Because the Board had formerly refused an increase of salary to the principal's assistant, Miss Hicks, she resigned. Now the Board is advertising for a new assistant, and will probably have to pay rather dearly to get one. To meet all these unexpected expenses, the Board has asked the village Council for $500 in additional grant this year.

AMENDMENT TO PEACE TREATY

NEW MEXICO SENATOR PROPOSES A CHANGE.

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. — The firs tamendment to the peace treaty in the Foreign Relations committee was proposed by Senator Falls, New Mexico, to "section 4." This section requires Germany to renounce in favour of Belgium the Kreise of Eupen and Malmedy.

Falls proposed that the amendment would require a plebiscite on this question and would have the result of the plebiscite communicated to a commission appointed by the Allied Powers, not including the United States, instead of having the League of Nations oversee the transfer of the territory as the treaty now provides.

THE WEATHER

The brisk shower early this morning, while thankfully received, was sadly insufficient to make much impression on the parched ground. A twelve hours rain is required. The present long-continued drought has extended from about Montreal to the Pacific. The greater part of older Ontario has needed rain greatly; as has also large areas west of Winnipeg. Some sections in the neighborhood of Georgian Bay, and also a stretch of territory north west of Toronto, have had their usual supply but the remainder of the province has not had the normal amount.—W. GENEVA, Aug. 16.—A Prague despatch quotes the Pravo Lidu, the organ of the Czech Socialists, to the effect that a large section of Socialists under the leadership of Deputy Durica, is working for the creation of a monarchy in Czecho-Slovakia, and the choice for a monarch has fallen upon the Duke of Connaught. The despatch adds that the Duke is "probably unaware of the honour," and that no official negotiations have as yet been opened.

TOM MOORE STIRS SAN FRANCISCO AS TRAFFIC COP

STAR'S ADVENTURES ARE MANY WHILE ACTING FOR "ONE OF THE FINEST."

Tom Moore in "One of the Finest," newest of his Goldwyn Pictures to be shown at the Grand Theatre, beginning on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, plays the role of a traffic policeman. Now no man holding that responsible position ever went through a week without an adventure, and as more than a few weeks of Larry Hayes' life are depicted on the screen it goes without saying that his adventures are many. Chief of them all and the one that sets the unique plot unfolding, concerns a rebuke administered by Officer Hayes to a society girl motoring through the park with a silk-hatted escort. They are speeding when the traffic cop gallops up and orders them to slow down. The haughty stare of the girl and the insolence of the man bring about a good-humoured reply from the policeman, which is construed as impertinence, and Larry Hayes is reduced in rank as a result.

Tom Moore and Director Harry Beaumont, together with Seena Owen and Hallam Cooley, journeyed to San Francisco's Golden Gate Park for this episode. All stopped at the fashionable St. Francis Hotel and the sight of the star in a policeman's uniform brought about all kinds of amusing complications. Each day the likeable Goldwyn star passed through the crowded corridors of the hotel stared at by hundreds of eyes and recognised by not a few. But one garrulous matron did not know him, and an interesting encounter was the result.

She waylaid the actor. "Someone in trouble?" she asked. "Yes, I am," answered Mr. Moore with a droll glint in his eyes. By this time Tom Moore imagined himself mixed up in a Hunt plot or something.

"Why, you don't seem troubled at all," the lady went on, a shade of indignation tinging her voice. "I'm sure you would be, though, if you'd listened to that baby crying all night. Of course, you're going to arrest the mother. She's not a lady anyhow."

"Oh, no, I'm not going to arrest anyone with a child," Mr. Moore interrupted. "I'm only worried about my uniform. Do you think I look like a real policeman?" And he strolled away, but not quickly enough to miss the gasp which came from his irate interrogator. To this day she doesn't know what it was all about, nor how it came that the supposed policeman was joined by an exquisitely dressed beauty (Seena Owen), who leaned on his arm as they left the hotel.

AUTOMOBILES HIT AT AYLMER CORNER

HUNTER STREET CROSSING THE SCENE OF ANOTHER ACCIDENT.

Dented mud guards and a torn tire or two represented the entire damage to two automobiles that collided at the corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets last night at 7.30 o'clock. One of Fontain's livery cars, driven by Vernon Shannon, was going west and Gordon Hawley was driving south on Aylmer, with the right-of way in his favour. He did not slacken his speed of fifteen miles an hour at Hunter street, but rather increased it when he saw the car approaching on his left. In the meantime Shannon had applied his brakes before reaching Aylmer street, and marks on the pavement showed that he had skidded clear across it, finishing up against Mr. Hawley's automobile. Neither driver was hurt, and the damage to both cars was not serious, but these recurring accidents at that corner should be a warning to other automobile owners.

SUMMER HEAT HARD ON BABY

No season of the year is so dangerous to the life of little ones as is the summer. The excessive heat throws the little stomach out of order so quickly that unless prompt aid is at hand the baby may be beyond all human help before the mother realizes he is ill. Summer is the season when diarrhoea, cholera infantum, dysentery and colic are most prevalent. Any one of these troubles may prove deadly if not promptly treated. During the summer the mothers best friend is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and keep baby healthy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DELICATE YOUNG GIRLS NEED NEW BLOOD TO GIVE THEM HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

Does your daughter inherit a delicate organisation from you? The anaemia of young girls may be inherited, or it may be caused by bad air, unsuitable food, hasty and irregular eating, insufficient out-of-door exercise, and not enough rest and sleep.

It comes on gradually, beginning with languor, indisposition to mental or bodily exertion, irritability, and a feeling of fatigue. Later comes palpitation of the heart, headache, dizziness following a stooping position, frequent headaches and breathlessness. In a majority of cases constipation is present. There may be no great loss of flesh, but usually the complexion takes on a greenish-yellow pallor.

Cases of this kind, if neglected, become serious, but if taken in time there is no need to worry. The treatment is quite easy and simple. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which are free from any harmful or habit-forming drug, are just the tonic needed to remedy this wretched state of health. Though it is not noticeable, improvement actually begins with the first dose. As the blood is made rich and red, the pallor leaves the face, strength and activity gradually return, and if the treatment is continued until the last symptom disappears, the danger of a relapse is very slight.

If any symptom of anaemia appears, prudence suggests that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be given at once, and the sooner they are taken the more speedily will the trouble be overcome. You can get these Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HAVELOCK EDITOR IN MOTOR CAR SKIDS ON WATERLOO STREET

LONDON, Aug 16.—Mr. Percy Lancaster, editor of the Havelock Standard is paying London a visit for a few days. Yesterday afternoon while turning into Queen's avenue from Waterloo street, his motor car skidded on the wet pavement and struck the curb. Three wheels of the car were broken off at the axle, the pavement being littered with spokes.

Riding with Mr. Lancaster at the time were Mr. J. McMurphy, of 85 Oak street, this city, and Mr. Whitehead, of the Liquid Air Company, Toronto. Although shaken up, none of the occupants were hurt.

HARVEST IN GERMANY VERY BADLY DAMAGED

Grain Supply Not Good, Either—Wretched Weather Prevails.

BERLIN, Aug 14— The harvest, contrary to expectations in May and June, threatens to be spoiled or badly damaged by the wretched weather which prevailed all summer, and the lack of labour which, with the highest wages, it is almost impossible to get. The shortage of fertilizer plays a lesser part.

The German grain supply, from which the empire must largely subsist is at present of low value. It is over-ripe from lack of workmen to harvest the crop and is beginning to shed its kernels. The summer crop is better and nearly up to expectations. Sugar beets suffered also from lack of workers and it may be necessary to plough up the crop in order to save it. Potatoes deceived expectations, as they suffered badly from the wet weather.

Germany's harvest prospects were better this year, as Food Controller Schmidt told the correspondent at Weimar in June. A record crop was expected, but this hope has fallen because of the shortage of country labourers The city idlers will not help. The Government is making every effort to increase the number of farm hands, because their absence may spell catastrophe, but has been unsuccessful thus far.

WAR FAILED TO DEVELOP NEW CROP OF BASEBALL PLAYERS

CAMP LIFE DID NOT AGREE WITH PASTIMERS WHO ENTERED THE SERVICE—CASES OF ALEXANDER AND FABER PROOF OF THIS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16. — Whatever the world war may or may not have done for the species of American ports it did not live up to expectations in regard to baseball.

Almost unanimously it was predicted that camp life with its wholesale adoption of sports to maintain the morale of the Yankee soldiers would produce a new crop of diamond stars after the war and would greatly improve the physical condition and the temperament of the established stars who were drafted or enlisted in the various branches of war service.

Naturally one would expect that sort of thing to develop a lot of latent talent, and bright pictures were painted of the crop of heroes who would discard the khaki for the knickerbockers of the baseball field. Where is that crop?

Right now scouts of sixteen major league clubs are scouring the nation looking for ball players with even an outside chance of making good in the game. The general verdict is some paraphrase of the saying, "There ain't no sech animal." The woods and the tall grass seem to be simply barren of the usual crop of budding diamond performers.

Service Men Went Back.

Not only that, but the world war did not improve the men who went from baseball into various branches of the service. There may be a few isolated exceptions, but in general the well-known players who partook of the war or preparations therefor came back to the diamond with impaired ability.

It needs only such shining examples as Grover Cleveland Alexander of the Cubs, U. Red Faber of the White Sox, Ed. Klepfer of the Indians, and Eppa Rixey of the Phillies to point out the force of the statement. There are others who went to war and lost much of their baseball punch, but the foregoing are sufficiently prominent to offset the few instances in which the service improved the ball players who had made good before the war.

As for the youngsters developed by them. The White Sox have one in Jack Sullivan, the left-handed spitter, who got a training trip only to be discarded and then taken back when some of the veterans of Kid Gleason's staff fell down.

It has been claimed that back of baseball practice is the chief cause of the deterioration of athletes who served their country. With them the baseball they played while in service was negligible compared to the other work they did. But lack of practice did not affect Cicotte or Williams of the White Sox, nor was it responsible for the major league demise of Benz and Reb Russell of the same team.

Case of Alex and Faber.

The real reason nobody seems to know, but there is the fact that camp or naval training put a serious crimp in the pitching staffs of both the Cubs and White Sox through inability of Alexander and Faber to come across with their old-time effectiveness. It may be that the hard work of drilling sapped the strength and vitality of the athletes who partook of it, thereby shortening their diamond careers measurably. It may be that exposure led to something akin to rheumatism, yet not the real thing.

Take the case of Alexander. While in France he was seldom dry as to clothing, and at one time had hardly a dry stitch of clothing on his anatomy for fourteen days. This exposure in his case did not lead to anything serious. Never did he have a cold or threat of pneumonia. Never since returning has he felt a twinge of rheumatism, although he frankly admits he expected to encounter that disease after what he went through.

In no way does Alexander the Great attribute the lameness that has kept him from pitching more than a few games in over a month to any of his overseas experience, but perhaps it will develop later on that what he went through over there is responsible for the depreciation of one of the supposedly greatest assets of the Chicago Cubs.

Willard STORAGE BATTERY SERVICE STATION

"Rubber, of Course"

Ask any electrical man to name the best all-around insulation. Ten to one he'll say rubber.

It is the right answer, too, particularly where storage batteries are concerned. That's one of the things that three years use of Willard Threaded Rubber Insulation has proved.

Come in. Let us tell you more about Threaded Rubber. Ask, while here, for a copy of the booklet, "The Wick of the Willard."

CAN BREAK THE BACKBONE OF PROFITEERING IN 60 DAYS

UNITED STATES ATTORNY-GENERAL CONFIDENT GOVERNMENT CAMPAIGN WILL BE EFFECTIVE—HUGE QUANTITIES OF FOODSTUFFS SEIZED IN VARIOUS AMERICAN CITIES.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Indications of he real punch behind the Government's campaign to reduce the high cost of living were given yesterday in unmistakable fashion in many cities.

While Attorney-General Palmer was telling the Senate Agriculture Committee that he intended to prosecute every dealer guilty of selling at higher prices than those listed by the Fair Price Committees of each county, word came from Chicago, St. Louis, and Birmingham of seizures of great quantities of foodstuffs by Federal officials, who recently were instructed to proceed under the Food Control Act to stop hoarding. In Chicago, 1,282 tubs of butter, worth $50,000, were seized; in St. Louis 284,180 pounds of coffee, which has been showing rapid advances in price and in Birmingham, 100 barrels of sugar.

Extend Law to Clothing

Mr. Palmer told the Senate Committee that he believed the great majority of farmers and food dealers were not profiteering, but that the suggested amendment to the Food Control Act, extending it to clothing and providing a criminal penalty of $5,000 fine or two years' imprisonment, or both, was necessary to make effective the campaign against those who are dishonestly gouging the public. There was a division of opinion among the Senators as to the advisability of the legislation, several declaring that the amendment gave the Department of Justice too drastic powers over commerce, while others questioned the constitutionality of extending the life of the Food Control Act beyond the declaration of peace, as has been suggested

"Given this penalty, we can break the backbone of this profiteering in 60 days," Mr. Palmer retorted crisply, "and then you won't have to worry about constitutionality."

GOOD GAME THIS AFTERNOON

MATTHEWS-BLACKWELL WILL MEET THE LINDSAY AGGREGATION.

his afternoon the Matthews-Blackwell team will meet the Lindsay Greys at the Riverside Park in the second game of the O.A.B.A. championship series. The winners of the series will be amateur champions of Ontario. The Packers won the first game in Lindsay Tuesday night and should be able to give the fans their money's worth this afternoon.

It is likely that McIlroy will be on the mound for Lindsay. McIlroy pitched a great game in Lindsay holding the Matthews team down to one scratch hit in ve innings and having 11 strike outs to his credit in the same length of time. If he does as well this afternoon the game should be a real pitcher's battle affair as we have seldom seen in Peterboro of late.

The Matthews team is the only local team still playing in a scheduled series and the game should draw a large crowd.

To the Discrimating Investors

The three salient factors in considering an investment are—Is the company SOUND?—Is there an assured INCOMF?—Are there reasonable prospects for future PROFITS ?

An investment in the shares of the TEXAS PRODUCING & REFINING COMPANY combines these three most essential features:

SOUND INVESTMENT

The TEXAS PRODUCING & REFINING COMPANY was incorporated under the laws of Texas with an authorized and paid-up capitalization of $3,000,000, for the purpose of acquiring, consolidating, and developing certain valuable properties previously owned individually by the present officers and directors of the company and their associates.

The par value of the shares is $5 each—all common stock—fully paid and non-assessable.

The company has no bonded or other indebtedness other than its $5,000,000 capital stock issued and outstanding.

The company's assets consist of some 40,000 acres in North Central Texas, most of which is in proven territory, and includes some of the choicest leases in the Ranger and Burkburnett fields the appraised value of this property is over $6,500,000) five 28 Star drilling rigs and one rotary drilling rig; 30 producing wells, all of which are fully equipped with proper and sufficient equipments tankage, pipe lines, etc., for the producing and delivering of oil; a new refinery, with a daily capacity of 4,000 barrels, and a storage capacity of 250,000 barrels of oil, on a 61-acre site at Fort Worth, Texas. All the above-mentioned properties have been paid for in full and a cash working capital of nearly $750,000 left in the treasury, available for future development and expansion.

The company is efficiently managed, the officers and directors are experienced and successful oil operators and bankers of the highest standing in Texas.

Being incorporated under the laws of the State of Texas, whose corporate laws are of the most rigid and exacting in the United States, or in fact, those of any county, the MAXIMUM OF PROTECTION is afforded the company's foreign as well as American stockholders.

The company has been completely financed. The stock that is being offered for public subscription has been syndicated with the Fidelity Trust Company of New York acting as Trustee.

ASSURED INCOME

On the basis of the company's first quarterly dividend of 4 per cent. recently paid, an investment in its shares at the present price yields an annual income of 10.66 per cent.

At the present time the company has a daily production of 3,000 barrels (as per sworn affidavit) of high grade oil, commanding a price of $2.40 a barrel, which yields the company an income of apprixomately $216,000 a month, or over 50 per cent. of the entire capitalization.

FUTURE PROFITS

The company has 12 new wells drilling, 6 of which are offsets to big producers—one of these offset wells has just been reported to have been brought in WITH A DAILY PRODUCTION OF 4,000 BARRELS, with two others down to the pay sand which are expected in within the next few days.

During the current year the drilling of 40 additional new wells is anticipated.

The company's policy to disburse 50 per cent. of its net income to its stockholders, holding the balance in reserve for expension, etc., assures the investor of increased dividends with the increased production. The increased dividends and the increased production assure the investor of an increase in the price of the shares.

IN CONCLUSION—

From the above you can readily see that the element of risk in the shares of the TEXAS PRODUCING & REFINING COMPANY, from an investment standpoint, is entirely eliminated.

For safety, large immediate dividend returns, and extraordinary future profits, we recommend the immediate purchase of these shares.

HALIFAX MERMAID WON DIME ON SEEING PRINCE

GIRL ON BEACH ASKED HIM HIS IDENTITY AS HE WAS STROLLING PAST--RECOGNIZED HEIR TO THE THRONE IN HIS PLAIN TOURIST GARB.

A ROYAL R CEPTION

(Special to the Examiner)

HALIFAX, August. 18.—Fiction is crammed with romances of royalty incognito but few are as intriguing as the really truly incident which happened yesterday afternoon when a young damsel, apparently a combination of Annette Kellerman and Cameo Kirby, won a dime in the coin of the realm, because the heir apparent to the house of Windsor chanced to pass beside the rock on which she was playing lorelei.

As everyone knows, the Prince of Wales, accompanied by several members of his staff, played hooky from the cares of state and strolled around the city in civilian clothes as any democratic tourist might.

It happened that the pathway of fancy led him along the shores of the northwest arm, the charm of which appealed particularly to him. At one spot, exact location censored, three modern maids were desporting themselves in the all oo chilly waters. The Prince and his companions paused to contemplate them and the water nymphs returned the contemplation with interest. Presently one of them emerged and advanced upon the attentive group.

"Are you the Prince of Wales?" she ejaculated with the sangfroid of a Canadian flapper.

"Yes, I am," amilingly replied His Royal Highness, exhibiting the quality that put George Washington in the first reader.

Daphne's eyes grew wide with with imitation.

Thereupon, accompanied by cautious incredulity, "Are you sure you are?"

Once more "Yes", was the gracious response.

"I thought you were but my friend bet ten that you were not and so I win".

The Prince chatted pleasantly with the delighted and unabashed maiden for a momest or two and expressed the polite hope that he might see her again to which the response came quickly, "Sure we'll see you tomorrow". His Royal Highness passed on, vastly amused, but history does not record whether or not Daphne collected her ten cents.

WAS FOURTH IN WINNERS

In the announcement of the results of the Grand Opera House Popularity Contest the name of Miss Doris Warne should have been fifth instead of Mrs. Mowry, who was sixth. This is the judge's report.

CHARGES GRAFT IN U. S. COPPER BUYING

WASHINGTON, Aug.. 18.—The Copper Trust was allowed to make huge profits out of the War Industries Board's fixing of copper prices during the war. Representative Graham of Illinois, chairman of the Special House committee investigating War Department expenditures, charged to-day. "Large profits were realized for the Anaconda Copper Co. in which John D. Ryan, who as aircraft administrator, ordered a large amount of the metal, had an interest." Graham said.

WILL HEAR APPEAL OF TWO MINISTERS

METHODIST BOARD TO CONSIDER PETITIONS OF REVS. IVENS AND SMITH.

(Special to the Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Aug. 18. — The appeals of the Rev. A. E. Smith of Brandon, and Rev. William Ivens of Winnipeg, against the action of the Methodist conference of Manitoba in declaring them no longer associated with the activities of the Methodist church, will be considered by the Methodist Court of Appeal, which will begin its sessions in Toronto, on Thursday, Aug. 21st, it was learned to-day.

That there is considerable force to the appeal of the Rev. A. E. Smith, was the opinion expressed to-day by Rev. R. O. Armstrong. The Stationing Committee at its sessions in Winnipeg in July, left him without a field, and action of that body is final. Rev. Andrew Stewart, D. D., of Winnipeg, has been appointed as Winnipeg representative on the board, of appeals, left for Toronto on Saturday.

NEW HUNGARIAN CABINET.

SIR ROBERT BORDEN INJURED IN A FALL

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 17.—In leaving the Halifax Club to visit the Prince of Wales, on the Renown this evening, Sir Robert Borden slipped on the stairs and wrenched a muscle in his leg. Dr. Edward Farrell was called and found that while the injury was painful, it was not serious. Sir Robert proceeded to the ship.

CIVIC RECEPTION FOR GUARDS' BAND

BOARD OF TRADE COMMITTEE WILL WELCOME THEM ON FRIDAY.

Arrangements are being completed between the reception committee of the Board of Trade and the City Council, to give the Band of the Grenadier Guards a royal welcome, when they arrive in the city next Friday for their concert at the Grand Opera House that evening. This famous musical organization is coming direct from England (By permission of His Majesty King George) to play a limited engagement at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, and Peterboro is very highly honored in having this distinguished British band visit here, especially as it is the only concert in Ontario previous to their engagement at the Toronto Fair.

Among the personnel of the band will be found many of England's greatest soloists under the direction of Captain A. Williams, who holds the rank of Senior Bandmaster of all the Guards Bands.

The tremendous amount of expense and detail in connection with arranging this concert, held no brief for the the management of the Theatre, who had determined to give the music lovers of the city "the best of them all" if possible, at a scale of prices within the reach of all. The reserved seats plan will open at the theatre on Wednesday at 10 a.m., and mail orders will be accepted now and filled in the order received.

ALBERTA'S COAL TO LAST 5,000 YEARS.

CALGARY, Aug. 16. — Dr. A. B. MacCallum, chairman of the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research, said to the Industrial Congress that Alberta's coal supply would last only five thousan dyears with the present population and two thousand years with a population of twenty millions. Canada needed an organized institute that would direct the development of her natural resources.

ARE BUYING UP PRODUCE

GREATER QUANTITIES THAN EVER OF BUTTER, EGGS AND POULTRY ARE GOING INTO STORAGE IN WINNIPEG.

VETERANS TO INVESTIGATE

(Special to the Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, August 18. — Evidence that cold storage companies are buying up eggs, butter and fowl in larger quantities throughout the west than ever before for sale at higher prices in winter, has been supplied to the Army and Navy Veterans' Association, the executive members declare.

"All profiteers are not dealing in leather and bacon," secretary W. A. Shepard said. "We know that companies here are buying all over the west in enormous quantities and intend to hold until the winter. Butter and eggs would go down several cents if this were not going on."

The Association will conduct an inquiry into the situation be said.. The officials are waiting for word from the Railway Conductors' Brotherhood before calling a conference on the high cost of living.

DEMAND FOR NEW DICTIONARY PHENOMENAL

DISTRIBUTION UNIFORMLY HEAVY IN ALL PARTS OF CITY AND DISTRICT

DISTRIBUTION UNIFORMLY HEAVY IN ALL PARTS OF THE CITY AND DISTRICT.

"From the way the people are crowding in here to get these dictionaries, I venture to predict this town is destined before long to become the intellectual centre of the universe." The young woman employed at one of the counters from which the New Universities Dictionary being offered by this paper to its readers is being distributed.

She had no time for further comment as a number of persons were waiting to present their coupons and secure a copy of the new dictionary.

The demand for the book has been phenomenal, large numbers having been distributed during the past week and the publishers have been called upon repeatedly to replenish the fast vanishing supply. The distribution has been heavy, indicating that this paper is givings its readers at a nominal cost an opportunity to satisfy a long felt want.

PETERBORO'S DOLLAR DAY ALL DAY WEDNESDAY

EXTENSIVE PREPARATIONS FOR GREAT VALUE BY MANY MERCHANTS--SEE THE WINDOWS TO-MORROW NIGHT.

Peterborough's Dollar Day has become famous throughout the district for the excellent values offered through the hundreds participating in the event. Now that the price of everything we buy has reached the figures we now pay, every saving is by the customer eagerly seized on. Many excellent values have been given on previous Dollar Days and on Wednesday it will be no exception.

In addition to the values to be obtained the many handsome prizes offered by the merchants is another specially attractive feature for Dollar Day in Peterborough.

THE WEATHER

"It was a fine rain." That appears to be the universal verdict regarding the rainfall of Saturday night, and which has continued more or less intermittently since. It was also a heavy one, but none too heavy for the parched conditions that have prevailed of late. The total up to noon to-day was one inch and 15-100. As one inch of rain means 102 tons of water to the acre some idea may be formed of the terrific bombardment that the countryside has sustained, but whose benefit it would be difficult to estimate in dollars and cents. — W. P.

CHICAGO POLICE IN FIGHT WITH I.W.W.'S

AGITATORS MADE DEMONSTRATION TO IMPRESS WAITERS.

(Special to The Examiner.)

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 18. — Police and detectives to-day guarded the nearly 300 restaurants and lunch rooms of the Thompson, Weghman and Messinger systems in the downtown districts following revolver battles with armed I.W.W. agitators, who had to storm the restaurants during the night. More than 100 shots were exchanged when uniformed and plain clothesmen resisted an attack on a restaurant three blocks from the I. W.W. headquarters. A truck load of agitators, including a woman who proclaimed herself a "real Russian Bolshevik," caused most of the disturbance. Battered up after trying to close up a restaurant, in an effort to induce waiters to join the "wobbly" organization and to force all "loop restaurants" to close, a detachment of police chased the invaders through the downtown streets and engaged in considerable random firing.

NOVA SCOTIA'S WELCOME TO PRINCE AT HALIFAX

$10,110,000 RIOT INSURANCE POLICY ISSUED TO CLEVELAND STREET RAILWAY COMPANY.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18. — The Cleveland Railways Company has taken out an insurance policy here, said to be the largest ever written, for $10,110,000, against "riot and civil commotion." The premium was $37,110.

The policy was obtained by a Cleveland broker, who placed 90 per cent. of the "line" with the Western departments of four companies.

Insurance agents here stated that "riot and civil commotion" policies are being sought by large industries, a number having been taken out against such attacks and damages.

PUBLIC LIBRARY'S BIG CIRCULATION

30,436 BOOKS ISSUED FROM JANUARY TO JUNE--JUVENILE DEPARTMENT A SUCCESS.

While the Juvenile Department of the Public Library has only been opened since the first of this year the membership at present totals 600 children and the general success of the department amply justifies the opening of it. Before the summer holidays commenced the circulation totalled 100 daily but as the children drifted to the summer homes the circulation drifted to 65 daily but will doubtless rise to the previous figures in September.

The children, the librarian said, once they become members are constant visitors at the library and are guided by her in the choice of books. The reference department has not had very heavy calls by the school children but the children come back to the schools.

Biggest Circulation.

The Library, Mr. DeLaFosse, the Librarian, said, had the biggest circulation during the past six months in its history, and 30,436 books passed through his hands from January to June. This includes the Juvenile department, up to the end of February, or 2300 books borrowed by the children and the reference library, which though still incomplete, is being rapidly worked up. In the half year 9687 books were taken out by the children.

MINERS REPUDIATE THE ONE BIG UNION

VICTORY FOR THE INTERNATIONAL IS REPORT TO DEPARTMENT OF LABOUR.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 18.—That the International Union of Mine Workers has triumphed over the One Big Union in the case of labour troubles on Coal District No. 18, Western Alberta and British Columbia, is indicated from news reaching the Department of Labour here. It is stated that 18 of the mines in the district have reassumed operations and that others are expected to do so at once. It is further stated that at a mass meeting, presumably held at Fernie at the instigation of David Irvine of Seattle, the great majority voted for a resolution to break away from the One Big Union and again affiliate themselves with the International.

THREE MILES OF GAILY DECORATED STREETS WERE CROWDED—VETERANS OF THE WAR PROMINENT IN A WONDERFUL RECEPTION—ROUTE THROUGH DEVASTATED AREA.

ADDRESSES OF LOYALTY

(Canadian Press.)

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 18. — The Prince of Wales was given an enthusiastic welcome by the Province of Nova Scotia when he left the dock yards this morning, and subsequently drove in procession through three miles of gaily decked streets lined with veterans of the great war to the Provincial Buildings. As he stepped off the marble slab which marked the landing of the late King Edward VII on July 30, 1860, the Royal Standard was broken from the landing stage masthead, the band of the Royal Canadian Garrison Artillery played the National Anthem and guns of the citadel boomed out a Royal salute. The Prince remained standing at the salute until the National Anthem had been concluded and then greeted many provincial, civic and other authorities. Sir Robert Borden was not present, owing to an injured ankle.

The Prince then inspected guards of honour which had been supplied by Royal Canadian Garrison Artillery, stopping to chat with several of the men who wore decorations.

The streets along the line of route were gaily decorated with flags and bunting and were densely thronged with people. The Prince looked remarkably well and had a greeting for all that charmed everyone. The Prince drove through the area devastated by the explosion of 1917.

A Loyal Welcome.

His Royal Highness, accompanied by provincial and civic authorities, and congratulation, similar to those presented last week at St. John, were read.

The Prince replied with suitable and well accepted speech. The whole proceedings here to-day were marked by great demonstrations of enthusiastic loyalty on the part of the people.

After lunch he was to lay two corner stones, visit two clubs and hold a public reception at the Government House. Dinner was to be served at 7 p.m., after which he was to sail for Charlottetown, P.E.I.

BRITAIN'S NATIONAL DEBT NEARLY EIGHT BILLIONS

LLOYD GEORGE, IN GRAVE SPEECH, TO-DAY DECLARES THAT THE ADVERSE TRADE BALANCE MUST BE OVERCOME---PRODUCTION A PRIME NECESSITY.

LABOUR CONDITIONS BETTER

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Great public ain's national debt owing to the war has grown from six hundred and forty-one million pounds sterling to seven billion eight hundred millions, said Lloyd-George in the Commons today. Pensions cost the government one hundred million pounds yearly. The Premier declared that if the country continued in the way it was going its adverse trade balance would be one billion pounds compared with one hundred millions before the war. The remedy, he said, was increased production. At present production had decreased in everything but agriculture.

War Cost 40 Billions.

The recent great war cost forty billion pounds, Premier Lloyd-George declared. Most of this sum was spent for purposes of destruction. The Premier asserted that changing from war to peace conditions would take just as long as a change from peace to war. The first outstanding fact of the present situation was the alarming adverse trade balance. The important restrictions which will terminate September 1, the Premier continued, had given British manufacturers an opportunity of making and dealing in goods which otherwise would have been hurried from foreign countries.

Adverse Trade of 800 Millions.

The Premier said that before the war imports had exceeded exports from the United Kingdom. Great Britain has to pay back an adverse trade balance of eight hundred million pounds

Labour Situation Improved.

"We cannot prosper," Lloyd-George Kingdom, Lloyd-George added, has improved. Of three million six hundred thousand men demobilized, only 800,000 have not been absorbed in industries.

House Was Crowded.

Labour conditions in the United interest in Premier Lloyd-George's expected declarations of vital labour and economic questions in the House of Commons to-day attracted crowds to the House of Parliament. Virtually every member of the House of Commons was in his seat when the speaker took his chair. The lobbies, galleries and the outside courts were crowded with people when members of the Ministry arrived.

Premier Lloyd-George, when he appeared in the House of Commons, announced that it was his intention in his address to deal only with Great Britain's trade relations and her industrial position including coal mining problems. Many members said they expected the Premier to announce the government's plan for Ireland and expressed disappointment that this subject was not to be discussed by Lloyd George.

"We canotn prosper," Lloyd-George said. "We cannot even exist without recovering and maintaining our International trade. We must bris the trade balance, adding to ou and lessening our imports."

THOUSANDS OF HUNS POURING INTO SWEDEN

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 16.—Though the Argentine Republic, Brazil, Mexico, and Chile constitute the main objective of the thousands of prospective emigrants who are being assisted by a special national emigration office in Berlin, Sweden appears to be the chief choice for those who make some European country their objective. About 60,000 applications for vises or passports for entry into this country have recently been made through the Swedish Legation in Berlin. Naturally a stringent winnowing of the applications occurs and vises are granted only on special grounds. The legation is swamped with work, about 800 applications streaming in daily. Recently it has been apparent that there are more Germans in Stockholm than has previously been the case.

ROYAL SMUGGLERS.

Jewels Dropped From Airplane in Sweden Held by Police.

LONDON, Aug. 16.— The Copenhagen correspondent of the Central News reports that the police of Texamolo, Sweden, are holding two packages of jewels and securities, dropped from an airplane and which they believe to be the property of the former royal family of Saxony.

Coast guards saw the packages dropped from the airplane. They were picked up by two Germans who claimed the valuables as their property. The police are investigating.

AN EXCELLENT CHOICE.

The Liberals of West Hastings are to be congratulated upon their choice of Colonel D. O'Flynn as their representative in the next provincial elections. He has all the qualifications that should strongly appeal to the electors of his riding. He offered his services as a soldier on the eve of the declaration of war, went overseas as an officer of the second battalion, and two years later was invalided home. Afterwards he assisted Col. C. H. Ackerman in the recruiting of the 207th Battalion. His splendid war record revealed his high sense of his duty, his courage and his ability to assume grave responsibilities. He has proved himself worthy as an officer of the greatest trust his country could impose in him. Col. O'Flynn is a young lawyer who has already made a name for himself in his profession. He is a splendid speaker and his genial disposition and verile, manly character have won him a host of friends. He is an outstanding representative of those who have seen in France the vision of a greater and better Canada. In the hands of such men as Col. O'Flynn, the future of this country, province and of the Liberal party is doubly safe. His Peterborough friends will express the hope that West Hastings will not fail to recognize his worthiness of their fullest confidence.

The Belleville "Ontario"-comments as follows upon his nomination:

"Col. O'Flynn is gifted as a speaker and takes a sane, broad-minded view of public questions. In his brief career as alderman in the city council, to which position he was returned at the head of the poll in a keenly fought election, with a dozen or more in the field, he gave evidence of conspicuous ability to master measures and situations and displayed ready intelligence, steady courage and sound judgment.

"Col. O'Flynn enters upon his campaign with a united and enthusiastic party behind him. The Conservative party is disheartened by a long series of reverses. In the nine by-elections held since the last general elections, all of which seats were held by Conservatives, the government has suffered decisive reverses in six constituencies and was saved in three strongholds only by the slenderest of majorities."

THE TEACHER AND HIS SALARY.

That was a very sensible remark of President Lowell's about the under-paid teacher. Say what you like about the disparity between a man's views and his fortunes, you will most often find him classified as to economic and political opinions by a reference to his financial standing. "If you would stop the sway of discontent, radicalism, socialism or Bolshevism, do not allow the teachers of your schools to be discontented," says Dr. Lowell, and those who have taught school, or whose sisters or brothers have taught school, know well what he means. It's hard to be whole-heartedly and buoyantly in favour of a system that seems to be using you badly. Few men are philosophic enough to see the world a rosy hue when they get paid no more than will hire them a cheap room, dress them in near-genteel, near-shabby clothes, and feed them on viands that shade up for not being tasty by being exceedingly nourishing. It's not easy to cheer at a game that seems to be played at your expense. Four or five years of this will convince any rising young man of one of two things—either that he isn't worth much or that he isn't appreciated. Whichever decision he comes to, he is likely to bear a grudge against the institutions of society in his generation.

And hence arises that typical product of starved pedagogy—the discontented school teacher. A man is contented only when he is measurably successful, and successful, as we count success, the teacher is not. This applies more particularly to teachers in rural schools, where the salaries are miserably inadequate. He who drifts by accident or slides by inclination into the profession is doomed at the outset to the most wearying kind of financial struggle. Unless the school boards throughout the country want their teachers to fall in line with radical opinions, unless they want them to fill the schools with proletarian ideals, they will find it necessary to put the teacher out of the proletariat hordes by means of a long, hard upward [illegible] the salary [illegible]

PRAISE FOR G. W. V. A. BAND AND A PLEA FOR ENCOURAGEMENT.

Sir,—I would like a few lines in your paper on Friday night's concert given by the G.W.V.A. band. The largest crowd of the season turned out to hear this band gave their best performance this year. Every number given by the band was rendered in splendid style, which gives great credit to the way in which the band is handled, also great credit to the bandsmen themselves for putting the splendid work into every piece, especially the patrol "American," which was rendered in splendid style, greatly pleasing those that heard it played. The extra piece, Columbia Polka, which was played by Bandmaster Hughes as a cornet solo, shows that he can give beautiful music from the cornet in the splendid manner in which he rendered this solo. Bandsman Everett made another hit when he sang Sunshine of Your Smile, having to reply to an encore. I would like to see the public take a little more interest in the bands when they play; they do not give the bands the encouragement they should have. If we go to a baseball match and see some good fielding done or a good catch made we applaud the ones that do it, so, when we go to a band concert and the band plays a good piece we should applaud them and let them see that the public approves of what they have done. When the Canadian Leather Co. band came here on the 1st of July, their programme consisted of 12 numbers, and I believe they played 10 encores. Why? Because the public aproves of the work done by the band. Our bands need the same encouragement so that they can give their best to the public. I fail to see, after Friday night's concert, why the Peterborough Fair Band went to Hamilton to get a band for Aug. 11th when we have in Peterborough a band that can produce as good a programme that was put on by the Hamilton band. Also, I am given to understand that it cost $450 to bring this band here, of which 90 per cent. of the $450 was taken out of Peterborough. I think the Fair Board should give our own band the chance to make a few dollars so that they can build up their band. The G.W.V. band is good enough for Cobourg, also for the Toronto Exhibition, so I think it should be good enough for Peterborough. I would like to see the Mayor and Aldermen give the $800 that should have gone to the 57th band to be equally divided between the G.W.V. band and the Salvation Army band to help them to pay for the music that they have played this season. The $800 given by the Council to these bands is not enough for the time these bandsmen give. I believe the G.W.V. band will give 12 concerts, which means $16.66 per concert, to be divided among 60 men. Each man gives four hours per week, which means they receive the paltry sum of 56 1-2 cents per man per concert. I would like to see the public take this up and send something to these bands. Thanking you for the space in your paper.

WAS WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD

MR. PROCTOR VALUES TANLAC HIGHLY—GAINS TWENTY-FIVE POUNDS.

"I just think a medicine that will do as much for a person as Tanlac did for me is worth its weight in gold," said Mrs. Sydney Procter, of 294 College street, St. James, Winnipeg, Man., Canada, while in the Liggett Drug Store in Winnipeg, recently.

"I was so badly run down and weak last winter I was scarcely able to get about," continued Mrs. Procter, "and this awful weakness, although I tried all sorts of medicine in the hope of regaining my strength. I wasn't able to do a bit of housework; in fact, it was just about all I could do to move from one chair to another and the condition my stomach was in had a great deal to do with keeping me weak. I didn't have any appetite at all and even the little food I did manage to force down kept me in misery, as it just seemed to lay in my stomach and ferment and cause me awful pain and the gas formed so badly at times my heart palpitated and I could hardly get my breath. Sometimes I had terribly dizzy spells and was so nervous I was easily upset by any sudden noise and I also suffered a lot with headaches and a severe pain right across my back. I hardly know what a good night's sleep was like but would just lie awake for hours at a time, so restless ad nervous that when I got up in the morning I was completely worn out and felt worse than if I had done a hard day's work. That was just the condition I was in following an attack of the 'flu' and none of the medicines I took seemed to do me a particle of good.

"I started taking Tanlac because I had heard it highly recommended and it has certainly proved a boon to me. I have already gotten back my lost strength and can do all my housework with ease now. My appetite is fine and my stomach is in such good condition I can eat and enjoy anything I want and never suffer with indigestion, gas or palpitation of the heart and don't have any of those awful dizzy spells. I have been entirely relieved of headaches and backaches and my nerves are in such splendid condition that when I go to bed now I fall asleep as soon as my head touches the pillow and I sleep as soundly as a child all night long and get up in the morning feeling bright and refreshed and ready for my housework. When I started taking Tanlac I was so thin I don't believe I weighed ninety pounds, but now I weigh something like 115 pounds, having gained about twenty-five pounds in weight and I weigh more than I ever did before in my life. I am certainly glad to recommend and praise Tanlac to anyone."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Limited; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

Shore Dinner at Jack's Lake.

A large shore dinner party left "Viamede" on Thursday in the launch "Magnet" with a number of boats in tow and proceeded to Jack's Creek. The party was a huge success, due mainly to the efforts of Mr. Charles McCrea and Miss Hughes. The fishermen bestirred themselves and caught fish for the dinner, which was served by the gentlemen of the party.

Being good is something, but still more creditable is being good for something.

STATEMENTS OF PROMINENT AUTHORS AND LEADERS OF THE PEOPLE WITH ADDITIONS.

(COMPILED BY T. TOOMB.)

The greatest triumph of our time will be the enthronement of the idea of public right—equal right enforced by a common will. The representatives of the worker and those in close association with them, know full well that all attempts at economic aggression, whether by protective tariffs or capitalistic trusts or monopolies, lead inevitably to the exploitation if the working class. It would be idle to deny that the temper of the proletariat after the war is not so placable as it has hitherto been, whether we like it or fear it. We have to recognise that in the course of the past four years, people have become habituated to thoughts of violence. The natural bias of labor ties in smooth and orderly progress, so when the leaders of Democracy speak of Revolution they do not therefore contemplate any act of blind violence. They intend simply to warn the dominant class that any attempt to keep democracy fettered and subordinate is doomed to failure.

Society is going to be brought under democratic control, and the choice of methods does not permanently rest with democracy. It lies rather with the classes who own the machinery of production and control the machinery of state, to decide whether necessary changes are to be peaceably introduced on the basis of willing cooperation or resisted to the last ditch.

In Democracy's reaction against the political quietism as upheld by the church, there is a danger of going to the other extreme — a materialism untempered by spiritual ideas or ideals. But the sting of the flesh is no respecter of persons and we must look to our leaders to control the animal in the working man as in any other child of earth. The ethics of labor identifies itself with the proletariat, those hungered, thirsty, naked, stranger and sick. It is no small advantage to the labour social movement that it can claim as it Lord Him who redated the calendar. For He was undoubtedly an ardent enthusiastic social revolutionist.

The statement attributed to Him, "Render unto Ceasar the things that be Ceasar's, and unto God the things that be God's," was a gem of the repartee to the pups of the she wolf Romulus (Rome), who sought to decoy Him. He countered their craftiness without giving either a handle against Him. It was not to advocate political questions.

It may be argued that the time is not yet ripe for Democracy. That is rubbish for Democracy is the best and only creator of a people fit for Democracy. Self government is the best school for teaching self government. To an awakened proletariat nothing is impossible. New occasions bring new capacities. Take for example the youths of the flying corps rising to their responsibility with initiative that overshadowed the older men who had been educated on the old traditons.

Decadence knock's at the door. Let Canada have her spirit broken and is is all up with her, when self respect is no longer the habiter of the House. If Democratic forces are to be successful it is of essential importance that they should continue with singleness of aim, firm determination, and complete unity under the banner of Peace, Freedom and Progress. The proletariat welcome all who stand for justice and seek the largest liberty and the greatest good. The edifice to be erected on the foundation of the will of a free people must be solid and substantial, for the world is Democracy's and the fulness thereof.

Peace is a recognized fact and the proletariat desire the removal of the system of society's organization, whereby a few ride on the backs of the many. It is so irrational on the face of it that it needs but to be seen to be terminated.

Democracy's view of the universe is free from intellectual bafflements. We are the world's workers in our march of conquest. The fight to subjugate the world is a real fight. The casualties attest it. Industrial accidents — half a million killings every year — workmen tatooed with scars as industrialists — to work with the worker, suffer with the sufferer and rejoice with the rejoicer. To-day the foundations of the earth are being discovered, but they are economic foundations. The worker therefore deserves also the removal of any thing that prevents the free discussion of questions of public policy, or of anything that steers the public mind by official information manipulated and colored in accordance with official news. The seizure of pamphlets and sheets dealing with public control. These are illustrations of a dangerous development by which truth is rationed, political opinion made to order in government factories and an artifical unity created by the simple expedient of denying expression to dissentient views to things democratic.

The Labour party will rehabilitate Parliament in the eyes of the people who have been wearied by the unreal strife of the orthodox parties. Labour desires to make a swift and smooth transition to the new order, working along constitutional lines, not seeking to introduce innovations for the sake of novelty, but solely for the purpose of promoting social liberty and putting an end to the domination of one class by another.

Everywhere the people are becoming conscious of their power. They are beginning to sit in judgment upon their rulers. They are asking questions about the policies that have brought the world to the edge of secular ruin. We want national leaders who are not only responsive to the inspiration of Democracy, but now are qualified to guide the mighty energies of Democracy in the task of building up the new social order. The future of Canada is in the hands of the Proletariat and we are compelled to concern ourselves not only with practical aims but with faith, ideals and personal qualities of leaders and followers.

ONCE MORE BAB IS DISTURBED BECAUSE OF BLANCHE ORTON

CHAPTER LXIII.

The next three months passed quietly and quickly for me. I was so happy with my baby boy, so busy getting strong and well so that I might really care for him properly that nothing else seemed to affect me.

Then one day I suddenly woke up to the fact that Neil was out a great deal; that in the last month he had not only taken up the old habit of staying at his club, but that he was remaining away later, and more often than he ever had before.

He had been so devoted in the months before baby came, so tender and thoughtful of me in the few weeks afterwards, that I had been lulled into forgetfulness of things that had gone before.

It was at a dinner given by Blanche Orton, that my eyes were opened. Just a small dinner to a few. She was still in soft grays and lavenders, altho her husband had been dead a year. They were becoming, Lorraine Morton said, and that was the reason she wore them so long.

I got a very expensive and beautiful gown. I had the same feeling I always had had about looking my best before Blanche Orton, even the I had given her very little thought the past few months (one reason probably being that Lorraine Morton who usually brought me all the gossip, had been out of town on a visit). I rested all day long—a tribute I never thought of paying a dinner before baby came. And I was satisfied that I never had looked better. Neil's eyes showed he was pleased and he said several flattering things, making me feel still more assured, that I should not be entirely overshadowed by our hostess.

There were only eight at the table. As it had usel to be, Neil was next to Mrs. Orton. It seemed to me that she had taken on new fascinations, new attractions. Surely no grief because of her widowhood, was evident on her face; it wore a more vivacious look than before the tragedy. In fact, I had seen her but once or twice since that. he too had been away, and I had remained so closely at home it was not to be wondered at that I felt almost a stranger.

Aside from Lorraine, the guests were strangers to me. But they were gay, attractive people, and I know I talked better than usual—until I saw Lorraine gazing at Neil with such peculiar look in her eyes that my attention was attracted.

I saw at once he was drinking too much. Then, too, he was leaning toward Blanche, and they seemed to be arguing about something—something disagreeable, it seemed to me. I felt a touch of uneasiness. Such argument, the expression on their faces, showed a degree of intimacy not compatible with the courtesy due a hostess; neither did it give one the impression of a flirtation.

I drooped a little. What could they be talking about in that earnest confidential way. I had really enjoyed my evening up to the time I caught Lorraine looking at Neil. It had been so long since I had been to an affair.

I made up my mind to question Neil the moment we were alone. Why I should have thought he would be more willing to confide in me because of baby's coming. I can't explain; but, someway, I did.

Neil and I had rarely talked of anything save the baby since he came. I had not realized it until then. It came to me suddenly that he was talking to her, Blanche Orton, about his business. And that ried me months before.

he looked queerly worn out and nervous compared to what he had when we left home.

I would urge him to go away for a vacation. Not alone; baby and I would go along. We would find some quiet place where he could rest.

Before we rose from the table he seemed to have recovered his spirits. But, someway, what I had seen had made me remember very poignantly the things which had so worried me months before.

To-morrow—Barbara Begs Neil to Tell of His Relations With Blanche.

WHY SOME WOMEN GROW OLD.

One reason why the average woman wears out, grows old and plain before her husband is that through a mistaken idea of duty, she lays out for herself at the beginning of her married life a scheme or plan of duty and employment for time, every hour filled with work, with rare and short periods of relaxation.

This she follows religiously for years, feeling that she has done her duty, because every household event occurs regularly and on time, while she soon becmes merely a machine, a thing without life of itself or volition. She settles into her rut and goes around and around on the same track everlastingly.

Can any woman keep brightness, originality of thought and speech, or even mere prettiness with such a life, and without those things how can she keep her husband and growing children full of loving admiration, which is the strongest chain by which she can bind them to her? How bright and jolly the neighbuor's wife seems when she calls. In nine cases out of ten it is because the surroundings and talk of your home are variety to her and rouse her to originality and brightens her speech. In her own rut she may be as dull as dishwater.

"Where shall I draw the line?" says the anxious parent, who is solicitous for his boy's future. Give the young man the sympathetic companionship which he will find elsewhere if not at home; encourage him to seek elevating and refining associations; impress upon him the fact that many amusements are bad only in connection with the associations and the atmosphere of temptation which leads to greater evil; demonstrate to him that the principle of "getting something for nothing" is bad, wholly bad, and if followed will lead to his moral and physical ruin; make home such a bright, congenial place, that he will find more pleasure there than in the haunts of wickedness; more than all else, let him have in you an example of uprightness and moral health. Be sincere, for he can penetratae your disguises and despise you if a hypocrite.

True happiness lies not in doing for ourselves alone, but in the performance of every duty that will ameliorate the condition of mankind in general. It seems to have been part of the Divine plan to put man into the world in such a condition that from his birth to his grave he is dependent on some one else. When we look around us and see our every interest interlocked and lives and hearts overlap each other to such an extent that we possess some degree of benevolence, and were it not for this Divine plan the pathway of many would be cheerless indeed. When we consider the frailty of human life and the common lot of all, we often wonder at the indifference of some to attain that greater happiness and nobler life, which can only be found in the golden text, "Do unto other as you wish to be done by."

It is very hard to convince young persons of eighteen or twenty years of age that their tastes are not as fully matured and judgment as ripe as is one of forty.

Be content to do the duty that lies nearest you, and look not to man for praise and approval. 'Tis not so much what we do as what we are, and as to "what we are" we speak most forcibly through our actions; but we cannot act unless there is something within that impels us to action. We are touching our fellow beings on all sides. They are affected for good or evil by what we are, by what we say and do, even by what we think and feel.

To be a mother, to be some man's inspiration, to live in the heart of the children, to be the centre about which cluster life's holiest associations, surely this is the greatest blessing heaven can give, the greatest honour earth can bestow. When the sorrows and sacrifices, the loves and joys, dreams, hopes, ambitions, of prerogatives of motherhood are thine; woman, thou hast come to thy kingdom.

It is very important for the comfort of a home that harassing and depressing subjects of conversation should be excluded, except when it is absolutely necessary to talk about them; and that a habit should be formed of talking cheerfully and good humoredly, and of refraining from what jars on other people, such as rudeness, impatience and fault-finding.

The person who wantonly puts a thorn in the loving heart of a little child will feel the rankling of that thorn in his or her own heart some day, in a wound no later repentance can ever heal.

Only as each man or each woman performs his or her personal duty in any department of life, can that department be lifted to a higher plane.

Bread and cheese and kisses are better than sumptuously laden tables with no expression of love.

Honesty and good manners always broing good returns.

SERBIA A COUNTRY OF MYRIAD ORPHANS.

BELGRADE, Aug. 16. — The war has made Serbia a country of orphans. There are 200,000 persons who lost both their parents and 300,000 more who lost one parent, according to statistics compiled by the Red Cross workers from records in the Serbian educational department.

Some towns of 10,000 inhabitants have between two thousand and three thousand orphans.

The occupation of Serbia for three years by the enemy and the subsequent deportations, combined with the great retreat in 1915, which carried half a million children in its wake, and separated numberless children from their parents.

POOR MILLIONAIRE, IT'S AWFUL WHAT HE MUST ENDURE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15. — J. Ogden Armour of Armour and Company, and Julius Rosenwald, president of Sears, Roebuck and Company, and several other Chicago millionaires, are walking about to-day clad in shoes recently half soled.

They refuse to pay $14, $16 and $18—the price "good shoes" are selling for here.

Armour says he bought last week his first pair of new shoes in three years.

Rosenwald, whose company owns a shoe factory or t o, has not taken a pair of new shoes out of stock for two years. All of which goes to show that limousines are great institutions for the conservation of leather.

N.Y. CROWDS IMPROVISED STRANGE TRANSPORTATION

STRIKE ON SUBWAY AND ELEVATED FORCED TWO MILLION WORKERS TO SHIFT FOR THEMSELVES—SURFACE CARS LUMBERED UNDER BIG LOADS.

SOAKED BY RAIN

(By Fred J. Taylor.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. — Roller skates and limousines, motor vans and horse-drawn buggies, young legs and older ones unused to pedestrianism—all were requisitioned to-day to transport New York's two million workers to their posts of duty. And on all alike pelted a steady soaking rain.

At daylight the bedraggled thousands who depend on the strike-bound elevated and subway lines began their descent on the business districts. By seven o'clock the surface lines were swamped, and to-day the cars crept down Manhattan Island with dripping clusters of humanity clining on platforms and fenders.

Fifth Avenue 'buses, their tops mushroomed with umbrellas, rumbled past determined crowds that sprinted in their wakes to fight for standing room on the steps. Trucks on which people were so tightly jammed that ropes were looped at open rear-ends, rolled in endless procession down scores of streets. Taxicabs, exercising traditional piracy privileges, picked up the supplicating fares that waved the largest bills.

Uptown thoroughfares leading from suburban terminals were jammed from curb to curb with the thousands unloaded by incoming suburban trains. The people milled about, progressing a foot at a time, as the human mass moved glacier-like toward the surface car lines.

Extra trains on the suburban lines stood in long lines beyond the terminals awaiting a turn to move up and unload their clamouring crowds. Entrances to the stattions on the Brooklyn Subway, the only operating underground traffic artery on the Manhattan, were brocked by pushing mobs that were kept in restraint by the police.

STRUCK ON SUNDAY MORNING.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. — The vast subway and elevated system of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company operating in Manhattan, the Bronx, and parts of Brooklyn and Queen's, was completely paralyzed to-day by a strike caled last night by P. J. Connelly, Acting President of the Brotherhood of Interborough Rapid Transit Company Employees. The day pased without violence.

The tie up which began promptly at 4 a.m., as ordered with the refusal of crews to start runs from the car barns, bedame absolute at a.m., when the last of the trains set out before 4 o'clock completed their runs, were shunted into the barns and abandoned.

SHUT OFF THE POWER.

At that hour the strikers in the international power houses shut off the power, causing a temporary stoppage of traffic on the surface lines of the New York railways and the Manhattan spurs of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company which use Interborough power.

Three power houses resumed operations an hour later, however, permitting resumption of traffic on these lines, which were jamed throughout the day, as were the steem railroads, automobile trucks, sight seeing busses and boat lines which essayed to take care of the crowds.

PRICE OF HOGS NOW AT $21 LEVEL

EFFECT OF U. S. GOVERNMENT'S CAMPAIGN IS BEING FELT.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 18.— The price of pork, live weight, has dropped another $1.50 on the hundred weight. This makes a total drop of $2.50 during the last eight days and leaves the present scale at $21. Indications are for a further drop this week. Stock yard men are unable to account for this drop, because receipts during the last few days have been light. They expressed the opinion, however, that it might be due to the agitation for investigation of high prices, and is probably a reflex action from the United States where prices are dropping owing to goverament campaign.

It's Easy to Peel of Your Tan or Freckles

This is what you should do to shed a spoiled complexion: Spread evenly over the face, covering every inch of skin, a thin layer of ordinary mercolized wax. Let this stay on over night; wash it off next morning. Repeat daily until your complexion is as clear, soft and beautiful as a young girl's. This result is inevitable, no matter how soiled or discolored the complexion. The wax literally peels off the filmy surface skin, exposing the lovely skin beneath. The process is entirely harmless, so little of the old skip coming off at a time.

Mercolized wax is obtainable at any drug store; one ounce usually suffices. It's a veritable wonder-worker for rough, tanned, reddened, blotchy, pimpled or freckled skin.

MEXICANS HOLDING TWO U. S. AVIATORS

(Special to The Examiner.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Vigorous representations have been made to the Mexican government with reference to the holding for ransom of two American army aviators, it was learned at the State Department. The War and State Department officials are conferring about the case and it was stated every effort to obtain the release of the officers will be made.

CAUGHT 17 LB. 'LUNGE OFF CEMETERY POINT

Thursday evening while fishing off cemetery point, Little Lake, Mrs. Mat Breckenridge, of Pearl avenue, landed a 17-lb. maskalonge. The fish was one of the largest caught in Little Lake for some time.

BRITISH OFFICERS HIT SOME BIG BARGAINS.

LONDON, Aug. 16. — Three silver fox skins, for which $2500 has been refused in London, were exchanged in Archangel for six bottles of whiskey by a British officer who has just returned from Northern Russia. Another officer traded a case of champagne for a diamond necklace said to be worth thousands of dollars. Returning soldiers say that any possession a native has may be obtained with intoxicants.

The hunter who parted with his fox skins had little pleasure out of the whiskey, however. Immediately on obtaining it he went into a room and drank it all. He was found in a serious condition and it required hospital treatment to save his life.

TRAINMEN DEMAND HIGHER WAGES AND LABOUR SAVING APPLIANCES

WAGE INCREASE AVERAGES FIFTY PER CENT. AND WILL COST ROADS 70,000,000--AUTOMATIC DEVICES ANOTHER $2,000,00,000.

117,000 EMPLOYES AFFECTED

(Special to The Examiner.)

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 18.—Increases in wages averaging fifty per cent. and the installation of automatic stokers, coal passers, grate shakers and door openers are provided in a new wage scale and standard rules report in the hands of 800 representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen here today. The demands will be presented to Walker D. Hines, Director-General of Railroads as soon as the draft of the proposed measures is re-written, according to President Timothy Shea.

The firemen and helpers demand increases averaging from 86 to 65 per cent and the average is fifty per cent, it was said. It will cost the railroads of the United States and Canada $800,000,000 to install the automatic devices demanded, delegates estimated, while the annual increase in operating expenses entailed by the wage demands was placed at $70,000,000. The latter figure is based on the assumption that the 117,000 firemen and enginemen in the brotherhood work an average of 300 days per year for an average of eight hours per day.

GUM DECAY CAUSES TOOTH DECAY

Healthy teeth need healthy gums to hug them. Else they will loosen in Pyorrhea. Tiny openings will come in the gums to act as the gateways of disease germs, which infect the joints or tonsils, or cause other ailments.

Forhan's prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. No mere toothpaste does. Are your gums tender, gums? Are they bleeding gums? If so, you are certain to have Pyorrhea (Rigg's Disease): Four out of five people who are over forty have it.

To you we earnestly recommend Forhan's. It preserves the gums which hold the teeth secure.

Brush your teeth with it. Forhan's cleans the teeth scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

MISUNDERSTOOD

(By H. D. KENNEDY.)

Look at the childhood of Jesus, knocking at the door of a world that did not want Him. There is no room for Him in the inn—earth's Redeemer and heaven's King is born in a stable, wrapped in coarse swaddling clothes and laid in a manger. Herod seeks His life and 'thrusts his sword into the nest but the bird has flown." Knocking at the door of His Father's house He finds no welcome there. Is it much wonder that the boy of twelve asks questions, this Son in His Father's house? Who brought these oxen here? Whence came these sheep and doves? Is this worshipping God? Is this what Moses and the prophets taught? He is in a strange world and He is alone.

Little is known of His childhood. 'Only one flower is thrown over the wall of the hidden garden." Still little is known of any of the boys of the Bible or of secular history of that time. He was a boy like other boys. In the temple at twelve it was that His mind began to open to the reality of life, just as Samuel's did when God called him in the temple. It was here that He began to think. His divinity never changed but His humanity developed like other children. "He grew in wisdom." In the temple He is not only hearing, but answering questions. In all probability He learned more from the doctors than they learned from Him. The human mind needs other human minds to develop it, as iron sharpeth iron. The day Robinson Crusoe found his man "Friedy" meant much more to him than the building of his "long boat." Man left to himself would again become a savage. No one can draw himself up by taking hold of his own boot-tops.

One great question that day in the temple must have been: How can the present condition of affairs be consistent with what Moses and the prophets taught? They were thinking of creeds and forms of service, He of His Father's will and a right condition of the heart. Life at first is instinctive, then reflective. A babe will put a spoon into his mouth though never taught; but there comes a time when he begins to think for himself and ask questions. Why am I here? Where did I come from? Why have I to call that man "father" and this woman "mother"? What is it within me that says: "Do this," and "Don't do that?" Is there a God? Can I know Him? What would He have me do Such questions are apt to come from any thoughful boy when he begins to realize that after all, life is not a dream. Jerusalem stirred the youthful heart of Jesus as Nazareth had not done. He is in His Fathers home for the first time. It was here His soul seems to have been stirred. Duty, destiny, mystery all crowd in on His mind. There comes a time in every life when the child is in his Father's house for the first time, conversing with the doctors, when life ceases to be instinctive and becomes reflective.

A home is like a bird's nest: there comes a fledging time when the birds must use their wings. Few families can agree after the children begin to think for themselves. They develop in their own spheres and diverge more and more. The dream ladder has gone; the hand of God is on them: the question in their inmost soul is "Should I not be about my Father's business?" Be careful, parents, that you silence not the whisper of the divine when the young soul of your child, like Samuel, first hears the heavenly voice. Every day is a new day, every life a new life, every soul a new soul. No one can map out another's life. Like Eli, send your young Samuel to God. He alone can teach and lead and direct the enquiring soul to its destiny.

His mother missed Him from their company. She returned to the temple perplexed indeed. It is a serious moment in any mother's life when her boy for the first time seems not to want to obey her. Why these three days of sorrow? Was it foreshadowing the other three days when the cloud of the cross hung over her soul? She finds Him with the doctors and in the temple, a good place to find a boy. She makes her complaint. He looks at her in surprise. It may be that He has never thought of how His tarrying behind would affect her. It is not likely that He had thought of it at all, He was so taken up with the new things He had seen and heard. 'Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business?' His business is surely here in God's house. She must learn that God has the first claim on Him—a lesson that every mother ought to learn. But he returns with her to domestic toil again and truly to His Father's business.

Adam had worked before he fell. His Father worked hitherto, and He would work. It is as wonderful that He should be a carpenter as a worker of miracles. It is as wonderful that electricity should hold together the atoms of a dew drop as that it should flash in the lightnings of heaven. In obscurity and simplicity He toiled on with no flattery to mar His character. He was a working man and thus stamped honest toil with dignity.

He learned as other men do. "The Bible, man and nature were—His books." His childhood could have been marked by nothing extraordinary, as was shown later in the unbelief of His brethren and His townmen. Like other people He was never popular in His own town. He learned obedience that He might teach it. How could He teach children to obey their parents if He did obey His? He went through all the experiences of boys. When a man one day He asked, "Which one of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?" No doubt when a boy He had the experience of all boys when they wish they were men, yet entirely helpless in obtaining that desire. If He was born of a woman He could be taught by one. And no doubt He who had learned from the doctors in the temple, many a time during those eighteen years, had asked his mother and others many a question and learned much from their answers.

Joseph likely died shortly after Jesus' visit to Jerusalem, for we never hear of him again. And Jesus home and family would naturally fall to the lot of Him and His mother, in which case an attachment more than usual would be formed between mother and son. No doubt her pure character had a wonderful influence on His constantly developing mind, and may have had much to do in forming within Him that kindliness of disposition that He afterwards showed toward all women. He always befriended the woman, and never once do we read of His censuring her. They all seemed to love Him. Do we anywhere read of a woman being His enemy? Did any woman cry: "Crucify Him?" Pirate's wife, Gentile and a heathen, pleaded for His life.

At no time in the world's history was woman so downtrodden as when Christ lived on earth. He exalted her wherever He found her. What a woman Mary Magdalene became because of His love for her and interest in her! Think of the woman possessed of seven devils and living in such an age, becoming a personal friend of the Christ, and the one chosen by Him to first tell a lost world that He had risen from the dead! Think of His calling her whom He met by Sychar's well "woman!"—the very way He addressed His own mother. He believed in her, and by thus addressing her awakened again all the womanhood in her, and so transformed her life that before night she convinced half that city that he was the Christ, though no one that morning would have taken her word for anything. If we would influence others to better things, or inspire them to higher and holier things, we must believe in them. Until others are convinced that we believe in them they will never respond to our influence. And notice, Jesus did not call this water-carrier by the name of "woman" until she was convinced that He was at least a prophet. He saw that if the world was ever to be lifted up again woman must do it; and wherever His gospel has been preached she has been exalted and has lifted the world a little nearer heaven. Every woman should love Him. There are women in this country who will have nothing to do with Jesus. They will not have Him to reign over them. And yet if it had not been for him and His gospel, this fair land would to-day be wrapt in heathen darkness and every woman debased in the eyes of men.

Last at the cross and earliest at the grave."—(Matt. xxvii. 55, 56; xxviii. 1.)

Jesus had sister too. They were younger than He was. How affectionate this Brother must have been toward those little sisters! There were at least six children in that home besides Himself, and, being the eldest, the burden and toil necessary to support that family would naturally fall chiefly on Him. Think of Him as a brother in that home. No doubt He loved them all, and regarded each one with special care, yet we have nothing to show us that they ever loved Him. It may be that the weary hours He spent in this home caused Him to utter the cry, later in life, that a "man's foes are those of his own household." From what we know of the unbelief manifested toward Him in His own town and among His own family, we would naturally infer that during those years of necessary toil and surrounded by such an uncongenial atmosphere, He must have been very lonely. Probably it was during those long years of waiting that He formed the habit of spending the night in prayer and lonely solitude, driven there from a home and from a town where none understood Him. A carpenter's son and a carpenter Himself, it is not likely that during those years He made any claim to being anything above the ordinary. But, during those weary days of toil, He was true to each passing duty and learned many a lesson which proved helpful to Him later as a teacher and leader. "Seest thou a man diligent in his business, he shall stand before kings, he shall not stand before mean men."

In many a home there is a dreamer whose soul turns toward the truth as a flower turns toward the light. A misunderstood one, living a crushed life, who, like Job, with bleeding heart cries for an avenger; whose chief sorrow is that no soul breathes in unison with his own. We might help such a one if we would, and bring joy to the lonely heart as Solomon did to Sheba's Queen. There is a persecution sharper than the knife, which wounds deeper than the sword and it were better for you a millstone had been hanged about your neck than that you should, by a cold laugh or sneer, or galling suspicion, pour bitterness into the heart that God is bruising. Remember, when your persecution sent that crushed soul to pour out his grief before God, your name went up as the oppressor to the Avenger's ears.

Yes, Josepha there are in many a home. God in His mercy took Joseph and put him in the dark prison of Egypt, where he was happier than in that home of discord. The dreamer must battle alone and of the people there will be none with him. Alone in that prison the tempter must often have whispered to him that his brothers were right and that he was wrong for having ever counted on his dreams. But even here he was not without sunshine: when his brothers hated his father loved; in slavery he was trusted, and in prison he had the respect of the other prisoners. Sorrow is essential not a mere chance experience, but the very warp in the tapestry of life. Before a man dies almost every nerve has been thrilled with agony and every affection been wounded, and a character developed in God's school of sorrow, is more to be desired than exemption from pain.

Joseph never allowed the darkness about his life to enter his heart. It is possible always for a man to be above his dark surroundings; it is never far from sadness to joy. Joseph came out unhurt, with no fault-finding of the cruelty of relations or man's integrity or woman's honor rankling his heart. A man's own meanness, not another's, dishonors him. Others can injure us to do the things we should not have done. We rob them of their power if we leave them more sweet and forgiving than before.

All sorrow is intended for the development of the soul life, made perfect through suffering. The Cross, revealing as it does the necessity of the highest Life, alone interprets the discipline of suffering. Joseph was subject to all the bitterness that usually sours the affections and poisons the mind. Byron and Swift come out of the schools of sorrow only to poison the very atmosphere around them with doubt and hatred; Joseph, subject to slander, ingratitude, envy and injustice, comes out sweet and forgiving. A rainbow in the morning indicates foul weather but a rainbow in the evening shows that the storms are past. And so in the life of Joseph and many other such dreamers, "a cloudy morning often brings a pleasant day." The life of David was a grand illustration of this truth and history is full of such characters.

Isaac Barrow, the great scientist, was called a dunce when a boy. His father used to say if it pleased God to take any of his children he hoped it would be Isaac. Lord Clive's parents sent their boy to India because they thought him no good at home, and a few years later, when the name of the conqueror was sounded throughout the land, the old man turned to his wife and said: "Well, wife, after all that booby has sense." Fathers and mothers take care! Don't you know that many of the greatest geniuses have been reckoned dunces at school? A great humorist has quaintly said: "An early cabbage don't head well." A great military teacher once said that there were two classes of boys came to his school. One class seemed bright at first, and he put them down for bugle boys; the other class were slow beginners, and he put them down to be leaders of men. There may be some crushed one even in your home whom God is leading out to mighty deeds.

We have no more pathetic story in history than the sad tale of Joan of Arc, that pleasant girl, that dream-believed, and with whom no one sympathized. Her family and the villagers near her home thought she was crazy, but she made her way to the King of France and told him her story. More because of the novelty than of his belief in her or in her mission, he let her lead his armies. Then that poor, despised, broken-hearted girl, with no soul on earth breathing in unison with her own, led the armies of France to battle and victory overthrowing the power of England, and redeeming her country, though she was put to death shortly after. Surely she "trod her winepress alone" as the flames kindled about her and her prayer ascended in the flame: "Lord Jesus receive my spirit." Truly she was one "Of whom the world was not worthy."

Let us now look again into the home of Jesus the lonely—the misunderstood. One a dreamer indeed. But He has a mother who sympathizes and at least partly understands, and the attachment between mother

WOMAN'S BEST LAXATIVE

Proved Every Day That Dr. Hamilton's Pills Are Just Right for Woman's Ills.

Of course a woman's system is delicate, is easily injured by drastic purgatives. Bitter experience with harsh medicines makes her cautious, and, to her great injury, chronic sluggishness of the system is permitted.

Few pills are suited to the actual needs of woman—they are too strong.

But there is a good woman's laxative and it combines mildness with thoroughness of activity—it is known to the people of many nations as Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which never gripe, never cause nausea and are safe to use no matter what the conditions of strength or circumstances of health may be. A naturalness and regularity of the system, so important to every woman, is quickly acquired by the regular use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. As a health bringer, as a tonic laxative, as an all-round ladies' medicine, there is positively nothing so efficacious as Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut; 25c per box, at all dealers.

and son grows deeper and deeper as the years go by. In His moments of loneliness was she no help or inspiration to Him? Oh yes, though she never completely understood Him, yet she continually pondered in her own heart all things concerning Him, anxiously awaiting the fulfilment of God's promise.

Mary knew some things about Him no one else knew. His wonderful birth, the angel's song, the shepherds' visit; the worship of the wise men, and the adoration of Simeon in the temple; all these things she pondered trying to unravel the mystery. She herself was a marvellous woman but only a woman; yet a woman that knew an angel's voice when she heard it. She refused not the honor of becoming the mother of God's Son. Neither was she elated at all, and never did she boast of it. Silently she kept all in her own heart. God made no mistake when He chose her to confer upon her the greatest honor ever conferred upon any woman. Whether she ever told Him of these things we do not know. No doubt she taught Him to prey and to read the Bible, and often related to Him, like any Jewish mother, the interesting stories of the history of her people. She may have often tried to explain to Him the problem of life of how to live and how to die, though she saw but through a glass darkly herself. At any rate He came from that home trained and taught in such a way as to make Him the greatest preacher of the ages. His sermon on the Mount, full of practical truth, that touched home and social life in all its varied forms, was most likely the outcome of eighteen years' experience, observation, and meditation. And the world marvelled; though Mary, watching that life for thirty years, may have partly understood. She had watched Him gradually develop brother, as a citizen, and now as as a babe, as a boy, as a son and Master and Teacher. Quietly His preparations went on, like the silent sunbeams which melt the snow on the mountain peaks and unlock the glacier, giving birth to the mighty river. So God's whisper to Adam, to Enoch, to Noah, to Abraham, to Moses, to David, and to all the prophets is now being repeated to this Man of Nazareth in His quiet solitude, and He must soon burst forth as the grandest character and greatest life of history.

Nazareth was a wicked place. During those years of waiting, the need of man's redemption would be impressed more and more upon Him. And it is possible that during this time Jesus had annually visited Jerusalem and knew well the condition of affairs there. His heart must have often burned with indignation at the sham and hypocrisy of the priesthood. He had heard that in the wilderness a great preacher was attracting much attention, and that he was on every hand denouncing the sins of the people. All this would naturally thrill His own brave spirit with a desire to enter upon His life work. At last the day came; and though He may have spent many lonely hours in that home, still it was His home and His mother loved Him. She had cheered Him in his trials; but now He must leave her, and as never before, face the cold world alone.

See Him laying aside His carpenter's tools and going to Mary. He places His hand on her shoulder as she sits with open bible by the table: "Mother." He has often said it before but there seems something different in His tone now. "What is it?" she asks with upturned gaze. "I am going to leave you, mother." "Why my Son, what is the matter? What have I done?" "You have done nothing, mother. You have been the best of mothers to me, but my hour is come." See that mother as she rises and clasps that Son in her arms. Can she part with Him? Will He leave her? Oh, what can his words mean—"Mine hour is come"? See them as they stand locked in each other's embrace—earth and heaven united: the purest woman God ever made and the noblest Man. But he breaks away. Look! see the scalding tears flow down His face, as He goes out into a cold, dark, sinful world—alone.

He makes his way to the Jordan, where John is preaching. To the astonishment of all, the countenance of that fearless preacher, who has never flinched before priest or king, undergoes a sudden change, and his voice becomes as tender as a woman's, as with outstreched hand he points to the Christ and cries: "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world!" What had happened? Who was this Stranger? What could the preacher mean? He enters the water, and the bold prophet, who has never shrunk from duty before, hesitates. Dare he baptise the Son of the Most High? Jesus had not sinned, but if He had He would have repented and been baptised by John. He had come, not to destroy the yaw of the prophets, but to fulfil, and to complete the work of John. In His act of submitting to John's baptism, He endorsed all John was doing. In a moment a light from heaven shone forth and the Spirit like a dove, descended and rested upon Him, and God's testimony was heard, "This is My Beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased." What! is this then our long-expected Messiah? Is this our Redeemer? Is this our King Will He not now proclaim Himself?

MATTHEWS-BLACKWELL AND LINDSAY TIED AS RESULT OF SATURDAY'S GAME

LINDSAY WINS PITCHER'S BATTLE BY A SCORE OF 4-3—M'ELROY PITCHED GREAT GAME.

Saturday afternoon the Matthews--Blackwell team put up a hard fight, but went down before the Lindsay Greys by a score of 4-3. The game was a pitcher's battle, Lindsay making only 6 hits and the Packers only 5.

McElroy, Lindsay's southpaw, gave a clever exhibition and lived up to the reputation he has already acquired. Frost pitched a good game, but did not get as good support as usual.

The series is now a tie and the play-off will be here to-morrow night at six o'clock. Following is the box score:

DEDMAN'S REPLY TO SANDY LOCKINGTON

ASKS WHETHER GATE RECEIPTS OF BELLEVILLE-PETERBORO GAME WERE COLLECTED.

Mr. J. Dedman, of Lindsay, has replied as follows to Sandy Lockington's letter dealing with their differences over district baseball occurrences:

Dear Sir,—I have read carefully your letter in the Mail and Empire following my resignation as secretary of the C.O.B.L. and answer to my letter, and wish to state that you have "studiously" avoided the main bone of contention. Personally I have no quarrel with the President of the league as a gentleman among gentlemen, but while you have given Manager Solomon's (Peterborough) reason for objecting to Mr. Butler as umpire, you have for some reason or other refrained from telling the public, and explaining to the secretary of the league, why the meeting was called, and by your refusal to deny that the meeting held in Peterborough was illegal, you therefore condone holding of said meeting. You claim that I am trying to force my opinion on the executive, but you fail to state that three of the executive members were not present at the meeting, and not even notified that such was being held. I still contend that the meeting was illegally held, and that business was transacted in an "unbusinesslike and unsportsmanlike manner."

Further, have you, Mr. President, sent the Secretary of the Lindsay and Belleville clubs, or the secretary of the Central Ontario League any explanation why they were not notified to attend this meeting?

Have you, Mr. President, asked the manager of the Peterborough Club to retract his statement re Umpire Butler when it was found to be untrue and grossly unfair? An apology should be sent to Mr. Butler.

Have you yet collected one-third of the gate receipts from the Peterborough and Belleville games as was ordered by you as President?

Why did the president allow two to vote at the executive meeting who were not members of that executive, and had no business there, they had neither to vote for these clubs? And why when Belleville objected to Umpire Rosevear (remembering that Peterborough objected to Umpire Butler) did the President make them take Mr. Rosevear, and not Peterborough take Mr. Butler. I agree with the President in making Belleville take Mr. Rosevear, but this was done without even taking a vote. Why not have forced Peterborough to take Mr. Butler as well?

Until the President answers these questions fairly, and gives the fans in the Central Ontario League some satisfactory explanation, I certainly must insist on my resignation being accepted, despite the fact that Mr. Lockington is a "hale fellow well met," and a known gentleman who has at all times endeavoured to uphold clean amateur sport. Yours truly,

M. J. DEDMAN.

CLOSE SCORES IN GUN CLUB SHOOT

TRENT VALLEY DISTRICT SHOOT MOOTED FOR NEAR FUTURE.

The Peterboro Gun Club held their weekly shoot Friday evening and some good scores were handed in. Roy Hutchison broke 24 out of 25 after some nice shooting. Chris Wood and T Curvin had a match shoot and it ended in a tie each breaking 23 They will shoot it off next Friday evening.

The members of the local club are very enthusiastic over the splendid shoot and treatment accorded them at Port Hope last Wednesday. They say the sky line at the southern town trap is ideal. It is expected that a shoot open to the Trent Valley District may be pulled off at Port Hope when squads and gunners from Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Campbellford, Cobourg, Port Hope and Peterboro will take part. In the McGaw Cup Series which ended with Friday's Shoot, Stan Coon won the cup with Chris Graham second and Chris Wood and C. Mills tied for third place.

SALVAGE $5,000,000 AT RISK.

Admiralty Could Reach Sunken Laurentic Only in Calm Weather.

LONDON, Aug. 16.— The salvage operations by the British Admiralty by which gold bullion worth over a million pounds sterling has been recovered from the sunken liner Laurentic, have only been possible in every calm weather as the wdech lies in an exposed position about four miles northeast of Fanad Light at the western side of the entrance to Lough Swilly.

The Laurentic, which was on active service as an auxiliary cruiser, was sunk by a mine late on Jan. 15, 1917.

To Draw the Prince of Wales

Big and still bigger locomotives are being turned out by the Canadian Pacific Railway. Sixteen new ones are being built at the Angus Shops, Montreal, at the rate of one for every five and a half working days. They are masterpieces of engineering workmanship, the largest and heaviest passenger locomotives in the Dominion, and construction has been speeded up so that these required might be ready in time to draw the Royal Train carrying the Prince of Wales across Canada. They were specially designed, and constructed under the direct supervision of Mr. W. H. Winterrowd, chief mechanical engineer of the C. P. R. The total weight of each engine and tender in working order is 480,000 lbs., the cylinders are 25 inches by 30 inches, the diameter of the driving wheels 75 inches, and the boiler carries 200 lbs. steam pressure —giving the locomotive a tractive effort of 43,000 lbs.

The boilers are very large, each one containing approximately 5,000 square feet of heating surface. A superheater delivers the steam to the cylinders at a high temperature. The tender holds 9,000 imperial gallons of water and 12 tons of coal.

The engines are equipped with a vestibule cab which completely protects the engine men from the bad weather. These cabs are very comfortable and are conveniently arranged, being provided with large clothes lockers.

The new locomotives are to be used in the passenger service of the C. P. R., between Port William and Winnipeg, and between Smiths Falls, Trenton and Havelock. They are sufficiently powerful to eliminate the necessity for running a number of heavy passenger trains in two sections, one of the new engines being able to handle the number of cars that it formerly took two locomotives to draw.

(1) Sixteen of these wonderful engines will soon be running on the C. P. R. lines.

DOURO GIRL HURT BY RANAWAY HORSE

MARY HEFFERNAN WAS DRAGGED OVER A FENCE—RENDERED UNCONSCIOUS.

On Saturday morning, while waiting in a carriage in the yard of her home in Douro Township, about two miles north of Indian River Station, Miss Mary Heffernan, daughter of Mr. Patrick Heffernan, was the victim of a very painful accident. The horse harnessed to the carriage in which she was sitting took fright at a sudden noise made by a plank let fall by a boy nearby, and bolted over a fence, smashing the carriage and hurling Miss Heffernan against the fence, inflicting painful injuries about her face. Dr. Gallivan and Dr. Devlin, of Indian River, who were called, found the injuries to be limited to cuts and a severe shock. To-day Miss Heffernan is reported to be making satisfactory progress towards recovery.

The great emporium called the Bon Marche in Paris has the largest kitchen in the world. The smallest kettle used in this kitchen contains 100 quarts, and the largest 500. Each of the 50 roasting-pans has room for 300 cutlets, and every dish for baking potatoes can hold 225 pounds. Sixty cooks and 100 assistants are always at the range during cooking hours.

PREMIER'S INJURY KEEPS HIM ABED

SPRAINED ANKLE MORE SERIOUS THAN AT FIRST APPEARED.

(Special to The Examiner.)

HALIFAX, Aug. 18.—Sir Joseph Pope announced to-day that Sir Robert Borden would be unable to participate in any functions arranged in honour of the Prince of Wales until Quebec is reached at least.

The injury sustained by the Premier when he slipped and sprained his ankle is more serious than was at first supposed. The limb has been severely strained, and Sir Robert has been ordered to keep his bed for several days. He got up and attempted to dress this morning, but found it impossible to use his foot, and went back to bed again.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

The Hottentot

By JEROME O. BEATTY

(Copyright)

The rain was pouring down outside our room on the fourth floor of the Zoudine, and O'Grady and I sat playing twosome bridge with dummy hands. It was nearly three o'clock in the morning. I was dealing to O'Grady, who sat facing the windows.

"I never knew an Irishman in my life who wouldn't try to lick everything, even the worst animal that delirium tremens ever—"

O'Grady stopped short.

I looked up.

He was staring at the window behind me, and slowly and carefully he began to pull out the drawer in the table in front of him. We kept our revolvers in that drawer.

I stopped dealing.

"Keep on. Don't move," he commanded softly.

The rain seemed to have stopped. I found later that I dealt all the cards in the middle of the table. Behind me, through the open window, I heard the clang of chains and a sort of scraping on the brick wall. There was no fire-escape there and the ground was four stories below. I thought I heard a low growl.

The next instant a brown human skull fell on the table before me, rolled over and stopped, staring with empty eyes at my throat.

O'Grady fired past my head. I turned quickly, and out of the window, where it had crouched I saw a big, dripping, hideous, one-armed, hairy figure, from whose breast a long horn protruded.

And it had no head!

We rushed to the window, O'Grady first, carrying the revolver. The huge beast was several feet below our window, hanging to the water-pipe, its feet on a brick cap over the window below ours. Chains hung from its body, and by the light from the street we could see that its long hair was matted with mud.

Horrified, we watched the thing struggle a moment to get a firm footing and to hold with one arm, which, I noticed now, was attached to its side instead of its shoulder.

Then in a muffled growl, the headless giant spoke!

"Can't you give a guy a lift?" it said.

We couldn't tell where the voice came from.

"What are you?" I asked in astonishment.

"Talk up or I'll shoot again," O'Grady commanded.

"I'm the Headless Hottentot of the Himalayas—the Blood-Sweating Kiosk of the Holy Writ, and my name is Bill Kiosk. You missed me the first time, but please don't shoot again. All I want is somebody to undo me and let me get at the pie-eyed rat that got me into this."

"Who? Us?" asked the ever-cautious O'Grady.

"No," grunted the Headless Hottentot, and with remarkable agility, considering that he had only one arm, he began to crawl up the water-pipe.

We helped the wet, muddy giant into the room. On his instructions we unhooped him down the back, and Bill Kiosk—a whole man—stripped off his skin and sank into a chair. His head and one of his arms had been inside the padded covering, which was so devised as to make the top of his head level with the shoulders of the head-faker animal he represented. To see, he had been forced to look out two slits in the chest of the skin.

The porter was called from the bar, cigars were put at the side of the Blood-Sweating Kiosk, and he told us this story:

"I was a high-wire man, doubling in a trapeze act with the Bingley Brothers' circus until a month ago, when I met that heathen, sneaking yeggman that—"

"Have another drink," interrupted the diplomatic O'Grady.

"Tom Hanks was ballyhoo man at the side-show. He framed up the scheme where we were to have so much money that the price of a meteor-car would be small change. 'The only thing about this plan that makes me hesitate,' Tom says to me, 'is that somebody might murder us so as to steal our act.' We took the chance—rather I did. Tom, the yellow-hearted, cheese-brained—

"Thanks. This is good liquor.

"The plan was to make a Headless Hottentot, and take him round the Rube route—country fairs, you know. I was to be the Hottentot, and Tom was to ballyhoo. We bought us an old lion's cage from the circus and got us a lot of chains, and I made that suit. It's a great suit," he said proudly; "made it out of mule-skin and horse-hair and a cow's horn. I wouldn't take a hundred dollars for it. It looks up so good you can look all over me when it's on and not find how I get into it.

"We got a banner painted. I furnished the money. Gee, if there ever was a goat, I was it, and all because that long-nosed son of an orang—

"Much obliged. This is better liquor than we got out in the prairies.

"We made our first pitch over in Nebraska. Tom chained me in the cage, hammered up the bars so I could rattle 'em, and filled the audience so when I threatened rough—I was supposed to have torn up trees before they caught me—the cage would nearly fall over."

"But what did you do with this?" I asked, pointing to the skull which still lay on the table.

"That was my head. It was cut off in the jungles of Hanky-Foo, where I tried to murder a gang of the world's most famous scientists. Oh, you get to give it to Tom. He was a big top spieler. This was his stuff, I know it by heart:

"'Look! Look! Look!' he'd yell and hold up that skull.

"The crowd would come on the gallop. After a couple or three women had fainted in the crush of people who were afraid they'd miss a free pike at something, he would begin:

"'Upon the in-side, la-dies and gen-tel-men, is the mar-vel-us so-o-log-i-cal spec-i-mun brought here this week for your approval by your own government—the United States of America.'

"Then he'd wave the head.

"'While searching for orang-utangs in the Himalayan jungles of Hanky-Foo, where the most mammoth species of the beasts abound, a party led by Prof. Jules Le Pax, the noted French scientist, of whom you all have heard, came upon a huge, hairy being, the largest orang-utang the scientists ever had seen.

"'Like the enraged monster it was, it leaped from a tree with murder in its heart. After a bloody battle in which two men were struck dead with trees which the brute uprooted and hurled at the members of the party, Prof. Le Pax, with one swoop of his machete—the only weapon ever used with success in battling with orang-utangs—severed the beast's head from its body.

"'Never have the chains been removed. It is feared that once released it might rush among the people, killing hundreds in its blind fight.

"'Prof. Le Pax presented it to the French government, which turned it over to the French Society for Scientific Research, and after the influence of our greatest diplomats was brought to bear, it was loaned by the United States. A bond of half a million dollars was deposited by the treasurer of this nation, guaranteeing the safe return of the monster, and the beast is now being displayed to certained favored communities.

"'The Headless Hottentot is securely caged; loaded with chains so there is no danger, and any little child may view with safety this marvelous educational exhibit in the amphitheater behind me. It's a government exhibit, ladies and gentlemen, and just to cover the traveling expenses the government authorizes us to charge only a dime—ten cents—for every admission ticket which you can purchase from the lady at my left. Here's his head. Go in and see the living, breathing body.'

"And the way they would fight to get up to pay a dime to see me was enough honor to last me all my life. Tom would come inside and give another lecture. I'd try to batter down the bars, tear round the cage just as if I could strangle a bull with one hand.'

"At night Tom would unlock the padlock that held the chains on me, unhook me, and we'd go to our hotel and count our money. We saved nearly a thousand dollars in three weeks. We landed here three days ago, and have been playing to all the Rubes in the world, it looked like to me.

"About four hours ago, after the show was closed, Tom came round. But he didn't unlock the cage. He stood in front and laughed.

"'What's the joke?' says I.

"'It's on you,' he answers, sort of pert. 'I'm going to leave town with the capital stock.'

"And, laughing fit to kill, he turned out the gasoline lights and walked out of the tent.

"I thought he was fooling, but he wasn't. I waited about an hour for him to come back. There I was chained in the cage in that dark tent and nobody round. I yelled and tore and fought the chains and shook the wagon—it wasn't any put on. I was a raving brute for sure. I woke up all the people in the neighborhood, but nobody would come within a block of me until the town marshal arrived. He stuck his head in the tent.

"'What you want?' he says, speakin' timid like.

"'I want out,' I answers, and tears out a couple of bars.

"He ran off and got the whole police force. The police force wanted to shoot me for fear I might get loose and kill everybody in town; but the marshal shook his head, bless him, and said if they did the French government might get after 'em. So they all went home and locked their front doors and went to bed.

"Finally I pulled the chains loose from where they were fastened to the cage and got away. I couldn't get out of the skin, and I was in a fine fix. The only valuable property I could find round the show was the skull, and I thought I might want to start the show again and brought it along.

"I've been sneaking through alleys in this rain all night, carrying my 'head' in my one hand or hung on that horn.

"Every time I'd start toward a fellow to ask him to unhook me he'd yell, and be 16 blocks away before I could say 'good evening.'

"Finally I saw your light and decided to climb up the water-spout, get you in a corner where you couldn't run, and make you unhook me, even if I got killed first."

"'But how were you supposed to be fed?' O'Grady asked.

The Headless Hottentot's face was blank.

"Darned if I know. Nobody ever thought of that before. That's the only thing that Tom overlooked."

Should any Store run short of Blanks, The Examiner will print more, so that the number printed might reach as high as 40,000. The number of estimates put in the last Dollar Day Campaign was in the neighbourhood of 15,000. With this information, an estimate can be made before doing your shopping. Of course, as many estimates can be made as the purchaser has Blanks, and they will get one with every Dollar purchase they make.

Make up your mind what and where you want to buy, and come to Peterborough on Wednesday, 20th August, expecting the greatest economy shopping event of your lives.

LIGHTNING STRUCK TURNER'S FLAG POLE

TRANSFORMER TROUBLE THREATENED RUSH ORDER IN THE FACTORY.

Last night's electric storm had more bark than bite. Several transformers were hit, but no serious damage was done, though a few shingles were knocked off the roof of the City Hall, when the transformer behind P. S. Paine's grocery store was struck.

The flagpole on the roof of J. J. Turner & Sons' building was broken, and the transformer burned out. The situation appeared to be serious for a time, as the plant is working to capacity on decorations for the Prince of Wales' visit to Toronto. The De Laval Co., came to the rescue, however, with a gasoline engine, but it had hardly been connected up before the power came on again.

SIRLOIN STEAK ONLY 32 CENNS IN ROCHESTER

SUGAR CURED HAM 36 CENTS, VISITOR THERE REPORTS.

Evidences of sharply declining prices across the border due to the United States government's legislation against profiteering, is shown by the prices of meat in Rochester butcher shops as noticed by a local citizen. The best quality of sirloin steak is now selling at 32c a lb., and sugar cured ham at 36c.

The sale of surplus army food supplies by the War Department is also doing a great deal towards lowering the cost of living.

Bacon, $4.15 per 17 lb. can.
Roastbeef, 29c per 20 oz. can.
Baked beans, 5c per 20 oz. can.
Sweet corn, 10c per 36 oz. can.
Cocoa, 13c a lb.
Corn flour, $5.24 per 100 lb. bag.
Cornstarch flour, $5.24 per 100 lb.
Graham flour, $3.80 per 100 lb. bag.
Corned beef, 29c per 1.30 lb.
Corn meal, $3.50 per cwt.

INITIAL PRICE OF WHEAT MAY BE $2.25

Winnipeg, Aug. 17.—The initial price of wheat, to be paid by the Government to the farmer at the time of sale, is expected to be announced from Ottawa some time tomorrow. This was learned from members of the Canadian Wheat Board to-day, who arrived at what they believe will be satisfactory price both to the producer and the Government, at their session on Saturday morning, which was forwarded at once to the Government.

As to the price, nothing definite could be learned, one member of the board stating that this information is the property of the Government and must come from them.

However, it was learned that the price decided on will be much higher than $1.75, as at first forecasted, and will in all probability be from $2.20 to $2.25, the latter perhaps being the nearest figure.

The board has been meeting daily since last Monday, and now has the details well in hand for the handling of this year's wheat crop.

DEPICTING LOVING SON EASY FOR TOM MOORE

The more observing of Tom Moore's admirers have remarked more than once on the uncommon tenderness with which he plays scenes calling for filial devotion in his Goldwyn Pictures. There is something more than an embrace when he seeks the sympathy and cousel of his screen mother. An intangible difference is noted when he takes her in his arms and tells her not to worry, that whatever problem is troubling her will come out all right in the end. What is this difference and why is it there? Nothing more or less than the fact of the rare sympathy and understanding existing between Tom Moore and his own mother.

She is keeping house for him and his little daughter Alice near the Goldwyn Studios in California, and when he bids the two good bye every morning on the porch of their bungalow, home the neighbors enjoy a scene which as it happens is duplicated in his new Goldyn Picture, "One of the Finest," which comes to the Grand to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Tom Moore is Larry Hayes, a traffic policeman, who lives with his mother (Mollie McConnell) and his little foster-daughter, Mary Jane ("Peaches") Jackson, who is not much bigger than his own adored Alice. Anw number of charming moments in the home life of the trio are portrayed in the appealing comedy-drama, those moments when mother and son confide in each other being easily the most typical of the likable star. It was Mollie McConell, by the way, who played a similar role with Tom Moore, in "Go West," "Young Man," his first production made in California. She was chosen for the new play at the express wish of Mr. Moore, the reason being that of all the mothers he has had in mimic life Miss McConnell most reminds him of his real maternal parent.

"One of the Finest" is replete with moments of tender intimacy calculated to show the Irish star at his best as a devoted son. All the thrills in the play hapen away from his home and are neither contributed nor shared by his gentle, loving parent.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

STOCK MARKETS OPENED WEAK THIS MORNING.—BUYING POWER LACKING.

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Weakness in practically all the leading issues marked the stock market opening today after a two-day rest period.

U. S. Steel opened at 102¼ off ¼, Crucible at 136 off 1½, Sinclair at 53¾ off 1¼, Pan-American at 109½ off ⅛, Mexican Petroleum at 173 off 1, Central Leather at 92¾ off 1, Marine at 53¼ up ½, and Marine Pref. at 113 up ¼.

Further declines, averaging more than two points compared with Friday's close in leading issues, developed during the first half-hour. U. S. Steel reached 10' off 1¾ from the opening. Offerings of stock were light and buying power seemed lacking.

Further reactions before noon caused the market to decline to new lows for the day. Oil stocks, which have acted unusually well during the last week, gave way under the concerted bear attack, and Pan-Americans receding nearly six points from its last week's high.

Crucible, at its low up to 11 o'clock, was still up nearly ten points from the low reached in the last break. This issue acted best in the industrial class.

Weakness of the market grew more pronounced after noon, and U. S. Steel was forced through par, touching 99 1-2 It recovered shortly afterwards to 100 1-8.

There are many thin oils on the market that are not suitable for internal use; other oils have irritating qualities which render them also unsuitable. The one we are selling is guaranteed thick and entirely pure.
It is recognized that a good grade of Mineral Oil is one of the best remedies for CHRONIC CONSTIPATION that is being used. It acts mechanically and does not irritate the intestinal tract, nor does the dose have to be continually increased as is the case with ordinary purgatives.
It is much better and cheaper than Castor Oil as a laxative for Children, since Castor Oil has two effects, the first of which is purgative and the second or after effect, which is Constipating.

FAILURE TO RECTIFY THE PEACE TREATY WILL PUT U.S.A. AT DISADVANTAGE

PRESIDENT WILSON WARNS SENATE COMMITTEE---WILL GET EARLY START IN READJUSTMENT TO NORMAL CONDITIONS---SAYS PROPOSED RESOLUTIONS OF INTERPRETATION ARE UNNECESSARY.

WORLD HAD GERMANY'S CONSENT

(Special to The Examiner.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Urging that the Senate expedite the ratification of the Peace Treaty, President Wilson to-day opened his conference with members of the Foreign Relations Committee at the White House by making a long statement, in which he said that the readjustment of national life to normal conditions absolutely depends upon getting the treaty out of the way, that until it is out of the way, the mines, factories and business of the country, both domestic and foreign, will be at a tremendous disadvantage.

He also said that Great Britain and the other nations that have ratified the treaty will get the jump on the United States in a trade way, that the only obstacle which appears to stand in the way of immediate ratification is the doubt about the meaning of certain provisions of the League of Nations, and that there is no doubt in the minds of those who wrote the covenant that the so-called doubtful provisions mean exactly what the United States Senate wants them to mean.

The President discussed the effect of reservations on Article 10, the Monroe Doctrine, withdrawal and domestic questions. He declared there can be no objections to passing a resolution interpreting those provisions from the American point of view, but that such a resolution should not be added to the treaty of ratification. If it is made a part of the ratification, the President said, it will force the United States to go back to Germany begging her to accept our construction of the covenant, and that was something. Wilson declared, which he was very reluctant to do.

"JUDGE" DICTIONARY SETTLES DISPUTES

New Words are Defined in Work Offered Readers of this Paper.

In case of doubt concerning the meaning of a word the dictionary is the court of appeal to which the average individual must resort. When Dr. Johnson compiled his celebrated dictionary, offered to the public in 1755, it represented a movement initiated by Swift, Addison, Pope and other noted English writers of that period to compose a dictionary that would fix forever and unalterably the English language in one perfect form. But the lapse of years as demonstrated that fashions in words change with the times and that a dictionary to be authoritative and accurate must be up to date.

A popular demand for such a work has been answered by the offer this paper is making to its readers of The New Universities Dictionary in which thousands of words not found in any other dictionary are fully defined. Many of these words have been brought into general and proper use by the great strides made in science, business, religion and the various arts. Specialized activities, such as aviation, golf, baseball and other forms of sports have also given currency to many new terms and definitions of which will be found in one or the other of the twenty-five supplementary dictionaries that have been incorporated in The New Universities Dictionary.

WILSON TOLD SECRETS

Of the Peace Conference and Makes Reports Public.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—In the conference at the White House today, unprecedented in American history, President Wilson discussed the Peace Treaty with Senate Foreign Relations committee, answered questions put by Senators and gave out stenographic transcript of proceedings to the public. Some of the inside details of the Peace Conference, how the League of Nations covenant was drawn up and other historic happenings were handed out verbatim for the world to read in contrast to the time honoured procedure of secrecy, Presidential and Senatorial confidence.

Making a plea for the ratification of the treaty that the world may be turned wholly back to a peace basis, the President said he saw no reasonable objection to the Senate pressing its interpretation of the League of Nations covenant so long as these interpretations did not actually become part of the Act of Ratification.

GERMANS TRY TO EVADE LAW

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 19.—Several wealthy Germans have arrived in North Sleavig trying to escape the high taxes and confiscation of property in Germany. According to the Peace Treaty, Denmark need not make these persons Danish subjects, and the German Government has declared harsh measures are to be taken before the evacuation of North Slesvig to hinder flight from the consequences of the war.

MRS. VANDERBILT SEEKING DIVORCE

WIFE OF REGINALD VANDERBILT SAYS SHE WAS DESERTED FIVE YEARS.

(Special to The Examiner.)

NEWPORT, R.I., Aug. 19.— Mrs. Cathleen Vanderbilt, who yesterday brought a suit for divorce against her multi-millionaire husband, Reginald C. Vanderbilt of New York, whom she says deserted her for five years, refused to make a statement to-day concerning her action for divorce. Mrs. Vanderbilt had the divorce papers served on her husband at his summer home at Portsmouth. She asks the custody of her only child, Miss Cathleen Vanderbilt, who has lived with her since the Vanderbilts separated. The papers are returnable to the Superior Court here on Sept. 1 and do not ask for alimony, it was reported from Mr. Vanderbilt's home in Portsmouth to-day that he will not contest the suit.

FOILED PLAN OF BANDITS

U. S. AVIATORS RESCUED AND MEXICAN GANG GOT ONLY HALF THE RANSOM DEMANDED.

Canadian Press:

MARFA, Texas, August 18.—Lieuts. H. G. Peterson and Paul H. Davis, aviators of the United States army, held captive for more than a week by Mexican bandits, who demanded ransom of $15,000, were rescued early this morning by Capt. Matlack, of the Eighth Cavalry, who, according to agreement, made the journey to the Mexican rendezvous unaccompanied. The men are safe in American territory. Capt. Matlack brought back with him one-half the ransom money. He said after Peterson had been released Davis was brought forward by the bandits, and the two mounted Capt. Matlack's horses. The bandits demanded the remainder of the ransom money, and Capt. Matlack and Davis answered, by riding rapidly away.

The aviators landed on the American side of the river, Lieut. Peterson said. Upon their arrival at Candelaria a week ago Sunday, their engine developed trouble and they were forced to land, smashing their landing gear and fusilage in doing so. The two aviators then tried to find their way to the nearest army camp and became confused. They walked and swam down the Rio Grand during Monday, Lieut. Peterson said, then hired Mexican burros after Peterson developed fever. They had started for Candelaria when overtaken by a band of armed bandits, Lieut. Peterson said. They continued on their forced journey until Friday night, when the bandits compelled the aviators to write messages demanding ransom and telling of the death threat. They were unharmed.

Cavalry in Pursuit.

CANDELARIA, Texas, Aug. 18.—Troops of the United States' cavalry crossed the Mexican border this morning in pursuit of the bandits who held Aviators Peterson and Davis for ransom. Aviators are co-operating with cavalry as scouts to locate the bandits.

In this picture the Prince is seen driving through the streets on his way from the pier. Sir William Pugsley, Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick, is shown, in silk hat, at His Royal Highness's left hand.

"THE KID'S ALRIGHT," IS NOVA SCOTIA'S VERDICT OF THE PRINCE OF WALES

HIS VISIT HAS BEEN A TRYING ORDEAL FOR A BOY WHO HAS MANIFESTLY NO DESIRE TO BE THE CENTRE OF ATTRACTION---KEEPS HIS SELF-CONTROL AND IS GRACIOUS THROUGHOUT IT ALL, BUT IS NERVOUS.

TAKES POSITION SERIOULY

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 19.—This is the verdict of the Maritime Province on the Prince of Wales: "The Kid's there." That is the way the crowds phrase it on the streets of St. John and Halifax.

On the tight little isle people might say "His Royal Highness is a bit of all right, eh, what?" The meaning is the same, only the words have suffered a sea change.

The Prince has gone through two gruelling days since his arrival in the Dominion. Corner stones to the right of him, Veterans' Associations to the left of him, receptions in front of him have volleyed and thundered.

Bedizened officials have addressed him at painfully typewritten length, each grimly conferring his every title from "by the Grace of God to Lord of the Isles." Crowds have cheered him and when not cheering have watched with an appalling round-eyed solemnity. He has shaken thousands of hands and given away medals and talked with many wounded men in hospitals.

Not As Gay As It Looks.

Through it all he has been master of himself, yet those nearest him almost pity him. They often say, "It is a hard job being a Prince." Another boy might like the fuss and feathers. Another bright-eyed, brassy youngster might revel in these attentions. I believe the Prince of Wales actually suffers. Yesterday he was called upon to walk to the centre of a hollow square and address the Association of Veterans of the Great War. His knees shook under him as he spoke. He made an impromptu address to the Studley Quoit Club, and although he rested his right hand on the table his elbow fairly vibrated.

In replying to an address his voice quivers. Quite against his will he fidgets when oratory is poured at him. He brush esasily as a girl. For all that he maintains his self control. His unrehearsed talks are sometimes halting, but are always clearly phrased and gracious. When a local official does the wrong thing (as sometimes happens) he knows how to put the worried man at his ease. His embarrassment disappears the moment the opportunity comes for action.

Detests Social Flummery.

"How does he feel towards this sort of thing?" I asked a member of his party who has known him for years.

"He likes it," was the reply.

The speaker said the Prince detests social flummery from the bottom of his heart, but he takes himself and his position very seriously and is trying to prepare himself for the position he will one day inherit. He is deeply touched by the manifestation of Canadian friendship because he sees in it loyalty to the Empire, but to the judicial-minded spectator he is just a boy. One obscurely feels that a wrong is being done in taking away from him most of the pleasures of boyhood. He should be driving a car or fishing or perhaps flirting, because His Royal Highness has a very deep blue eye for all his likeable diffidences.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT HAS PROGRAMME FOR WORKERS

48 Hour Week, Living Wage and a Voice in the Control of Industry Announced by Lloyd George

[illegible] measures to prevent "dumping," the declaration that the Government plans the partial control of the coal industry, giving the miners a share in controlling mining policies, and the announcement that this Government will recommend the joint Industrial Council of Employers and Employees and provide a forty-eight hour week and living wages in virtually every industry.

DISSATISFACTION OVER LLOYD GEORGE'S PLANS

SPEECH SHOWS LACK OF LEADERSHIP---WILL FOSTER UNREST.

LONDON, Aug. 19.— Newspapers of widely differing views declare Mr. Lloyd George's speech in the Commons yesterday showed that the government has no policy and does not know its own mind. These newspapers declare that the nation will be filled with disquietude at the government's failure to show strong leadership. The Premier's proposals on the coal situation are generally criticized. Advocates of nationalization of the coal industry express indignation and accuse the government of breaking its promise to carry out the findings of the Sankey Commission. The Herald, a Labour paper, notifies the government that the workers are determined to have nationalization and that the rejection of the Sankey report, which favoured such a course will provoke "direct action."

ARCHDUKE JOSEPH IN QUEER POSITION

IS TEMPORARY DICTATOR---AGREES TO RESIGN BUT WILL REMAIN FOR PRESENT.

(Canadian Press.)

BUDAPEST, Aug. 19.— Archduke Joseph has agreed to resign his place as temporary dictator of the Hungarian government because of the Socialists' objections to him, but has consented to remain at the head of the State for the time being because the peasant leaders and members of the reactionary party protested. These leaders were said to have declared they would cause the food blockade against Budapest to be re-established unless the Archduke continued to act as Regent.

GENERAL CURRIE IS APPOINTED FIRST MILITARY OFFICER IN CANADA

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 18. — At a dinner given in Sir Arthur Currie's honour to-night at the Country Club, Major-General S. C. Mewburn, Minister of Militia, announced that the Corps Commander had been elevated to the rank of full General, appointed Inspector-General for the whole of Canada, and made Military Councillor a position that means he will be chief military adviser to the Minister of Militia. These promotions have been approved by the Cabinet Council, and merely have to be fully ratified by the Governor - General - in - Council, announced General Mewburn, who said that they were a slight expression of the appreciation of the services rendered by General Currie to Canada and the British Empire. This means that the Commander of the Canadian Corps has the difinction of being the first military officer in Canada, and the only one at the present time to hold the full rank of General.

THE CARE AND UPKEEP OF YOUR CAR

There are several things carbon will do to an engine. First, it may cause a knock. If it be very heavy. Second, it causes your engine to overheat, which means loss of power. Third, it causes premature explosion. That is your engine explodes at the wrong time, one cylinder works against the other, causing loss of power. Fourth, your valves, normally rise only one-fourth inch above the surface, so, if there is one-eighth inch of carbon your exhaust escape is practically cut off. Sometimes all of the symptoms mentioned show up; at other times probably just loss of power and overheating. There are several ways of cleaning out the carbon. One way is scraping, another, by burning, and there are so called "carbon removers". The latter are not to be recommended at all, as they act like coal oil, softening the carbon to the consistency of honey which gets down around the rings and solidifies causing the rings to "freeze" solid scoring the cylinders. Scraping is good if done thoroughly but takes too much time. Now, as to carbon burning, it makes no difference how bad the engine is carboned up, as soon as the oxygen hits it it immediately turns to carbon dioxide gas and passes away, leaving the interior as clean as when new.

We burn carbon by the Oxygen process the weld cast iron, steel, heats and aluminum parts, welding fenders, frames, cylinder blocks, etc. Millards' Bicycle Shop, 225 Hunter street. Phone 214.

BATTLESHIP, CRUISER AND TWO MINOR UNITS SUNK IN GULF OF FINLAND---BRITISH REPORTED TO HAVE LOST THREE MOTOR BOATS ---EIGHT OFFICERS AND THREE MEN KILLED.

CARRIED 12 INCH GUNS

Canadian Press:

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 19. — The Bolshevik battleship Andrea Pervosen, the battle cruiser Petropaviovsk, a transport and guardship are reported to-day to have been sunk during an engagement with the British fleet in the Gulf of Finland on Sunday. The British were said to have lost three motor boats and to have had eight officers and three men killed.

The Andrea Pervoson was reported as probably sunk by a torpedo near Kronstadt on June 19, according to despatches received in London shortly afterwards, but there was no confirmation of this. At the same time it was said the Bolshevik battleship Petropaviocsk had hoisted the white flag.

The Pervoaven was 464 feet long, carried normally a crew of 838 men, and was armed with four 12-inch guns, fourteen 6-inch guns, twelve 4.7-inch guns and heavy minor battery. She was built in 1907.

The Petropaviovsk was a later type of Russian battleship, five hundred feet long, and with a displacement of 23,370 tons. She carried twelve 12 inch guns and the usual batteries of smaller weapons.

BRITISH FLEET OFF KRONSTADT.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 18.—The reinforced British fleet, which has been engaged with Bolshevik war vessels, is now [illegible] against Kronstadt, the naval port of Petrograd, a despatch from Helsingfors says. The city of Kronstadt, it is said, is burning.

Confirmed by Admiralty.

LONDON, Aug. 19. —The British Admiralty officially confirmed to-day the sinking on Monday morning of a Bolshevik squadron in the Gulf of Finland.

GROW MIDDLE-AGED GRACEFULLY

WORRY MAKES WRINKLES AND GREY HAIRS ARE SURE TO COME—CULTIVATE A CONTENTED MIND

We have heard a great deal lately about the tragedy of middle age as viewed from the perspective of the average woman.

Famous beauties, we are told, have taken their lives rather than face the loss of their good looks.

"We are apt to be overtaken by the thing which we fear most," said a well-known writer, and never were written truer words.

The woman who searches in the looking-glass for the first grey hair, the first wrinkle, will very soon find what she is looking for. Grey hairs and wrinkles are hurried, not retarded, by a habit of worrying, and it is the mind which helps time most with the lines it draws upon the face.

It is to the woman who in her youth has reigned as a beauty that the prospect of middle age proves as a rule so great a bugbear.

As soon as she has passed her thirty-fifth year she begins her frantic fight with "Time."

Often she defeats her own ends in the first instance by recourse to artificiality which only serves to emphasize Time's ravages, vainly expecting dyes to restore the glint in her tresses and rouge to bring back the peach bloom to her cheeks.

But, most fatal mistake of all, she encourages and nourishes feelings of insensate jealousy of all women younger than herself.

And there is nothing that hastens middle age more quickly than the discontented lines and the hard expression which are the result of the emotions called up by this particular vice.

Middle-age is a spectre which is largely the creation of a woman's own imaginings. It does not exist for the truly healthy, contented, even-minded woman who has a knack of stepping gracefully and imperceptibly from youth into old age.

For her there is no "dangerous age". Troubles she may have to bear, but she bears them in the right spirit. And she never wakes up in the morning with that weary, despairing feeling. "Another terrible day to face!" She wakes up, instead, with the thought that "Something nice is sure to happen."

It is only when she loses this power of fresh optimism that she begins to grow old.

One of the chief secrets of her perpetual youth is her way of forgetting self in thinking of others. She views life from the right perspective, and can find happiness in the happiness of others.

Very few have this gift of reflected happiness, which does much to brighten up otherwise colorless lives.

The woman who would banish middle-age should cultivate a contented mind and take care of her health. For health, after all, is the great factor in the keeping of one's looks.

Let the one reigning beauty who would banish middle-age look after her health, and try to view the day upon which she will have ceased to charm philosophically, being content with the memory of laurels won in the past.

If she cultivate this frame of mind the chances are that her power to charm will never fail.—Doris Grey.

FOOD PRICES.

The illuminating reports of Dr. McFall the Cost of Living Commissioner as the Financial Post points out in an article quoted in another column should be followed by some definite effort on the part of the Government to remedy the conditions. In his latest report, Dr. McFall deals with the stocks of food in storage in Canada and remarks it is time the Canadian consumer benefited from lower beef prices. "There has been a material drop in the wholesale price of beef," declares the commissioner," and consumers and retailers should see to it that this is carried out to the consumer's price." So far so good, but Dr. McFall fails to point out how the consumer is to go about the very desirable operation of reducing the prices to the standard the Commissioner believes should be reached. Unfortunately the consumer has very little to say about the prices, "his not to reason why," but merely to pay what he is asked to pay, if he can afford to whittle it is for beef or anything else he needs. As with beef so with cheese. "Now that the British price has dropped for cheese, this leaves a large amount of good food that should be made available for the Canadian consumer at reasonable prices," comments Dr. McFall. Reports such as this if followed by some concrete action should, as is being shown across the line, be an effective aid to reaching a lower scale of living. Without action, however, this only serves to aggravate the consumer without benefitting him to any appreciative extent.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM.

Prominent officials of the Great War Veterans' Association, including members of the G. W. V. A. Advisory Committee to the Repatriation Committee of the Dominion Government, have pronounced the Federal Housing Act a failure and have recommended that instead of the loans, which are now provided by the Act to be administered by provincial and municipal governments, there should be adopted a system of direct loans, handled by the Soldiers' Settlement Board. The Veterans' objection to the present method is that many municipalities have failed to take advantage of the Act and the result is that any citizen within their borders who might desire to secure Government assistance in making a home for himself is unable to benefit by the Federal scheme. For instance, in Peterboro, the municipal council has displayed no interest in the Housing Act nor has any attempt been made to make its provision effective here. The residents of Peterboro are therefore barred from participation in the Government plan.

The Veterans' Advisory Committee, to meet the situation, suggests that the money should be loaned directly to any returned soldier who wants to erect a home, through the Soldiers' Settlement Board, just as loans are being made to ex-soldiers who want to go on the farm. Returned men in Peterboro, who wanted Government assistance in building homes for themselves here, could make their application to the Government. As it is now, Peterboro returned soldiers are helpless in so far as Government aid is concerned. The City Council ignored the housing situation, failed to recognize the opportunity given them by the Dominion Act, and this city is utterly cut off from participation in the scheme. The Veterans' suggestion seems a reasonable one and if the plan urged by them is proving satisfactory in regard to land settlement scheme, there is no reason to doubt that it could be adopted in relation to the housing problem.

CONSERVATIVE MUTTERINGS

The Conservative party in Ontario is in a bad way according to its supporters, says the Toronto Globe. Defeats in North Ontario and in Manitoulin, a sort of Pyrhic victory in St Catharines, the rejection of the sitting member for North Grey at a local party convention notwithstanding the support of Hon. T. W. McGarry—all these rebuffs have thrown the party into confusion, and there are loud cries for a Provincial convention to find out what is the matter.

According to the Toronto World a convention was under way when "two of the big noises from Ottawa" paid a visit to Toronto and "boxed the whole thing up tight and put it into cold-storage." Dr. A. R. Rykert, member for North Wentworth, says: "It is essential for Conservatives to tell the people where we are and what we have to offer. The convention cannot be held too soon." Mr. George W. Sulman, member for West Kent, says: "Most positively and emphatically a Provincial convention should be called forthwith." Lieut-Col. A. C. Pratt, member for South Norfolk, asks indignantly: "Why should the Conservatives of Ontario be compelled to sit quiescent under obsolete policies and a moribund Cabinet?" He complains that Sir William Hearst was not selected by the Conservatives of Ontario for Leader. Lieut.-Col. Machin, member for Kenora, says that the Government promised a convention thirty days after the liquor referendum, but that the intention now is to have both referendum and general election on the same day, which would render a convention useless. "This," he says, "is the worst kind of political chicanery." Mr. John Allan, member for West Hamilton, is also out for a convention.

The Hamilton Spectator thinks that this is the opinion of the majority of the party leaders, and wonders why a convention does not materialize automatically. It adds:

> "There has never been a time in the political of this or any other country when definite, settled political history of this or any by the people, were more urgently demanded. A convention is needed to purge the political atmosphere of the suspicions and doubts and grumblings which are gathering force like a miasma. Open discussion, honest and above board avowal, would put an end to all these pernicious mutterings, and it is in the best interests of the party that the convention be convoked with the least possible delay."

We are not sure that a miasma—The Spectator's euphemism — ever gathered much force, but it undoubtedly is of low and unhealthy origin.

DR. McFALL'S PROFITEERING CHARGES.

In his recent reports having to do with the canners, the tanners, the sugar refiners and the retail merchants, Dr. McFall has either said too much or too little. If the charges can be fully substantiated, legal proceedings should be taken up to prosecute those who are guilty of conniving in restraint of trade to line their own pockets. If, on the other hand, the charges are merely framed with that evident desire of firing public opinion which characterized the reports on the packing and milling industries, then those interests which are being besmirched should have some resource to the Government.

In any event, we repeat, too much or too little has been said. If there are those who are guilty they should pay the penalty. But the charges have been so general in character that business in general is suffering. The public mind, already inflamed to an alarming degree by the loose use of such expressions as "profiteer," "watered stock," etc., has seized upon these reports—or upon the newspaper interpretation of them—with a reckless avidity which has meant condemnation for practically every branch of trade, commerce and industry. The effect cannot be anything but detrimental to the country's best interests. Nothing could be better to cultivate the public mind for the sowing of that seed of discontent, the harvest of which in the hope of the Bolshevists will be votes for communist or Soviet Government.

The Court of Commerce, if it fulfills its proper duty, should do much to clear the air by discriminating between the just and the unjust charges. In Judge Robson, judicial balance should be insured in the chair. W. F. O'Connor has in the past shown a disposition to cater to public opinion, but as vice-chairman, he will be less in the limelight and should be able to satisfy the people in a relentless investigator. To complete the body it is quite evident that if fair conclusions are to be reached there should be a third member with a practical grasp of business affairs—a man who will be able to advise whether trade industrial organizations are in the best interests of the consumer by reducing production costs or whether they are merely to enhance the profits of a few by restricting output and inflating prices.—Financial Post.

Confiscate Illegal Gains of Sugar Sales in Alsace.

STRASBOURG.—M. Stephane, Director of the Bank of Alsace, another official of the bank and Schonferber, a theatrical manager, convicted in the Correctional Court of illicit sugar dealing, were sentenced yesterday.

Evidence was introduced at the trial to show that M. Stephane, a large stockholder in the Erstein Sugar Refinery, gained control of the plant after the German manager was expelled and sold eighty carloads of sugar. Twenty cars, it was testified, were sold through Schonferber at an enormous profit.

M. Steephan received a jail sentence of six months, which was suspended, and was fined 50,000 francs. The official of his bank, who was also involved in the case, was fined 10,000 francs. Schonferber was sentenced to a year's imprisonment and a fine of 50,000 francs.

Alleged illegal profits of 864,000 francs were ordered confiscated by the court.

CHAPTER XLIV.

"After dinner was over we played bridge, two tables. Of course I did not play with Neil and was seated so I could not see him. But I knew he could not talk anything save trivialities during a game, so I gave my attention to my cards, winning compliments upon my playing from my partner—a quiet, middle-aged man whom I rather liked.

As I look back on the main crises of my married life, it seems to me that it has nearly always been some ordinary thing like bridge, or dancing, that has helped me over them, and that has enabled me to hide my feelings successfully.

Foolishly, I did not wait until we reached home to question Neil.

"What in the world were you and Mrs. Orton arguing so earnestly about?" I asked as soon as we were seated in the car.

"We weren't arguing."

"Oh, yes you were! at the table, I saw Lorraine looking at you in such a queer way, it attracted my attention."

"We were talking of a little business." His tone was cold, and did not invite further remark.

"But what business can you have with her?"

"She owns stock in some of our companies, if you must know."

'Is it making her money?"

Neil looked at me thru narrowed lids. Never had I seen quite that look in his eyes. Most women, I believe, wake up suddenly rather than slowly, to anything that savors of a difficult situation. But invariably if we look back we see that it has been existent for some time; that many events have led up to it—particularly if the situation is a martial one.

I repeated the question.

"Not lately," he replied, then looked moodily out of the window.

"Neil," I said slowly, "I don't know what it is, but there is something you will not tell me—something connected with Blanche Orton, —your relations with her."

"For heaven's sake, Bab, are you going to play the part of a jealous wife?" I saw plainly that Neil did not intend me to say any more to him, that he did not mean to tell me anything, yet I persisted.

"I don't know what is wrong, Neil. But I am sure there is something. I have been so wrapped up in the baby, that I have been blind to other things. I never have been your partner, but I have not been so shut out of everything as I now am. I am sick to death of not knowing things. I want you to begin tonight. We'll start all over. You tell me the things which I, as your wife should know. I feel that our future happiness depends upon perfect confidence between us." I laid my hand on his knee, and leaned my head against his shoulder. We were nearly home. It would not be easy to take the subject up again. I wanted an answer now.

"You tend baby. I'll look after other things," he said more gently than he yet had spoken, but with a weariness in his voice. And he moved the arm against which my head rested uneasily.

For a moment I felt helpless. I had an impulse to carry on the conversation—to insist upon knowing what the earnest talk with Mrs. Orton portended, even tho I precipitated a quarrel. Then I hesitated. I would not be so tactless; there were other ways by which women advised themselves of things they wished to know. I would also find some way to satisfy myself.

Neither of us talked much when we reached home, but Neil was cross and nervous. He sent me off to bed, but he sat up late working in the library. Once, when I crept near the library door to see what he was doing, I heard the rustle of papers, and went quietly back without disturbing him.

It was long before I slept. The doubts so long quiescent, had once more taken a hold upon me and kept me wide-eyed, wakeful.

WON'T BAN SUNDAY SPORTS.

Court Refuses to Halt Playing of Games in Philadelphia Park.

PHILADELPHIA.—Advocates of a liberal Sunday gained a victory in court here to-day, when Judge Staake refused the injunction sought by Sabbatarian Association and clergymen against the Commissioners of Fairmount Park to prevent baseball games, tennis and other sports in the park on Sunday.

The opinion rules that, if the participants in Sunday games commit a nuisance in violation of the "Blue Laws" of the State, the remedy is to apply the Penal act.

HOW TO STOP BEING NERVOUS

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Strengthen Weak Nerves and Increase Strength and Vigor.

According to a noted French scientisttist, the most effective remedy for nervousness, insomnia and ailments due to depleted nerve force, is a form of organic phosphate known among druggists in this country as Bitro-Phosphate.

It is described as a substance which is similar in composition to the phosphorus naturally found in brain and nerve cells and being easily and quickly assimilated, the work of creating nerve force, strength and vigor begins immediately it is taken into the human system.

There are many reports of astonishing results from its use, some showing remarkable improvement even in stubborn cases of long standing nerve weakness. As there are many kinds of phosphates, care should be exercised to procure the genuine Bitro-Phosphate, as sold by McDermid and Jury in Peterborough, and all good druggists.

LOST BOUNDARY RECORDS.

Strange Story of How They Were Recovered.

In 1818, Great Britain and the United States agreed that the 49th parallel of latitude should be the boundary between Canada and the United States, from Lake of the Woods to the "Stony Mountains," as the Rockies were then called. West of that to the Pacific, the country was "free and open" to both parties for a period of ten years.

But in ten years the boundary was not settled. In 1824 Russia surrendered all rights to the territory south of 54 degrees, 40 minutes. Time passed, and the country was still "free and open," but an influx of American settlers began to arouse jealousy. In 1844 the political cry of the Democrats in the United States was "Fifty-four forty or fight!" which meant that the United States would have the Pacific coast up to the Russian territory or fight Britain for it. But in 1846 a treaty was made, continuing the 49th parallel "to the middle of the channel which separates the continent from Vancouver's Island."

The commission on the boundary made a map survey, but only got 98 miles of lines cut and erected stone pyramids at frequent intervals in that marked distance.

A few years later, settlers found three lines cut and two sets of pyramids. The boundary was lost. Who could say which was United States and which Canadian soil?

The Canadian settlers applied to the Provincial Government of Victoria, and the query was passed on to the Dominion Government. The simple thing would be to write to London, Eng., and obtain the required information re the surveys of 1857-1861.

In his recent pamphlet on the subject, Mr. Otto Klotz, Chief Astronomer of the Dominion, says:

"Now the extraordinary thing happened. This final report with the necessary data of the survey was not to be found in London. Time and again search was made by different persons for the missing document, but all to no avail. To add to the remarkable situation, the duplicate final report was not to be found in any of the Government archives in Washington.

"Does history record any similar circumstance? Two governments are engaged for years on an expensive international work, a boundary survey; the respective commissioners sign joint final reports and transmit them to their respective Governments, and the reports are nowhere to be found — apparently vanished from the face of the earth!"

"Such was the situation in 1898, when the writer (Mr. Klotz) was sent by the Dominion Government to London and Petrograd on a special mission, in which was included the obtaining of information regarding the records and final report of the above survey. All the offices in London were visited in which there was the faintest likelihood that the records might be stored, but without result, and no one seemed to be able to give any assistance.

"It was the writer's first visit to Europe, and naturally a visit was paid to the Royal Observatory at Greenwich, as he was astronomer for the Dominion Government.

"By chance, his eye caught the initials, B.N.A. on some boxes on top of the library shelves. Like a flash these letters interpreted themselves as standing for 'British North America.' At his request, the boxes were taken down, the dust of years removed, and in them lay the long-lost records of the international survey of the 49th parallel."

Better a little risk of frost after planting corn than a lot of risk as the crop approaches maturity.

DURING the last few years people have had to be content with many lines of goods that were inferior in quality to those procurable before the war.

To-day, people are demanding the better grades again. Those who from a mistaken idea of economy tried to be satisfied with common teas are coming back to Red Rose Tea. They realize that they cannot be satisfied with anything less than Red Rose Quality.

And Red Rose probably will cost them no more than common tea, because Red Rose not only tastes better—it goes farther.

Consisting chiefly of Assam teas—the richest and strongest grown—three teaspoonfuls of Red Rose goes as far as five of ordinary tea. A brewing will prove it.

COMMON SENSE IS GOOD "RULE OF ROAD"

INSTRUCTIONS TO NEW AND OLD DRIVERS OF CARS AS OUTLINED TO THEM BY MULFORD.

Most automobile accidents nowadays are due to lack of a little common sense and carelessness in complying with a few simple rules: "It isn't always the first-time owners who gets his name into the accident columns," say L. W. Mulford, president of the L. W. Mulford Company, local distributers of Grant cars and trucks, "so with every car leaving here, whether its new owners is a novice or veteran driver, we emphasize the rules of city driving.

"First, assume that you must look out for yourself and the other fellow, too. Don't rely wholly on the other fellow doing the right thing, and you'll be on guard if it does the wrong thing and ready for any emergency.

"Never back or swing from the curb into the street without looking back to see if the way is clear.

"Glance both ways on each cross street, and if you're not on the main thoroughfare slow down before you cross. It's safest to drive slowly enough to have the car well under control where buildings hide the intersecting streets.

"Do not cut corners in turning, but keep to your side of the street and look both ways before you make a turn.

"Put out a hand as a guide to the car following or approaching.

"In passing a slower vehicle pass on your left, but in passing a street always keep to the right.

"Do not follow another vehicle too closely. It might stop suddenly.

"Stop when the street car ahead of you stops and stand still till all passengers getting off are out of the street. In most cities this is required by ordinance.

"Dim your lights when approaching another auto on the road.

"Use common sense at all times, and you'll save trouble for yourself and the other fellow."

MATTERS MUSICAL

MUSIC THAT DREAMS ARE MADE OF.

From the house with the open window came an old familiar air, played by some one with a heavy touch. It was a Chopin Waltz which had a long string of memories for the listener. Soliloquy followed something like this: Yes! I played that as a girl, but Chopin waltzes should be played with a lighter touch; evidently this player does not know how. He should listen to a good reproduction of it on the phonograph. Grainger plays it nicely, and Paderewski; it woul be an education for many a student to pursue his practice under the direction of the phonograph. Chopin waltzes are not for heavy hands and feet. They are fairy music, born of fancies light as air, of dreams that are yet to come true. Text books tell us that 3-4 meter is a measure of three pulses, the first accented, the second and third light. But Chopin waltzes define, as no others do, 3-4 meter as the throb of the heart, sending its aspirations soaring to the land of what we'd rather be. So different are these waltzes, that they stir up a very different emotion than that which would be the outcome of listening to a fox-trot, or to tht fiercely primitive thing, the jazz.

Catchy fox-trot tunes may linger and jazz tunes may haunt one with irritating persistence, but no one will ever hum them meditatively, or stop to listen intently, as when the subtle incense of a Chopin 3-4 meter floats out upon the morning air. The music lover may not be content to accept his music as a child does candies, for the music of the great master Chopin, though delicate at times, does not satisfy those with an appetite only for sugary things; nor does it always appeal to the smugly complacent, who turn on music with the same feeling as when they fan themselves on a hot summer day.

To receive what Chopin has to tell us is not merely a matter of stretching out a waiting palm; one must wait till the inner door of consciousness is opened, the door which reveals many secrets to those who have the inward vision. And why so much soliloquy about a Chopin waltz? Ah, yes, it is a familiar thing, and is played daily by players ripe and unripe. In the hands of a master, on the phonograph, it reminds us of the heavenly things which may be found on earth, the things we should cherish lest we forget their elusiveness. Too often we hear only the noises about us, too often we remember only the shades of our prison house—unless—

Unless we remember that we came hither, trailing clouds of glory.

IF YOU PLAY THE VIOLIN.

Many violinists do not know how to fasten their violin tailnieces properly, and are not aware of the fact that most of the musical merchandise dealers carry a certain kind of red glue just for this purpose. Amateur violinists betimes experience difficulty in keeping their violins in tune for the simple reason that they have attached their violin tailpieces wrongly. Sometimes it happens that the tail-gut gets worn out, and failing the extra piece of the proper kind of gut which should be in every violin case, an old violin string is used.

It is utterly useless to endeavour to make a dependable fastening with an old violin string. Such a practice is not even an economy, for should it slip, there is the chance that one or more of the violin strings in use may break at an awkward moment. The best way to secure a dependable fastening is to cut a piece of red tail-gut the EXACT length required. This is important, for if it is too long, the tailpiece will come too close up to the bridge when the violin is tuned up. After securing this, thrust the ends through the holes of the tailpiece and burn these ends with a lighted taper. This will cause the gut to curl and form a knot. Wind the burned ends with strong linen thread and tie together, put back into the groove provided for it, and you will have a fastening which is dependable and will never slip.

PUPIL OF MASCAGNI

Once long ago in London, a barrel-organ grinder made his way up to the front of an hotel in which the famous composer, Mascagni was living, and started to grind out the famous "Intermezzo," from Cavaleria Rusticana. The composer happened to hear this and becoming annoyed at the jerky manner in which the organ-grinder was playing his beloved composition, Mascagni rushed out and seizing the handle of the organ, showed the itintrant musician just exactly how the "Intermezzo" should be played. The organman departed, leaving the great composer with profuse thanks. To the surprise and amusement of the inhabitants of the hotel he returned next day with a large card attached to the front of his organ, bearing the words: "PUPIL OF MASCAGNI!"

A PIMPLY FACE OR POOR COMPLEXION QUICKLY RESTORED

Thousands of young men and women would be handsome and attractive were it not for unsightly pimples, blackheads, and rough uneven skin. Custom seems to recommend lotions and salves, but unfortunately, their effect is but temporary. These disfiguring blemishes do not originate in the skin—their birth in every case goes further back, to the blood, which must be cleansed of humors before the pimples depart for good.

A physician who has made a careful study of such cases, says that the quickest cure comes from a blood building medicine like Ferrozone. The minute Ferrozone strikes the blood its good work begins. Poisons and foul matter are expelled. Every trace of humor is driven out, and the whole life current is supplied with nutriment and health giving qualities. You can always tell Ferrozone complexion when you seeit—cheeks are clear and rosy, no signs of sallowness—the eyes are bright and expressive because rich red blood is circulating through the whole system, causing health, energy, and strength with it. Not only will all skin eruptions disappear, but an increase in vital strength, an all-round improvement will be apparent. No rebuilding tonic could be more efficient. Get Ferrozone today—Good for young and old, for well folks and sick ones, too. 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.25, at all dealers, or direct by mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

RELIEF MISSION HALTED.

Germany Refuses to Let U. S. Troops Cross in Autos.

COBLENZ.—Two hundred American army officers and men, forming part of the sanitary mission being sent to Poland to fight typhus, will travel through Germany by train as soon as equipment can be obtained. The party arrived here Thursday and planned to continue the journey tomorrow by automobile, but the German military authorities refused permission for such a large force of uniformed Americans to pass through the German interior in motor cars.

The Germans said they feared speculation as to the reason for the Americans' presence might be aroused among the German civilians and that the trip might be unsafe.

No objection was offered by the Germans to welfare workers crossing Germany in automobiles.

FRENCH WAITRESSES REFUSE TO SERVE GERMAN WIVES OF U.S. SOLDIERS

WHEN THE ENEMY TONGUE WAS HEARD IN Y.W.C.A. HOSTESS HOUSE IT WAS A CALL TO THE FRENCH GIRLS.

NEW YORK.—German brides of American soldiers en route to the United States have precipitated a strike of waitresses in the Hotel Petrograd, the largest Young Women's Christian Association hostess house in Paris, according to word received by the association's War Work Council in this city. The waitresses, all French girls, refused to serve the brides when they heard the enemy tongue.

There were twenty-two brides in the group, all of whom had been married to American soldiers in the occupied area the day after the peace treaty was signed. They were accompanied to Paris en route to Brest for embarkation to the United States by a lieutenant and two sergeants, whose wives were in the party. At Paris they were met by Miss Eleanor Wood, in charge of the Y.W.C.A. Bureau for War Brides, and were conducted to the Hotel Petrograd.

When the brides arrived at the hostess house they were ushered into the dining-room for breakfast. The maids and waitresses in the dining-room overheard their conversation and the trouble started. The girls refused to work and left the room. Outside they listened to counsel and agreed to return, under the promise that no more German brides would be brought to the hostess house.

Therefore, in the future, all German girls who have been married to American soldiers in Germany or Luxembourg will be sent direct to a port of embarkation in France.

HOW SOME EMPLOYERS OBVIATED UNREST BY BETTER CONDITIONS

SHORTER HOURS, GOOD HOMES AND GENERAL IMPROVEMENTS LEFT NO ROOM FOR REVOLUTIONARY IDEAS.

There were many far-sighted observers before the war who saw upon the horizon many signs of a great social and economic revolution or upheaval, and believed that the day was not far distant when labour would demand a greater share of the wealth it produced, so some of them who were great employers of labor followed the old-time device to balk a prairie fire; they started a little fire of their own so that when the leaping flames of the great conflagration reached them they would have nothing to feed upon. In other words, they began from motives of self-interest to improve the conditions of the men in their employ and so far as possible to remove causes of complaint. They increased wages, bettered housing conditions, installed safety and labour-saving devices, interested themselves in the social life of their employes, and in other ways displayed an enlightened benevolence that would surely have saved them from the prairie fire of economic revolution had it burst upon them as expected.

The war gave a tremendous impetus to the movement. It raised wages, improved housing conditions for millions and made the world recognize that the backbone of every nation is the workingman, and that his interests ought to be recognized as of first importance. But the war also has brought Bolshevism to the front, and it will be found that the best protection against Bolshevism is to satisfy the just demands of people who work with their hands for their living. This is what has happened out in Colorado. A few years ago conditions approaching civil war existed in Colorado. There were strikes, bullpens, dynamiting, murders, kidnappings, tens of thousands of miners and other workingmen defying their employers. Now Colorado is a sort of industrial paradise, thanks largely to John O. Rockefeller, jr., who made a personal investigation of the conditions existing between the Fuel & Iron Co. and its employes. Now capital and labour work hand-in-hand, and not only labor but capital is more prosperous than before. That was a point made in a speech delivered by Mr. Rockefeller not long ago, when he laid down this principle: "Labour and capital are partners, not enemies; their interests are common interests, not opposed, and neither can attain the fullest measure of prosperity at the expense of the other, but only in association with the other."

The Colorado company has formed an advisory board on sorial and industrial betterment to study and develop methods that may be of advantage to the men and the company. Similarly Fuller Calloway, head of a great Ohio steel corporation, found that after improving the working and living conditions of his thousands of employes their efficiency increased to 185 per cent. as compared with the 100 per cent. of the United States Steel Corporation, which is supposed to be a model for efficiency. It was a sheer business proposition with him, Mr. Calloway says, with no hint of philanthropy. It paid him dividends to provide comfortable homes with little gardens attached for their education; to make their working hours so short that they had periods for proper recreation and rest, and otherwise to inaugurate reform that fifty years ago would have been considered madness from.

The latest large employer of labour to work out a profit-sharing scheme is John N. Willys, the manufacturer of automobiles and farm tractors, who employs 10,000 men. Like Mr. Rockefeller and several other large employers of labour, he is convinced that the problem of manufacturers is not how they shall reduce wages, but how they shall increase production, and he believes that the only way to increase production is to give the employes a keen personal interest in it.

Bolshevism may be like a disease that has to run its course, but if that course is to be short it will be found that the only safe antidote is that of improving the conditions of the workingman as Rockefeller and Calloway have done, or of making the employes partners in the concern, as Willys is doing.

QUESTION OF POLICE DUTIES WILL BE TAKEN TO ATTORNEY-GENERAL

VETERANS DECIDE TO LAY FACTS OF THE SERGEANT BLADE CASE BEFORE HON. MR. LUCAS—PROPOSE TO FORM AN ATHLETIC CLUB FOR RETURNED MEN.

MORE NEW MEMBERS

At last night's meeting of the G.W.V.A. the following resolution regarding the case of Police Sergeant Blade was moved and carried:

"Resolved, that in view of the action taken by the Police Commission and Chief Thompson regarding the case of Police Sergeant Blade, the secretary be instructed to write the Hon. J .B. Lucas, Minister of Justice, placing before him the facts of the case and all communications regarding it."

This was decided upon after considerable discussion, during which extracts from the regulations of the Peterborough Police Force were read by President Staunton. Some of these, especially, "I will devote my whole time to the force" were considered contrary to Chief Thompson's statement that he and the Police Commissioners had no control of the members of the force while off duty.

The probability that the case was creating hostility toward the Veterans was then introduced into the discussion. They justified their action, however ,by the fact that they were also in communication with the Postmaster regarding one of their comrades, a letter-carrier, who performed other work when off duty. It was a question of justice to the returned soldiers and working men who found it hard enough to earn a living without having men already in steady employment doing other work in their spare time.

Reception to Guards Band.

The question of a reception to the Grenadier Guards' Band which will visit the city Friday was brought up. Objections were made on the grounds that the band was being brought here by private interests and that hence it was not the duty of the Association to entertain its members, and that the majority of the Veterans were working men and unable to take part.

Comrade Fraser met the first objection by explaining that the expense of bringing the band here was so great that the profits would be almost negligible, and the second by suggesting that the club rooms be thrown open for the entertainment of the band from 5 to 6 o'clock on Friday afternoon. This suggestion was adopted and carried.

Comrade Cook remarked that it might be a good thing to have a Hamilton band meet them at the station.

Returned Men's Athletic Club.

It was moved by Comrade Lebarr and seconded by Comrade Finley, that a meeting be called for the purpose of forming a returned soldiers' athletic club, all returned soldiers to be eligible for membership in it. He thought that it would be a good way to secure new members as any association depended largely for its popularity on its athletics. It was necessary to keep the younger fellows interested. Considerable discussion took place, largely over the question of expenses.

Comrade Lebarr explained, however, that there was a revenue from anything of that sort, that the G.W.V.A. baseball team, for instance, had in all probability cleared expenses, as the gate receipts were divided among the teams of the league. Next year the revenue would be greater, for the Association would then have a supply of uniforms and equipment. The motion was carried.

Want Vocational Office.

Secretary Whatley brought up the question of a vocational office for Peterborough. Oshawa, a town much smaller than Peterborough, had a sub-office, while Peterborough had none. He had, however, opened the question with the Provincial authorities and the matter was being given consideration. If it was decided to give Peterborough a vocational office it would be a main office, not a sub-office.

Charges Against G.W.V.A. Band.

The charge that the G.W.V.A. band had been endeavouring to secure members of the Salvation Army Band had been considered at the last meeting and Adjutant Buntin of the Salvation Army had been asked to appear before the Association and make his charges. The Adjutant, however, was unable to attend last night, but sent a letter promising to do so at his earliest convenience.

Ask For Arc Lamp.

It was moved by Comrade Miller and seconded by Comrade Bacon, that the secretary be instructed to write the chairman of the Fire, Water and Light committee regarding the placing of an arc lamp in front of the club rooms as the street at that point was very dark.—Carried.

The following applications for membership were received and accepted: A. V. Allison, A. J. Perks, Jesse N. Ayres, A. C. Stewart and Leonard Fraser.

The pilot was attempting to make a third loop when he lost control of the machine.

BRANTFORD MARKET CALLED A "COMBINE"

CITIZENS CLAIM PROFITEERING BY THE DEALERS—POTATOES A DOLLAR A BASKET.

BRANTFORD, Aug. 18. — When the comb for profiteering starts, according to local citizens, the first action taken should be over the frequenters of the local market, it being charged that there is a combine on there to keep prices up. On Saturday potatoes were held at a dollar a basket and it was freely predicted that they would have a winter price of five dollars a bag, not far from the market when district producers held the price up during one of the years when the city had to enter the middleman business and import potatoes to break the market to a reasonable figure. The wet spring and the dry summer are blamed by the producers for the short crop and the consequent high prices. Tomatoes are heavy this year but the price is held at 65 cents though the stores have them for sixty cents, the producers' figures being about three times the normal. Eggs are dear at 55 cents with a dollar a dozen in sight for the winter.

FARMERS AND LABOUR UNITE ON PLATFORM

ACTION IN NORTH GREY MAY HAVE BROAD EFFECTS.

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 18. — As a result of the union between the North Grey farmers and the Owen Sound labour unions for the coming Provincial campaign, the following clause from the aims of the Independent Labour Party of Ontario will be added to the platform of the O.F.O.: Removal of property qualifications for municipal honours. That adequate equal pensions be granted to all disabled soldiers whether officers or men or their widows and dependents.

"Pensions for mothers with dependents children, and old age pensions. The workers have accepted all the planks of the farmers platform including the declaration in favour of prohibition.

FRENCH MAKE MILLINERS SLASH PRICE OF HATS

TROYES, France. — Keepers of market stalls, as a reprisal for the fixing of prices by consumers, to-day invaded a millinery establishment and compelled the owner of the shop to sell them thirty franc hats at 10,50 francs ($8.19). The police were called in and stopped the proceedings.

BABY HAD DIARRHOEA

WAS GIVEN UP.

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY CURED HER

Mothers should look well after their children during the hot summer months as this is the time of year when the young ones are liable to all kinds of bowel complaints.

If your children have any looseness of the bowels do not experiment with new and untried remedies. Get one having stood the test of time. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been on the market for the past 74 years. Don't accept a substitute and perhaps endanger your child's life.

Mrs. Willis Coupland, Sundridge, Ont., writes: "About four years ago my little girl, then a baby two months old, took diarrhoea. I took her to the doctor but to no avail. After he had given her up, I read of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and immediately got a bottle. Within two days she was improving fast. I cannot ever praise it enough I hope some poor sufferers will see this letter and lead them to a friend indeed."

FATALITY FROM LIGHTNING.

William Gardener, of Islington, Killed During Storm.

ISLINGTON, Aug. 18. — William Gardener, of Burnhamthorpe, was killed and his wife rendered unconscious, by a stroke of lightning that came down through the chimney of his house during the storm of Saturday night. Gardener was in the kitchen of the house when struck, and it is presumed that he died instantly. Mrs. Gardener was sitting on a couch in the dining room adjoining the kitchen, and knew nothing of what happened until she came to and found her husband dead on the floor near the kitchen door.

TRAFFIC DIVERTED TO BREWERY LANE

HUNTER STREET EAST CLOSED TO VEHICLES.

Traffic has absolutely ceased on the right hand side of the Hunter street bridge from the lane running through the Brewery to the corner of Burnham and Hunter and all horses and carriage are using the lane while pedestrians have still the option of taking the left hand side walk. Huge pits are at present being dug on the left side of the street for the piers and from the personnel of the workers some idea of the labor situation in the city may be judged by the fact that some of them are electricians, and some barbers and bootmakers temporarily out of their regular employment.

The earth which is being taken from the pier pits is for many feet earth which was carted in years ago to level the ground and one of the workmen, Alec Walker, who is at present digging it out, carted it to the bridge 16 years ago.

DEWART CHARGES GOVERNMENT WITH FRAMING LISTS

TORONTO, Aug. 19.—"I charge the Government with deliberately putting on the statute books a law enabling them to place on the voters' lists by means of partisan officials those whom they want on the lists and leaving off those whom they do not happen to want," declared H. Hartley Dewart, leader of the Opposition, in the course of his speech at a Liberal meeting in Occident Hall. He scored the Government also for failing to appoint a responsible Minister of Labour, said the administration would be called to account and found wanting, apart altogether from the temperance question, and his remark, "Goodness knows they need a convention," strikingly appealed to the audience.

It was originally intended to hold an organization meeting at the new committee rooms, 585 West Queen St., but the attendance was so large that Occident Hall was secured. A number of ladies graced the audience.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES FOR GITY'S FACTORIES

100 Boys Engaged in Woodworking Institutions to Get Instructions.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — High school classes for boys from 16 to 18 who have been unable to continue further in school are open in six woodwork factories of the city, under the direction of the Board of Education. These classes will take in about 100 boys. The work will be taught by the present high school industrial staff.

A survey is now being made of the various steel and iron works, with the idea of putting similar classes in these factories.

"If the boys cannot go through high school in any other way we will take the high school to them," the superintendent says.

In outlining the purpose of the plan another authority says: "It is to bring the school and the factory together. In opening these classes the schools are working toward the one end of guiding the boys in the right channels."

FEMININE SMOKERS RANK WITH MALES

Must Use Special Compartment as Men Do.

LONDON.— So many British women have become confirmed smokers that in recent months railway employees have hesitated to enforce the rules against smoking in certain carriages, nd it has come to be accepted that if the women passengers do not object, every compartment becomes a "smoking car."

By a recent order only such compartments as are designated "smoking" can be used for that purpose and even though all the passengers may consent, no concessions are made to women.

SOLDIER WRECK PLANE IN AVIATOR'S ABSENCE

ST. MARY'S, Aug. 19.—An aviator from Aylmer passed over the town on Friday. He lit in Mt. Stevens' field and went down town for supper. A returned soldier who lives ner by took the opportunity to use the machine and wrecked it. As a result he was locked up in the "coop" over night and the machine is awaiting repairs.

RETAIL PRICE OF BEEF SHOULD DROP

COST OF LIVI G COMMISSIONER SAYS CONSIDERABLE DECLINE SHOWN IN WHOLESALE PRICE.

OTTAWA, Aug. 18.—The Cost of Living Commissioner's reports concerning the stocks of food in storage in Canada shows an increase of approximately 1,350,000 pounds more butter held on August 1 than on the same date one year previous. On August 1, 1919, there were 20,013,091 pounds of creamery and 1,488,031 pounds of dairy butter held. "Moreover," Dr. McFall reports, "from our winter's supply of last year more than six million pounds were commandeered from fall production besides the large amounts taken out of wholesale stocks for the British Ministry of Food in the Summer and early Fall by the Canada Food Board."

Despite high egg prices this year, 16.62 per cent. more were placed in storage than during last year. On August 1, there were 12,644,971 dozen held, which was about the same as during the previous month.

Cheese stocks showed an increase over those of the previous month, and an increase of 28.51 per cent. over the same month one year before. The total held amounted to 14,897,041, and the Commissioner comments: "Now that the British price has dropped for cheese, this leaves a large amount of good food that should be made available for Canadian consumption at reasonable prices."

Oleomargarine stocks showed little change, there being 844,902 pounds, or about one-third of a month's requirements.

In the opinion of Dr. McFall, it is time the Canadian consumer benefitted from lower beef prices. "There has been a material drop in the wholesale price of beef," he says. "The consumers and retailers should see to it that this is carried to the consumers' price." The stocks of beef on August 1 totalled 20,014,417 pounds, which was about one-third of the greatest amount recorded as being in storage in Canada at any time during the past two years.

Average For Two Years.

Total stocks of pork on hand amounted to 20,467,704 pounds, which is about the average carried for two years.

Mutton and lamb stocks, 1,191,121 pounds, show a decrease of 28.9 per cent. from the holdings one month previous, and 46.78 per cent. less than a year previous.

Poultry in storage amounted to 1,301,884 pounds, which was 27.84 per cent. less than the previous month, but 4.82 per cent. more than one year ago. There were 21,04-745 pounds of fish in cold storage and 8,567,748 pounds held other than in cold storage.

Seven firms are reported as having failed to send in their inventory statements for the month.

MONTREAL PORTER REMEMBERED CAPT.

AFTER LAPSE OF YEAR AND RETURNED CAPT. GOUBJILA'S TRUNK.

Capt. Goubjila, who is spending the summer here with Mr. W. F. Kerr, Crown Attorney, was in Ottawa last week which was of itself a fortunate occurrence for him, as he recovered his trunk containing valuable contents which had been missing for a year and a half. When Capt. Goubjila left Petrograd for Canada it was arranged that his trunk should follow him, but when he arirved at Montreal it was not to be found having been lost in transit across the continent. Last week on the morn- that he arrived at the depot at Ottawa a negro porter who was his porter on the train from Vancouver to Montreal remembered his face and asked if he were not Capt. Goubjila, and when answered in the affirmative, told him that his lost trunk was at the C.P.R. depot, where Capt. Goubjila found it with the contents intact. During his stay in Ottawa Capt. Goubjila was a guest at Government House and was invited to go to Quebec as guest of the Governor General. He, however, cut short his visit upon this occasion as he was desirous of returning to Cobourg.

The recovery of his last property is a great satisfaction to Capt. Goubjila not by any means because of its money value but because it has brought back to him something of the old happy days before the ruthless hand of war destroyed his family estate and wrecked his home.

ADVISES WORKERS TO SHUN POLITICS

Briton Asserts Labour Party Would Divide Unionists.

LONDON.—Havelock Wilson, head of the Seamen's Union, to-day warned American trade unions against forming a political party, such as they have in this country.

"The idea is no good," exclaimed Mr. Wilson to-day. "If American labour should be misled into forming a political party it will doubtless find, as the British trade unionists have found, that they have injured their own cause and thereby become tools of self-seeking politicians.

"Knowing what I do of America, my best advice is the same as that of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labour,—stay out of politics, as a labour party would simply divide American trade unionists."

BIGGEST SEASON IN YEARS AT STONEY LAKE

The captains of the Stoney Lake Navigation Co.'s steamers report one of the biggest fishing seasons ever known at Stoney Lake. Until the 15th of August the boats have been bringing down seven and eight boxes of fish a day. Since the fifteenth, however ,the fish have not been biting. This is explained by the fact that the fish are being attacked by a mouth disease which causes their teeth to fall out.

22-YEAR-OLD COUNTESS OF BAVARIA ELOPED WITH STONEMASON.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—Great interest has been taken, especially in Bavaria, says the Lokal Anzeiger, in the elopement of Countess Felicitas Von Hochenthal and Bergen, with a stonemason. She is twenty-two years old and is the second daughter of Count Adolf Von Hohenthal and Bergen, and of Countess Gisela Zu-Cerning. The Zu Cernings belong to the oldest Bavarian nobility. The Lokal Anzeiger says they are also connected with the English aristocracy, being related on the paternal side to the Earl of Bradford.

DEATH OF CHILD WITNESS GAVE PRISONER FREEDOM.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 18. — Fritz Ruckelhausen, of Tavistock, was allowed to go free by the Magistrate today. Ruckelhausen was charged with a serious offence against a little Tavistock girl named Tucker. A few days ago the child contracted diphtheria and died. As her evidence was practically the only testimony available, the authorities had no other course but to dismiss the charge against the Tavistock man.

WILSON'S EXPLANATIONS OF TREATY FAILED TO MOVE ITS OPPONENTS

UNITED STATES SENATORS APPARENTLY DIVIDED AS BEFORE--ADVOCATES OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS COVENANT SAY THEY WERE SURPR SED BY PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT.

CLIMAX OF STRUGGLE NEAR

(By C. L. Martin, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Both friends and foes of the Peace Treaty to-day professed to be encouraged by the White House conference between President Wilson and the Senate of Foreign Relations Committee yesterday.

Both factions in the Senate said that the President's answers seemed proof that their side is right. The opponents declared that their disposition had not been changed, and that the fight against the Treaty and the League of Nations covenant would take on a new intensity. As the league friends have been preparing to force the issue anyway, a climax appears to be approaching in the struggle which has swayed the Senate for months.

Senator Hitchcock, the Administration leader, declared to-day that the President "clarified doubtful matters in a wonderful way."

Senators Borah and Johnson, leaders of the extreme opposition, in a joint statement, asserted that the President's explanation "justified and confirmed us in the position we have taken on the League."

While Senator Lodge, Republican leader and a reservationist, declined formal comment, he indicated the belief that the conference had made no impression on the League opponents, while it had proved inspiring to its friends.

Only Moral Obligation.

Administration Senators said today that they had all along been of the opinion that the League imposes nothing more than moral obligation, as the President stated yesterday. The interpretation, they said, is accomplished in all countries.

The President's construction of moral obligations, and his statement that such an obligation would be of compelling force, requiring the United States to take a hand in League affairs, promises to be the subject of a sharp Senate debate. His admission also that the Allies kept him ignorant of their secret treaties covering the disposition of territory of the Allies to get the United States into the war will be used by the League opponents.

Silent on Some Points.

Senators said they did not learn all they wanted to know, but laid that to the shortness of the conference. All were impressed with the President's willingness to talk, though Borah and Johnson pointed out in their statement that he declined to tell certain facts regarding the fixing of Germany's reparation, or go into the debates of the various commissions.

EIGHTY FLYERS WILL COMPETE

(Special to Examiner.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. — More than 80 government pilots and observers will be contestants in the New York-Toronto air race, it was announced by the American Flying Club to-day. The flyers will be taken care of en route at three central ops, at Albany, Syracuse and Buffalo.

The race which will cover 1000 miles will be a handicap event and every description of plane available to the government has been entered to establish a definite comparison.

MARTIAL LAW NOW DECLARED

GERMAN CHANCELLOR, HOWEVER, MINIMIZES SERIOUSNESS OF SITUATION IN SILESIA.

(Special to Examiner.)

BERLIN, Aug. 20. — Martial law was declared in Upper Silesia yesterday as a result of the clash between German and Polish forces.

The German government representative minimizes the seriousness of the situation, however, declaring that so far only fifteen Germans had been killed.

Chancellor Bauer told the assembly at Weimar to-day that the Polish government was not implicated in the Silesian attacks, saying that the soldiers which invaded German territory were not regulars. The German command was master of the situation, he said.

25 5-8 WAS HIGH PRICE PAID FOR CHEESE AT TO-DAY'S MEETING

ADJOURNED FOR THREE WEEKS

Buying for the Harris Abattoir of Toronto, H. R. Free of Campbellford paid 25 5-8 c for the 1365 boxes of cheese offered at this morning's meeting of the Board. Kerr of Belleville, opened at 25c f.o.b. Montreal, but W. S. Cook of Belleville, G. A. Gillespie, Free, Johnston of Flavelles Limited, Lindsay, and Free, pushed the quotations cautiously upward beyond the half cent.

"I've got to get a selection" remarked Mr. Free when he offered 25 1-2c. Mr. Gillespie bid the same price for the entire Board.

"That cuts me off there" said Mr. Free who raised to 9-16, but Johnston of Lindsay followed with 9-16 for the whole Board.

"If you want Peterboro cheese you've got to pay for it," commented Mr. Cook. "Remember this is Peterboro cheese you're buying."

At the 5-8 mark Mr. Free secured selection and took the entire list.

What the Board Showed.

The factories listed the following makes:

| | |
|---|---|
| Keene | 70 |
| Warminster | 90 |
| Selwyn | 85 |
| Villiers | 100 |
| Warsaw | 110 |
| Westwood | 80 |
| Oakdale | 100 |
| Ormonde | 175 |
| Young's Point | 100 |
| Lang | 60 |
| North Dummer | 55 |
| East Emily | 80 |
| Norwood | 170 |
| Killarney | 90 |
| | 1365 |

Resolution of Condolence.

A resolution of sympathy to the relatives of the late John Watkins was proposed by John Coughlin of Hastings and seconded by John Williams, and carried with a standing vote:

Mr. Watkins died in Belleville last week. He was known to all the members of the Board and to the dairy industry of this and other districts of Eastern Ontario. He was the first cheese buyer in the territory between Toronto and Kingston, and fifty years ago had this field entirely to himself. Without opposition he treated the farmers most fairly and gained a wide reputation for uprightness and honesty. He never tried to take advantage of the market opportunities that were presented in those days.

The Board paid the expenses of Thompson Bredin and Robt. Duff, the delegates to the recent dairy convention in Ottawa. Their personal accounts were $20 each. Adjournment was made for three weeks.

PROFITEERING PRUSSIAN PRINCE IMMUNE FROM LAW

His Castle of 140 Rooms Heavily Stocked With Food That Has Been Confiscated.

(Canadian Press.)

BERLIN, August 20.—At a meeting of the citizens of Teltow, a suburb of Berlin, there was a discussion of the conduct of Prince Friedrich Leopold, cousin of the former Emperor William, who, unlike Count Hohenzollern, remained there instead of leaving the country. It was alleged that he had engaged in illicit trading on a large scale, and had hoarded large quantities of food.

Local authorities recently searched the castle, confiscating great supplies of food which were distributed among hospitals; but when they attempted to bring action against the Prince, they were told from authoritative quarters that he was immune, being member of the royal family.

The castle has 140 rooms and 16 bathrooms.

No decision as to what will be done with the Prince was reached at to-day's meeting.

PRESIDENT'S VETO ON DAYLIGHT SAVING NULLIFIED BY HOUSE

VOTE IN HOUSE OF REPRESENTAVIVES WAS 223 TO 101 FOR THE REPEAL OF THE LAW--RURAL SENTIMENT PREDOMINATED.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19. — The House of Representatives to-day, by a vote of 223 to 101, passed the repeal of the Daylight Saving Bill over President Wilson's veto.

The opposition to sustaining the President over the protests of farmers was along non-partisan lines, and represented largely members from the agricultural sections. The supporters for the repeal of the law obtained eight more than the two-thirds vote necessary to pass the bill over the President's objections, while 116 Republicans and 107 Democrats voted to override the President's veto.

Indications are that the Senate will follow the action of the House and bring to an end the daylight saving law at the end of October.

Representatives of the farmers who are here to help in the formation of legislation to remedy the high cost of living announced to-night that the sentiment for killing the daylight saving law was equally strong in the Senate.

Representative John J. Esch, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee, called for a vote on the veto, and announced that there would be no debate under the rules.

In the past Ottawa authorities have followed Washington in the daylight saving regulations. If Washington repeals the law there is little likelihood of daylight saving in Canada next year.

CROWS DESTROYING APPLES IN DUMMER

RECENT RAINS RELIEVE EXTREME DROUTH--CATTLE PASTURING

(Special to Examiner.)

WARSAW, Aug. 20. — The rain which began on Saturday has been most welcome. Pasture had got very poor and many of the farmers were obliged to bring their cattle home and feed them. Water was low and one farmer brought a herd home for water. Corn, potatoes, what roots there are, buckwheat and late sown oats and barley, will profit by the rain.

Most of the harvest is in, and one threshing mill is out already. Some of the farmers have no grain to thresh. Some have fairly good crops. Some have very short oats with very heavy heads. So far the potato crop is only fair, not many in a hill, but what there is are good. The late ones that have not ripened have a chance now to grow.

Apples are not plentiful and the crows are watching them and destroy a great many.

WOMEN'S BODY FOUND IN CANAL

SHE HAD BEEN ARRESTED ON A CHARGE OF FIRST DEGREE ASSAULT.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Aug. 20.—The body of Mrs. Violet Mary Ferguson, 23 years of age, of No. 2[illegible] Erie avenue, was taken from the hydraulic canal this morning. She disappeared early last Sunday morning after she had been escorted home by Police Lieutenant Thomas Lyons, following her arrest on a charge of attempted first degree assault. Her husband, E. E. Ferguson, 27 years old, of No. 1021 Main street, was arrested on a charge of having a revolver in his possession without a permit. He told the police that he took the weapon from his wife after she had attempted to shoot him.

MARTIAL LAW IS PROCLAIMED

CUDAHAY PLANT IS PROTECTED BY SOLDIERS---ONE MAN KILLEDIN RIOT

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 20. — The packing town of Cudahy, near here, was declared under martial law to-day by Col. P. C. Westphal, who was designated as military governor until the trouble resulting from yesterday's fatal strike rioting has passed.

Early to-day a special train from Camp Douglas rolled into the yards, and 496 State Guards and 16 officers took charge.

Cordons of sentries were immediately spread over the Cudahy property, comprising 1 hundred acres, and every entrance was closed. Access to the plant is now possible only with military passes.

Twenty-five young women, members of the office force, remained quarantined off all night. They dared not run the gauntlet of flying bullets and bricks. One of the first military orders was the closing of all saloons.

One Man Killed.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 19.—One man was killed, eight others were shot, one of them probably mortally wounded, and scores of other persons cut and bruised in a riot of strikers from the Cudahy packing plant at Cudahy, near here, late to-day.

The outbreak occurred when women from the office force attempted to leave the plant and were stoned by wives of the strikers. When deputies attempted to assist the workers to safety the women rioters screamed for their husband, and when the men joined the fighting the officers were helpless under a fusillade of missiles.

Firing was begun. Each side accuses the other of starting the gunfire.

URGE PROMPT MEASURES TO MEET UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION IN CANADA

DOMINION COMMAND OF THE G.W.V.A. CLAIM THAT THERE WILL BE GREAT SUFFERING NEXT WINTER UNLESS ACTION IS TAKEN.

WANT ALIENS DEPORTED

(Special to Examiner.)

TORONTO, August 20. — The Dominion command of the Great War Veterans' Association are urging upon the Federal government to take some decisive action in an effort to remedy the unemployment situation. The Veterans state that this will be the largest problem before the government and the Dominion during the coming winter and that unless proper measures are take in advance to cope with the situation the resultant unrest will far exceed anything that has prevailed in Canada since the beginning of the war.

40,000 Unemployed.

According to the statistics given out by the Dominion command, no fewer than 40,000 men will be looking for work in Winnipeg alone next year. Throughout the West they claim non-employment will be almost in proportion to that in Winnipeg which they believe will be more acutely affected than any other city in Canada.

The figures in possession of the G. W. V. A. indicate that the situation will be acute in the east but that the west will suffer to a very much greater degree. Already, states the Dominion command, there is a great deal of unemployment throughout Canada which will be very greatly intensified as the winter sets in.

Deport the Aliens.

The Dominion executive has asked that first of all the deportation of aliens be undertaken by the government. By this the G.W.V.A. means a comprehensive deportation of the great majority of the enemy aliens within the borders of Canada.

It is pointed out in support of this policy that there are 40,000 aliens in Winnipeg alone who would have to leave the country if this plan were adopted. This they claim would help materially to solve the unemployment problem where it is worst.

By a coincidence, the number of the enemy aliens in Winnipeg, and the estimated number of those who will be out of work during the winter in the city, are exactly the same figure although derived from two entirely different sources of information.

A NEW WAY OF COUNTING HEADS

WINNIPEG( Aug. 20. — The Winnipeg City Health Department evolved a new and unique method of determining population by counting garbage cans this week. Every family has to have one and scavengers to the number of 2100, made the report. It figures the population on the amount of garbage collected from back yards and apartment blocks on this basis, and claims that the population of Winnipeg is now 229,500, having increased 45,900 last year.

"RIGHT WORD' OFTEN HARD TO CHOOSE

Study of Dictionary is a Profitable Habit for Business Men.

Inability to choose the right word often places a speaker in an embarrassing position. Many business men lost much valuable time because they find it difficult to express what they want to say when they dictate their correspondence. Greater freedom and accuracy in speaking and writing can be acquired by studying a dictionary. A few minutes devoted to the study of words and their meaning each day will in a short time result in great benefit to anyone who will put that practice to a test.

The New Universities Dictionary being offered to readers of this paper is particularly adapted to aid those who wish to acquire greater familiarity with the English language. It contains all the new words which have come into common and proper use in recent years. Its definitions are simple and accurate, making it possible to choose words that will best serve the purpose of correct speaking and writing. Many of the new words that have been brought into use through such specialized activities as war, aviation, golf, baseball and other forms of sports have been conveniently classified in supplementary dictionaries.

Mr. Irwin has just installed in his shop a very handy "third man" in the shape of a Racine Universal Electric Hair Cutter, which takes care of the customers as fast as they keep coming in. Patrons who are not 'keen' for sheats will just fall over each other to get their hair clipped by this novel method. 2d-40

THRIFTY BUYING IN EVIDENCE TO-DAY

DOLLAR DAY CROWDS PICKED UP GOOD THINGS

'Dollar Day', the merchants in the city state was as great, if not a greater success this year than last especially from a standpoint of sales. Some contended that the number of out of town people was smaller than in previous years. The drygoods merchants report a heavy sale of articles wearable next year, the public evidently being anxious to avoid the rise of prices which is said to be bound to come. One of the merchants stated that in all the years he had been in business he had never seen so great a demand for stockings in one day as today. All greed that in spite of the talk of hard times, there is evidently a large amount of money circulating amongst the

SAYS VETERAN'S WERE BRUTALLY TREATED IN THE HAMILTON ASYLUM

PROVINCIAL INSPECTOR OPENS IN VESTIGATION OF SERIOUS CHARGES BY G.W.V.A.

HAMILTON, Aug. 19.—Shocking evidence of murderous and barbarous treatment inflicted on soldier-patients confined in the Hamilton Hospital for the Insane were brought to light in an official investigation held at the institution this afternoon, when the Great War Veterans of this city succeeded in having Inspector W. W. Dunlop, Provincial Inspectors of Prisons and Asylums, conduct a preliminary hearing of the charges of several of their comrades, who are, or have been, inmates of this asylum.

Beaten With Broomstick.

Conspicuous among some of the terrible charges made, was the evidence of John Anderson, former soldier-patient, who among other things, swore that he saw an attendant, not only once, but several times, use a broom handle upon the heads of Douglas Atkinson and Edward Brennan, with such force that their scalps were laid open. That he saw a group of attendants kick comrade Norton, soldier-patient, of Dundas, with such cruelty that the hapless man was a mass of bruises and lacerations. That an attendant struck him himself one time with such force that he was hurled several yards across a polished hardwood floor. That he saw comrade John Forbes, a soldier patient, kicked and struck until the man was insensible. Attendants did this, he said. Forbes was then locked up all night. In the morning he was carried in a sheet to a "running bath," and there suddenly immersed. After that he was removed to his ward, and there died one week later.

Revolting Assertion.

Anderson, who spoke with all the rational calmness of any normal-minded person, gave it as his honest opinion that poor Forbes died as a direct result of the terrible beating the attendants gave him. Anderson also declared that patients infected with syphilis and other malignant diseases were confined in the same ward as those patients who were not so infected. The sheets and towels in this ward were use by syphilitic patients and others alike. An excerpt from a letter written by a war veteran confined in this institution, read by Comrade John Fish, of the Mount Hamilton War Veterans' Association, was to the effect that the food served to him and other war veterans was of such a quality that the fare of a Hun prison camp would be fit for a king in comparison.

The life in the open, the fresh, clear, bracing Northern air of Lake Superior—what keen-edged appetites it gives us! How eagerly we answer each summons to breakfast, luncheon, dinner—who ever heard of jaded appetites on board the "Noronic," "Hamonic" or "Huronic"? The cuisine on board these wonderful ships is unexcelled, the menu offering as wide selection as will be found in finest restaurant or club. "The meals—they were so good!" ## MEMORIAL SERVICE AT MARK ST. CHURCH

Notwithstanding the rain of last Sabbath, Mark street congregations were good. The morning subject, 'The Old Well by the Gate," occupied the deepest attention of the people and recalled many memories of younger days. The pastor in the evening took for his subject, "The Great Assize" or "The Judgment Seat of Christ." Through this sermon the pastor showed how our deeds, good or bad will still bear fruit after we are dead and we shall all have to give account for the fruits we have borne throughout the world and receive our reward accordingly at the judgment seat of Christ.

A memorial service will be held in Mark street church next Sabbath morning at which Col. Johnson will speak, and possibly Rev. Mr. Wattam.

Such a Change

in feeling and looks. "After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged down by weaknesses of my sex—my eyes sunken," black circles and pale cheeks—I was restored to health by the Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce." So write many women. Changed too in looks, for after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the skin becomes clear, the eyes brighter, the cheeks plump.

Druggists sell it in tablets or liquid. It's a woman's best temperance tonic, made from wild roots.

HAMILTON, ONTARIO.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription helped me greatly at the turn of life. I commenced to have heat flashes and dizzy spells and became nervous and run-down. These conditions very quickly left me after I commenced with the 'Favorite Prescription.' I took several bottles of it and truly believe that I owe my good health of to-day to the medicine I took and the care exercised at that trying time."—MRS. ROSEN-STEIN, 44 Bay Street, S.

O'CONNOR TO STUDY AMERICAN PLAN

COURT OF COMMERCE PREPARING TO BEGIN WORK.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 19.—W. F. O'Connor, K. C., of the Court of Commerce, leaves this week for Washington. He will get into touch with the Federal Trade Commission. Its functions are similar to those of the Canadian Board, and some of its methods and procedure may be adopted here.

The inquiries which the Board plans to institute will be based primarily upon questionaries, which are now being sent out broadcast, calling for returns of stocks on hand, the purchase price and the price at which the commodities are held for sale.

It is announced that investigations will follow into any case which develop suspicious features. When the Board does get to work the enquiries it is stated, will not be indicated into the affairs of a specific company, but into the whole line of industry as a whole, as others are engaged.

The third position of the Board has not yet been filled by the Government, but there is a quorum with the appointment of Messrs Robson and O'Connor.

TO TRAIN BOLIVIAN AIRMEN.

Captain Hudson, formerly of the A. E. F., will Organize Flying Corps.

WASHINGTON. — Captain Donald Hudson, formerly a member of the famous first pursuit group of the American Expeditionary Forces in France, has been engaged by Bolivia to organize and instruct a flying corps in its army. It was said here that Bolivia had decided to obtain instruction for its army by discharged American officers after it had failed to obtain admission of picked cadets to the West Point Military Academy. The American Government explained that at this time it was impracticable to accept more foreign students at the American school.

Before the European war the Bolivian and most other South American armies were trained largely after German methods.

CONSUMERS BUILD BAKERY TO KEEP BREAD COST DOWN.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 19.—Although a lull has occurred in the campaign of local women to combat recent increase in price of bread, foreigners in the Facer Street district have decided to solve the question for themselves. Ninety-nine of them have formed a co-operative company, and have already secured a permit for the erection of a $4,000 bakery on Facer Street. The members of the company are doing the work themselves, and have already excavated for the foundation.

Use Cocoanut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy, lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

DROP IN PORK IS A MYSTERY

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG. Aug. 20. — No one seems to be able to fathom the mystery of the drop in pork, live weight. There was another drop of 50 cents on a hundred weight yesterday at the stock yards, making a total drop of $0.80 in the course of ten days. Receipts at the yards are light, as this is the time of year when farmers are too busy to market their hogs.

ST. CATHARINE'S PEEVED.

Because Trip of Prince Doesn't Include the City.

ST. CATHARINE'S, Ont., Aug. 19 St. Catharines citizens are feeling peeved because the Prince of Wales is not to visit this city. Both his father, King George, and the late King Edward called at St. Catharines during their visits to Canada, and those who are arranging his tour are criticized that the city which probably sent more men to the war according to population than any other in America, is left out of the list. Niagara Falls will be the gathering point, therefore, in this district, to see His Royal Highness.

PREPARING FOR COLONISTS.

Mexico Expects a Million From Europe Within a Year

MEXICO CITY,—How to make homes for a million prospective colonists, how to make them fit into the scheme of life here and how best to distribute them are questions receiving attention of a special commission appointed by President Carranza.

According to data collected by this committee one million persons will migrate from various European countries to Mexico within the year because of the disrupted conditions at home due to the war. Communications from England, France, Germany and Russia indicate that partiies of colonists of those nationals are already being formed and will embark for Mexico at an opportune moment.

The committee has not announced where the various colonies will be located or whether the colonists are to receive grants of land or are to be assimiliated among natives. It is believed, however, that there is sufficient undeveloped land to accommodate all homeseekers and that equitable distribution will be made as occasion demands.

Lower California at present appears to be the goal of a large number of repatriated Mexicans who for several years have been living in the United States. El Democrata asserts that within the next few months 5,000 such Mexican familiies will be established there.

FOOLS AND THEIR MONEY IS LATEST WEHLEN PLAY

CLEVER METRO COMEDY-DRAMA TO BE SHOWN AT THE GRAND THEATRE.

"Fools and Their Money," the latest Metro comedy-drama in which Emmy Wehlen is starred, will be the attraction at the Grand Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The play offers a decidedly original plot with many unexpected and complicating situations. The story is that of a society-seeking wife of a munitions millionaire and a family of century-old aristocrats.

The social climber, bedecking herself with all the glory that money can buy, sets out to purchase a place in society. Although she obtains a home adjoining a family high in the social almanac, she soon finds that the gulf which divides them can never be bridged.

The daughter of the blue-blooded family, however, is tired of her hedged-in social groove, and in the absence of her parents decides to embark on an adventure of her own. The project is supervised by that wily young person, Cupid, who recognises no social laws. The consequence is a breezy romance as fresh and fragrant as a day in spring.

Miss Wehlen is charming as the young aristocrat, and she is ably supported by such artistes as Jack Mulhall, Charles Mailes, Mollie McConnell, William V. Mong, Betty Patterson, Gerard Grassby, and John Stepling.

The play was directed by Herbert Blache and made under the personal supervision of Maxwell Karger, director-general.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural colour dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural colour and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Dangerous Impurities — IN — Raw Cows' Milk

Inspecting milk from the bottom of the bottle, and observing every precaution to prevent dust and dirt from getting into the milk, won't do. That's not enough.

To protect yourself from unsanitary Raw Milk, the only safeguard is the use of milk that you know has been CLARIFIED and PASTEURIZED.

This Process removes from milk the finest particles of foreign matter — particles that are so fine that they will 'get by any strainer or filter — and such dangerous impurities as are shed from the inner side of the cow's udder, as well as all impurities from unhealthy cows.

THE ONTARIO SITUATION.

Although the signs of an early election continue to multiply and the statement is frequently made by those who should be in a position to know that the election and the prohibition referendum will take place simultaneously, Sir William Hearst and his associates refuse to announce the date the referendum or the election. The juggling of the question is hard to justify or explain—except as Mr. Dewart explains it as a desire to see which course would best suit their party purposes before they take the people into their confidence. Even hardened Conservatives throughout the province are beginning to complain of the tactics of the cabinet. Mutterings of discontent from party standard-bearers and party newspapers are increasing. There is a call for a Conservative convention, a call that is growing stronger day by day, and it is felt that the Government cannot long continue the present tactics. The only course that would be consistent with honesty and fair play in public life, would be to tell the people of Ontario at once when the referendum is to be taken and to announce at the same time that the provincial elections will not be held on the same day.

A SPLENDID STAND.

One of the Hamilton branches of the Great War Veteran's Association has passed a resolution endorsing the principle that the efforts of organized bodies of returned soldiers should be concentrated upon the task of seeing that the widows and dependents of those who lost their lives in France, are properly looked after. The resolution will meet with approval, not only among returned soldiers, but among the people generally. The Hamilton Veterans believe that all effort to secure larger gratuities for themselves should be left in abeyance until the dependants of the latter have received justice. That is a broad-minded altruistic stand, that will earn public support for the Association, and the resolution of the Hamilton branch is one that should receive the earnest consideration of other similar organisations throughout the Dominion. When the widows and orphans are being looked after as they should be, the campaign of the returned soldiers for more consideration for themselves—and they undoubtedly deserve more than many of them have received, will have a much greater chance of success, supported as it will be by a strong pressure on the part of the public.

POSITIONS FOR OFFICERS.

General Sir Arthur Currie's return from overseas is simultaneous with the announcement that he is to be appointed Inspector General of the forces in Canada. The appointment will meet with approval, it is to be fancied, as a recognition of the services Sir Arthur has rendered Canada as commanding officer of the Canadian Corps through many long months. It is fitting that there should be a prompt and proper acknowledgment of the debt the nation owe to the Canadian leader. Unfortunately, however, the very quickness with which General Currie's appointment was made, serves to emphasize the fact that in the case of many other officers, whose services might have been recognised by military appointments here at home, there has not been the same haste. There are officers who gave up positions to enlist for overseas, who find it difficult to re-establish themselves in civil life, because of three or four years' absence. Many of these men are admirably suited, by reason of their own ability and the experience they have gained overseas, to hold administrative positions in the military forces in Canada, and it should be possible to utilize more of them than have hitherto been appointed, without loading up the militia department. General Currie, as Inspector General, will have an opportunity to make recommendations along that line and the opportunity of rewarding some one of those who have made sacrifices for Canada, should not be overlooked.

ON GUARD, DEMOCRACY!

The danger from Bolshevism is not met and nullified by the fact that the majority of the people have no use for the proletarian menace. The Bolshevists are and have been from the first a minority in Russia, a minority of desperate and unscrupulous men. Bolshevism is a dictatorship because it means the subordination of the rights of every class to that of one.

A single man drawing a revolver, can scatter a crowd. A single class, wholly given over to a common purpose, and feeling no restraint of ethics or justice or morality, can take control of a nation. The tragedy staged in Russia has proved this, had the world never known it before.

Civilized peoples are governed by accepted ideas. Accepted ideas, not statesmen, soldiers nor police, are the dominant forces in every country. Confuse these ideas, as Russia was confused when the Czar fell, or as any nation might be confused by steady and mischievous propaganda, and the day is at hand for the most unscrupulous minority to "pull a gun." The crowd will scatter. This is the practical theory of Bolshevism.

The question of justice is not involved. What comes into play is purely hatred or revenge, rooted in unreasoning passion, to which is summoned naturally the undisciplined instincts of the mob. The pagan carnival has no purpose but the gratification of lust; it cannot long endure because, like all such revels, it is unproductive economically and politically; yet it can work havoc, as it is doing in Russia.

Bolshevism is not entitled to enmity because it means the supremacy of any particular social or economic element. Democracy has more in common with the proletariat of Russia than it had with Czarism. But Democracy abhors Bolshevism because the democratic peoples believe in the theory of equal rights for all classes and in steady progress towards a more perfect realization in practice of that ideal. Democratic opinion is set against thuggery by the ruffian who pulls a gun or by the section of the community which invokes Bolshevism.

A grave danger to Democracy, nevertheless, lurks in over-confidence. The European war jumped the ocean and the Bolshevism of Russia has flared up in the same close-knit world. The aftermath of the war daily prepares the soil of every country for the seeds of Lenin's busy agents. Reactionaries co-operate with revolutionaries. The frivolous and foolhardy the opinionated and the exotic, blunder in to help.

Eternal vigilance, in thought, word and deed is required of all who believe that moral and religious restraint is necessary to the constructive conduct of human affairs, and that men are entitled to equality under a common acceptance of such restraint. The civilized world would not accept another conception from Germany, and need not accept it from Bolshevist Russia, if free men everywhere will be quick to defend their rights.—Montreal Star.

Andrew Carnegie

One of the world's richest men was the son of a poor Scotch weaver. He early learned the advantages of economy. At the age of 10 he saved a few shillings—enough to buy a box of oranges—which he quickly peddled at a profit of 100 per cent.

While yet a young man, he managed through thrift to accumulate $600, which he invested. His first dividend inspired the remarkable achievements of later years.

But the seed of his prosperity was sown when he began his first savings.

THE LIBERTY LEAGUE.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—I wish to congratulate the members of the Liberty League upon the splendid name which they have chosen. I loved liberty when I was in my cradle, and that love has been growing in my breast ever since.

And when I think of the brave boys who recently died for liberty, it certainly appears to me that a more beautiful name could not possibly have been chosen.

My first impulse was to apply for a life membership, but the Scotch blood in my veins suggested caution, and I recalled Askwith's words, "Wait and see," and I remembered that "All is not gold that glitters," and "things are not what they seem." Then I have heard people say that even Union government is not altogether perfect, and some people think that even our own Newton Wesley is a bad man and carries a razor. So I read a little more and was rewarded by ascertaining that the real work of the society with the beautiful name is to help the liquor traffic! Did you ever hear of Satan appearing as an angel of light?

Recalling the long, dark record of misery and suffering resulting from the traffic, and thinking of one very pathetic fact, namely, that under license the sale of children's shoes decreased enormously, and under prohibition it went up with a bound, one is surprised that anyone would have the slightest desire to help such a miserable business. In this connection I cannot refarin from quoting the familiar words with all of their terrible significance: "Whosoever shall offend "one of these little ones which believe "in Me, it were better for him that "a millstone were hanged about his "neck, and that he were drowned in "the depth of the sea."

I notice that "all those who are opposed to legislative interference with "our personal liberty" are invited to join. This bars me, for I am in favour of legislative interference with our personal liberty whenever the exercise of that personal liberty clashes with the rights or interests of our neighbours. It is the necessary price that we should all be willing to pay for the privilege of living in a civilized country.

Those who are unwilling to pay this price should live in some country where a lower standard of civilization prevails.

I am told that in some of the South Sea Islands a great deal of a certain kind of personal liberty prevails, as evidenced by the fact that the tailor bills are quite moderate. How would this suit our liberty friends?

If a painted savage desired to visit King George he would find that the nearer he got to the centre of civilization the more his personal liberty would be curtailed. If he disliked this he could return to his home, where he is not required to wear a dress suit.

The Liberty League will have a big job to abolish all of our laws that interfere with our personal liberty.

One cannot repress a smile to notice that some lawyers, who earn their living by helping to force people to obey laws that interfere with our personal liberty are joining the society with the beautiful name in what Caleb Jenkins would call "the glorious caws of liberty."

Isn't this nice? The millenium is approaching? Sorry I cannot agree with you. It is here now.

Well in one way, I hope that all of the lawyers will join, so if I desire to build a slaughter house on George street none of them can issue a writ against me, because they would be precluded from doing so by their Liberty League notice. Then I will build a few frame houses within the fire limits. Give me liberty, or give me death!

But, sir, apart from any statutory enactments, consider how our personal liberty is curtailed by the rules and regulations of various business corporations, societies, etc. How long, for instance, would the manager of a business corporation retain his position were he to disregard the prohibitions issued by his Board?

These prohibitions are issued because it is in the interests of the corporation that he should abstain from certain courses of action.

And these interests are greater and more important than are his personal interests.

Apart from the implied suggestion that they are the only citizens who love liberty, which is scarcely polite, it is clear that the society with the beautiful name is carrying the personal liberty idea to a ridiculous extreme.

"The greatest good to the greatest number" should be our motto.

Why Lack Of Iron In The Blood May Be Costing You Money Every Day

Many a Capable Man or Woman Falls Just Short Of Winning Because They Don't Back Up Their Mentality With Physical Strength and Energy

Get color in the cheeks—don't let the other fellow have it all—just because you are too weak, nervous and run-down to go after it with the same vim that gets him what he wants. Make yourself a man of blood and iron—a woman of power and vitality

"Many a capable man or woman falls just short of winning because they don't back up their mentality with the physical strength and energy which comes from having plenty of iron in the blood," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital. "Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it robs him of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. It may also transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. To help make strong, keen, red-blooded Americans there is nothing in my experience which I have found so valuable as organic iron—Nuxated Iron. It often increases the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down people in two weeks' time."

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron which is prescribed and recommended by physicians, and which is now being used by over three million people annually, is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

BARBARA FINDS PROOF OF CHECK GIVEN NEIL BY BLANCHE ORTON

CHAPTER XLV.

One rainy morning about a week after Mrs. Orton's diner party, I went down-town to do some shopping. Neil had been so disgruntled and moody, that I thought I would surprise him by making a visit to his office. I had hardly been able to refrain from questioning him more at length, about his actions at the dinner, but had compelled myself to wait.

I still held firmly to the idea that it was my right to know of all that concerned him, even thought after all these years, he still refused to recognize it as my right. But early impressions are very strong. At home father and mother had discused the slighest matters, pertaining to everything concerning his business, as well as the home.

Neil was out. I seated myself in his private office before the long, mahogany table. I opened the drawer, and idly turned over the papers. Should I clear it out for him while I waited?

I decided that I would. On a blotter, underneath a lot of papers, was the fac-simile of a check faintly outlined. I recalled that I had read that, by holding a blotter in front of a mirror, one was enabled to decipher the faintest characters with ease. I had no thought of spying—no slighest idea that I should find anything save the ordinary cheque which Neil had given me for household expenses. It was the curious act such as is often done because of some simple reason.

To my surprise the characters stood out in bold relief. But I fairly gasped when I realised that the cheque was for a very large amount, and that it was signed by Blanche Orton. I looked at the date, and it struck me as coincident with the visit of that horrid Mr. Scott. I looked at my engagement book, and saw it was a few days after I had entertained him at dinner.

Just why I should have connected the two things, I cannot tell. Why seeing the cheque should have reminded me of Mr. Scott, I have never understood, But I soon forgot the fact in my desire to know why Blanche Orton should have given Neil such a cheque, and what it had been given for. Of course it brought to mind our talk in the car, the night of the dinner, also their argument. This cheque might have been the subject of the conversation, the topic upon which they so evidently disagreed? Yet, it was dated so long before.

I laid the blotter on the top of the table. Then I put all the other papers back in the drawer, and waited for Neil. I had come to the office on impulse. He had not looked well for some days. Really not since the night of her dinner. He was anxious about something, but gave me either sharp or evasive answers when I questioned him.

More and more was it borne in upon me that there was something wrong. If we were living beyond our means, we must retrench. It might be unpleasant, but it was far preferable to having Neil worried and cross.

I felt quite the helpful wife as I planned that I would tell him of the many ways in which we could economize without it becoming too much of a hardship. Then as I glanced around at his handsome, expensively-furnished offices, it seemed to me that here, too, might be retrenchment. Surely he had more room than was necessary? His rent must be enormous. I would also suggest that to him. He was so careless of money that it probably had not occurred to him.

I had noted, too, that the girls,—his stenographers—were not particularly busy. Perhaps he could get along with one less. That blond one with the highly-roughed cheecks was reading a novel. He might dispense with her.

So I planned and waited. But always my thoughts veered back to the blotter, and the meaning of that large check drawn by Blanche Orton to my husband's order.

BRITISH CROWN A SYMBOL OF UNITY

MORE SECURE THAN EVER WHIL OTHERS FALL.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The Observer stated yesterday: "Amid all that is disturbing and depressing in the present outlook there is one thing at least which stands out in shining contrast. The members of the British family know each other better and stand in closer and more assured union than at any time in the history of the race.

The Empire's competent parts are no longer colonies. They have won the sealed approval of nationhood. The very ideal Empire has been transformed into that of a commonwealth of nations.

"While continetal crowns have fallen like autumn leaves the Crown of Britain remains more firmly than ever the symbol of union and stability.

Prince Makes Motto Reality.

"Canada is greeting the arrival of our soldier prince—ours and hers—on her shores. It was a Prince of Wales who, on a battlefield of Northern France chose for his motto 'I serve.' Five hundred and fifty years elapsed before another Prince of Wales played the man in the same region but against less chivalrous foes, and in a far nobler cause. He bears the same motto. And he makes it a reality in his life. It is in service indeed, that the Royal House of Britain is truly loyal. 'I am the representative of God on earth; woe to those who resist my will,' that was the keynote of Kaiserdom.

Higher Than Ever Before.

"I serve' is that of the British kingship. The one stands today higher than ever before in the love of free peoples. The other lies in the dust. The King and Prince who serve are of that pattern of royalty which alone could commend itself to the independent breed of men who inhabit the broad shores of the commonwealth. They are also indispensable to its continued existence.

EXTREME HEAT DRIVES PARIS TO THE COUNTRY

City Is More Deserted Than During Bombardment by Guns and Airplanes.

PARIS, Aug. 18.—Never during the last five years, even when the long-range guns were busiest and enemy airplanes were bombing the city every night, has Paris presented such a deserted appearance as it did Saturday. There are two reasons for the situation, the extreme heat of the last week and the four-day week end holiday, due to the fact that Assumption Day fell on Friday. It is estimated more than 750,000 people have left the capital, more than 168,000 departing from the St. Lazare station along for Brittany and Normandy in the last three years. More people passed through the station Friday than on Mobilization Day, August 2, 1914.

The thermometer has been hovering between 85 and 95 degrees for the last week. Some thermometers in the sun registered 100 degrees at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. A newspaper prints photographs showing various traffic centres of the city deserted at 2 p.m. Friday.

Reports from the provinces say that the extremely warm weather is injuring the harvests. At Lyons the thermometer reached 120 degrees.

FIFTY-FIFTY FINNEGAN.

Fifty-fifty Finnegan was our top kicker's name,
Fifty-fifty was the way he played the army game.
Half the dirty work for you
And half of it for me.
Half the time a-cursin' blue,
Roarin' like Ole Timers do,
Half the time as silent as a silent man can be.

Here was Sergeant Finnegan, a-dressin' up the line,
His face a pinkinsh purple like a splash of madame's wine.
"Come up! Come up! You're away behind!
And stick that belly in!
I'll teach you dam' recruits to mind—
Stand up! You're deaf as well as blind!
O God, give me more patience or I'll do a mortal sin!"

Fifty-fifty Finnegan was liberal with his france—
Never thought of payment back nor wanted any thanks,
If he had a twenty-spot,
Then half of it was yours;
The ten he'd split as like as not
With any Buck to get a shot of Rhum—which has a pleasing taste and cheers as well as curses!

Fifty-fifty Finnegan was hated, loved, and feared,
Until a Coal Box bumped him off, and then he was revered.
That's the way it always goes—
It's after you are dead.
Friends are yours who once were foes,
Buddies praise you to your tees
And chisel out a monument above your broken head!

Fifty-fifty Finnegan is absent without leave—
He's struttin' 'roud in Heaven with his chevrons on his sleeve,
Tellin' off the first platoon
Of angels on the line,
Policin' up around the moon,
Busy in the afternoon
Postin' winged sentinels around the throne divine.

BOWMANVILLE HARBOR MASTER KILLED BY LIGHTNING

BOWMANVILLE, Aug. 19.—While lighting the lamps of the Bowmanville harbor last night, Thomas Hoar, the harbor master, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. A number of people saw the lightning strike the lighthouse, and rushing out found Mr. Hoar dead, about half way down the stairs, with his clothes burned nearly all off his body. The lighthouse was on fire, but was put out with pails of water. Where it was struck the house was smashed from top to bottom, solid posts being splintered to kindling wood. Large crowds visited the scene today. The funeral will take place from his late residence Wednesday afternoon.

Let the Referendum Battle Cry be "No" - "No" - "No" - "No"!

SINCE the announcement in the Legislature last spring that a Referendum on the Ontario Temperance Act would be taken in the fall, the different temperance organizations of the Province of Ontario have formed the Ontario Referendum Committee, which comprises representatives from the organized temperance forces of the Province and the temperance sentiment of the Province outside of these organizations. The new Committee will conduct the Campaign. We are asking the voters of Ontario to decide against the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act, and, in fact, to vote "No" to all questions submitted on the ballot.

No Repeal—No Surrender

THE Ontario Temperance Act, upon which the approaching Referendum is to be taken, became law on April 27th, 1916, and came into full effect on September 16th, 1916. By the Ontario Temperance Act, sale and distribution of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes within the Province were prohibited. For practically three years the Province has experienced the good effects of this law. The legislation which brought about these good results, however, was enacted as a war measure.

By explicit promise of Premier Hearst on behalf of the Government of Ontario, made at the time it was introduced in the House, the question of repealing the Ontario Temperance Act or maintaining it as the permanent law of the Province, was to be referred directly to a vote of the people in the year 1919, on the first Monday in June. The exact date was subsequently extended and is now set for the fall of this year.

For the Temperance forces to win they must secure four "No" majorities. That is, a majority for "No" on every question. The Temperance forces will be defeated if there is a majority for "Yes" on any one of the questions. You must mark an X after each of the four questions, or your ballot is counted as spoiled.

A century of Temperance progress in this Province is at stake in the coming Referendum. It is, therefore, most important that the Ontario Temperance Act be solidified as permanent legislation.

The Ontario Referendum Committee earnestly and respectfully ask you to mark your ballot with X in the "No" column after each and every question, as indicated in the sample ballot reproduced herewith.

"NO!"—Four Times—"NO!"

Question No. 1

By reference to the sample ballot you will see Question No. 1 asks if you are in favor of repealing the Ontario Temperance Act. You should understand that if this Act is repealed, the Province will go back to the system in operation before the war under the Ontario License Act. Every temperance vote in the Province must be recorded against this abject surrender. We believe the majority of people of all shades of opinion will vote a solid "No" to this question.

Question No. 2

Question No. 2 relates to the sale of beer by Government vendors. If the Act itself is repealed, of course, there can be no amendment of it, for there would be no Act left to amend. "The Greater (No. 1) includes the less (Nos. 2, 3 and 4)," said Premier Hearst. Temperance people must vote "No" to this question also. Beer of the proposed strength, 2.51% alcohol by weight, is intoxicating. It is just as much intoxicating when sold in Government shops as when sold in licensed liquor stores or saloons.

The Referendum Ballot
AND HOW TO VOTE

| | Yes. | No. |
|---|---|---|
| 1. Are you in favor of the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act?..... | | X |
| 2. Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2 51-100 per cent. alcohol, weight measure, through Government agencies, and amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?..... | | X |
| 3. Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2 51-100 per cent. alcohol, weight measure, in standard hotels in local municipalities, that by majority vote, favor such sale, and amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?..... | | X |
| 4. Are you in favor of the sale of spirituous and malt liquors through Government agencies, and amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale? | | X |

Question No. 3

Since September, 1916, the beer permitted to be served in Standard Hotels was limited to 2.50% proof spirits. The proposal in question No. 3 means increasing the intoxicating strength of beer allowed to be sold in bars to 2.51% alcohol by weight, equal to 5.46% proof spirits. That is more than double the strength now permitted by the Ontario Temperance Act, and more than five times the alcoholic strength defined as "intoxicating" in England and the United States. Vote "No" to question No. 3.

Question No. 4

Are you in favor of "taking the lid off alcohol," so long as the drinking is done elsewhere than in open bars? The proposal in question No. 4 is to legalize the strongest intoxicating liquors of all kinds—whiskey, brandy, gin, rum, strong beer, ale, stout, and all the rest. It merely restricts the place of sale to Government shops instead of licensed hotels and liquor stores. Can there be any two answers to that question in the minds of the thinking people of Ontario? The answer to that question is: "No."

THE Ontario Referendum Committee publish this advertisement with the purpose of letting the people of the Province know exactly where the issue stands. The Committee desire to have the meaning of the Referendum questions thoroughly understood before the time comes for voting, and to feel that the people of Ontario when they express their will by the ballot have a full knowledge of the facts before them. Remember that every person with a vote in Provincial elections has the right to vote in this Referendum. Remember that in this Referendum women have equal voting rights with men. Remember that Victory means the Ontario Temperance Act—as it stands.

ACCOUNTS PASSED

The municipal council of the Township of Dummer met in the town hall at Warsaw, on Friday, August 8th.

Mr. T. L. Payne, of Warsaw, applied for the office of collector of taxes and rates for the year 1919 at a salary of $150, submitting for the approval of the council the names of Messrs. Nathan Payne and George Lonsberry for his bondsmen.

On motion his application was accepted and a bylaw was duly passed confirming his appointment.

On request a motion was passed to allow the temperance organization to have the use of the town hall for their meetings free of charge for rent excepting the janitor's fee of 90c payable to the janitor.

Propose a Memorial.

A deputation of ladies representing the Women's Institute, interviewed the council respecting a proposition to devise some ways and means whereby the residents of the Township of Dummer might do something intended to be as a memorial in remembrance of our soldier boys of the Township of Dummer, suggesting that a larger town hall be provided to encourage entertainments and such amusements as the young people would enjoy.

A resolution was passed that the Reeve and Clerk be appointed to inquire respecting the matter of securing more ground at the rear part of the town hall for the further enlargement of it.

$4,000 for a New School.

An application was made by the Board of Trustees of Public School Section No. 4 in the Township of Dummer, for the issue of Debentures in the sum of $4,000, for the purpose of erecting a new school house, was received, and a bylaw in compliance with the foregoing request was passed in due form and numbered Bylaw No. 867.

A bylaw to collect certain taxes and rates in the township of Dummer for the year 1919 was passed and numbered Bylaw No. 868.

On motion W. D. Robson was advanced the sum of $300 as part payment of grant of $500 formerly made to be expended on the 9th line in the Township of Dummer.

On motion the following accounts having been passed by the council were directed to be paid and an order on the treasurer issued for each, viz.: T. # TEMPORARY FIRE STATION FOR ASHBURNHAM SOON AS POSSIBLE

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT COMMITTEE WILL PREPARE PLANS FOR PERMANENT SUBSTATION AND PROCEED WITH IT WHEN SITE HAS BEEN BOUGHT.

LIGHT FOR G.W.V.A.

At last night's meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, it was moved by Mayor Duncan and seconded by Alderman Taylor, that the committee deemed it necessary to build a fire hall in East City, and that the chairman, Ald. Morrison, be authorized to have plans for a fire hall prepared as soon as a site could be secured. The motion was carried.

It was also moved by the Mayor, and seconded by Ald. Taylor, that the chairman and Ald. Gainey, interview the City Trust with reference to obtaining the old market property, and to see the Collins Estate with a view to securing the barn in the rear of their property, at the corner of Hunter Street and Driscoll Terrace, or any other suitable property.—Carried

Chief Grange's Report.

This last decision was arrived at after considerable discussion, during which Fire Chief Grange's report on buildings in Ashburnham, suitable for a fire hall was read. The following buildings were specified in it:

Old town hall, corner of Hunter and Mark streets, the store owned by Mr. McMurray and occupied by Spencer's barber shop and pool room. The factory building on the north side of Hunter street, owned by Roland Wilson, and used as a woollen manufacturing plant, and the property on the south-east corner of Hunter and Burnham streets, owned by Mr. Conroy.

Only two of these would accommodate a small branch fire hall immediately, viz: the Spencer building and the Conroy property. The former is priced at $6,000 but Mr. Spencer would take no less than $1500 to vacate the property at once as he has leased it until December 1920, thus the total cost would be $7,500.

The building owned by Mr. Wilson was priced at only $4,000 but would need too many alterations.

Conroy Property, Most Suitable.

Mr. Conroy's property had the most suitable location. It consisted of a dwelling on the corner with a large barn in the rear, facing towards Burnham street and two lots facing Hunter street with a 22 foot frontage and a lot facing Burnham street also with a 22-foot frontage. The only alterations necessary would be the raising of the barn. The price of the property was $8,000, but Mr. Conroy would raise the barn at his own expense. The Chief considered this a good investment.

Permanent Station Needed.

He pointed out, however, that a temporary station would suffice for only about three months. A warm building would be needed from then on, one which would keep the chemicals in the proper condition.

The committee decided, however, to attempt to find some other property and the old market building and Collins estate property, mentioned above, were sugested and it was decided to enquire about them.

Mayor Favours the Move.

The Mayor expressed himself as being in favour of a substantial substation for East City, as eventually when the city had outgrown its present limits, sub-stations would be required in the north, south, east and west sections of the city. In the meantime, however, a temporary station with three men, a team of horses and a waggon, would suffice to keep a fire under control until the force from the main station could arrive.

Light For G. W. V. A.

The request of the G. W. V. A. for a light similar to those on George street was received and it was decided to grant the request. It was also decided to replace the broken lights on the Smith street bridge and to place needed lights on the Monaghan road, Donegal street and Haggard street. Alderman Hamilton feared that lights were being placed too freely as they cost nine dollars a year.

Water for Landsdowne Street Residents.

Alderman Taylor thought that the Landsdowne Street residents should have water connections. It was decided to ask the Utilities Commission to do so.

Those present were:— Alderman Morrison, chairman; Mayor Duncan, Aldermen Hamilton, Garside, Taylor, and Gainey.

HOSTAGES

By CHRISTOPHER MORLEY
(Collier's)

"He that wife and children hath given hostages to fortune."—Lord Bacon.

Aye, Fortune, thou hast hostage of my best!
I, that was once so heedless of thy frown,
Have armed thee cap-a-pie to strike me down,
Have given thee blades to hold against my breast.
My virtue, that was once so self-possessed,
Is parcelled out in little hands, and brown
Bright eyes, and in a sleeping baby's gown;
To threaten these will put me to the test.

Sure, since these are such pitiful poor chinks
Upon the makeshift armor of my head,
For thee no blamer lies in such a feint!
And thou wouldst shame to languish one, methinks,
Who came unarm with such a fateful heart
To hear the coughing of a child at night!

GUARDS BAND SCORES TRIUMPH IN MONTREAL

The Montreal Star says of the band of the Grenadier Guards, which will be heard here on Friday evening:

A large audience gathered at the M.A.A.A. grounds last night to hear the first concert given by the band of the famous Grenadier Guards, and no one in the large crowd seemed to be disappointed. The music was drowned at times by the noise of the trains which passed at frequent intervals and the smoke which drifted across the grounds was exceedingly unpleasant for the listeners, and must have been more so for the musicians. Yet every number was encored, which was sufficient testimony that the audience was enjoying the concert sufficiently to wish to hear more in spite of uncomfortable surroundings.

As an encore to the first number, the band gave several popular Army airs, beginning with the "British Grenadiers," which drew hearty applause. The skill with which the various airs drifted into one another or were combined, one part of the band playing one air while another part was playing another, was only a premonition of more to follow. Music of this kind especially appealed to the audience, and was given in most of the encores. Variations upon "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly" created much amusement among the audience and was highly appreciated.

The more classical numbers on the programme were rendered with much grace. Suite No. 2, from Peter Gynt, was played with singular taste and expression, the melodious Solveg's song appealing particularly to the audience. Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," which served as an encore, was delivered with exquisite tone. The more popular music of "Carmen" and "William Tell" drew hearty applause. The latter was interrupted by the passing of a train making even more noise than usual, and the band was forced to stop until quiet was restored, for even those nearest the bandstand were unable to hear a note while the train was puffing by.

Sergeant A. Mayes' cornet solo, "The Lost Chord," was most heartily applauded, and he was obliged to give an encore. Liszt's "Rhapsody Hongroise" was exceedingly effective. The programme, nearly doubled as it was by the great number of encores, seemed hardly long enough to satisfy the audience, who were highly appreciative of the excellence of the musicians and the conducting of Captain Williams.

A Change from Khaki.

Many among the crowd who had come to hear the concert expressed their pleasure at the sight of the red coats of the men. After five years of khaki the return to the pre-war uniforms is welcomed by everyone. The military airs were of especial interest to the audience when they considered the record o fthe regiment to which this band belongs.

The playing of the "British Grenadiers" always called forth the most hearty response from the audience, and was even for a few moments rendered inaudible by the burst of applause which followed the playing of the first few bars.

For Skin Made Flabby and Wrinkled by Heat

Sun, winds and flying dust often cause squinting and other contortions which make wrinkles. You can quickly get rid of every line, however caused, by using a harmless wash lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered Saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. The ingredients can of course be had at any drug store.

When depressed by the heat and you want to freshen up quickly for the afternoon or evening, bathe the face for a few moments in the Saxolite lotion. You will find this more refreshing than an hour's rest. It is fine for overcoming that appearance of flabbiness so common in hot weather.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 20.—Sensational reports that the British Charge d'Affaires, William Cummings, has been expelled from Mexico because he was persona non grata with the Mexican government, were denied at the Foreign Office yesterday.

The United Press correspondent was told that Carranza merely had notified the various departments of the government that Cummings had no official standing because of the attitude of the British government in refusing to recognize the present Mexican administration.

Carranza had ordered that Cummings should receive the same courtesies accorded any British subject, it was stated, but reports that any friction had occurred were denied.

HAD TO CALL IN THE NEIGHBORS

MRS. ROOR WAS SO RUNDOWN COULDN'T DO HOUSEWORK—RESTORED BY TANLAC.

"This is the only medicine I've ever taken that does just what they say it will do," said Mrs. J. L. Rock, R.F.D. No. 4, Fiatt, Ill., in telling her experience with Tanlac.

"For eleven years," continued Mrs. Rock, "I suffered with stomach trouble and was in a general run down condition, but it's all different with me now, for three bottles of Tanlac almost made a new women of me. I lost my appetite and got so that actually I would get sick at the smell of food cooking. What little I did manage to force down would cause gas to form, and press up around my heart so bad at times I could hardly get a good breath. I would have cramping pains in the pit of my stomach which would last for many hours, then to make matters worse my kidneys became affected and I had terrible pains in my back and sides and at times could hardly turn over in bed. I finally got so weak and run down I couldn't do my housework and had to call in the neighbours to help me. I was so nervous the least little noise would upset me, and I could sleep but very little at night.

"I was in this very condition when I heard about Tanlac and asked my husband to get me a bottle, and to my surprise and delight I started to improve right from the start. I have taken three bottles now and I'll tell you it's wonderful the way this medicine helped me. The pains in my back and sides have all left me. My nerves are quiet and I sleep fine now, all night long and when I get up in the mornings I am rested and refreshed. I never know what it is to have a headache now, and I have a splendid appetite and feel perfectly well in every way and I want everybody to know what a great medicine Tanlac is."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. R. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a Glass of Salts Before Breakfast If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescant lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.
